"A Yes ast March
"Q Okay Not th s current March?
"A Not th s current March
"Q So a year ago March?
"A Yes
"Q Okay And that's when th ngs were st rea y bad r ght?
"A Yes
"Q And a the threads and that's when he wa ked out of that party?
"A Yes
"Q And he sent an awfu text to -- th nk that was [redacted] r ght?

"A: We , n the very beg nn ng, he kept putt ng out rumors about me gett ng pa d about -- mean, any -- cou d te that they were com ng from h m, yeah.
"Q: So even after he brought the story pub c, he's st try ng to torment you?
"A: Yes.
"Q: And put a d fferent tw st on the story?
"A: Yes.
"Q: And mak ng up rumors about you?
"A: Yes.
"Q: T saby asked f you had de eted those texts, and you sa d 'None of them,' r ght?
"A: R ght.
"Q: And he sa d, ' w need to see those texts from h m and everyth ng e se.' Was there a reason you d dn't prov de those texts to Mr. T saby at that t me?
"A: mean, no. don't know f t ever came up aga n.
"Q: So he just sa d that and never asked you about them aga n?

"A No We never spoke to h m aga n
"Q But aga n he asked because -- th nk n the text dump we've had so far we d dn't see that text from [redacted] that was forwarded to you Do you know why? Was that de eted?
"A don't know can check and see 'm not sure know what t's regard ng
"Q What was t regard ng?
"A So before the party [redacted] texted me and sa d 'm so angry P reached out to me bas ca y ask ng f you're go ng to be there say ng t was unfa r you shou d be there as we And just to d h m you're a great fr end of ours st And he just -- and then he asked s the boy go ng to be there ta k ng about my boyfr end And she sa d don't know 'm not sure But don't see why th s s a b g dea So t was text messages about that before went "So to d her 'm not go ng to go then because d dn't want to cause any troub es for you guys and she sa d you're com ng you know you better come And that's what happened there
"Q And then he made sort of a v c ous text and sent t to her?

"A: Oh, r ght.
"Q: You weren't here yet. So whatever Mr. Stee e s say ng w th respect to meet ng for depos t ons, that had noth ng to do w th what you were ta k ng about?
"A: R ght. That was afterwards.
"Mr. Rosenb um: Noth ng further."
Further exam nat on by Mr. Stee e:
"Q: And -- and just aga n so we're

"A: We , spec f ca y remember the one where met Rache Sm th was, but can't reca another t me where was outs de of that."

"Q: Noth ng further."

MR. AUST N: And that ends the depos t on.

MR. BARNES: Okay. Anyth ng further for th s even ng? See ng none, we w -- we're not ced up for 8:00. We are go ng to start -- why don't we start at 8:45. Th s s a not ce to the med a that we are not ced up for 8:00. t s too ate to change the comm ttee not ce. We w not be start ng the hear ng at 8:00. The hear ng w start at approx mate y 8:45. MR. RAZER: Here.

MR. CURCHIN: Mr. Rhoads?

MR. RHOADS: Here.

MR. CURCHIN: Mr. Trent?

MR. TRENT: Here.

MR. BARNES: We have a quorum. We have a quorum. I will note that this is the 87th day of the existence of this committee. On day one Mr. Dowd indicated that he and his client would be cooperating and this is the 87th day that Mr. Greitens has not appeared before this committee.

Mr. Dowd, do you recall telling this committee this week that there was a gag order in place in the criminal trial?

MR. DOWD: Yes, I did. There was a gag order and a discovery order.

MR. BARNES: And you remember saying earlier this week it was still in place; is that correct?

MR. DOWD: The discovery order is still in place, I believe. Not the gag order.

MR. BARNES: We have an e-mail from Judge Burleson that says the gag order was dissolved by the court's announcement at the time the case was known. The court unsealed certain previously sealed documents at the time. I believe some, if not all of the documents regarding that were on the record. Hope this clarifies.

MR. DOWD: That's correct.

MR. BARNES: We want our documents,

Mr. Dowd. Stop hiding them. Where are our videos, Mr. Dowd, that we have requested?

MR. DOWD: I told you exactly what is accurate.

MR. BARNES: No, Mr. Dowd, your accuracy is greatly in question now, Mr. Dowd.

MR. DOWD: No, Mr. Chairman, I have a right to respond to your attack on me. Now listen. That judge --

MR. BARNES: No, you listen to me, Mr. Dowd.

MR. DOWD: -- lifted the gag order. I don't see where he lifted the discovery order.

MR. BARNES: That's not what you said earlier this week, Mr. Dowd.

MR. DOWD: That's exactly what I said.

MR. BARNES: You said it was the gag order that I'm -- to my memory.

MR. DOWD: No. Look --

MR. BARNES: Now I have another question.

MR. DOWD: Look up the transcript. I know exactly what I said and I am correct.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Dowd, my next question is, well, Volume 2 certainly wouldn't be subject to that. Now next question, Mr. Dowd.

MR. DOWD: I gave you Volume 2 of the transcript as you requested.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Dowd, I was informed by Mr. Robertson this morning, and here's what the letter says. It says, Mr. Chairman, Scott Simpson, counsel for witness one, called me and asked me if his client needed to appear on June 5th. I indicated that the committee had subpoenaed his client at the behest the Greitens' counsel and he should expect to produce his client as per the subpoena.

I asked if he had been served and he said yes. I then asked why he had called. He said he had received a call from Ed Dowd who indicated if he, Mr. Simpson, received a subpoena, it would not have come as a result of a request by the Greitens' counsel and his client was being asked to appear by someone else, not by Greitens and his counsel. And Mr. Robertson attached a screenshot of a call log that showed that somebody from your firm apparently, Dowd Bennett, called Mr. Simpson at 6:51 p.m. last night.

MR. DOWD: That is correct.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Dowd, you would agree with me that you requested we subpoena witness one to testify for the sixth time, correct?
MR. DOWD: That I requested that?
MR. BARNES: Yes.
MR. DOWD: Yes, we did, and I told Mr. Simpson we were not going to call her. That's the whole conversation.
MR. BARNES: Oh, you're not going to call her. You're going request that the committee call her but you're not going to call her. So let me ask this. Since you're not going to call her, should we retract our subpoena to witness one?
MR. DOWD: I think you should do whatever you want to do. If you want to have her here, go ahead.
MR. BARNES: Mr. Dowd, you asked that she be subpoenaed.
MR. DOWD: Right.
MR. BARNES: I am asking you, since you called Mr. Simpson last night and said it wouldn't be at your subpoena, what I am asking you is, do you think we should retract subpoena --
MR. DOWD: I think that is totally up to you, Mr. Chairman.

MR. BARNES: Oh, it's up to us now, but two days ago you asked us to subpoena her and now it's up to us.

MR. DOWD: Yes, and you've been reading her deposition for three days, you're not giving us a chance to cross-examine. If you give us a chance to cross-examine, bring her in. But if you're not going to give us a chance to cross --

MR. BARNES: Mr. Dowd, do you know what's in this book? Do you know what's in this book?

MR. DOWD: I have no idea.

MR. BARNES: It is double-sided pages of fourteen hours of cross-examination. Mr. Rosenblum is a good lawyer, isn't he, Mr. Dowd?

MR. DOWD: Yes, exactly.

MR. BARNES: He's the best -- he might be the best lawyer in the state. The best defense lawyer in the state. You may be the second best but I think when you brought Mr. Rosenblum in --

MR. DOWD: I would argue that.

MR. BARNES: That's fair. Mr. Rosenblum, though, is the best you can get. He had fourteen hours. Look how thick this is, Mr. Dowd.

MR. DOWD: Mr. Chair, you should know the difference between a deposition and a public hearing where you cross-examine someone --

MR. BARNES: So Mr. Dowd --

MR. DOWD: -- with a judge and people sitting there controlling the process, it's a totally different thing. And if we were allowed to do that, I think that there would not be a single person in this entire House that wouldn't think that the relationship was consensual, the relationship that the governor admitted to and that's all there is.

MR. BARNES: So when will Mr. Greitens show up to testify, Mr. Dowd?

MR. DOWD: That is not been determined.

MR. BARNES: We're on the 87th day. It takes you 87 days to make a decision?

MR. DOWD: As you know, these matters are now being investigated yet again, this false case that was dismissed by --

MR. BARNES: Mr. Dowd, do you think it's important for us to get both sides of this? Do you think it's important to get both sides?

MR. DOWD: I think it's important for you to get as much good information as you can.

MR. BARNES: And your client was in the basement that day, correct?
MR. DOWD: That's correct.
MR. BARNES: So when is he going to testify, Mr. Dowd?
MR. DOWD: I think what was -- actually what happened there has been proven 1,000 percent by the testimony.
MR. BARNES: When is he going to testify, Mr. Dowd? Answer the question that's --
MR. DOWD: And how long --
MR. BARNES: -- been presented.
MR. DOWD: I've already answered that question.
MR. BARNES: You don't know.
MR. DOWD: I don't.
MR. BARNES: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Dowd. I also want to talk to --
MR. DOWD: Mr. Chairman, nice talking to you.
MR. BARNES: I also want to make members of the audience aware because I know there was some -- there were some quizzical looks yesterday when we started the hearing and we immediately went into closed session. So I want to explain exactly what happened.

In one of the depositions Mr. Rosenblum introduced evidence from a pornographic website of a picture of a woman who has nothing to do with this case.

Before the hearing started, I met with Mr. Dowd in the hallway and I asked him if he would be willing to stipulate that those pictures were not in fact witness one because anyone who's seen those pictures and has seen witness one over a significant period of time or pictures of her can tell that it is not her.

Mr. Dowd refused to so stipulate which I suppose is his -- as a lawyer, that is what he can do. So it put this committee in a box. And the box is this. If we redacted that testimony, Mr. Dowd and his cohorts, including Twitterbots, would accuse this committee of hiding information. And if we don't redact it and we don't review that particular photo, his team would either directly or indirectly further add insinuation that those were pictures of witness one, and how would the committee fight back from that insinuation?

There's only one way to do it, and that would be to reveal a picture of witness one combined with the picture from this pornographic website from this woman who had nothing to do with this.

So that was catch-22. So we had a closed meeting, the committee unanimously found that there was no credible evidence that those photographs were witness one.

Now, from the beginning this committee has sought a way to determine the truth and at the start Mr. Dowd indicated and he his client were happy to cooperate. I'm an optimist. I still hope that may be the case. And I am -- I have been disappointed through this process and what I believe to be misrepresentations of fact and misrepresentations of law. But have I to say yesterday's conduct in regards to those particular photographs is flat out disgusting to me.

MR. DOWD: You know, I can't stipulate to something that I don't know is true, Mr. Chairperson, you understand that, as an attorney? If I don't know that's true --

MR. BARNES: You know good and well, Mr. Dowd, you have seen her, we have seen her, you have seen the pictures, we have seen the pictures.

MR. DOWD: I don't know if that's her or not.
MR. BARNES: Okay.
MR. DOWD: Her face is bounded. Or strapped. You don't have to make those public. That's your choice to make those public. I wouldn't do that if I were you.
MR. BARNES: Mr. Dowd, the vice chairman and the ranking member both said they had absolutely no doubt that it wasn't her.
MR. DOWD: That's fine, they can stipulate to that. I can't because I don't know.
MR. BARNES: No person with a set of eyes that can compare things would take your position. Now, I understand that you would not stipulate, the committee has reviewed those pictures, she said they weren't her in the deposition, we wanted to make clear in the record that they were not, they in fact were not her?
MR. DOWD: Which I understand that. That's your prerogative.
MR. BARNES: Now, Mr. Watkins?
MR. HATFIELD: Good morning, Mr. Chairman.
MR. BARNES: Take a seat, Mr.

Watkins. We have a specific oath in the resolution. I would like to use the oath in the resolution if I could.

Mr. Watkins, can you -- I mean, I know how to swear a witness in but -- Mr. Watkins, would you raise your right hand? Mr. Watkins, do you solemnly swear or affirm that the testimony you shall give in the hearing now pending before this committee shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

MR. WATKINS: So help me good.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins, please take a seat. Mr. Hatfield.

MR. HATFIELD: Yes, Mr. Chairman.

MR. BARNES: Playing kind of the role of Abe Lincoln here, you represent -- well, I don't know if it's the railroad in the morning and the person hurt in the afternoon, I gave the example a couple weeks ago on House floor where I lost a motion on a legal issue in front of Judge Beetem one week, and four weeks later I -- and I came back in afterwards and I told him, Judge, I think you got it wrong, after the case was over, and about, I think it was two months later I was on the other end of the exact same legal issue and I lost both ways and I was right both times. So.

MR. HATFIELD: You've heard me say if you can't argue both sides of a case, you're not a very good lawyer.

MR. BARNES: Well, we're going to have some inconsistencies here that we're -- well, maybe they're not inconsistent. We'll hear them.

MR. HATFIELD: Right. This is the first time I have had the honor of representing two witnesses who come from the same conversation. I'm happy to be here.

ALBERT S. WATKINS,

of lawful age, having been produced, sworn, and examined, testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. BARNES:

Q Can you state your name?

A My name is Albert S. Watkins.

Q Mr. Watkins --

MR. HATFIELD: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Watkins has sent an open letter to you about this testimony talking about the confidentiality issues and privilege issues. Does the --

MR. BARNES: Do you have copies of that letter?

MR. HATFIELD: Yes, I do.
MR. BARNES: If you could distribute? I understand that when we get into areas of attorney-client privilege, I fully expect his lawyer to jump in with an objection as to privilege. But I think there are some areas here that aren't in the realm of privilege. For example, the source of payment I believe was ruled to not be within the realm of privilege.

Q (BY MR. BARNES) Now, Mr. Watkins, I believe you told the LA times that you were told this $120,000 came from a wealthy, out-of-state republican? Is that true?

A That is what I was told.

Q Okay, and who told you that?

A Scott Faughn.

Q And when did Scott Faughn tell you that?

A So by way of clarity and we have been focusing on $100,000, there was $100,000 in cash paid in two $50,000 payments. I have been able to confirm that the date of the first payment was January 8, 2018. That's a Monday. The second payment was made in the amount of $50,000 in cash form on Tuesday, January 9, 2018.

Both of those payments were understood by me by virtue of what was told to me by Mr. Faughn expressly that the money, the source of those two payments was a wealthy republican and then referring to the wealthy republican as someone whose relation -- the relationship between the governor and this wealthy republican was personal. Which I interpret to mean there was an axe to grind.

There were two subsequent payments. One in the amount of $10,000. Which was at the time our firm was engaged formally by Mr. Vaughn and another $10,000 payment that was received shortly after forms of intimidation were received by my family --

Q Let me slow you down, okay, Mr. Watkins? Is it your contention that all $120,000, do you believe, based on your conversation with Mr. Faughn, that all $120,000 came from this out-of-state wealthy republican?

A No, we only talked about the two $50,000 payments as having been from this wealthy unnamed republican.

Q So would it be fair to say that you believed there was $100,000 from this unnamed wealthy out-of-state republican?

A That's correct. That is my belief.

Q And do you have a belief as to the source of the other $20,000?

A No, I didn't really think about it. I can say that, given the totality of the circumstances and given the fact that the two subsequent payments were made in cash as well, I assumed that they were from the same source. Although, there is nothing expressly stated.

Q Okay. So that's an assumption not based on any further conversation, that is just because you had the first conversation?

A Correct.

Q How can you be -- you talked to a lot of people, a lot of different people about a lot of different things, right?

A That's generally my job.

Q And, Mr. Watkins, I think you talk a lot, correct?

A I take a certain degree of pride in my loquacious nature.

Q Okay. How are you certain today that you, that that is what was said on January 8 and 9?

A On the day that the -- you know, and let me further contextualize this. We met -- when I say "we," I am talking about Scott Faughn and me. The statement about the wealthy republican who had an axe to grind and it was personal, he didn't say an axe to grind but he said it was personal, that conversation occurred on Friday, January 5, 2018. The first payment of $50,000 was delivered on Monday, January 8. The second was delivered on January 9.

Q And who delivered that first payment?

A The first payment was brought to the office by Mr. Faughn.

Q Okay. And who delivered that payment on the 9th?

A I don't know. I understood him to be either Skyler or Striker during the course of my deposition by the governor's counsel. I initially used the name Striker, I was corrected and told it was Skyler.

Q Who corrected you?

A My counsel.

MR. HATFIELD: And he had publicly said it was Skyler before.

MR. BARNES: They are similar names and that is a -- so Skyler or Striker, one of the two --

A And so that you understand, it's important. 2003 I was diagnosed with stage 4 cancer and I went through a protocol that involved the administration of a ton of chemo called Cisplatin. As a result of that, I lost the upper range of my hearing. And one of the things that I am very sensitive to, especially as a trial attorney, is making sure that I am able to look at somebody when they're talking to me because I have to read their lips.

And you will also hear on occasion, it's -- I have to focus on the S sound so it doesn't sound like I'm slurring my words. Striker and Skyler sound similar. I have trouble discerning letters like B from C, D, E, F, so when somebody gives me the spelling of their name, I ask them to say A as in Albert, B as in boy.

Q (BY MR. BARNES) Okay. Did -- so we're fair to say it's Striker or Skyler, today you're not entirely certain because of the rendition you just --

A Yeah, and I, quite frankly, I didn't care. I mean, here is a guy who appears to me to be a courier. You know, he was dressed like a courier, wasn't wearing a uniform but he was casually dressed, it was a young man. I didn't know who he was, didn't talk to him, didn't meet him, and, quite frankly, didn't care.

Q Okay. Mr. Watkins, did Mr. Faughn indicate anything about the nature of this alleged beef with this wealthy republican?

A No. I pressed him on a number of occasions about who this wealthy republican was. There was -- it was very clear from the get-go that the desire was to have this individual remain anonymous.

The only other information that I was able to glean about this individual during the course of my interaction with Mr. Faughn was when there had been a public statement or assertion by the governor's counsel that somehow Roy Temple was involved in it. And when I spoke to Mr. Faughn, I said, hey, you know, does this have anything to do with Roy Temple? I had interacted with Roy Temple and he did not seem like the kind of guy who would play those games but, you know, what do I know and Mr. Faughn said no, this individual isn't even in Missouri.

Q So you had interacted with Roy Temple?

A Yes.

Q Have you interacted with Mr. Temple since, within the last six months?

A Yes.

Q Okay. What were the nature of those interactions?

A So it's really important not to -- not to investigate in a temporal bubble. So it's important sometimes to contextualize things.

Q Well, I want you to contextualize. I gave you the open frame of six months. Explain to me dates of contacts in which you're --

A I'm going to stream back to late September, early October of 2016 when my first interaction in my life occurred with Roy Temple. I didn't know who he was. I understood that he was a political operative for the democratic party. I did not know that he had been the chairman of the democratic party. I really didn't know what his agenda was except for the fact that he wanted to get the story about the governor and my client's former spouse out in the public eye prior to the election.

My interaction with him was professional. I heard from him, I asked him to give me the information you have. What do you know? He shared with me what he knew and he had the story spot on.

I then was very candid with him. I didn't mince words. I said, look, there are minor children involved. My client has desired and continues to desire to keep and protect and maintain the image of the mother in the eyes of his children. And to his credit, he did not run with the story.

He called me a second time prior to the election because he had heard the story from yet somebody else. And he gave me the name of that other person. I looked into that, did the research, found out that in fact that other person was -- and I believe it was an uncle of my client.

I again explained this was not something that we would verify, we don't want it out there and I was candid, he had the story spot on but it's not going we're going to verify. That was the last I heard from Roy Temple until after we released the audiotapes and after the State of the State Address.

Q Okay. So after you released the audiotapes. When did you release the audiotapes?

A I believe the first release of the audiotapes occurred in early January, I believe it's January 3, 2018. At the time -- and again --

Q And do you recall to whom you released those tapes?

A Yes, there are a number of parties. So all media -- well, not all media. Primarily media. In, first of all, in February, I believe it was, or January of 2017, I provided the tapes to the Federal Bureau of Investigation pursuant to their request.

Q Okay. Now let's go to January 3, 2018. Primarily media. So Lauren Trager. Is she one of them?

A Yes. We had also released to -- I believe we released to Fox pursuant to an understanding that the tapes could not be used, or the recording could not be used, and the transcript couldn't be used unless they moved forward with the story and that they couldn't put it on their website except to the extent that it showed up in the story. And ultimately Fox came back and advised that because they could not get corroboration, they could not move forward with the story.

We serendipitously -- Lauren Trager had contacted me, I don't know whether it was in connection with another case. She from time to time will call and just inquire about what's going on and see if there's something that's newsworthy out there.

And I talked to Lauren, and given the fact that Lauren Trager had a prior interaction with K.S., that was understood to put her in a position of comfort about the accuracy of the representations that were made in the recording, Lauren and KMOV ended up being the local CBS affiliate local media outlet for television that we utilized to work on this project.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch, we worked with the editors, including Christopher Ave, and another associate editor, and we worked with them as well. They both felt comfortable at the time that we were working to the terms that I required which was they could not utilize them unless they released the story or aired a story. They felt comfortable that they would be able to corroborate the story.

Our strategy was to make as much noise as possible, so the goal and objective was to make sure that this story got out on or shortly before the State of the State Address which was to be conducted on January 10, 2018.

Q And why was that?

A Because we knew, traditionally the governor holds a lengthy press conference following his State of the State Address and we wanted it out there.

Q Why?

A To make as much noise as possible. So this is where the temporal bubble is important.

Q Why?

A My client hired me in September of 2016, the intake on that was very simple. My client had his wife compromised and his marriage compromised by a man of such power that he feared for his life. Other firms had declined representation. When he came in, that was his goal and objective being to suppress this story, keep it out of the public eye, and do what had to be done to put my client in a position where he was safe and secure.

So our undertakings commenced with Roy Temple. But that wasn't all that we did.

Simultaneously we wanted to make sure that we got through a back channel the message to the governor loud and clear, don't mess with my client. He was very sensitive to the fact that he felt he had been hacked, he felt his computers were messed with, he felt somebody was messing with his mail.

I deal with people all the time, some are crackpots, some of them are absolutely spot on. This man was very credible. So we took measures and steps in October of 2016 --

Q Mr. Watkins, I'm sorry, this committee, at least members who are here before, this committee completely disagrees with the statement about the credibility of who we refer to as witness three. But --

A And who might witness three be? Because I am not sitting here all day.

Q Witness three is the ex-husband.

A And that's fine.

Q And I understand you're his counsel and --

A My duty and my obligation is to my client, not to you.

Q I completely understand that, Mr. Watkins.

A So if you want for the good people of the State of Missouri to hear --

Q Mr. Watkins, I understand that.

A -- everything, they need to hear everything.

Q Well, I will let you continue your question but when we talk about -- your answer but when you talk about the credibility of witness three, this committee unanimously agreed that but for the authentication of the tape, that witness three's testimony means nothing. We do not believe a word that comes out of his mouth and we're not sure anything that comes out of his mouth means much because he wasn't in the room.

A He did not play a role. So as to the credibility of my client, I am an advocate and I have the duty to my client and I understand and appreciate that you may have an elevated degree of discomfort with his credibility and, quite frankly, and with all due respect, I don't care. The good people of the State of Missouri need to know and understand that this is the mind-set of a man who has endured the decimation of his marriage by a man -- another man in a position of power and authority. A man who did not -- did not stop, not only did he decimate that marriage, but he infused himself on a continuing and ongoing basis through not one but two reconciliation attempts.

This is a man who heard from his own wife's mouth a story about his wife being hit when she was -- when she told and confessed that she had, yes, slept with her husband during a period of reconciliation. My client was decimated. Then he had to endure every single day in the newspapers articles about Greitens. News releases about Greitens. Advertisements of Greitens blowing up cars.

You all know he was a Navy Seal, oh, and goodness he was also a Rhodes Scholar. This man wanted to be president of the United States. And my client endured that. Endured that. He had those recordings. He knew that the governor knew that my client knew about what happened.

My client knew that the governor knew that my client had recordings. The next thing you know he is in 2015, worried about whether this guy in 2016, '17, '18 is going to become president of the United States and he knows he's got these recordings?

My client was in abject fear. When all this happened in 2015, my client wanted to ruin the governor. My client wanted --

Q You admit there is some vengeance as well. There may be fear --

A Oh, in 2015, absolutely.

Q And vengeance. So vengeance was my question.

A Vengeance, every emotion in the book. Vengeance, hate, disdain. You know, if that had been my wife, I'd have a (not audible, but not discernible) on his forehead.

Q Did -- did --

MR. HATFIELD: Mr. Chairman, you asked him to tell the whole truth. He's attempting to do that. I don't know if he's finished or not?

A I'm not. What's really important, and I talked about this temporal bubble early on. You can't be oblivious to the reality that my client had the recordings, he knew the governor knew that he had the recordings. He knew the governor knew that he knew all about what was going on and in the divorce proceedings which commenced in 2015, after two failed reconciliation attempts, my client didn't use those recordings, he didn't admit them into evidence, he didn't reference it in the divorce. Everything went to the wife with the exception of his intellectual property.

In 2016 --

Q (BY MR. BARNES) We're staying on why. The question was why. So we've got fear. We've got vengeance.

A No. That, now, by the time the divorce occurred, there was no vengeance. There was no desire. He had moved past it. By the time the divorce occurred, he knew his relationship with his wife was over. He knew that he still cared deeply for his wife. He knew that he had to co-parent with this woman who was his wife, someone he cared about.

That was his priority then, and when he hired us, that was his priority, and it remained his priority until late December 2017. My client --

Q So what changed in December 2017?

A In late December of 2017, what used to be a periodic phone call from someone in the media became a steady drip of calls.

Q How did it become a steady drip? We had a witness tell us she received calls from a reporter and she believed the only way they possibly could have got her number was from your client. So how did it become a steady drip?

A First of all, I can tell you with the highest degree of sincerity and personal experience that members of the media have absolutely a dogged pursuit capacity when it comes to garnering contact numbers. They also have access to -- and this is important because this ended up being the proverbial straw that broke the camel's back. They have access to and can garner through a service the phone numbers of every single phone on a particular plan that is in the name of an individual.

So in the case of my client, they were able to garner every phone under my client's --

Q I'm not talking about the kids. I'm not talking about the kids. I'm talking about a friend. A friend who wouldn't have been on your client's plan in any fashion.

A Oh, you're talking -- are you talking about a friend of K.S.?

Q And -- yes. Yes. Who testified that she was contacted by a reporter and she believes -- I've read her testimony and she believes the only way that could have happened is through P.S.

A At what time?

Q At the time that the story was about to break. I do not believe -- was it immediately pre or post? It was right around the time of this story.

A I can tell you -- and that's a really good, that's a good question. My client did not provide any of those numbers.

Q Okay. And you would agree with me --

A It's really important. I provided those numbers. Why? Because we had a sense of urgency. There was no corroboration that could be garnered sufficient to permit the Post-Dispatch and KMOV to discharge their professional duties as journalists before publishing the story.

I provided names of individuals that we believed could corroborate through contemporaneous statements the contents of the audiotape. With that we provided the last known numbers that we were able to garner. So, no, that wasn't my client. There is no vengeance there. That was me discharging my duty to my client, trying to get this story out.

Q Okay. Back to the money. Was that money delivered in any understanding that it would be a payment to P.S.?

A The representation was made that, yeah, it was for P.S.'s fees and hopefully to help him have a soft landing.

Q What does that mean by soft landing?

A Soft landing, given the shit storm that was going to ensue. I believe that was the exact word that was used. One which I might add was prophetic.

Q It is fair to say that a storm has ensued. How much has gone to P.S.?

A Zero. 100 percent of the money that has been received has gone into the coffers of Kodner Watkins, and there is a significant balance due.

Q Have you ever spoken with witness one?

A If you tell me who witness one is.

MR. HATFIELD: K.S.

Q (BY MR. BARNES) K.S.

A No, I have not.

Q Have you ever given her money?

A I have never given her money.

Q Have you ever told her she could just say nothing happened?

A Never.
Q Have you ever told her how to testify?
A No.
Q Have you ever spoken with Michael Hafner?
A No.
Q I'm stealing the vice chairman's questions from yesterday. Have you ever paid Michael Hafner any money for testimony?
A I don't know who Mr. Hafner is, the answer is no.
Q Have you ever spoken with Krystal Taylor?
A Again, I don't know that person is, the answer is no.
Q Have you ever paid Crystal Taylor any money?
A No.
Q Have you ever spoken with Lindsey Hodges?
A I don't know who that person is, no.
Q Have you ever paid her any money?
A No.
Q Have you ever spoken with Danny Laub?

A I know Danny Laub. I've never talked to him, never met him. I know the name because of the media reports, and the answer is no.

Q Have you ever paid him any money?

A No.

Q Have you ever spoken with Spencer Kympton?

A I don't know that person, never heard that name before that I can recall, no, I have not paid that person money.

MR. HATFIELD: Or spoken to him?

A Or spoken to him.

Q (BY MR. BARNES) You made a mention of the -- you were saying something about the other $20,000, there were -- there was -- and I'm trying to -- what was the purpose of the remaining 20? You said it was your understanding that it was all from the same source. That was your assumption.

A That was my assumption, yes.

Q Okay. Well, what was the purpose of payments three and four? Or it was -- I believe Mr. Faughn testified yesterday he didn't know if it was three or four payments; is that right, Representative Trent?

Whatever it is, there was an additional 20,000. Whether it was a third and a fourth payment, we know there was an additional 20,000. What was the purpose, why an additional 20,000?

A 10,000 was for Scott Faughn's legal fees. The -- and I -- you know, there was a little bit of quick movement going on at the time. There had been a credible act of intimidation that had occurred that involved my family. And I got my family out of town and I told Scott I need to get my family out of town immediately.

He brought in $10,000 for that. We -- I didn't say -- we didn't discuss whether it was a retainer or what. I just made it really clear I needed some cash to get some family out of town while I took care of security measures.

Q So you believe the $10,000 was a retainer and then another ten was sort of money for -- is Mr. Hatfield showing you your deposition testimony? Is that what you're reviewing?

MR. HATFIELD: Yes.

A The good news is he's got it highlighted in opaque green, so I'm like Helen Keller with a rake on a golf course right now, I can't see a damn thing. But go ahead. Yellow highlights work better.

MR. HATFIELD: Sorry, Mr. Chairman.

Q (BY MR. BARNES) Is it your understanding that $10,000 was for fees and $10,000 was for protection money; is that what you're calling it?

A No, it was to get my family out of town. Did I assume that -- I assumed it was from this wealthy republican but at the end of the day, you know, it was clear that the payment made by Scott of $10,000 was for his legal fees, so for the purposes of our accounting records, that was a payment from Scott Faughn.

The second one didn't get attributed to a file. It was treated as income but it's not attributed to a file. Whether that was Scott making a payment to me or the governor, I think at the time it was pretty clear Scott intended it to be from him, to be credited to him. I just don't, you know, it's not something that the last $10,000 I really gave much thought about because my goal and objective was to get my family out of town.

Q Did you inquire any further of Mr. Faughn about the source of this mysterious cash?

A I have from time to time asked him.

I know I asked him certainly at the outset. My biggest concern at the outset wasn't really who it was from. I wanted to make sure it wasn't dirty money, drug money, money from ill-gotten gains, something that would give rise to problems.

I had no compunction at all about taking legal tender. I would have preferred a check. It's a lot easier to deal with.

Q Is that why you contacted the FBI, because you were concerned about its source and you wanted to make sure upfront that better to go at the start and say, hey, I received this, I don't know the source?

A Well, that was part of it. The primary purpose was I had been in ongoing contact with the special agent that I called on the day that I received the cash since late 2016 and really picked up steam in February of 2017 in connection with his undertakings that related to the governor.

So when the cash came in, I had spoken to the special agent the day I met Mr. Faughn for the first time to explain who I met with and what the discussions were.

I also contacted the special agent that day that I received the cash. I believe I took a photograph of it and texted it to him. I also know that I took that photograph and e-mailed it to him, and I know that I spoke to him on the phone to confirm and describe how it was delivered, what was said about the individual who was purportedly behind the money, and described the bands and that it looked like it was banked money, by that I mean rolled -- or not rolled, but bound.

I then contacted the bank, the bank president, met with the bank president, the bank officer --

MR. HATFIELD: Talking about your bank?

Q (BY MR. BARNES) Which bank?

A My bank. And met with them at the bank --

Q Had you ever deposited that much cash before?

A No. In fact, I don't normally handle money, I don't normally make deposits. I abhor the process of going to banks.

Q If I have five dollars in my wallet, it doesn't stay there.

A I understand.

Q You have a lot of kids, right?

A I have five and I'm very proud of all of them and I'm trying to be a family man but I'm not running for governor.

So the good news is that I went to the bank and talked to the bank president and talked to the bank -- another bank officer. Went down to the counter. I even took a video of the guy with the machine. It makes a wonderful sound as it flaps the currency through, and made sure that a SARS report was generated. I thought I had to fill out a SARS report --

MR. HATFIELD: Tell him what SARS means.

A Suspicious Transaction Report for the regulators, bank regulators.

Q (BY MR. BARNES) So you deemed this might be something that would be viewed as a suspicious transaction?

A By definition, any transaction that's above $10,000 is deemed suspicious transaction, whether it's a bar that just has a really good night or whether it's a crack dealer who decides to pay his taxes. At the end of the day I made sure that the SARS report was generated.

And then I spoke subsequently to an Assistant US Attorney who asked confirmation, he had texted me and requested that I call about it, and I called him. That was Howard Goldsmith. And I advised Mr. Goldsmith, in response to his inquiry, that indeed the bank that we deposited the money in was the bank at which our firm maintained its bar approved IOLTA trust account, and then confirmed that the money was deposited into that trust account.

Q Okay. Now, I -- one other question. I noticed in your deposition you stated something about you believed you had told me about the source of the funds and I believe you stated you couldn't remember when. Do you remember saying that in your deposition?

A Yeah, I did. I believe at some point toward the end of the deposition there was an inquiry propounded upon me as to whether or not I had told you. I was uncertain as to whether I had told you that. At the end of the day, I do know that within the time frame that was being discussed in that depo, that I had made it public. I had spoken publicly about it in the news.

Whether I had told you about it or not, I wasn't certain. And in hindsight, you know, it was brought to my attention that there had been some concern expressed about that. I've -- there's been no secret on my part about this. I've talked publicly about it the first second I had the opportunity. And not be subject to the protective order.

Q Well, Mr. Watkins, I think it's important to get at that because I know exactly where I first learned of this. And I first learned of this after -- some number of weeks after we took the testimony of Mr. Hafner and Mr. Hafner made allegations of concealing money and potentially foreign donors.

I too contacted federal law enforcement and I learned of the payment in a meeting that was set up with federal law enforcement after I contacted them, speaking about the testimony of Mr. Hafner. And in the course of that interview was asked questions about did I know that you had received a cash payment.

And I think just, it's important for public knowledge because I know how this has played out in public with attacking people who are looking at these things, and I want it to be known that I did learn of it from FBI -- from the FBI asking questions about that in the context of a meeting that happened after I had called them about Michael Hafner's testimony about concealing donors and foreign donors.

Now, that's not to say they didn't tell me whether there was an open investigation into Mr. Greitens and Mr. Faughn and you and -- into anybody. They just said we'll take your information, we've got some additional questions for you, they had a lot of additional questions. That was it.

That was when I knew, it was the first time I had ever met with anyone from the FBI and I got to tell you, I didn't know what the hell to do when I walked out the door having received -- having heard that information and not -- it wasn't, I don't think a week later or so, it doesn't seem like very long that it was news in the public.

A Some of the most diligent people I have crossed paths with professionally. And I would like to make it very clear, I'm very glad you brought this to the attention of everyone. I hoped I had made it clear in my deposition. The question that was propounded upon me, and it's important because I don't want this chairman or anyone on this committee to think that there was anything other than candor and transparency that was proffered by me during the course of that deposition.

The question propounded upon me --

Q Did Mr. Rosenblum take your deposition?

A No, Mr. Dowd did. So the question that was propounded, so tell us about your conversations with Jay Barnes. "Did you -- did you -- let me ask you this. Did you tell Jay Barnes that you had received $100,000 in cash payments to receive -- to represent P.S.?"

Answer, "I don't know. I believe at some point there was reference to that made but I can't state for sure. I don't remember."

Ultimately my goal, my objective here is to answer as many and as fully your questions, and I am doing it because I agree wholeheartedly about the importance of every bit of information being made public and that the people, the good citizens of this state are accorded the opportunity to fully assess what's going on.

You have a daunting task in front of you. You have done an overwhelming amount of work to date. I am respectful of it. I understand and appreciate that there are disreviews and interpretations of things. I am respectful that have and I don't want anyone to believe that my testimony in any way was designed to do anything other than enhance your position of authority.

Q For what it's worth, Mr. Watkins, I do not recall that conversation between the two of us. The only conversation I recall is with the FBI and then shortly thereafter the news broke and then everybody's been talking about it. So, and it may very well be that after it broke, that you mentioned that to me. I don't know.

A And did I say I don't remember for a reason, and please understand, over the course of basically since late December through to date, if I have not received between 40 and 50 phone calls a day from individuals inquiring about the subject matter that's involved here, whether it be members of the national media, international media, local media, politicians and investigative authorities on a state and federal level, I will tell you the only reason I wouldn't get those calls is because my phone is broken.

Q Are those conversations running together, Mr. Watkins?

A Sometimes they do and I apologize but the goal and objective here was to be candid and I think my response was candid.

Q When P.S. testified to this committee, he talked about a trust fund for that money. Could you explain that?

A Sure. I am not saying that my client has a room temperature IQ on a cold day, but I will tell you categorically, when it comes to nuances having to do with the legal profession, he is functionally well outside of the bell curve of normalcy. So here is the drill. At the time money came in in January of 2018, that's one set of circumstances.

Since almost the inception of here -- his engagement of our firm, he inquired about estate planning because he thought he was going to be at risk. He wanted to make sure things were put into place for his kids. I don't handle that work. I'd stab myself in the neck with a butter knife before I did estate planning work. Just not my bailiwick.

He received a ratchet that was done over period of time -- shit. Sorry, I'll knock anything down on the table. I apologize. I'm a little something vulgar. Kinda my style. I'll work hard not to be vulgar. We worked hard and at some point he said I want to establish a trust.

I had him talk to Bryan Schrempf of our firm who is our estate planning attorney. When the money came in, we put the money into a trust account for the firm.

Q Your IOLTA account?

A The IOLTA bar account. All right? So I can't tell you what's in the mind of any third party but I can tell you that sometimes you can tell when you look at a client that they don't get it, and when it came to the trust account, the money was put into our firm's trust account. To this day we have not completed the formation of a trust.

Early on, after we received the $100,000, there was discussion that I had with P.S., and I made this a matter of public record, that we believed that ultimately these recordings, once released and once there was a story published in error, that there would be a maelstrom, a shit storm that occurred, everybody will be all upset about the governor getting his appendage dampened with my client's ex-wife's orifice of choice --

Q Mr. Watkins -- Mr. Watkins --

A -- and there would be money left over. But that -- I'm giving you a recital of how I presented it to my client. The belief was that there would be money left over and my client made it clear from the very beginning, he turned down money from other sources who wanted to buy the story, wanted to buy the tapes, including the Daily Mirror. He wanted no such thing. Because there were conditions tied to that money. My client didn't care about this money.

When I told him there would be some left over, he wanted to make sure it was put into a trust for his kids. So when he talked to you, whatever mental acuity issues and nuance deficiencies he has with respect to the legal profession and trusts, were unfoldish life for you. I hope that answers your question.

MR. HATFIELD: You want a break?

THE WITNESS: No. I'm fine.

Q (BY MR. BARNES) Mr. Watkins, I'm still confused about timing, I'm almost finished here. You say vengeance was gone and there was fear in '17. And yet this money comes in to you.

It seems there are three motives for P.S.; fear, vengeance, and greed.

A It may seem that way but you haven't heard the whole story and the fact of the matter is there is no greed on the part of my client. There is greed on my part and I will acknowledge it and I live it and I breathe it every single day. But I work hard for that.

The second thing is, what was it, greed, fear -- fear is right. Fear was there. What was the third one?

MR. HATFIELD: Vengeance.

Q (BY MR. BARNES) Fear, vengeance and greed.

A If my client wanted to exploit vengeance, he would have done it before the election, he would have done it during the divorce. There is no vengeance here. My client was in a better spot. My client wanted nothing to do with this.

Remember, my client had us contact the governor through a back channel. I contacted a lawyer in New York who was a roommate at college, Williams in Massachusetts, whose roommate was married to the best friend of Sheena Greitens and we got the message back to the governor, tried to get message back to the governor, our guy wants nothing out, doesn't want this to get out there, leave him alone.

My client paid me to keep this story suppressed. I know. I was the one doing the suppression. My client did fear. My client had significant fear.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins, thank you. Representative Phillips?

MR. PHILLIPS: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Thank you, Mr. Watkins, for being with us this morning.

THE WITNESS: Thank you, sir.

MR. PHILLIPS: Welcome back, Mr. Hatfield.

MR. HATFIELD: Thank you, sir.

EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. PHILLIPS:

Q Mr. Watkins, do you think there is a possibility that this money actually came from maybe another source other than some political person as described by Scott Faughn?

A I don't know and don't care.

Q Well, you may not care, but I kinda care. I'm wondering about could it be some news media source? Wouldn't they have more of a need for that information to -- wouldn't that be valuable for them to break a story like that?

A That's really interesting because the only media that offered me money for my client's story was the Daily Mirror. The -- you can ask me to speculate and I'll be happy to wax poetically for you, but it's a zero value.

Q It would be entertaining but we'll pass on that for the moment. When the money arrived, wasn't it in the beginning reported to be like mystery money, nobody had any idea, it just showed up at your door step?

A No, I have never described it as mystery money, never described it as secret money. Not all of it. It didn't just show up at my door step. No secret about it, no mystery.

Q So if it didn't just show up mysteriously, then you and Scott Faughn actually had conversations or communication about this money and the delivery of the money; is that fair?

A That's fair.

Q Okay. So then immediately when that money arrived, the very day that it arrived, you had, you went and publicly said, I've got money and this is where it came from?

A No. Actually before the money came in, I spoke to the FBI. I told the FBI what was going on. The dynamics, the details, what had been said to me. Then when the money came in, I don't give a rat's ass where the money came from, I want to make sure we do this the right way.

I contacted the FBI, said, yeah, the money came in, I took a picture of it, I got it to the FBI, I contacted the bank, generated the SARS report, put it into our trust account, spoke to the Assistant US Attorney, subsequently filed a Form 8300, then had to revise that, had to revise it again, especially in light of the testimony of Mr. Faughn and, you know, we couldn't have been more transparent. I have answered media inquiries about it.

Q Okay. Ballpark figure, roughly when that was?

A When was what, sir?

Q The question I just asked you, when did you do all that? When did you jump through all those hoops to get that $100,000?

A Let me walk you through that. On January 8 we received the -- well, January 5 was the initial conversation. I picked up a phone on January 5, I spoke to Special Agent Kevin Cosentino with the FBI located in the Eastern District of Missouri, the same individual with whom I had been contacting and in contact with and receiving contact from regarding the governor's situations, plural.

Q Okay. And that answers my question unless you --

A No, that doesn't answer your question.

Q Okay. I'll sit here and listen for the next few minutes. Go ahead.

A You asked me when I did this, so I'm going to tell you. On January 8, I received the money, the first $50,000. I contacted the FBI again. I took photographs of the money, I texted the FBI special agent, and I e-mailed it to the FBI special agent.

The next day I received the second $50,000. I contacted the bank president, I have $100,000 in cash in my bag. I advised the bank that I needed counters there, I was making a large cash deposit into our trust account. I went to the bank, I spoke -- this is all on the 9th. I spoke to the bank president. Another bank officer made the deposit, generated the SARS report that day.

It was probably a couple of weeks later that the Assistant US Attorney, Howard Goldsmith, texted me, saying you wanted to talk to me about the $100,000, I picked up the phone and called him. I believe in my deposition testimony I had said he called me, he had actually texted me, and I spoke with him, responded to his inquiry and confirmed that the bank in which the money was deposited was in fact the bank at which our trust account was held and that the money was indeed deposited into our trust account.

Subsequently, when I received the subpoena for the governor's attorneys requesting a copy of the Form 8300, when I received that, I looked around and I said anyone know what a Form 8300 is? And once I found out, contacted my CPA, completed the form and submitted it to the IRS. That concludes the answer to your question, sir.

Q Wonderful. Remind me not to ask you a Biblical question because I don't want you to start with in the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth.

MR. HATFIELD: He'd start before that, Mr. Vice Chairman.

MR. PHILLIPS: He probably would. I'd like to hear that answer but not today.

Q (BY MR. PHILLIPS) So what kind of container did the money arrive in? For instance, was it a briefcase --

A I got the question. It was a brown expandable file folder with a cover on it. Not -- a fold over cover with a little elastic -- brown elastic band that's built into it. You see it -- lawyers carry them a lot. That was the first one. That was delivered January 8. That was delivered by Mr. Faughn.

Q Okay.

A On January 9 it came from Striker or Skyler or whatever, and it was a very busy time at the office. It was dropped off. When I picked it up, it was in what I recall to be a Fed Ex box, but it was a Fed Ex box that did not have an air bill or label on it or any of the markings that would indicate it had gone through the Fed Ex system.

Q All right. So these were hundred dollar bills?

A The first one was all $100 bills. I can't remember but it occurs to me or it seems to me like the second $50,000 had some $50 bills in it but I'm not certain.

Q Okay. And Mr. Faughn never told you the money was his personal money; isn't that correct?

A No. He never told me that it was his money.

Q Okay. And you don't believe it was his money, correct? Or you'd have knowledge?

A My role is not to believe or not believe. I don't have direct knowledge.

Q You have an opinion about a lot of things. I mean, can you give your opinion?

A I have a lot of opinions. Can I give my opinion? I don't give a rat's ass.

Q That's a good opinion.

A That's my opinion.

Q Okay. But you don't have any direct knowledge then to say that you actually know where the money came from; is that what you're testifying to?

A I think I've made that painfully clear.

MR. PHILLIPS: Okay. Very good.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. BARNES: Mr. Watkins, if we could refrain from the language. The first time was I believe accidental because something accident, a little accident happened there, the second time, let's just slow down with the language, I know we have had language in here before. I also.

THE WITNESS: I will be as respectful as possible. I have a social turret's problem my wife tells me about, on occasion, there is no better way to describe, at least by me, a certain thing than to use vulgarities. I will be very respectful.

MR. BARNES: I want to inform the committee, as this relates to our schedule this afternoon, I received a text from our counsel, Chip Robertson, who has been informed that Missouri State Highway Patrol Troopers Hoyt and Blankenship have been sent -- are being sent by the Jackson County circuit Attorney's Office to come speak with the committee about witness one and the events surrounding that and perhaps to request any additional documents that we have.

I don't know when they're going to get here. If they get here when Mr. Watkins is testifying, we are not going to take a break to speak with them. We are going to continue with Mr. Watkins until he is finished, but for our scheduling purposes, I thought that since just heard that, I ought to let everybody know.

Representative Mitten?

MS. MITTEN: I have no questions.

MR. BARNES: Representative Lauer?

MS. LAUER: Thank you, Mr. Chair, just a few questions. Thank you.

EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MS. LAUER:

Q Good morning.

A Good morning.

Q When, and I don't mean to make this sound like a -- like a cops and robbers thing but when you and Mr. Faughn spoke on 1/5, I believe it was --

A Yes.

Q -- what arrangements were made as far as this money? So what -- to, as an example, did he say I'm going to give you a thousand dollars in two $50,000 packets? What was the discussion about this whole arrangement?

A There wasn't much of one. The suggestion was that there was money available to assist my client, to pay his fees and to help him garner a soft landing after the -- after the upheaval which was anticipated to be forthcoming with the disclosure.

It was, at this time, of course, nobody knew about any potential criminal charges, much less the specific charge that was brought for invasion of privacy. No one had a clue about that. No one, of course, had a clue about the creation of this committee or its undertakings.

So the conversation was a little bit outside of the normal interaction that would occur between counsel and somebody with whom a negotiation was taking place because the representation was made that this wealthy republican with an axe to grind, although the term was not with an axe to grind, he said it was personal, was suggesting that, you know, he'd like to make a -- help out with a soft landing.

I said, well, what do you mean? And the response was, well, I -- I don't know. Maybe, you know, 50 or a hundred? Now, I'm not daft. So I'm listening to him say 50 or a hundred and I'm thinking, well, it's certainly not 50 bucks or a hundred bucks, and I'm an advocate for my client. So I said 100,000 and he said, I think I can do that.

Q Okay. So then --

A Now, part of that, part of that discussion, it was made really clear to me that Mr. Faughn had an overwhelming desire to hear that recording.

Q I'm sorry, had what?

A An overwhelming desire to hear the recording.

Q To hear it or to get it?

A Well, I was okay with having him hear it. I was not okay with giving it to him.

Q Okay.

A And there's a reason for that. I knew that Mr. Faughn was a member of the media. I had made a commitment to the Post-Dispatch and to KMOV that if they were going to put the resources into this, it was necessary to garner the corroboration, which they ultimately did not get until the governor came out himself. This story never would have been published or aired but for the governor's statement on January 10. Would never have gone anywhere.

But I didn't want Scott Faughn, a member of the media to have this and to undermine the people that, the members of the media that I had been working with. I take very seriously my reputation with them and when I make a representation to them, I like to live up to it.

So I had trepidation about giving him the tape. Now, he heard the tape but he was pretty -- it was very important to him to garner the tape. Ultimately, when he came back in on January 8 and we knew at this point that all the questions and answers had been done, everything had been teed up, there was just a final interview on camera for my client that had to be done, I gave him the recording but only after he executed an agreement, a confidentiality agreement, with a Draconian liquidated damages provision so that fiscally it would endure to his detriment if he did not comport fully with the terms and conditions of that agreement.

Q Okay. And I appreciate client-attorney privilege but you've talked about this agreement now. If you could share, there was a confidentiality agreement in there?

A Correct.

Q And so at any point if that had been broken, then what would happen?

A I would have gotten my skinny soul up out of my chair and punched out a petition, sought equitable relief and sued for legal damages in a concurrent count because if you mess with me on that front, I'm going to come and get you.

Q So once the story broke and everything became quite public, did that -- let me back up, I'm sorry.

Was the -- what was the confidentiality clause specific to?

A It had do with what we were releasing to him which was the tape. The recording, I shouldn't use the word tape. It was an electronic recording.

Q So was it that he -- where he got it from, that he didn't share it?

A No, it was subject to a strict confidentiality protocol, he was allowed to, you know, use it for his own purposes, whatever they may be and with -- and whoever it is that was in his immediate, you know, circle for whatever purpose, I personally thought it was the wealthy republican, but that was an assumption, it wasn't said, and that he couldn't use it.

The goal and objective was to basically put him in a position where he couldn't use it until that story aired.

Q Okay. And so then once the story aired, then the confidentiality agreement was moot?

A Well, then it's a matter of public record anyway, one, and we released that thing all over. I mean, all over.

Q Okay. So let's go back to the 1/5 situation. So you left there with an agreement that there would be $100,000 to be given to you for --

A Yeah, so when you say an agreement, there is nothing in writing, there was no handshake. It was just, I think I can do that.

Q Okay. So then --

A You know, look, I -- I handle a lot of different types of matters over the course of three plus decades in the practice of law. Sometimes you get a feeling that somebody is blowing sunshine up your shirt. This is one of those occasions where I did not know whether he was going to seriously show up with a payment or not. We didn't discuss whether there was cash, check, money order, credit card, none of that. There were no details other than a payment will be brought by on Monday.

On Monday got the call and he said I'll be by shortly, and next thing I know he is at my desk and a brown folder is on my desk.

Q Okay. And at the time P.S. gave you that audio, was it your understanding then that that was your possession, that you owned that?

A No.

Q To -- to sell, to do with whatever you wanted?

A No, I -- my duty is to my client. My duty, my obligation, is to my client. We had -- and this was my duty. I talked to him about the fact that there was -- this is going back to 2016. When he wanted to know whether or not what the best way was to secure his -- to secure his family and himself. I talked about monetizing these tapes.

I talked about, look, the safer you are is if you give this tape to Roy Temple. Get it out there. The faster you get it public, the safer you are. The faster everyone knows about what happened, about everything involved, the safer you are. The safer your kids are. Ultimately, the final decision was his, not mine. Ultimately, he turned down other opportunities, including monetary.

Q I believe you said that, yeah.

A But they had conditions.

Q Okay. So he handed it off to you for safekeeping?

A No, we made sure we put those recordings and preserved them in multiple locations that could not give rise to the destruction of all of them. That was one of the messages we got out to the governor through the gentleman who was the roommate of the attorney in New York and, by the way, the gentleman is now the Assistant Secretary of Defense for the Asia-Pacific Theater under Trump.

Q So by what you just said, there were multiple copies then made?

A Yes.

Q How many?

A I couldn't begin to tell you. In this electronic era, who knows.

Q And where are those multiple copies then?

A Well, right now they're probably all over the world. I mean, the internet, I mean, the recordings are out there.

Q True. But I'm going back to you indicated that you actually had physical copies in various locations.

A Yeah. So we have a very secure system, electronic preservation system at our firm. We also have utilization of external hard drives so that even if everything was corrupted, we have that. There was also the employment of another law firm -- when I say employment, the utilization of another law firm to have it saved in their system, encrypted, password protected. We also, of course, had my client, who knows where he put it, but I know he had it in multiple locations as well.

Q So all these saved copies then, would you say they have still maintained that integrity or in that safe spot where they were sent, or you don't know?

A I have no idea and, for lack of a better phrase, I don't care.

Q So they may or may not be safe?

A No. It's out there so now every -- it doesn't matter.

Q I'm just talking about the physical.

A Yeah, I never received a physical tape. There's no tape. It was always electronically preserved.

Q Okay.

A So it's not like the old days where you have a cassette or reel to reel or something you had to bury in the backyard in a tin box.

Q Okay. Thank you. A couple of other questions. When you received the money, you said that was -- was that your first contact with the FBI?

A No. My contact with the FBI on this case, on this matter -- when I say case, this governor -- dates back to 2016.

Q Okay. And that contact was in regards to specifically?

A The governor's sexual proclivities, his vulnerabilities as a public official, his -- when I say -- because I'm trying to be respectful of the chairman's admonition, what I recall a sexual pattern and practice. A predatory protocol was discussed. The victimization protocol was discussed.

Q And was this in regards to information your client had shared with you?

A This was information that -- and please you have to understand, over time I acquired a lot of information from a lot of different contacts from people who were consulting with me.

Q Okay.

A From that information we were able to garner additional information or do additional research, but -- I forgot your question.

Q That's okay. In 2016, when you made your first contact with the FBI, it was in regards to the governor's inappropriate behavior as you were describing, and that may or may not have included anything that P.S. had provided you?

A Oh, no. I can tell you that what P.S. provided to me was requested by and provided to the FBI, and I believe it was either late January or early February of 2017.

Q So your first -- your first contact that you made with the FBI was in again regards to this inappropriate behavior, and what was -- what was your thought as far as contacting the FBI about that? Why that was an FBI issue?

A So it's very interesting, that's a good question. One of the great fears that you have any time that you have a person in position of authority in a state government or a federal government is if there are tape recordings of this nature out there, you want to make sure that there isn't risk of exposure to that public official to extortion. Or in hand in hand goes with that, public corruption by trying to secrete something which otherwise is lawfully something which could be made public.

So I wanted to make sure the FBI was aware of the situation because I was picking up the phone and I was calling a contact who was calling a contact to get the message back to the governor, leave my guy alone, we don't want anything, we're trying to suppress this story, leave my guy alone.

So I wanted to make sure that the FBI was aware of that because what I didn't want to have happen was to have it mischaracterized on any level as being something which would be inappropriate. I am advocating for my client. I am not asking for money, not trying to extort money. I'm trying to keep a bad guy away from my client.

So I let the FBI know about it and the person I spoke with happens to be in public corruption, so they know people who have positions of authority, who are vulnerable to extortion, are the ones that oftentimes are also vulnerable to public corruption.

Q So you made that contact and then you also indicated that you contacted them again when the first payment arrived?

A My contact with the FBI was not me contacting them all the time. There would be contact made by them to me.

Q And what was that contact about?

A It's not one. This was an ongoing undertaking a relationship that developed and involved, I can't say scores but it could very well be scores of separate contacts that would provide updates, additional information that had been acquired, additional information being requested. I can't tell what the FBI is doing or what the Feds are doing. Hat's not for them to tell me.

Q Did you have any indication that it was anything other than the sexual practices that you had described? That they were contacting you about?

A So I will share with you, after 30 plus years in the practice of law, having the privilege of representing criminally accused in federal court, that the individuals who were involved in this, in terms of the special agent assigned and the Assistant United States Attorney in this matter, they are not what I will refer to as scratch and sniff guys. They are -- they are extraordinarily diligent and capable individuals who are brought in for a particular type of undertaking.

That does not -- it encompasses wire fraud, mail fraud, tax fraud, a host of other matters that often go hand in hand with subject matter that has been brought to light and obviously addressed in various settings relative to the governor with a fairly high degree of frequency over the last four or five months.

Q And so other than this, the first contact that you had with them and then the contact regarding the moneys, were there any other issues that you brought forward to the FBI other than those two things?

A Oh, there was, the range and subject matter of our contact was wide and encompassed, not simply the victim in this case, and did not encompass simply subject matter of the nefarious sexual proclivities of a predator but involved a lot of other subject matter which would fall well within the range and scope of the expertise of the individuals at the federal level that I dealt with.

Q Okay. So we're going to move just a bit backwards here. I think we're pretty clear on the two $50,000 payments and who delivered those and at the first payment, when it was Mr. Faughn who delivered that to you, that was an actual face-to-face meeting --

A Yes it was.

Q -- where it was physically handed over?

A No, it wasn't handed over to me, actually. I came in the office, Mr. Faughn was sitting on the other side of my partner desk, and the brown expandable file folder with the flap and elastic band was already on my desk.

Q Okay.

A I set it to the side, I didn't look at it, didn't look at it, but it occurred to me and was obvious to me that if it was money, it was cash because a check isn't that heavy.

Q And the two $10,000 payments then, how were those delivered?

A Mr. Faughn brought those to my office.

Q Each one, each 10,000 separately?

A Correct, separately, and on separate days.

Q Cash?

A Cash.

Q And was there any indication where that money came from?

A No, and --

Q I didn't hear --

A Well, I appreciate you at least catching on to the fact that I didn't care but we didn't really discuss it at that time, but the $10,000 payment that Mr. Faughn brought in when he formalized the engagement of our firm was something that didn't -- it didn't even cross my mind to be inquiring at all.

The second $10,000 payment, not only did it not cross my mind. I was in a blistering rush to get things taken care of.

Q Okay. And I just one last thing and I may not have heard correctly but you said about 30 minutes ago when you were testifying and we were talking about the moneys that had been delivered to you, and I'm taking it as a word misspoken.

I believe you said you didn't know it was from Scott Faughn or the governor. I heard the word "governor," I believe and I think it was probably a miss -- and we can look through the transcript as we --

A I don't recall saying that. What was the question and what was answer that you heard?

Q It was something about you didn't know if the money came from Scott Faughn or the governor and I think you may have meant from the --

A From the wealthy republican.

Q Right.

A I'm sorry, if I said governor, I misspoke. I apologize.

Q I just want to make sure it's clear so that that doesn't stay on the record if that is indeed what you said.

A No, I can tell you with 100 percent internal certainty that the money that was paid to my firm was not paid by the governor.

Q I'm pretty sure of that have too. That's why I just wanted to make sure it's all clear.

A Thank you, I appreciate that. I'm sorry if I misspoke.

Q And again, I may have misheard, so we'll double check.

MR. BARNES: Representative Austin heard the same. He's been our ears this entire process.

MS. LAUER: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. AUSTIN:

Q Thank you for being here, Mr. Watkins.

A Yes, sir.

Q When was the first time that you met Scott Faughn?

A I believe, my first meeting with Scott Faughn was on January 5, 2018.

Q I'm not talking just in relation to this matter but just in general ever.

A So after the January 5, 2018, meeting with Mr. Faughn, it was pointed out to me by one of my associates that in fact Mr. Faughn is the individual who was kind of the guest at a cocktail party that a former associate with our firm had hosted for Mr. Faughn.

I was invited to that, I did not attend but I was told afterwards that, hey, this is the guy that started this new paper in Clayton and you were invited to his cocktail party but you didn't go.

Q To your recollection, you never had a conversation with Scott Faughn before January 5.

A No, I believe the first day I met Mr. Faughn was the same day as his first telephone call with me. I believe it was the same day.

Q And that January 5, that was a phone call?

A No. The first meeting, the first contact I have had, I had with him I believe was a phone call, very short phone call, because I was fielding a ton of calls at this time. The fact that we were working the story was no secret. We had already contacted media, we'd already done Q and A, it was already out there.

He contacted me by phone and wanted to set up a time to meet with me and, you know, I, actually, after talking to him for a second and a half, he said he was with the Clayton Times, I thought it was another member of the media. I brought him in for an appointment that day.

Q And how long was that appointment?

A My guess is the first meeting, and this is a guess, but my guess is between 35 and 40 minutes. Somewhere in that neighborhood.

Q And at that time -- this is what I am getting at -- did you build a rapport to where you felt you could understand what he was communicating to you and you felt that he understood what you were communicating to him?

A You know, it's interesting. The meeting was one which was a combination of, in my opinion, Mr. Faughn vetting me out as a lawyer, and also trying to get a sense of what I knew about the totality of the circumstances. I will say two or three things.

That it's really important. Mr. Faughn ended up being a tremendous value to me in assisting other clients and other individuals who consulted me. But Mr. Faughn articulates as though he has marbles in his mouth. So a great deal of the time I had to remind Mr. Faughn, as I am not shy to do, speak the -- speak up.

Q Correct.

A Because he, um, there are people with hearing disabilities that truly can't speak, that speak better than Mr. Faughn in terms of articulating. And I am trying to be really respectful of those who are hearing impaired. I am hearing impaired. This is not a guy I want to have take a mic and sing songs at a wedding.

Q But as you testified, there are times when you can look into the face, the mind of the client, and tell they don't get it. Was that the situation with you and Mr. Faughn or did you understand that or did you believe that he was getting what you were communicating and you believe you were understanding what he was communicating back to you?

A Actually, there are two things that are important. That initial meeting, I can't tell you that I was holding my breath in anticipation of actually receiving payment. I told my client this guy could be full of horse hockey. That was in deference to your request.

And so did I think he got it? One, I didn't care; and two, I wasn't hold my breath on the money but if it came, that's great. And at the end of the day the thing that was important to me was that there were no conditions that were being --

Q Right, right. Well, number three conditions, that's something else. Number two kinda goes to whether he could come up with the money or not. I get that. But my question more is do you believe you guys were understanding one another?

And what I'm going back to is you said that he expressly stated that the money came from a wealthy out-of-state republican and I want to be sure that there's no doubt in your mind or in any of ours that that's what he communicated to you.

A Yeah, and that's -- that's an element of our conversation that was clear, concise, repeated by me shortly after that event to federal law enforcement authorities, and while I really didn't care, it was part of a picture that was important that I communicated accurately to federal law enforcement.

Q And sure, you communicated to your client because you said wanted to make sure this money wasn't from some drug deal or something bad, so you guys, you and Mr. Faughn, actually had a conversation. You just didn't say -- you just didn't take him when he said it's from a wealthy out-of-state republican donor and let it go at that; you had a conversation about that, right?

A That's correct. I didn't learn about the out-of-state portion until later, but no, my concern and the questions about the money didn't occur on the first meeting. They occurred when it came in cash. And when it came in cash, I made a point of asking him, was this drug money? Was this money dirty money? Was it from ill-gotten gains? That's what's important.

Q So this comment from Mr. Faughn, and not just a comment but, I mean, you guys went into it about the money coming from a wealthy republican, not only occurred on January 5, it occurred on January 8 when he brought the first $50,000?

A And it occurred -- yes.

Q Okay. And maybe it occurred at times after that too, I don't know.

A I, um, it occurred again when I expressly addressed whether Mr. Temple had anything to do with that money.

Q And again going back to the January 5 conversation, as I understand your testimony, you did not demand that it be in cash, correct?

A No.

Q And demand is probably a hard word because I think your testimony was you didn't even discuss the method or mode of payment, correct?

A No, the nuances of that are -- there just wasn't a lot of detail. You know, sometimes people refer to cash money and they're referring to a check that's good. In other words, this is cash, it's not credit card. But no, there were -- and cash is legal tender. I don't mind taking cash. But I'd far rather have a check. I don't want to jump through these hoops if I don't have to.

And now it's just added this 2018 saga and drama that somehow is giving rise to people turning their heads away from a 2015 act of forcible sodomy that really should be the subject matter at hand.

Q So let me ask you another thing. When he brought the cash in on January 8 and when the courier brought it in I think the next day --

A That would have been January 9.

Q Yeah. So do you, in your office, do you have a protocol where deliveries get signed in at your front desk and where, the date and time, who delivered and who it was for and what it was?

A No. And this is important, at that time we actually had media in our office. I was at the time our office, we've moved since then but our office had a big reception room with glass, or a big conference room with glass right off the reception. The cameras were in there and I told the cameramen, actually I told Lauren Trager, have your cameramen videotape this guy, will you? Now whether she ever did or not, I don't know.

Q And you're talking about the January 9th delivery?

A Correct. Lauren Trager was in my office with a camera crew at the time of that delivery.

Q When were the, for lack of a better word, tapes delivered from you to Mr. Faughn?

A I believe it was January 8, Monday, and I say that because that was the day on which Mr. Faughn executed the confidentiality agreement which I gave to him as a condition precedent to giving him a tape, or the recording, and he had requested that I e-mail him a copy of the executed confidentiality agreement and, or I referred to it. That's right. I, once -- I e-mailed him the recording is what I did, referencing the day on which the confidentiality agreement was signed.

So he signed it and then we e-mailed it.

Q And if I remember right, Mr. Faughn testified to a set of tapes and I just want to get this clear. Was there only one recording -- and I know it's not tapes, it was electronic, but there was only one recording or were there multiple recordings?

A I said there were multiple recordings. The only recording of value was the recording from March 25, 2015. The confessional tape. There were two other recordings and I think they were split up because of the size, and they were genuinely painful, heart-wrenching interaction between two tremendously hurt people but unrelated to the governor.

And so at some point I know he was very insistent about and really wanted to hear them, and I did allow him to come in and listen to them. I don't recall sending him copies of them, but he may have gotten them but I don't recall ever sending him copies of them.

Q Do you still have copies of those recordings in your possession?

A Well, electronic copies, yes. Although -- yes, I do have electronic copies, yes. There was one that was sent to me that was sent to me on an expiring link and we had to have it re-sent because the link expired before we properly preserved it.

Q And you mentioned a credible act of intimidation to my family. What type of act?

A I would prefer not discussing anything having to do with my family. It was an act of intimidation that was designed to foster fear and apprehension. It succeeded, and prompt measures were taken to alert authorities, local and federal, and prompt measures were taken to ensure the safety of my family.

I hope that suffices.

Q You said you did report it to law enforcement?

A Um, I did.

Q Do you know who the performer of this act was?

MR. HATFIELD: That's a yes or no for now.

A I cannot state with certainty.

MR. AUSTIN: And who is -- who is paying for your attorney to be here today?

A Um, well, it's an interesting thing. I haven't gotten a bill yet. I don't know. At such time as I get a bill, maybe perhaps, maybe a wealthy republican somewhere.

Q So you don't know who's paying for Mr. Hatfield's representation of you?

A And it's important, I'm saying this not because -- I really respect and have known counsel for the governor a long time. They have their job and duty to do. They have to discharge their duty every bit as much as do I and there's a lot of -- this is a very, very difficult situation but I can tell you I have had the privilege of representing the interests of at least one of the counsel for governor, and I never sent him a bill.

Q So maybe there's some attorney brotherhood, sisterhood going on there, but do you know who's paying for Mr. Hatfield to represent Scott Faughn?

A I have no clue. I discharged my, or terminated my role as legal counsel for Mr. Faughn shortly after his Chatime address.

MR. AUSTIN: Very good, thank you, Mr. Chair.

MR. BARNES: Representative Eggleston?

EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. EGGLESTON:

Q Thank you for being here this afternoon and kinda helping us fill in some of the gaps. I started off with about 20 questions. Some them have got answered through the previous ones but more have come based on your testimony, so I appreciate the time.

A Who did they come from?

Q Just in hearing the testimony that you have given so far has triggered more questions from me is what I'm saying.

A Oh, okay, I'm sorry.

Q The very first contact that you had with P.S., who instigated that?

A I was called by P.S. after what I understood to have been his attempted engagement of three other law firms who refused to take the case because of the perpetrator involved.

Q So he was looking for a lawyer, found your name and number and --

A No, he was referred to me by a -- it's my understanding he was referred to me by a colleague.

Q Okay. But he called you, you didn't hear about him and you called him and say do you need help?

A I received a lot of calls and we have people dedicated to taking intake calls, so I came in I believe from an out-of-state trial and had an intake memorandum explaining the guy feared for his life, was a highly influential individual, power full individual, blah, blah, blah, so I called him up.

Q He sought you out. You didn't seek him out.

A Correct, I had never seen him before, met him before, didn't know anything about his stature in any professional capacity.

Q And your first face-to-face meeting with him then would have been when?

A September of 2016.

Q 2016. Okay. In the course of visiting with him, obviously you figured out he has these recordings. Was it your idea that he give the recordings to you? Or was it his idea that you should have these for some reason?

A Yeah, I appreciate you asking but I am -- I am not going to respond to an inquiry that goes absolutely to the heart and core of attorney-client privileged information. I have made it very clear that I -- where I garnered the recordings --

Q But he's not your client anymore, right, you said?

A No, I didn't say that. P.S. is my client. For those of us who are hearing impaired, I understand and appreciate that some people don't hear this is important. I no longer represent Mr. Faughn. I still represent Mr. [redacted].

Q Okay. Thank you. And then you did get the recordings from him. Do you know approximately when he then gave you those recordings?

A Shortly after our firm was engaged in September of 2015 -- '16. My recollection is that we received them in September of 2016.

Q Okay. Now, since then, we know that you've sold those recordings and gave those -- a copy of those to Mr. Faughn.

A How did you ask the question, sir?

Q We've already established you have provided a copy of those to Mr. Faughn?

A I thought you used the verb "sold."

Q Well, I did use the verb "sold," so you exchanged money for the recordings.

A No. I would say that that's erroneous and a mischaracterization of what I have said. You may choose to interpret what I have clearly and concisely said any way you wish, but you're wrong. And you are misleading the Missouri public when you say the question that way.

MR. BARNES: How about we answer the question, Mr. Watkins?

THE WITNESS: How about we have a member of this panel act with dignity --

MR. BARNES: How about we answer the question --

THE WITNESS: -- and respect for the citizens of this state?

MR. BARNES: -- (not audible, but not discernible) --

THE WITNESS: Mr. Chairman? Mr. Chairman? He is not going to recharacterize my testimony --

MR. BARNES: You have plenty of opportunity --

THE WITNESS: -- (not audible, but not discernible) the State of Missouri. You have that duty, not me.

MR. BARNES: -- to clarify your answer.

THE WITNESS: (Not audible, but not discernible).

MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins, you have plenty of opportunity --

THE WITNESS: You know what, you can say it all you want.

MR. BARNES: -- to answer (not audible, but not discernible).

THE WITNESS: I just want you to put your hand up to me and --

MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins, Mr. Watkins. Mr. Watkins.

THE WITNESS: Call me to order, sir, I will not allow any member of this panel to purposely mischaracterize my testimony.

MR. BARNES: He is not purposely mischaracterizing your testimony. You have the opportunity to answer the question and if you want to state --

THE WITNESS: And I did and you are now abating my answer to do that.

MR. BARNES: I am not abating your answer. After you were about a minute and a half in what could have been a 30 second answer, I said Mr. Watkins --

THE WITNESS: You invited me, sir.

MR. BARNES: Without a filibuster?

THE WITNESS: And I am not a filibuster kind of guy.

Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) Mr. Watkins, that really wasn't where I was going with the question, so you don't need to be getting offended. My --

A I'm just (not audible, but not discernible).

Q My question was going to be, have you -- can you give us other names of people or businesses that you have also provided the recordings to besides Mr. Faughn?

A I believe every local television station in St. Louis, I believe the Los Angeles Times, Time Magazine, USA Today, Chicago Tribune, Washington Post, and that's -- the Chicago Tribune, yeah. Kansas City Star, Springfield News Leader, PBS.

Q So numerous media, these are all media folks here that you're talking about. Is there any other non-media entities that you've provided the recordings to?

A Those are the ones that come to mind. I believe I sent some to my counsel. I sent them, of course, to this committee. I sent them to the Assistant Circuit Attorney who requested them. I sent them to federal law enforcement authorities. I gave them to the criminally accused governor's counsel. I provided them to a lot of folks.

Q Okay. So any of those other entities that you provided them to, have you -- do you also have a financial relationship with them to where they have given you money?

A No. We've received no money from anyone.

Q Just Faughn was the only one where there was a financial --

A That's correct.

Q I just wanted to make that clear. So that would probably be how Lauren Trager ended up with them?

A Oh, I gave them to Lauren.

Q Okay. And I am kinda perplexed on the timing of something because you said you gave them to Lauren because Lauren had a prior contact with K.S. already?

A That was my understanding, yes.

Q And so then you gave her the recordings knowing that, or believing that she had already had that prior contact --

A That's a mis- -- that's not telling the whole story. So Lauren is an individual, like many members of the media, with whom I have an ongoing relationship. And Lauren had contacted me when I talked to her about this particular matter, it was clear to me when we dug into it that she had the ability, unlike the other members of local media, to garner the corroboration necessary to have their journalistic standards corroborate the story before it goes out. Because there had evidently been prior contact between Lauren Trager, who had been working on the story for over a year, she had had prior contact with K.S. That's my understanding.

Q Before you gave her the recording.

A Yes.

Q So somehow she figured out K.S. was involved without actually hearing the recordings?

A This was -- there was -- this was worst kept secret in North America from 2015 on.

Q The -- the transfer of the recordings that you did with Faughn, with all those media outlets and everybody that you listed, was that -- did you discuss doing that with P.S., your client, before you did it?

A I'm not going to share with you attorney-client privilege, the strategies that were employed or discussed, my conversations with my client --

Q Can you -- okay, that's fine. Can you reveal if he was okay with that? If he had -- if you had his permission to do that before you did it?

A I am pompous, egotistical and self-centered, I'll own that, but I do not act without the authority of my client.

Q Okay. Just making sure that he was good with that before that.

So let's see. You said -- so we have gotten some other testimony from other witnesses about the whole transaction that took place and I know you were kind of offended when I said "sold," so maybe you can call it something else but on relatively the same time period, the same day, Scott Faughn provided you money, you provided Scott Faughn the recordings, we have already kind of established that. And you were under the impression that Scott Faughn got the money from a wealthy out-of-state republican donor.

A At the time it was an anonymous wealthy republican.

Q Gotcha. So if someone was to tell this committee that Scott Faughn had actually acquired the money through his normal course of business as a journalist and a publicist and not from an out-of-state republican donor, you would believe that to be a lie? It's a yes or no?

A I didn't care. But if somebody were to say to me you're talking about a guy with a small newspaper in Jefferson City, Missouri, and that's going to be the sole source of income which is going to give rise to $150,000 or $100,000 or 200 or a hundred, you know, I'd be hard pressed to say that that's going to be something that's palatable.

At the same time, you know, you always hear about the spinsters that return their bottles to the grocery store and collect their dimes and next thing you know they drop dead with $5 million in cash under their bed. That's great.

I don't think that's the case here.

MR. BARNES: Is that a yes?

Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) That was a very long-winded yes it sounded like. Do you want to confirm --

A That's what they calmed a multiple syllable yes.

Q Okay. So you've used the phrase "wealthy out-of-state republican" when referring to what you think is the source of the money for Faughn. At one point you said, well, the out-of-state part came later, like that didn't come from Faughn, you sort of inferred that or heard that from another source, or did I misunderstand?

A Again, yeah, I tried to be clear and concise earlier in my testimony. At some point there was a public spectacle that was made by the criminally accused defendant's counsel that in fact it was believed this money came from Roy Temple. That was many months later. And it occurred to, you know, in or around a court proceeding that was involving the governor being a named defendant.

When that was stated, I had known Mr. Dowd for a long time and his counsel and I see this in the newspaper, I asked Mr. Faughn point blank, hey, look, these guys, they're not amateurs, what -- I didn't say that. I said, you know, tell me, does Roy Temple have anything to do with this? Because I had interacted with Roy. I found him to be a respectful, upstanding guy who lived up to his word.

And the answer was no. Absolutely not. This guy is not even in Missouri. Didn't say guy. He's not -- maybe he did say he. But I didn't know even whether this was male or a female.

Q Those are the words from Faughn, not --

A Correct. So when the out of town part came later, it did come out later. That's the only other clue if you will.

Q But it did come from Faughn?

A Right.

Q That's what I'm trying to verify. All right. The money itself you said was -- it came in that sort of accordion folder kind of thing.

A Was a brown cardboard flap over the top.

Q And had the wrappings and it was all neatly snacked. So this photo has sort of been put out by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch --

A That was actually put out by me.

Q -- that we came to --

A I took that photograph.

Q Okay. So this is, so the background of that would be the actual folder that it was in?

A That is correct. I took that photograph and that is the very photograph I forwarded to the FBI.

MR. EGGLESTON: Okay. Do you have exhibit stickers? Does anybody know what number we are on?

MR. BARNES: Representative Mitten is not here right now. You want to call it 50? Let's call it 50. Representative Phillips believes we're in the 30s. I wasn't expecting an exhibit today. We're fine, you're fine to use it, I don't care but if you're going to show it to the witness, let's mark it as an exhibit. She's got a sticker, representative. She has a sticker.

Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) The -- in the picture it shows them neatly stacked on the folder. It shows them wrapped the wrappings are of $10,000 wrappings. It says "10,000" on it. I can't really tell from this picture, it's a bit grainy, whether there was any actual bank name or any other identifying marks on it.

Do you recall if there were?

A Yes, I do recall.

Q Okay. What, was there any indication where it come from?

A No. That's interestingly one of the questions asked by the FBI and so I remember the question, I remember the answer that I gave, and I remember what I saw which was there were no markings.

Q But it came wrapped like that to you. You didn't put the wrappings on it?

A No, I would not have the patience.

Q And these wrappings are ones that normally banks would put on? They're not something you can go buy at Walmart and do yourself?

A Well, actually you probably can buy them, if not at Walmart, somewhere. In fact, I recall seeing them at some point somewhere over the course of my life but I certainly would not buy them and I've never generally been one that keeps enough bills to worry about wrapping them.

Q Gotcha. You said now that you've taken that money, you've put it in a trust --

MR. BARNES: Representative Eggleston, let me stop you for a second. Is that picture a fair and accurate representation of the money that was delivered to your office?

THE WITNESS: With respect to Exhibit 50, that image was taken by me at or shortly after the delivery of the money on January 8, 2018. That is an accurate and fair depiction of that which was delivered.

Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) And that was the picture you subsequently forwarded to the FBI?

A Yes, it is.

Q Okay.

MR. BARNES: Sorry representative, I just wanted to get that question.

MR. EGGLESTON: No, that's a good question.

Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) Did you take any of the picture of the January 9 money that came in the Fed Ex box?

A No, I did not.

Q Do you still have the wrappings or the file folder that that January 8 money came in?

A We don't generally throw out those file folders because, A, they're expensive; and B, they last a long time. I had nothing to do with the wrappings because when I brought the money to the bank, they had to unwrap them to put them through the counter and flush them through the machine. So I didn't keep those.

I probably kept the brown folder but given my normal protocol, it would have a life span or life expectancy of maybe a week with the way I use them.

Q Would you have it -- do you think you might have it today?

A No, actually, I thought about it because unfortunately there are others kinda like them, I can't tell you which one is which, but I can say that this particular one, I almost with certainty recall it being my car and at some point I believe one of my shoes ended up in it. Might be a long story, I'm happy to share it with you.

Q If you happen to stumble across it --

MR. BARNES: The shoe story is what I said no to.

MR. HATFIELD: It's a great story, though.

MR. BARNES: Sorry, you looked at me when I said no. The shoe story, we don't care for the shoe story.

Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) If you would happen to stumble across the file folder, would you be willing to provide it to the committee?

A Sure.

Q Thank you. In what bank did you deposit money? You said you put it in a trust, and there's -- and I wasn't familiar with that type of trust but it's sort of a charitable trust that gets set up to pay for attorney fees?

A The Missouri Bar requires an IOLTA trust account. It cannot be an interest-bearing account so that there is no incentive on the part of an attorney to keep and maintain client funds. And the interest that would otherwise be borne by an IOLTA account is understood to go to the Missouri Bar.

So I don't feel inclined to share with you a whole ton of details except to tell you that we have shared with this committee the -- I think we've shared with them, it's Fortune Bank.

Q Okay. I don't want account number or anything like that. Just curious where that went.

So at this point, do you feel like that you -- that Scott Faughn would owe you any more money? You would have any more money coming from him?

A Mr. Faughn owes me money.

Q He does?

A Yes, he does.

Q You said earlier that you had kept all the money so far and I think the quote was there is still "a significant balance due."

A That was respect to my client, P.S.

Q Oh, I thought that was with respect to Scott Faughn.

A No.

Q Scott Faughn still owes you --

A Mr. Faughn paid me a retainer of $10,000. If you count the $10,000 as being money that he paid as a retainer, he still owes our firm money.

Q And you would -- do you still owe him work then for that 10,000? Or have --

A My client's not going to owe me money if I haven't already done the work. So I'll walk you through this very slowly.

Q Sure.

A We get money, we bill against that retainer. When the retainer is depleted, many law firms pick up the phone and they tell their client, hey, look you're ass out, you got to pay us more money or we go away.

In this case, I didn't do that. In this case, I received $10,000 from him, actually booked the additional $10,000 as income and did not allocate it to his account. But if you allocated both of those $10,000 payments to Mr. Faughn's account, he still owes us money.

Q Okay.

A So --

Q Have you given him a receipt for what he's paid so far?

A We don't do receipts. We issue statements.

Q Just a verbal deal. Okay.

A But at this time, given the nature and character of the cessation of my affiliation with Mr. Faughn as his legal counsel, I have not issued a final statement to him.

Q And at some point you would? You'd send him a bill and it would be a paper bill?

A Given the totality of the circumstances, I am not sure I will.

Q Okay. Are you expecting any more money from Faughn? You said he owes you more. Are you expecting more payments to come from him any time soon? Or in the future?

A I do not go to sleep at night expecting that to happen. When I wake up in the morning I do not expect that to happen.

Q So this will probably be a debt that he would owe that you are never going to get to collect on; is that what you're saying?

A He will not be the first client who owes me money, nor will he be the last.

Q The second payment that came by courier.

A Yes.

Q I believe you said that you didn't physically take possession of that from the courier, the courier dropped it off; is that correct?

A Correct.

Q Did you see the courier come in?

A Yeah, I did. I was behind the glass with the KMOV crew.

Q Okay. And you, again, I think you stated that Lauren Trager was there and they had their cameras and all that?

A Correct.

Q Would you be able to identify the courier if you saw him again?

A No, that was a line of questioning that was propound during the course of my deposition in this, in the criminal case where the governor was accused of an offense. And I wasn't able to then and I am not able to now. To me that was nothing more than a perfunctory delivery and I didn't pay attention. There was stuff going on and I was busy and I didn't care.

I was shown pictures during the deposition, images of a young man who appeared to be Hispanic and I don't -- I don't recall the person who delivered this as being Hispanic, but --

Q So the person at the desk who took that Fed Ex box, that would probably be the best person in your office, if there was anybody in your office that could identify this guy, that would -- would that be the best person you would say?

A I'm not sure and permit me to explain. The front desk was busy, phones were being answered, and the phone was ringing off the hook, and this was before anything was aired. We had TV crews coming in and out and you have to go right in front of the desk beforehand.

And I remember seeing the guy behind the flow of traffic, if you will, so maybe -- I couldn't even tell you who was at the front desk, I can't even tell what you time it was delivered and depending what time it was delivered -- maybe.

Q We may be able to glean some information if we find out who the courier is and you or somebody at your staff might be able to help us with that, so we are asking --

A To the extent that any help can be provided, we will do so.

Q You talked about Lauren Trager with her cameras there. Do you know if she filmed?

A I don't know.

Q And maybe caught it in the background or anything?

A I actually pointed it out. I reminded Lauren Trager of this when I was being interviewed on the courthouse steps after there had been a public statement made as a matter of record by one of the governor's counsel asserting that they had it on good --

Q But you don't know if she filmed that at that time?

A So bear with me.
Q Okay.
A Once that became a matter of public record, I believed I was free from the restrictions under the protective order and was swarmed by the media outside of the courthouse. During that, during that interview, I reminded Lauren Trager, you were in there when it happened. I told you to have somebody take a picture of it.
She didn't respond but I believe that the cameraman, you know, the cameraman that they have, and in fact most cameramen know more about what's going on than anyone else in their business.
Q And that was January 9th?
A Correct.
Q Do you have security cameras in your office or in the building that may have caught that?
A At that office, no.
Q Or in the building --
A You know, I don't know. There may have been in the lobby; although, I can tell you that there was a great deal of construction going on at that building. We have since moved across the street into the building where the governor's counsel are.

Q The hundred thousand. It's all in the trust, does P.S. have any of that now?

A Oh, it's not in the trust, no.

Q It's not?

A No, it's in my firm's operating account.

MR. HATFIELD: Two questions. Does P.S. have any of it?

A And the answer for that is P.S. has none of it. P.S. has never gotten any of it, he has not received a time, and he still owes us money.

Q And will he -- is the plan that he would end up getting some of that?

A The plan was get this out loud, get it clear, for a week people are going to be talking about the sexual dalliances and undertakings of the governor and in a week this is all going to blow over and off we go.

Remember, I voted for the governor. I supported the governor. I helped the governor in 2017, right before the Stockley verdict was announced. I didn't become appalled or -- I, there was no animus with the governor until he lied to me. Once that happened, all bets off.

MR. HATFIELD: I think the question is do you expect that P.S. is going to get any of the hundred thousand dollars?

A I assure you that P.S. is going to get none of the $100,000.

MR. EGGLESTON: Thank you.

MR. HATFIELD: No problem. I'm here to help. I have become aware of the ability of two people having a conversation to understand it differently.

Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) You said a couple of statements that I'm not sure really jibe. One of them was that you had said that you want -- my client paid me to keep this story suppressed.

A Mm-hmm.

Q And you had expressed how, by keeping it suppressed, that was protecting K.S. and their kids from the media exposure that is now sort of hit them. But then you said we released the audiotapes from January 3.

So how can you protect them by keeping it suppressed but then release them to LA Times and all the other outlets that you mentioned?

A That's a really good question.

Q You can't really have it both ways.

A Have you been on this committee long, sir?

Q I've been on this committee long enough.

A Okay. Then my guess is that you would have taken those measures and those steps necessary to walk through the testimony, but I'll walk you through it.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Eggleston will ask the questions, Mr. Watkins.

MR. EGGLESTON: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

MR. BARNES: The question was to explain the discrepancy between the previous testimony that the idea was to keep this private and out of the news versus what happened on January -- in early January with the release of the tape. Is that the question, representative?

MR. EGGLESTON: That is the question.

MR. BARNES: That is the question, Mr. Watkins. Please answer the question.

A I appreciate the recital of the question. I don't appreciate the characterization of something not jiving or jibing or --

MR. BARNES: Okay. Mr. Watkins, you can answer the question (not audible, but not discernible) --

A You want to interrupt me, you're going to have to ask the goddamn question again. All I want is -- I'm going to answer the question. I'm going to answer so that you get the whole story.

My client fought long and hard to suppress his story. He didn't bring it up during his dissolution. He could have, to his advantage, it could have demonstrated categorically marital misconduct. He didn't do it. He loved his wife. he absolutely was abjectly horrified, mortified and completely shattered by the actions of a guy with square towed boots and lifts.

Ultimately, my client could have devastated that guy, the guy with the veneer teeth, if he had released those tapes prior to the election and given them to Koster's campaign and let Roy Temple run with it. He didn't. He wanted nothing to do with it.

Q Well, he did --

A When the calls came -- if you want to hear my answer, you got to shut up.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins? Mr. Watkins?
MR. EGGLESTON: (Not audible, but not discernible).
THE WITNESS: I'm not going to have him interrupt.
MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins?
THE WITNESS: Yes, sir.
MR. BARNES: Just breathe for a moment.
THE WITNESS: Thank you, my therapist is working with me on that. In a few short years I'll be fine.
MR. BARNES: Breathe for a moment. Okay. What Representative Eggleston is pointing out is there is testimony that the Koster campaign in fact knew about this issue. How would they have known about it if it wasn't through P.S.?
THE WITNESS: Well, of course they knew about it. Roy Temple contacted us. Presumably as a democrat working for the Koster campaign. That's all I know. Of course they knew about it. Of course. What in two thousand -- what -- who wouldn't know? The whole world knew. Reporters were working for over a year on this story. This was not -- this was a one and done thing. All right.

To answer your question, by the end of December 2017, my client, who had paid me to suppress this story -- and I had diligently worked to do so, not once or twice but twice with Temple and on a number of occasions with subsequent media inquiries. Wasn't a ton of work but it was substantial for my client.

My client paid me out of his money and in December of 2017 something happened. My client's minor child received a phone call on her phone, because media is required -- is able to garner all the phone numbers that are under a plan, and said just enough and the question that was propounded to give rise to that minor child turning around and looking at Dad and saying, I presume in abject horror, what happened?

MR. BARNES: But it's not his child.

THE WITNESS: It's not whose what?

MR. BARNES: It was his stepdaughter?

THE WITNESS: Stepdaughter, yes. Does that make a difference? That it's a stepdaughter? A minor child that's a stepdaughter?

MR. BARNES: Well, in --

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry, maybe everybody else -- is a stepdaughter, all red headed stepdaughters?

MR. BARNES: We have had testimony that that child did not know the context of the call.

THE WITNESS: Well, that's up to you. That's fine. It doesn't matter.

MR. BARNES: It does matter. It does matter.

THE WITNESS: It wouldn't to me. Not as a father of five kinds. Member of a media contacts my minor kid and brings up anything --

MR. BARNES: A member of the media got a minor child's cell phone number through how?

MR. HATFIELD: You don't know?

THE WITNESS: I'm presuming, but members of the media have access to and through a service. So if I wanted to find every phone number that's in your plan, your phone plan, I can garner that.

MR. BARNES: What's a service?

THE WITNESS: I don't know but it is available there. It is available. It is something I have observed.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Lieb? I'm just kidding. I'm not going to ask you that question.
THE WITNESS: So ultimately my client's decision at that point was I can no longer protect my kids. Either I get this thing out -- and remember, this is a man who has had to endure the governor infusion himself in his marriage, two reconciliation attempts, the entire campaign, all the news events, all the braggadocia, the blowing up of cars, the rappelling into rodeos or whatever the hell he does to impress people --
MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins, your client was tweeting about this --
THE WITNESS: My client in 2015 --
MR. BARNES: -- (not audible, but not discernible), and '16.
THE WITNESS: And '16, during the election, during a moment of abject horror, referenced in a tweet --
MR. BARNES: Repeatedly tweeting about it.
THE WITNESS: -- that the governor was a home wrecker.
MR. BARNES: I think he did so repeatedly?

THE WITNESS: I only know of one.
MR. BARNES: I believe there are multiple tweets.
THE WITNESS: I'm not here to tell you what you may or may not know. I know of one.
MR. BARNES: Representative Eggleston I'm sorry for jumping in.
MR. EGGLESTON: That's quite all right.
Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) It would seem that any of the grief that's been brought upon your client's children was initially instigated by actions by your client. So that's why --
A I would disagree with that. The governor and his dick caused it in 2015.
MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins.
THE WITNESS: I'm not going to have you mischaracterize what is -- there are ways --
MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins.
THE WITNESS: -- of this -- one is political and one is as a human being.
MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
MR. EGGLESTON: We're just getting the facts. You don't have to take this personal.

THE WITNESS: That's my job and my duty.
MR. EGGLESTON: Condescending nature (not audible, but not discernible) --
THE WITNESS: Just like Mr. Dowd has his job and duty, just like Mr. (not audible, but not discernible) --
MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins?
THE WITNESS: -- Mr. Rosenblum.
MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
MR. BARNES: We're not reading transcripts here. We don't have to use language like that. We don't have to go into --
THE WITNESS: I'm sorry, it's a four letter word, D-I-C-K, really bother you? In this day and age?
MR. BARNES: In this hearing -- in this hearing (not audible, but not discernible) --
THE WITNESS: If you're worried about me using the word "dick" and we've got the governor doing what he's doing, you're worried about me saying --
MR. BARNES: I would prefer that maintain decorum here, Mr. Watkins.

THE WITNESS: -- I'm appalled, I'm shocked at what's going on here. Like Casablanca's --

MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins, let's do -- let's do the therapy here, Mr. Watkins.

THE WITNESS: Send me your bill.

MR. HATFIELD: We need a break. You want to take a break? Have a cigarette?

THE WITNESS: No, I'm fine. Are you kidding me? No way. I wouldn't miss this for the world.

MR. HATFIELD: I'm just here to help, Mr. Chairman.

Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) Let's get back to a question about Faughn, rather than P.S., about Scott Faughn. You said you had a confidentiality agreement with him?

A Mm-hmm.

Q You called it Draconian. Was this a verbal agreement or a paper agreement?

A No, I didn't call the agreement Draconian. I called the liquidated damages provision Draconian. That's a provision within the confidentiality agreement and yes, it was reduced to writing.

Q It is reduced to writing?
A Yes.
Q And you've signed it and Scott Faughn has signed it?
A No, Mr. Faughn has signed it.
Q Mr. Faughn has signed it?
A Correct.
Q Would you be willing to provide a copy of that to the committee?
MR. HATFIELD: We -- we can talk about that.
MR. EGGLESTON: Sure. I don't know that we necessarily have to make the details of it public, that the fact that he signed (not audible, but not discernible) --
MR. HATFIELD: (Not audible, but not discernible) -- Mr. Chairman, but given the issues of confidence, we're going to want a subpoena for it.
MR. BARNES: I'm sorry, I didn't hear the question.
MR. HATFIELD: He wants the confidentiality agreement that Mr. Faughn -- that Mr. Watkins just testified Mr. Faughn signed. I'm saying that I don't know what our position will be on that. I suspect that we'll be able to provide it but we are going to need a subpoena given that it's a document related to the representation, and I don't believe we have been subpoenaed for that document. I can stand corrected if the committee has other information.

MR. BARNES: I don't think we've subpoenaed the representation document.

MR. HATFIELD: I don't believe so.

MR. BARNES: And Representative Austin -- I mean, I think that that would fall, at least it's tolerable that the, well -- all right. We will get on that. That is an issue. Thank you for identifying.

MR. HATFIELD: And in answer to Representative Eggleston's question, we're not saying no. We just need to make sure we have our paperwork straight.

MR. BARNES: I understand.

Q (BY MR. EGGLESTON) Two last questions. You talked about the wealthy out-of-state republican. Do you have an inkling as to who that is? We're looking for that identity. Based on what Faughn said, based on your general knowledge of that, can you speculate? Do you have a guess as to the identity of that individual?

A I do not. I do not have a guess, I do not know, I have never known, and without diminishing the beauty of Jefferson City or its populous, this isn't my -- this isn't my turf.

Q All right. Last question. I know you're not going to like the question but try to stay a little mellow because it's really more of an informational question, because I am not a lawyer, I don't know how this stuff normally works.

A Sure.

Q You have handled criminal cases before, I assume?

A Yes.

Q And in the context of handling those cases you would run across evidence, sort of smoking gun type evidence, of potential crimes?

A Well, as a lawyer, I am not engaged until such time as law enforcement has garnered the smoking gun and charged my client.

Q Well, in this case you might consider that smoking gun evidence to be the tape. The tape sort of reveals things about the conversation that was had between K.S. and P.S. about the affair and so forth and that is a -- would be a vital piece of evidence in kind of getting to the bottom of this whole mess?

A Actually, I would suggest to you that the tape was, in my opinion, of zero value. The tape was nothing more than a recounting of a very hurt woman, you know, heart-wrenching recital of her confession to her husband. The recording is not -- it's hearsay, it's of no value. It's of no value except as a corroborating, contemporaneous statement made at or shortly after the event giving rise to the recording.

In this case that record was of no value unless it's corroborated by the governor or by K.S. It's not a smoking gun. It's a piece of -- it's a recording. It's a painful recital by a woman to her husband of a very sad --

Q Right, I understand. But it would be a piece of evidence in a potential case as -- because we do have charges that have been filed, charges that have been withdrawn, maybe refiled and so forth, and that would be a piece of evidence toward that; though, right?

A Well, actually --

Q Well, wouldn't that be something might get read into the record in these trials and so forth?

A It was very well -- it appeared to be anticipated that the Circuit Attorney's Office was going to utilize this tape as a piece of evidence in the trial. The charge of -- the felony charge of invasion of privacy.

Q Okay.

A Quite frankly, I would not, if I was a Circuit Attorney, I would have never charged him with that offense and I would have cared about the tape.

Q Is it then your habit or general habit of attorneys in that situation to provide vile information like that? Things that are going to be evidence to the media in exchange for money?

A Well, first of all, that's a really, really interesting question because it does -- and I appreciate how you prefaced it, so it clearly indicates and reflects to me that you don't appreciate or understand the duties and obligations that an attorney has.

First of all, since 2016, I have had those tapes. I gave the recordings to the FBI. That's law enforcement. I gave those to law enforcement in early 2017. This was not a situation where anyone, anyone, I think anyone in the world thought that those tapes would serve as the basis for a criminal case being brought against the governor for the offense of invasion of privacy.

Q Well, I understand. I'm just perplexed that you said you had trepidation, was the word that you used about giving the tapes to Faughn but you later on, when he came up with a hundred thousand dollars, you were okay with selling them to them --

A First of all, I didn't sell them.

Q -- and I know you don't like the word "selling," but whatever, the exchange took place. And I didn't know if that was -- if that's just sort of par for the course in things like this, that vital evidence of cases are up for sale if money can be made for them or not?

A That's hysterical. So --

MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins, I feel that before you even start down this path with the first two words, we're not going to attack the member asking the question. You're going to answer the question.

A I'm going to answer the question. So the crime of sodomy, unlawful sodomy, rape, kidnapping, unjust imprisonment, sexual assault. Those are charges that require a corpus delicti. A body of the crime.

This act situation, the contents of the tape or the recording, they aren't evidence of a crime. Law enforcement had been in possession of these recordings for quite some time. Those recordings weren't sold. Those recordings aren't -- the integrity of those recordings aren't changed, compromised, or in any way affected by virtue of a payment in 2018 to my law firm.

The actions that were taken to release those recordings were taken before any payments were made. The action and the decision, whether you agree with it or not, my duty was to discharge my obligation to my client. That was done. That was a fate accomplis. The only thing holding back and triggering the release of the article and the airing of the KMOV piece was the absence of corroboration. And on June 10, 2018 --

MR. HATFIELD: January.

A -- or January 10, 2018, the date of the State of the State Address, I received a call, a harried, frenzied call from Lucinda Luetkemeyer, and I told her, among other things during that conversation when refused to discuss with her the nefarious details, I said, "Lucinda, my client has made a statement. Get the umbrella up because shit's about to hit the fan." Those were my words.

Lucinda, what she said or didn't say to the governor, I don't know. But it was a matter of a few hours later that the governor himself provided the very corroboration necessary to trigger the release of the Post-Dispatch article and the airing of the KMOV story.

As of moments before that call from Lucinda, that story was a no go at KMOV and a no go at the Post-Dispatch. They did not have corroboration. The governor himself provided the corroboration which triggered the release of the story.

MR. EGGLESTON: All right. Thank you. I don't have any more questions.

MR. BARNES: Representative Trent.

MR. TRENT: Thank you Mr. Chairman.

EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. TRENT:

Q Thank you Mr. Watkins, for being here today. I'd just like to follow up on a couple of things that have arisen during your testimony and then get back to the questions that I had prepared to ask.

So just kinda inverse chronological order here, you said that law enforcement received the recordings. Do you know when that happened?

A As stated earlier on two occasions during my humble presentation to this committee, in late January or early February of 2017.

Q Okay. And you may have already said this as well. Somehow, after listening to your testimony up to this point, I think I may be more confused about what you said than less.

MR. HATFIELD: That happens.

Q (BY MR. TRENT) It happens from time to time. That's no bearing on your ability to transmit the information. But do you know how the law enforcement came into possession of those recordings?

A Are you talking about federal law enforcement?

Q Any law enforcement to which you have knowledge of how they came in contact with those recordings.

A Well, the FBI, in our interaction, were aware of the recordings since the latter quarter, last quarter of 2016, because I had been interacting with them during that period.

Q Did you provide the recordings to the FBI?

A When requested, I went to my e-mail and got them right over.

Q Okay. And who is your contact with the FBI during that time when that was going on?

A Special Agent Kevin Cosentino, C-o-s-e-n-t-i-n-o.

Q Okay, thank you. Now, I was also a little bit confused about the $120,000. And I know you tried to go over that but let me see if I can get this straight.

So the $100,000 was not compensation for the recordings. What was that 100,000 for? What did you understand the purpose of that money to be?

A I understood the purpose of the meeting -- or the money was to pay for [redacted] -- P.S.'s legal fees and to hopefully accord him a soft landing.

Q Okay. And now so I also understand correctly, you said earlier that P.S. now owes your firm money; is that correct? Or is that just Mr. Faughn?

A So I know I have addressed this before and I'm happy to address it again. After crediting Mr. [redacted] with the full $100,000, there is a balance due.

Q Okay. And so that's why you moved the money from your IOLTA account to the operating account is because it was being moved as you expended it on legal fees?

A No, what ended up happening was we didn't look at the balance due for quite some time because of the frenzied activity that was going on. When we looked down, we realized we were way beyond the amount in the trust account. And that's when we transferred the money.

Q Okay. How, how frequently do you typical bill clients?

A We typically bill clients on a monthly basis.

Q And so that was not the practice in the case of this client?

A Actually, no, it wasn't. After -- after this came out, after the story was released, there was a not insignificant amount of concern about the security of my client's e-mail communication systems and as a result, we normally transmit bills electronically. We also mail them. But our client's mail had been compromised and our client's e-mails had been compromised. So we didn't and, quite frankly, given the amount in the trust account, it wasn't a concern.

The swiftness of the activity and the never-ending fluidity and widening of the scope of undertakings that were being pursued gave rise to the money being --

Q Expended more quickly than you expected?

A That's correct.

Q And your accounting department just didn't catch up with that?

A Our accounting department is comprised of one.

Q Oh, is that -- you are the one?

A Correct.

Q I see. Okay.

A I am not the one. We have an accountant, a woman in charge of our accounting department, but no, I am the one who makes the decision.

Q Okay. All right. So now the $20,000, 10,000 of that you indicated was a retainer for Mr. Faughn?

A That was my -- that was my understanding that that was his retainer. Correct.

Q That was your understanding. And other 10,000 went to relocate your family; was that correct?

A It was to get them out of town.

Q And why -- what was Mr. Faughn's reason for paying for the relocation of your family?

A You know, I'm not sure he understood that he was doing that. I don't know. I know I was in -- I had a sense of urgency. I wanted to make sure that my family was taken care of and I think my words were, "I got to get ten grand ASAP, I got to get my family out of town."

Q Did it seem to you like Mr. Faughn didn't really inquire much into what you were going to use the money for, that he was really more concerned about getting it to you?

A I don't know. I can't say what he was thinking. I can tell you we were in regular contact.

Q Just behavior that he exhibited. Like he didn't ask a lot of questions about the money or how it was being expended or what the balances were or anything like that?

A No.

Q Okay.

MR. BARNES: Representative, just real quick, let's be mindful of initials. Initials.

THE WITNESS: Thank you very much.

Q (BY MR. TRENT) Now, I believe you testified earlier you had never met Mr. Faughn before he showed up with money, the first $50,000.

A Correct.

Q Do you have any ongoing activity with him now? Do you ever meet him socially or anything like that?

A No. I don't. My representation was formally terminated shortly after his Chatime presentation on I believe it was YouTube and since that time I have not --

Q You don't keep up with him at all then?

A No, I didn't socialize with him before and I don't keep up with him now. Although,

I will tell you, he can at times be entertaining.

Q Of course. Now, at any time during his activity with you during, in the time that you represented him, did you understand that any of that retainer was to be used to provide services related to his production of a book?

A No. There was mention of a book but it did not occur until well into our relationship, attorney-client relationship, and almost near the end of our attorney-client relationship. Now, that being said, it was clear to me he was really desirous of being kept up to date on what we knew, and at the same time we were in a position to garner information from him that we wouldn't otherwise have access to.

Q And did in fact any of the services you'd render to him relate to the production of a book?

A If my understanding now is correct and his desire is to or has been to write a book about the machinations associated with the governor and his demise, I am going to suggest to you that he will be uniquely situated and postured to do so. But it was not by design by me.

Q Will that be because of the services you rendered to him for that $10,000 retainer, or just incidental to playing a fairly pivotal roll in this whole situation?

A I don't know. I think there is significant value that I provided, but it was, in hindsight, provided perhaps inadvertently in the form of access to and ground zero knowledge about what's going on.

Q Well, let me clarify. Like you didn't look to any publishing companies? Like you didn't prepare any contracts that he might use for a book, you didn't --

A No, I think if it didn't -- by the way, I have worked with publishing companies. I have had the privilege of suing them, representing them, and negotiating with them. And clearly this is not the stage where that type of negotiation undertaking is even pursuable with any of the big publishing houses. That would be premature.

Q So in other words, if a client came to you and said, hey, I'm thinking about writing a book and he was at the stage Mr. Faughn was at when he came to you, you would probably advise that client, look, you don't really need me yet, come back when --

A Quite to the contrary. If anybody was in the position of Mr. Faughn at that time and genuinely seeking to write a book, absolutely I would want not only access to the information I had but I'd want guidance that would relate to in no small part how far I can go with information I have is this person a public figure? If they are a public figure, things are treated differently than if they are a private individual.

And that issue was something that came up time and time again over the course of our undertakings for him. In my opinion at the time, or not my opinion, I assumed at the time it related to those pieces of work that he was publishing in his publication. I didn't -- I wasn't -- whether it was a book or a newspaper, I didn't care.

Q So it would have been the same advice whether it was either?

A Correct.

Q So any book advice would have been inadvertent?

A I can't say inadvertent. It just wasn't -- I didn't know about the book.

Q It just wasn't part of the conversation?

A Correct.
Q All right. Fair enough. All right. Now, when the -- when the money showed up, did Mr. Faughn communicate any instructions to you regarding the money?
A No.
Q No instructions, no input? And you said earlier, I believe, that you didn't expect the first payment, let alone the second payment or --
A I can't say I didn't expect it. I wasn't holding my breath. I just wasn't holding my breath.
Q Okay. There's also some questions I had about some of the media appearances that you had made during this time period.
A Yes.
Q Like, for example, you publicly announced that you had received the $100,000 in cash, correct?
A Yes.
Q What was the purpose for that announcement?
A So at the time, the case in the St. Louis City Circuit Court in which the governor stood as the criminally accused defendant in the felony charge of invasion of privacy, the counts on the parties were subject to a protective order. It's been referred to as a gag order. It was really a protective order.

Under the terms of that protective order, as I recall, and I don't have it in front of me, the counsel of the parties -- and remember at the time I didn't represent a party, I represented a witness, but the counsel for the parties were to be observant of a confidentiality provision until and unless such time as a matter of public record in a motion or in a pleading the subject matter came up.

So what you often found during the course of the case, as is done by counsel who are competent and doing what they have to do to represent their client with vigor, there would be in fact many press releases within the context of pleadings; thus, permitting the subject matter of a pleading which would not otherwise be able to be discussed, to be discussed publicly.

On the date in question, when did I speak publicly about the money, I had up until that time not had anything as a matter of record about the money. I originally thought it was Scott

Rosenblum and it wasn't Scott I have been told and confirmed since that Jim Martin, one of the governor's counsel, during the course of the court appearance -- and I was there. I don't know why I thought it was Scott, but I have been told it was Jim Martin -- made reference to the fact that the governor's counsel had it on reliable source or good information that I had been the recipient of two $50,000 payments.

So now it's a matter of record. Now I'm free to talk about it.

Q So you just wanted to confirm that that was true?

A So I went right outside and I was swarmed like a -- like a -- like a cheap whore on the sidewalk out in the courthouse.

MR. BARNES: Al -- Mr. Watkins, come on. Come on.

THE WITNESS: I referred to myself as --

MR. BARNES: I -- enough. I do like -- the two-hand approach is better than the one.

A Someday, someday, the one finger --

MR. BARNES: Representative Trent has the floor.

Q (BY MR. TRENT) I'll be happy to help you with metaphors in the future (not audible, but not discernible) --

A (Not audible, but not discernible) significantly restricted when I can't use my normal language.

Q I understand.

A Definitely --

Q We all have our own turn of phrase we like to employ. So I hear you. So i think we have sufficiently answered that question unless you have anything else you wanted to add. I feel like the question has been answered.

A No, I thank you, Mr. Trent.

Q So another media incident that I seem to recall was a statement about something to the effect that witness one and your client had made the tape in question together, both had knowledge of the tape. Do you remember making that statement?

MR. HATFIELD: Witness one is K.S. He doesn't do the witness numbers.

MR. TRENT: Oh, sorry.

A So K.S. and P.S.

Q (BY MR. TRENT) Yes.

A What was the question?

Q So have you stated in the press that K.S. and P.S. both knew about the recording when it was made. They made it jointly?

A When it was made, when it was made jointly, no. The impression I hope I haven't left people with was that P.S. is an emotional man. And I don't say that in the sense in the expression or description I have used is not a guy that picks up a chair and throws it through a wall. He is a guy who -- he's emotional. He's, in a touchy-feely sense, emotional.

So during this period of being devastated, his ego shattered, wanting to just decimate this guy, this man who is now governor, loving his wife, angry, bitter, all the emotions in the world, and this emotional washing, if you will, is something that had been an issue in their marriage for a protracted period. So during counseling one of the suggestions was to let the emotions, let them run. Let them overwhelm you. Let them run their course, and then revisit the conversation.

My client -- and I am going to have to describe this cautiously because I don't want to describe it in a way that causes his identity to be released.

But he is a man that some people would take notes. His notes are recorded. There had been recordings that this couple knew about contemporaneously at the time, my understanding was, at the time they were made. This recording, on the 25th of March, 2018, was not done with the knowledge of his wife. Of his then wife.

Q Of K.S.

A It was done without her knowledge.

Q And you have never asserted in the press anything otherwise?

A If that is how it is presented, that is an erroneous characterization of what I said. Because I have said that shortly after the recording, she was aware of it. In fact, my understanding is that the contents of that tape were revisited by them, and in fact, my understanding is that at some point shortly thereafter, in 2015, the fact that my client was aware of the details and had a recording, had been communicated to the criminally accused defendant.

Q Okay. Now, has P.S. paid you any money outside the $100,000 that was for his -- has he paid you anything directly?

A Yes.

Q And can you disclose how much he has paid?

A My guess is -- not guess. My approximate amount rounding up is 16, $1,700. Remember, the initial contact, and most substantive element of the work was with Roy Temple. Thereafter, it was basically shooing media inquiries away.

It's also important to note that this was a guy that, quite frankly, if -- it was a matter that -- you know, I felt sorry for the guy. And, you know, I can also say that, you know, billable time that corresponded to it was not all entered, but yes, he did make payment, something received significant to him.

Q Okay. Did you provide any written statements to P.S. stating to him that you had received the $100,000 or any written statements about who had paid the $100,000?

A Statements about who had paid it? No, because we didn't know. Every month statements would be issued under our normal protocol. We would issue those statements either by e-mail or by mail or in some cases with some clients, both. We had some clients who requested no statements would be issued and would just call in because they didn't want a statement out there. We have some clients who didn't want correspondence of any nature.

In the case of P.S., the -- once the story got out, there were immediate concerns, people were trying to hack into and had hacked into his computer and his e-mail and his phone and mess with his mail, so we kept him apprised as things went but, quite frankly, we stopped issuing the monthly statements. We have visited the money issue. We have gone through the statements but we did not issue them.

Q So he knew that had 100,000 had arrived on his behalf but you did not issue any written documentation to let him know that?

A Oh, yeah, we did issue written statements on a monthly basis. We just didn't send them by e-mail or by mail to him. We were in regular contact with him.

Q So did he receive a written statement as part of that regular contact in some manner?

A Yes, in some manner.

Q Okay. So there was a written, it was reduced to writings, it was placed in his physical possession. Okay.

Now, is there anyone else other than Mr. Faughn who you discussed the $100,000 with that was received for the benefit of P.S.?

A The world.

Q At the time. Before this broke.

A The FBI, other attorneys in the firm.

Q Any elected officials?

A I don't think any elected officials.

Q Any political figures?

A No, I do not believe so.

Q So just been attorneys and FBI agents and --

A Oh, yeah, and I imagine some fear-filled dribble with somebody at a social gathering. It's a pretty fascinating thing but it -- it's -- no. No political figures.

Q Okay. And I'm pausing here because you've answered some of these questions in earlier testimony.

A No problem.

Q Now, have you talked to the Circuit Attorney about this case? I believe you have.

A Um, well, I -- when you talk about the Circuit Attorney, you're talking about Miss Gardner?

Q Yes.

A The first time I ever met Ms. Gardner was on the day that I presented my client for Grand Jury testimony. We didn't really discuss the case, but Ms. Gardner did describe briefly the protocol that was going to be followed. There was testimony elicited from my client outside of my earshot, and then very brief testimony elicited from a me to confirm, among other things, that the recording that we received from my client was the same that I gave to the Circuit Attorney's Office.

Q So that was the first encounter was the date of Grand Jury?

A Correct.

Q Did you have any subsequent discussions with Ms. Gardner about the case?

A No. Ms. Gardner, I mean, I saw her in court.

Q She didn't call you up, you didn't talk about it in any kind of discussion?

A No. In fact, there was a relatively, not elevated degree of frustration but there was frustration about the fact that I couldn't get her to return a call.

Q Now, this would have been before the $100,000 had been -- you were able to state that publicly, correct? Do I have the timeline right there?

A Before I could state it publicly, yeah.

Q And did you discuss the $100,000 with her at that time?

A No, I believe to Robert Steele we made reference at the outset because I thought it was important that they knew, Robert Steele is an Assistant Circuit Attorney, that, hey, look, in 2018 my client was the recipient of the fact of -- he wasn't the recipient but a beneficiary, if you will, of money that was paid to our firm by an anonymous third party. Whether I said it was anonymous or not, I don't know, but I referenced a third party. It was no secret.

It played -- that money did not affect what my client had recorded. That money did not affect a previously made decision. It did not affect the previously made release of tape or recordings. It didn't alter the mix of what the game plan was.

Q So you just didn't feel like it was relevant?

A I felt it was relevant enough that I brought it to their attention because I believe that it's important that everybody know. It's irrelevant what our firm received in 2018 doesn't alter what was done in 2015, including the tape. Or recording, I'm sorry.

Q Now, Ms. Gardner is somewhat of a political figure herself. Have you ever given her any campaign contributions or any donations or anything like that?

A No. I'm not big on make donations to political figures, republican or democratic. I will tell you that in my life my commitment to candidates have been, with one exception, republican. They have been on the national level, and have been a function of one of my clients requesting me to appear at an event that he is hosting, whether it be more Mitt Romney or Chris Christie or Bob Dole or someone along those lines.

I have been the beneficiary of gifted tickets to very high-end events. I go have a free beer, I'll pat everyone on the back, I'll talk lockjawed if they want, but no, I am not a big donor. My firm did support Governor Nixon in large part because my law partner, who is now retired, Mark Kodner was -- felt very strongly about the support Governor Nixon had given to those with Parkinson's.

Q Now, you've represented and still continue to represent P.S. You've represented Mr. Faughn for a period of time?

A Yes.

Q Is there anyone else connected to this case that you have represented?

A Represented? Connected? Or consulted by?

Q You can be as broad with that as you want I suppose.

A I was engaged by a detective, Tisaby, works for the -- or did work for the Circuit Attorney's Office.

Q And I don't mean to interrupt you but how long did you represent Mr. Tisaby?

A My representation within the context of the case in which the governor was a criminally accused defendant ceased very shortly after it commenced by virtue of a perceived conflict. I was also retained to and did represent an individual young man who was a former republican committeeman who had volunteered for the governor's campaign and the scope and tenure of my representation of that individual was not very long.

Q I believe I know the name of that individual but for the record, who are you referencing there?

A It was given --

MR. BARNES: I don't know if it is a public name or not.

A I don't believe it is, but I can point something else out. If this was my son --

MR. BARNES: If it's been public, I don't mind. If it's not public --

MR. HATFIELD: You don't have to do it (not audible, but not discernible).

Q (BY MR. TRENT) Anyone else?

A I have been consulted by others, yes. I am not at liberty to disclose the scope, extent, nature and character of those who have consulted me.

Q Consulted, but they never retained you as an attorney?

A I cannot say that.

Q So they may have retained you as an attorney, you just don't want to disclose who --

A I cannot -- I cannot -- I cannot discuss the scope and extent of my undertakings on behalf of individuals who have consulted with me but have not provided me or accorded me the privilege or the waiver of privilege.

Q Can you say if any of those --

A I also as a matter of public record represented the former exotic dancer in St. Louis turned attorney with aspirations in California of being a judge who sought through our firm a pardon from Governor Nixon for interestingly the exact same charge with which the criminally accused defendant in this case is charged.

We had sought a pardon on behalf of the stripper, who is now the lawyer in California seeking to be the judge, utilizing a theory that was virtually identical to that employed by the governor today in his Motion to Dismiss. So we had been unsuccessful in garnering a pardon from Nixon but Nixon is now with the firm representing the governor and the governor is charged with the same offense and the pardon request is still out there.

So we thought, given the fact that clearly there's a matter of public record, the governor embraced our theory --

Q You know, I'm sure this will make a fascinating law school case one day.

A Needless to say, we're still representing him.

Q And you didn't represent or consult with any elected officials?

A Represent? No.

Q In regards to this matter. Okay.

A No. Well, I guess Tisaby is a public official.

Q No, that's not -- I mean people elected, not appointed. So, and on the subject of Mr. Tisaby, how did he know to contact you? When did he decide to -- or did anyone ask you to represent him?

A No, he picked up the phone and he called me. My guess is that he saw me in action.

(Off the record.)

Q (BY MR. TRENT) So now you spoke at length earlier about how desirous your client was to maintain the confidentiality of this matter. Is it not your client's desire to do anything that would harm the reputation or harm K.S. in any way.

A Yes.

Q The earlier questioning addressed this a little bit with the repeated tweets, but also, it's true that your client had multiple affairs during his marriage with K.S.; is that correct?

A First of all, I don't understand that to be true. Second of all, what my client did or did not do with his appendage is absolutely beyond the scope of your authority of inquiry here.

MR. BARNES: For what it's worth, Representative Trent, this committee has assigned zero value to anything that witness two, witness three, ex-husband P.S., has said. To the extent that you are attempting to impeach his credibility, I don't know that in the minds of those who heard P.S. testify previously, that it could go any lower.

And so free to do so. I'm just telling you we're at like the infinitesimal level of credibility the committee views for ex-husband right now. You might get it like one scintilla of a -- you know, there's no way to possibly get it down to zero. I think if you stand one inch away from the wall and you get halfway closer to the wall every second, will you ever reach the wall? Maybe we'll never get down to zero, but feel free to --

MR. TRENT: Mr. Chairman, it's not so much for the minds of the committee but we are in a public hearing at this point and I know Mr. Watkins' commitment to the people of Missouri in making sure they get a full appreciation for what's going on here, I just want to make sure that the record is as complete as possible for the people.

MR. BARNES: That's fair. I just wanted to make that clear, before we went down this line of questioning, that we view P.S. as having zero --

MR. TRENT: I don't intend to dwell on it.

MR. HATFIELD: I don't think it is fair. The probative value of this questioning is zero, as Mr. Chairman just said. The prejudicial effect is somewhat substantial.

MR. BARNES: I don't know that the probative value is zero because the credibility of witness three has some impact because he said other things other than the authentication to tape and what this committee decided after the hearings we held early was that we could not trust witness three's testimony on anything other than authentication of that tape.

And so I think to the extent we're talking about the credibility of witness three, I do think that that is a probative question. I understand Mr. Watkins represents, has represented witness three and is going to defend witness three to his utmost ability. In fact, Mr. Watkins and I, when we were in a closed door hearing, got in a shouting match kinda like we did earlier this evening -- or earlier this morning that not everyone got to see that shouting match.

So it is probative, but my point to Representative Trent was just that the committee has already reached that conclusion. That witness three is not a reliable witness. Go ahead, representative.

MR. TRENT: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. And that actually I believe exhausts the questions I had for Mr. Watkins; however, I did also have a couple of additional questions for Mr. Hatfield, since we've gotten on the topic of legal technicalities here.

MR. HATFIELD: Sure.

MR. TRENT: So, Mr. Hatfield, I think this may have even been touched on earlier by Representative Austin.

MR. BARNES: Are we going in to fact questions or going into legal questions?

MR. TRENT: I believe you could call these fact questions.

MR. BARNES: I'm going ask you again --

MR. HATFIELD: I'll be happy to take an oath, Mr. Chairman. I would ask again that the members of the committee take an oath.

MR. WATKINS: Okay. I'm compelling my client not to respond to any further inquiries until such time --

MR. BARNES: Okay. Mr. Hatfield, raise your right hand. Okay. Thank you.

Mr. Hatfield, do you solemnly swear or affirm that the testimony you shall give in the hearing now pending before this committee shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God?

MR. HATFIELD: To the extent I provide answers to questions, I do so swear.

MR. BARNES: Answers to fact questions.

MR. HATFIELD: Answers to fact questions, that's correct. As Mr. Chairman knows, it's the whole truth aspect of that oath that can sometimes be problems for lawyers, which is why lawyers generally decline.

Lawyers have an obligation to make correct statements. Lawyers do not have an obligation to disclose additional information that might be necessary under the whole truth. However, to the extent I answer, I will follow the oath that the chairman just administered. Thank you.

MR. BARNES: Thank you. Go ahead, Representative Trent.

MR. TRENT: All right. There's really only probably one fact question and a couple technical questions.

CHARLES "CHUCK" HATFIELD, of lawful age, having been produced, sworn, and examined, testified as follows:

EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. TRENT:

Q So who, for the fact question, who is paying you to represent Mr. Faughn and Mr. Watkins?

A So the governor's legal team wants you to ask that question, I know, they asked that question in a deposition and Judge Burleson issued an order quashing any subpoena about that. Or they didn't ask in deposition.

Q While I appreciate your speculation on the genesis and the motive of my question, I really would just like you to answer the question.

A Yes. And so the governor's legal counsel wanted to answer that question as well. Judge Burleson, who did order other attorneys to answer questions like that, said that I didn't have to. And I'm not going to, just as I'm not going to discuss whether I have a belly ring or whether I have ever read Fifty Shades of Grey --

MR. BARNES: Representative Hatfield -- I'm sorry. Mr. Hatfield.

MR. HATFIELD: Yes, sir.

MR. BARNES: Okay. Let's --

MR. HATFIELD: You don't want to hear about my belly ring?

MR. BARNES: Mr. Hatfield, on the rails. On the rails.

MR. HATFIELD: I am happy to respond to the gentleman's question.

MR. BARNES: Just respond to the gentlemen's question and let's keep it on the rails.

MR. HATFIELD: Again, I am not aware of the rules of evidence of this committee, so I apologize.

Q (BY MR. TRENT) Now, gentlemen, I believe the answer to the question there, your refusal to answer, you did in fact answer that you are being paid by a third party.

So my next question is, have you given informed consent to your clients, Mr. Faughn and Mr. Watkins -- have you received informed consent from them about the nature of that third party payment?

A So let me answer that question this way. I am fully aware of my ethical obligations, Representative Trent. I have reviewed them. I've sought my own legal counsel because until the lawyers for the lawyers have lawyers, you haven't got a real party going on. And I have complied with all of my ethical obligations with regard to payment of fees.

Q Okay. Then let's talk about your ethical obligations in respect to conflict of interest between current clients.

A Yes, sir.

Q We have heard some significant testimony from both Mr. Faughn and Mr. Watkins over the last two days here --

A Yes.

Q -- and it would appear that some of their statements are in direct conflict with each other, which they are under oath, I would presume this could lead to questions of perjury.

So do you believe that your clients have no adverse interests amongst themselves? Or are you comfortable that you have fully complied with Rule 4.17?

A I am comfortable that I have fully complied with Rule 4.17, yes, sir.

Q So you perceive no conflict of interest between your two clients?

A I didn't say that. There are two analyses to Rule 4.17. First is do the clients have a conflict of interest, that can be a very complicated question, as you know, as an attorney. It is not the first time that I have ever represented witnesses who we have a conversation with different understandings of what happened or with the exact opposite testimony about what was said. That happens in litigation all over the place.

Second part of that is whether the clients have given a waiver or informed consent, if there is in fact a conflict. So they are complicated questions and I assure you that I have complied with my ethical obligations in my appearances for these gentlemen.

MR. TRENT: All right. Thank you. I'm glad you're comfortable with that situation. It is seems like it's a kind of a thorny matter but I appreciate your answers and I appreciate the time, Mr. Chairman.

MR. BARNES: Thank you.

Representative Razer?

ALBERT S. WATKINS,

previously sworn, testified further as follows:

EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. RAZER:

Q Mr. Watkins, I just have a few clarification questions basically. One is just minor.

Early on, I believe the chairman may have been questioning you, you were mentioning media outlets that you had contacted and you just said "Fox," and I'm wondering if you meant the Fox News Network or a local Fox affiliate?

A If that was within the context of the inquiry that corresponded to the early January 2018 undertakings, that would be KTVI Fox local.

Q Okay. Thank you. You also said that the only media outlet that offered money was the Daily Mirror?

A Yes.

Q Okay. Yet you also said P.S. has turned down other offers because there were, and I believe the word you said was "conditions"?

A Correct.

Q If those weren't media outlets, then who were they?

A There was contact -- media outlets are different than, for example, say, a show.

Q Explain that to me.

A In other words, you may have the Oprah show by way of example.

Q Okay.

A It's not a media outlet as in a network in my opinion but it would be a show.

Q Okay. Would you be willing to expand on what the conditions were? What people were wanting?

A Yeah, they wanted rights to the story and this was not a story that was for sale. This was how do we get this message out there as loudly as we can to as broadly -- a broad range of recipients as possible.

Q So then I guess where I'm confused is multiple media outlets or shows are offering money for the story, which I understand, and you -- multiple times you said P.S. has turned this down or you have turned this down. Were the offers for money to you or to P.S.?

A Well, if they're made to me, it's still my client's decision. So when there is a condition that involves exclusivity and the limitation of the scope of the story, there's no interest.

My client wasn't interested in money. He was definitely not interested in limiting the scope of the potential exposure of his stories.

Q Okay. So from what you just said, is the reason that you accepted money from Mr. Faughn is that he was not asking for exclusivity?

A No, it was because there were no conditions. Which includes, among other things, exclusivity.

Q Did he -- did you ask him for money or did he just come offering money?

A I thought that I had shared with you kind of the sequence of events and the conversation that occurred on January 5, which would have been Friday, 2018, during which it was made clear that there was this third party who was willing to and desirous of providing my client with a soft landing. And when I asked for an explanation, what do you mean, the response was, I you know, fifty, a hundred?

Q Okay. Then I want to move forward and discuss the special agent from the Eastern District of Missouri --

A Yes.

Q -- that you have dealt with. When I think you first brought him up today, you said he was investigating the governor's situations.

A I didn't say investigating the governor. We have been working with him and communicating with him in connection with the governor's situation.

Q Well, hang on, you actually used the word "situations," because you made a --

A Yes, plural.
Q -- a point to pause and say plural.
A Correct.
Q So my question is, could you expand on that? What do you mean by "plural"?
A Well, I thought I had. And to the extent that I will provide one big caveat here, I am not privy to nor are the feds particularly outgoing about doing anything other than keeping their cards close to their vest.

So I have been practicing law and accorded the privilege to do so for 33 plus years. That has included an extensive federal practice involving white collar crime cases among other criminal cases. I have become familiar with and I have worked with federal law enforcement authorities in those types of matters.

They have certain Assistant US Attorneys who work in certain areas of focus and, similarly, they have support personnel and investigative personnel in the form of FBI special agents, IRS, special agents, SEC, or, and you know, DEA, et cetera, all the acronyms. But you know and you learn to garner familiarity with the areas of expertise of the investigative and the Department of Justice lawyers.

So the individuals that I have been interacting with, working with in connection with this matter, are individuals that I know are not scratch and sniff guys. They're not, you know, the first responders, going, is something going on here? These are guys who were brought in who have an expertise, have experience, familiarity, and these resources are not going to be exploited on scratch and sniff.

Q And you believe you know kind of what their expertise are?

A So their expertise appears to be political corruption, white collar crime, mail fraud, wire fraud, bank fraud, tax fraud.

Q Okay. Okay. Lastly, I'd just -- I just want to say this, Mr. Watkins. I feel like at multiple times during this morning -- and I appreciate you being here, I truly do. But multiple times this morning I feel as if you have been disrespectful to the chairman. Multiple times today he has asked you for -- to refrain from using vulgar language.

A Mm-hmm.

Q I understand that sometimes it slips out. It happens to us all, but not at the frequency that it has with you today.

At one point Representative Eggleston was questioning you, he was trying to continue his question and in a raised tone you said, "If you want me to answer the question, you have to shut up."

A That's correct. That's an accurate recital.

Q Let me finish.

A I thought that was your question.

Q No, I am not done. Later, Representative Eggleston again was asking you a question to clarify a legal issue, which neither he nor I are attorneys so sometimes we need clarification of what attorneys are saying when you say something. You said in a sarcastic tone that you appreciated how he said it because it was obvious that you don't understand the duties and responsibilities of an attorney.

A That's exactly right.

Q Okay.

A You're self-consciousness about that is on you. It's not -- if I'm going sit here --

MR. BARNES: Gentlemen, gentlemen --

A -- if I'm going to sit here --
MR. BARNES: Yes, you are going sit there. Yes, you are going to sit there, Mr. Watkins. Yes, you are going sit there.
A Look, Mr. --
MR. BARNES: Yes, you are going to sit there. Shut your mouth, Mr. Watkins.
THE WITNESS: If lawyers here can say it, I can say it.
MR. BARNES: Shut your mouth, Mr. Watkins.
THE WITNESS: Shut my mouth? Shut yours. Go ahead.
Q (BY MR. RAZER) You don't appreciate the duties and responsibilities of an attorney.
A That's right.
Q So let me say to you, from your actions here today, that I am not sure you appreciate the duties and responsibilities of this body. We are --
A And I --
Q Wait. I am going to finish this, Mr. Watkins. I am going to finish this.
MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins --
(Not audible, but not discernible speakers.)

A You finish whatever you want --

MR. BARNES: Mr. Hatfield -- Mr. Hatfield --

MR. HATFIELD: It's not going to help. Mr. Chairman, the witness is here to answer questions.

MR. BARNES: We are going to let Mr. Razer finish his statement and we are not going to have a further filibuster statement. Mr. Razer is making a point. I -- we are going to let him make the point. I happen to agree with his point and I am going let him make the point and we're going to have a few follow-up questions and we are going to call it a day for Mr. Watkins.

MR. HATFIELD: The witness is here to answer questions and he is happy to answer questions. The witness was not subpoenaed --

THE WITNESS: I am going to instruct my counsel to be quiet. I want to hear what this man has to say --

MR. HATFIELD: The witness was not subpoenaed to be lectured to.

THE WITNESS: -- and be respectful and I want to hear it all.

Q (BY MR. RAZER) It appears to me that you don't appreciate the duty and responsibilities of this body. And so let me just say that those of us on this committee and who are members of the House of Representatives, we are duly elected officials. The people of Missouri have sent us here to do a job.

Now, maybe their choice of selecting us as individuals were good choices or bad choices but regardless, it was the choice of the people of Missouri. Furthermore, the people of Missouri, whether it was a good choice or a bad choice, have selected Eric Greitens to be our chief executive.

One of the responsibilities we have as the House of Representatives, and it's our sole responsibility, is if in extreme circumstances we have the right to investigates whoever is sitting in the governor's office at that time. That is a very serious responsibility.

A I agree with you.

Q When someone comes before this committee -- and I appreciate that you came here voluntarily.

MR. HATFIELD: No, he's under subpoena.

MR. RAZER: Oh, okay.

A But I drove myself and I paid for the gas.

Q (BY MR. RAZER) I appreciate that you are here. But when you come before here, you are not just telling Mr. Eggleston to shut up, you're telling the 36,000 people that sent him here to shut up. Now, I don't take myself very seriously but I take the institution of the House of Representatives very seriously and I just want it for the record that if I do not appreciate or condone your demeanor for most of this testimony here today.

MR. RAZER: That's all, Mr. Chairman.

MR. BARNES: Thank you, Representative Razer.

MR. WATKINS: First of all --

MR. BARNES: That wasn't a question. That was not a question. I have a follow-up question. We are going to --

MR. WATKINS: I do want to make a record saying that --

MR. BARNES: We may get there, Mr. Watkins, we may get there.

MR. WATKINS: I appreciate what you have to say.

MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins --

MR. WATKINS: You have your duty --

MR. BARNES: Mr. Watkins --

MR. WATKINS: -- and you are discharging it and I am very grateful for that. I have my duty.

MR. HATFIELD: Let's do it in the hall, Al. We'll go do it in the hall.

MR. BARNES: I have one follow-up. It's lunchtime.

FURTHER EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. BARNES:

Q You stated you gave the tapes, this audio recording, to the FBI in January of '17.

A Yes.

Q Does the FBI have jurisdiction for alleged sex crimes that don't cross state borders? I don't think they do.

A Mr. Chairman, I believe that the federal authorities have jurisdiction and authority over political corruption and cases that involve extortion of public officials and so they have a keen sense of interest in publicly elected officials who are vulnerable to that type of thing.

Q Okay. So but my point is there's no federal crime for which the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in an in state sex crime, assume it doesn't involve an elected official, there's no federal jurisdiction, in general, for that unless you somehow cross state lines or use a phone or do something of that nature?

A Well, there are a number of actually situations where sexual deviance that occurs all within one state can be federal in nature but, in general, I understand what you're saying.

MR. BARNES: Okay. That's my clarification. Further questions?

FURTHER EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. EGGLESTON:

Q Couple of things for you, Mr. Watkins. You talked about the threats to your family. Right? That was sort of why you needed some extra money, to maybe get them out of the --

A I actually referred to that as an incident of intimidation.

Q Intimidation, okay. Do you think you received that intimidation or threats or whatever you want to call it because of your relationship representing Mr. Faughn? Or P.S.? Or something else?

A I am not in a position to tell you with certainty the cause of that or the motivation behind it.

Q You don't know, or you know but you don't feel comfortable saying?

A I don't feel comfortable saying.

Q Okay. Why, when those threats came in then, would you go to Scott Faughn and ask for more money to help take care of that? Because he had already given you 110 and I assume you have some money in the bank from your business and so forth. Why go to Faughn and ask for more money to take care of the threat that came to you and your family?

A I -- intimidation, not threat. So I will state that it was of a nature and character that at first blush and continues to be something which is directly related to the target of the criminal investigation or criminal felony charges that are pending in the City of St. Louis against our criminally accused defendant, governor.

Q Okay. And Scott Faughn could somehow help with you that or was it related to that in some way?

A I can't tell you. I mean, I'm not in a position to tell you.

Q All right.

CHARLES "CHUCK" HATFIELD,

previously sworn, testified further as follows:

EXAMINATION

QUESTIONS BY MR. EGGLESTON:

Q Mr. Hatfield.

A Yes, sir.

Q You are here today as legal representation for Mr. Watkins?

A Correct.

Q You were here yesterday as legal representation for Mr. Faughn.

A Correct.

Q Are you still legally representing Mr. Faughn as we sit here today? I mean, he's --

A Yes, sir.

Q -- still your client.

A Yes, sir.

Q Okay. Do you believe that the testimony that Mr. Faughn gave us yesterday is accurate, non-perjury testimony?

A It's not for me to say at all. I've -- I've represented witnesses, what you're asking me is do the witnesses disagree and does that cause me any trouble? Again, that happens all the time. I have represented countless companies where witness A will say X happened and witness B will say X never happened. And I don't -- I don't think that's necessarily perjury in any particular context and sometimes it's an honest misunderstanding. I don't know.

I have an ethical duty, as the lawyers on this committee know, not to present testimony that I know to not be true and that could be a difficult issue. I can expound on that but the chairman doesn't like me to expound.

Q So the purpose of me asking this, I am just wanting your opinion because we have heard from one of your clients that the recordings were a purchase. Here's some money, give me the recordings. We heard from another one of your client that it wasn't. It was just sort of a coincidental thing that just happened to happen on the same day.

We heard that, from one of your clients, that the relationship -- there was nothing signed, it was all verbal. But then we heard today from Mr. Watkins, no, there was a signed document, a confidentiality agreement.

So we're getting different stories from your two different clients that can't both be right I don't think. Can you help us, do you have an explanation for how all of that can all be true at the same time?

A Well, first of all, it's not my decision to make whether any of that's true. It's my decision to advise clients as to what their obligations are and as to how to present to this committee.

I disagree with the way you just characterized all of that by the way, but I don't know how much you want to go through this. But Mr. Faughn testified that he believed he was giving money in order to acquire tapes. Or recordings. Mr. Watkins, has told you that he, that Mr. Faughn wanted to hear the tapes and I think he said it was very important to him. Tapes, I keep saying tapes. To hear the recordings. They may have approached that from different perspectives.

I don't know, you don't know, Mr. Watkins doesn't know, what was in Mr. Faughn's head when he came in. Nor does Mr. Faughn know what Mr. Watkins was thinking when he came in.

There have been other testimony here, you know. Mr. Faughn says he's known him for a long time and he talked to him lots of times. Mr. Watkins said he didn't meet him until recently. Somebody on this committee represented out loud that these gentlemen regularly have drinks together and are social acquaintances who regularly drink together. Neither one of them remembers that at all. Witnesses sometimes have different perceptions.

Now, you're getting to points that are more important than whether they have drinks together. I understand that completely. But witnesses sometimes have different perceptions.

I will say that if one of these witnesses had said to me, I am going to go in and give incorrect testimony, under the rules of ethics for lawyers, I would have an obligation not to allow them to do that.

So in other words, if I know that a witness is going to present something incorrect because the witness says to me I'm going to present something incorrect, I can't do that.

Q Well, it would be hard for you to know ahead of time because don't know what the questions are going to be ahead of time.

A With all respect, I had a pretty good idea, yeah, but that's my point. I mean, you have it all the time that witnesses will come in and this -- you know, somebody says the light was red and somebody else says the light was green.

So if you want to go through -- I don't think the chairman wants to do this, but if you want to go through and hear my theories --

Q No, I don't think we need to. I appreciate what you've said and how you answered.

A I appreciate the question.

MR. EGGLESTON: Thank you, I'm done.

MR. BARNES: Further questions? Seeing none, we are going to recess -- committee, let's have a chat here -- I think until 1:00. We have obtained transcript two, Mr. Dowd and the Circuit Attorney's Office have sent it. Does 1 o'clock sound okay? We'll have time to break for lunch. The witness is excused.

MR. HATFIELD: Mr. Chairman, it's your tradition to ask if the witness has any closing thoughts.

MR. WATKINS: Very briefly I would like to take the time to --

MR. HATFIELD: It's up to the chairman.
MR. WATKINS: This will be a minute or less.
MR. BARNES: I am going to cut it off if we reach -- if you make an inappropriate statement.
MR. WATKINS: And I hope you do. Not that I am trying to anger you. I hope you do because that's not my intent.
MR. BARNES: Okay.
MR. WATKINS: Representative Razer, thank you for what you said. I appreciate it. I have made it clear at the outset of my presentation here, not just today but since the outset of the undertakings pursued, to assist this committee to provide information, documents, evidence to this committee that I have the highest order of respect for the daunting nature of the task that you have before you.
I recognize that the undertakings that you are pursuing are being done in a trying and difficult time for all of us in Missouri. You are discharging your duty. Please do not interpret -- and you may interpret any way you wish, but I did not want you to interpret my advocacy, my duty, my obligations, my sensitivities, as being anything other than demonstrative of the highest order of respect for what you and each and every one of the members of this committee are doing.

Mr. Eggleston, I apologize. I am a condescending, rude, oftentimes disrespectful human being. I am not hired because I am -- I hold hands well and I am touchy-feely and sing Kumbaya. I am usually hired because I am just the opposite of all of that.

It comes naturally, it's a defect, came from my DNA. Like I said, I'm working on it. Maybe by the time I drop dead, I'll be palatable for public consumption. But with respect, nothing that I said was intended to be demeaning. In effect, it was really snotty, but I apologize.

As for every member of this committee, I'm proud of each and every one of you. You have your duties.

Mr. Chairman, thank you. I am a demonstrative lad, I will knock things over, I don't do it on purpose. I break china, that's my job. I respect everything that's being done here and please accept my apology if there is something here that has truly caused you consternation, concern, or in any way causes to you lose sleep.

MR. BARNES: Thank you, Mr. Watkins.

(Off the record.)

MR. BARNES: Let's go officially back into the hearing. We are just handing out -- I'm glad everyone got to know about me going out in the hallway, that I drank too much coffee and didn't have enough for breakfast and didn't get enough sleep last night.

So we think we've got good redactions going but the good news, the best news with this here transcript is it is only 105 pages. So I would just say let's be careful as we go through because we sort of figured out that we had this at a late hour and Representative Mitten has been working her way through it but we always like to have two sets of eyes for the redactions.

Would anyone like to volunteer to go first? I'll go first unless you guys want to do your hundred in a row.

Representative Austin. Do you volunteer yourself?

MR. AUSTIN: All right. Beginning on page 7, line 9. We are on the record with the court reporter. We are a little bit punch drunk at this point because of coming back from lunch after the three hours we just had. So I am ready.

Go ahead, Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: I am Scott Rosenblum and I'll be asking questions of K.S.

(Kevin Austin is reading the part of Scott Rosenblum and John Eggleston is reading the part of K.S.)

"Q State your name, please.

"A K.S. K.

"Q And for purposes of this deposition again, I'll refer to you as K.S. or K. or Mrs. S, Miss S, all right?

"A Okay.

"Q Since the time you were last deposed by me, have you had an opportunity to review any additional materials before appearing here today?

"A Not -- well, I'm sorry. What are you referring to?

"Q Anything. Have you reviewed, for instance, your prior deposition?

"A No, I have not.

"Q Have you read your Grand Jury testimony?

"A No, I have not.
"Q Have you ever reviewed a transcript of the taped conversation of the -- a taped conversation that you did not know was made on March 25 of 2015?
"A I have not reviewed it or read it myself, no.
"Q Has somebody read it to you?
"A No.
"Q All right. So have you reviewed anything that comes to mind?
"A I saw a clip of that tape that you're referring to, the inaudible part.
"Q So you saw a clip of the -- of your interview?
"A Correct.
"Q Not the one your ex-husband made but the one that Tisaby made?
"A Correct.
"Q All right. So when was that?
"A Last night.
"Q Who showed it to you?
"A My attorney.
"Q Were the Circuit Attorneys present?
"A No.

"Q Okay. So that was -- was that the first time you became aware that there had been actually a functioning videotape that evening -- that evening at the hotel?

"A No. I don't remember when it was; a couple of weeks ago.

"Q And what made you -- how did you first become aware that your interview on January 29 with Tisaby was videotaped?

"A I don't recall.

"Q Was it --

"A I'm not sure.

"Q Was it from a source other than your attorney?

"A I don't recall. I don't know.

"Q Did you -- was it from the media?

"A I don't -- I don't recall. I know that I heard that. I'm not sure where.

"Q Have you been following the media in this case with with -- have you -- first of all, have you been following the media generally about this case?

"A I've read stuff online, but I haven't really watched any news clips or anything.

"Q At some point you became aware of certain issues that were -- had arisen with respect to Mr. Tisaby?

"A Yes.

"Q And did you become aware of those by your own research or by something that someone told you?

"A I don't recall. I'm not sure.

"Q But you became aware there were certain issues called into question about his truthfulness, actually, and whether or not he has lied under oath as these proceedings have gone on?

"A Yes. I'm aware of that.

"Q Okay. And Mr. Tisaby was presented to you initially by Kim Gardner as another source of -- of protecting your privacy, so to speak, as you made this decision as to whether you wanted to come forward in the first place, correct?

"A I don't know how he was presented, but I felt that -- that that would be the case, that I would -- that he was an outside source partially because of that reason.

"Q And he was an outside source other than the St. Louis Metropolitan Police Department?

"A I didn't know what that meant. I just knew outside source. That's all I knew."

MR. BARNES: Let me pause for a second because we did not state this at the start. This deposition was taken April 25, 2018. It's listed as Volume II. Go ahead.

"Q Did that give -- did that give you some level of comfort?

"A Yes.

"Q And now that you have heard all these various questions that have been raised about Mr. Tisaby and his background, how do you feel about that now?"

Mr. Steele objected. Rosenblum said, "You can answer." And then Mr. Steele interjected again and we had some other interjections and finally we have Mr. Simpson stating -- and then we have down to the answer on page 12.

"A I -- I don't know that I have any strong feelings other than that's unfortunate. I don't know.

"Q Do you feel disappointed or let down at all by the fact that he was injected into this case?

"A No, not particularly.
"Q Now, you were shown the silent portion of the videotape?
"A A portion of the silent portion, yes.
"Q For what purpose?"
Mr. Simpson objects, and then question again by Scott Rosenblum, "Were you -- did you see any portion with sound?
"A No, I did not.
"Q So one of the issues that came up with respect to that particular videotape on January 29 was, in fact, whether or not there was a videotape. Do you recall answering those questions?
"A Yes, I recall.
"Q And your answer at the time was that it was your belief based on information that was conveyed, I believe, to your attorney that you -- that that videotape had malfunctioned, right?
"A Correct.
"Q The videotape in the room at the hotel, was that a -- a video -- a camera similar to the one you're looking at?
"A Yes, I believe so.
"Q And the -- once it was -- was that video camera set up prior to the time that you commenced talking?

"A Yes, it was.

"Q Was it in the room before you arrived?

"A Yes, it was.

"Q Was Kim Gardner and Tisaby in the room before you arrived?

"A Yes, they were.

"Q And did you see -- did you see them do anything to determine whether or not the videotape camera was functioning?

"A No. Not that I recall, no.

"Q At any point during the course of the deposition or the statement I, should say, did anybody check to see whether it was functioning?

"A Not that I recall, no.

"Q Are you saying it didn't happen, or you just don't recall?

"A I don't recall that at all.

"Q Okay. Do you recall when they -- when it started whether there was any consent form or oral consent that you had to give to go ahead and video -- have this videotaped?

"A Not that I recall. I -- I don't know.

"Q You don't -- you don't recall?

"A I don't recall that.

"Q Okay.

"A I could have.

"Q Before the -- before the portion that we can't hear, do you recall any discussion at all from Gardner -- Miss Gardner or Tisaby as to whether or not you're approving of the fact that your statement was being videotaped?

"A Yes. There was a conversation.

"Q Okay. And do you think that conversation would have been on the -- on the portion of the ten minutes or so that we cannot hear, or was it before -- even before that?

"A I can't say when it was, but I know that that conversation took place, yes.

"Q Was there a written consent at all?

"A I don't believe so, no.

"Q Now -- and one of the subject matters that we discussed in the last deposition that now, as you can imagine, has some particular relevance was whether or not you recall Mr. Tisaby or Miss Gardner taking notes during that two-hour meeting.

"A Yes.

"Q And what do you recall?
"A I'm sorry. What do I recall of what?
"Q Okay. So the meeting was about two hours, correct?
"A Correct.
"Q And was at the Residence Inn, as I recall?
"A Yes.
"Q You had previously met six days before Miss Gardner at a hotel room in southern Illinois or across the bridge in Illinois?
"A Yes.
"Q You didn't know where, right?
"A Right.
"Q You spoke with her for, at the time, a couple of hours?
"A Yes.
"Q I believe as -- if my memory serves, you recall her taking notes at that meeting correct?
"A Yes.
"Q And that would have been with you and your attorney, correct?
"A Correct.
"Q That would have been the first time that you were actively involved in this case?

"A Yes.
"Q As a potential witness, I should say?
"A Correct.
"Q And the first time you had a chance to meet Miss Gardner?
"A Yes.
"Q And then after she met with you for a couple hours, then you were -- the next step was that you gave this recorded interview or attempted recorded interview, right?
"A Correct.
"Q And that was, again, a couple hours?
"A Yes, I believe so.
"Q Two or so, right? Wasn't a particularly big hotel room, right?
"A No.
"Q And my question to you now as you sit here, do you recall one way or the other as to whether or not, first, Mr. Tisaby was taking any notes?
"A Well, I know he was because I saw that clip.
"Q Well, independent of the clip, do you recall?

"A Well, I didn't recall for sure. I knew that he had something in front of him.

"Q And -- and you know, that causes me some curiosity, the fact that when I spoke with you last time under oath that you did not recall, and -- and given the clip that you saw, right?

"A Right.

"Q It's pretty obvious he was taking notes, right?

"A Yes, when I have something to look at to know for sure, but I had not seen it --

"Q Right.

"A -- to know.

"Q I mean, they were right in front of you, right?

"A He was kind of off to my side. Kim was the one in front of me.

"Do you have exhibit stickers?" And there was apparently stickers handed to Mr. Rosenblum. Mr. Rosenblum continues.

"Q I'm going to show you what's been marked 42 and 43. And if you could take a look at those two exhibits."

Mr. Steele wants to look at the exhibits and then the question that follows is this.

"Q Have you had an opportunity to look at those exhibits?

"A Now I have, yes.

"Q Okay. And I mean, just from my perspective, those notes of Mr. Tisaby aren't any great distance from you, right?

"A No, not particularly.

"Q And you spent two hours with him, right?

"A Yes.

"Q Now, I think in the last deposition I asked you whether or not prior to that deposition the subject of whether or not Tisaby took notes actually came up, and you had a discussion with the Circuit Attorneys about that, right?

"A I don't recall that. Can you show me what you're talking about?

"Q I can try. So do you remember this question back when you were deposed?

On line 4, 103. And again, getting back to this meeting, you are aware that the subject of Tisaby and notes has been brought up by the defense. As you sit here now, you're aware of that, right?

Answer. Yes.
Question. Okay. And what source of information made you aware of that? Who or where did you learn that?
Answer. I believe my attorney. I'm not positive. I think my attorney. I think so.
Question. And had you had any discussions with the Circuit Attorney about the subject of notes?
Answer. I don't know. It could have come up last week.
Does that refresh your recollection?
"A Yes. To some extent. Yes.
"Q Okay. So that's what you said in your deposition which was taken on April 6th, about a couple of weeks ago, and you said that as you -- as you sat there that you recall actually having some discussion with the Circuit Attorney about the subject of notes prior to being questioned by me, right?
"A That was -- that that was a possibility, yes.
"Q And the possibility, of course -- I mean, the possibility would have been whether I was going to test your recollection of whether or not the notes existed, right?

"A I don't recall exactly what it was about.
"Q Well, what other possible conversation could you have had with the Circuit Attorney prior to your deposition about the subject of notes? Can you think of any possible conversation other than whether or not they actually existed?
"A I don't remember specifics. I just know that that was an issue that had been brought up to me at -- I don't know, some way.
"Q And it was brought up before your deposition by the Circuit Attorneys, right?
"A I don't remember specifically --
"Q Well, you just --
"A -- whether it was by them or not.
"Q You just said it was brought up in reference to being questioned about it, right?"
Mr. Simpson says, "I think that mischaracterizes what --."
The witness says, "Yeah." And then there's conversations between --
MR. BARNES: Starts back up on page 22, line 9.
"A The issue of notes. I don't remember what -- specifically them saying that that was a possibility. I don't remember any specific conversation, truly.

"Q Well, this issue of notes that was brought up by the Circuit Attorney, it was brought up in the context of whether or not Tisaby was taking notes. Doesn't that logically follow given that that was an issue?

"A I can't say for sure. I don't -- I don't remember.

"Q Do you recall them talking to you about how you were supposed to handle that information or that question?

"A No. I do not recall that conversation, no.

"Q Because despite what we see in the picture in the deposition, you said you really had no memory one way or the other as to whether or not he was taking notes. That's what you said, right?

"A I said I remember seeing a notebook -- I mean, a folder thing which also makes sense because it's directly in front me and so was Kim, and I thought I remembered seeing her take notes. I just couldn't say for sure one way or the other.

"Q I understand --

"A Uh-huh.
"Q -- and that wasn't the question I asked. The question I asked was isn't it a fact that the Circuit Attorneys told you that not only was there going to be a question about the notes, it was an issue and how to answer the question?
"A No. I do not recall that conversation at all.
"Q Do you recall a conversation when I asked you in the deposition about the style that Mr. Tisaby chose to question you? For instance, did he ask a series of questions, or did he ask essentially just one and let you narrate and -- and occasionally ask you to clarify? Do you remember that series of questions?
"A I remember the gist of it, but I don't remember specifics, no.
"Q And in the deposition, basically what you said was, ironically, something similar to what Tisaby said, that in fact, he only asked you a question, basically tell me your story and occasionally asked to you clarify. Do you remember that?
"A I don't remember specifically, no.
"Q Would the deposition refresh your recollection?

"A Yes.

"Q Well, let me ask this. As you sit here now, what's your recollection of Tisaby's interviewing style? Did he ask just the one question, tell me your story and ask you to clarify, or did he ask multiple questions?

"A From what I recall, he -- I told my story, and he asked me to clarify certain things.

"Q So it wouldn't have been a situation during the course of that videotaped interview where he asked a number of questions?

"A I don't -- I don't recall.

"Q Would it surprise you if he asked over 137 questions?

"A I guess it depends on what the questions were. It wasn't -- I know I didn't feel interrogated. I know I didn't feel that he was asking me questions that -- I don't know, went outside of the normal.

"Q Well, let me ask you this. In your deposition you were asked how long was the meeting that you had with Tisaby on page 95. Probably two hours, a little over two hours. Maybe more.

Your answer. I'm not sure. I would say around two hours.

Question. I would imagine just from common sense that it wasn't a situation where Mr. Tisaby said tell me your story and just then spoke for two hours. That doesn't sound plausible, does it?

Your answer. It kind of did. That is pretty much what happened.

Question. You pretty much -- you spoke for two hours without --

Answer. Pretty much other than will you clarify this.

That's how you answered it April 8?

"A I still feel that way.

"Q Have you looked at the transcript or the videotape?

"A No, I have not.

"Q Would it surprise you that you answered it in a way that was similar to the way Tisaby answered it under oath? Would that surprise you?

"A That would surprise me. I have not spoken to him at all.

"Q I'm not asking if you spoke to him. Did that subject come up with the Circuit

Attorneys?

"A No.

"Q So it was just a coincidence that you answered it in a way that Tisaby answered it?

"A It had to have been. That's how I felt about it.

"Q I understand.

"A Yes.

"Q But would it surprise you that, in fact, you answered --"

Mr. Steele lodged an objection.

Mr. Rosenblum continues, "You can answer. Would it surprise you, in fact, he answered -- he asked you over 134 questions, if not more? Would that surprise you? Specific questions.

"A No, not anything outside of whatever I was talking about.

"Q But it's your testimony that wasn't a subject that you -- but it's your testimony that wasn't a subject that you handled with the Circuit Attorneys before that deposition, right?

"A Not that I recall, no.

"Q Have you recently learned in the news that your ex-husband's lawyer had $100,000 in two different installments delivered to his office?"

Objection by Mr. Steele. Then Mr. Rosenblum replies, and then we continue on line 17 with Mr. Rosenblum reassuming his question.

"Q In spite of that, my question to you is have you learned that Albert Watkins received on January 8, I believe, the day that your husband brought this story forward to Lauren Trager and the subsequent day that he received two $50,000 cash payments delivered by a courier on a bicycle? Have you learned that?

"A Yes. I have learned that.

"Q When did you learn that?

"A I was working, and one of my co-workers who I've known for a long time asked me to step out for a second, and she told me she had heard that.

"Q When?

"A Whatever day it first came out in the news. I'm not sure.

"Q This week?

"A Yes, I believe so.

"Q Have you had any information to that effect prior to this week?

"A I'm sorry?

"Q Had you had any information that your ex-husband's lawyer received any amount of money, cash or otherwise, as a result of his involvement in this case prior to this week?

"A I had also heard that he had told the -- that my ex-husband had told the Missouri House that he received money.

"Q Did you hear that your ex-husband told the Missouri House that he, in fact, had set up a trust account -- that his lawyer set up a trust account for legal fees and to handle what other -- whatever else may happen to him as a result of this situation?

"A Yes, I believe so.

"Q When did you learn that information?

"A I don't recall. I know that it was in the news, too. I'm not sure.

"Q I'm sorry?

"A I know that was in the news, too. I'm not sure how I first heard it or whatever.

"Q Have you ever endeavored to determine exactly how much money or what kind of benefits or what kind of -- or -- or if there has been any other thing of value that your husband has received as a result of his involvement in this case?

"A No, I have not.
"Q Have you discussed anything with your husband -- ex-husband by text or other communication?
"A No. I have not spoken to him at all.
"Q And once you learned that he had received this money, have you reached out directly or indirectly or by any source to see whether or not you can receive any of that, that money?
"A Zero percent. No.
"Q Now, as you can imagine, since the time that you met with us and since this case has been ongoing, there has been some substantial investigation going on.
"A Yes.
"Q And in the year 2017, what was your income?
"A I can't -- I can't think. It was (redacted) thousand adjusted.
"Q Was that your -- the W-2 income or 1099 income or a combination?
"A A combination.
"Q And how do you handle your tips?
"A It's just included, like, for -- it goes on Square. It get calculated through that.

"Q How about the cash tips?
"A Also through Square.
"Q So you never receive a cash tip?
"A Yes, I have received a few, yeah.
"Q Like in the course of a year, what would you say your cash tips are?
"A Maybe a (redacted) dollars.
"Q That's it?
"A Around there, yes.
"Q In the year 2018, are you on pace to earn a similar amount of income?
"A Yes, I believe so.
"Q And that would be the same with respect to cash tips?
"A Yes, I believe so.
"Q So a very, very small percentage?
"A Yes.
"Q Would there be any reason why over the last several months you've been making rather significant cash payments in your bank account?
"A No.
"Q There is no reason?
"A I mean, no. That hasn't happened.
"Q That hasn't happened?
"A Correct.

"Q You have not made payments in the amount of several thousand -- cash payments -- deposited cash payments in the amount of several thousand dollars or more in your bank account in the year of 2018?
"A No.
"Q What's the largest cash payment you made in your bank account, according to your memory?
"A I have no clue. A couple hundred dollars. I have no clue.
"Q Have you received any money, direct or indirect, as a result of your activity in this case?
"A From my mother, yes.
"Q And your mother -- and -- and just a way to help you through the financial -- financial situation?
"A With my attorney, yes.
"Q So your mother's paying your attorney's fees?
"A That's not what I said, but --
"Q So tell me what you said.
"A That she has given me money for that reason.

"Q For your attorney's fees?
"A Correct.
"Q In what amount?
"A $1500.
"Q So the entire amount that you've paid your attorney throughout the course of this representation is $1500?
"A A little more than that, yes.
"Q What's a little more?
"THE WITNESS: Is it okay?"
MR. BARNES: Mr. Simpson says, "Go ahead and tell him. Go for it.
"A I believe it totals around 2,000.
"Q $2,000?
"A Yes.
"Q Have you received invoices?
"A No, I have not.
"Q Is it your understanding that you owe attorney's fees?
"A Not at this time.
"Q So the total amount that -- that you have paid and the total amount of your representation's going to cost $2,000?
"A Unless he sends me an invoice, yes.
"Q Are you expecting an invoice for more?

"A No, I'm not.
"Q So that's it, right?
"A Unless he sends me an invoice.
"Q But you said you're not expecting one, right?
"A Correct.
"Q So that would be the total amount, correct?
"A To date, yes.
"Q Okay. And there's nothing to indicate that you're getting one in the future I guess is what I'm saying, right?
"A Not that he has said, no.
"Q Okay. Now, to your knowledge, has your mother received any other benefit, income, money as a result of your activity in this case?
"A No.
"Q Has anybody offered to help you with attorney's fees, anybody at all?
"A Not at all.
"Q Either direct or indirectly.
"A No, not anybody.
"Q Has any -- has any human on earth, directly or indirectly, approached you with any type of compensation, benefit, money as a result of your involvement in this case?

"A Not at all, no.

"Q There's never even been a suggestion?

"A Not at all, no.

"Q And December 7th -- on December 7th -- we already marked it, but that was in the P.S. deposition. I'll just re-mark it." And he marks it as Exhibit 44.

"If you would take a look at Defense 44, and it appears to be a real estate tax payment made by you on December 7th, and if you could take a look at that and identify that for me, please.

Do you recall making that payment on December 7th?

"A On my -- escrowed into my account, so no.

"Q Pardon me?

"A It's escrowed into my home loan --

"Q Okay.

"A -- so they make it.

"Q And on the bottom, I think, left, can you tell me the escrow agent and the name?

"A (Redacted). I don't know.

"Q Do you know of any reason other than coincidence why -- why your ex would have paid his real estate tax for his home on the exact same date through the exact same escrow agent on December 27, 2017?

"A Maybe that's just part of the home loan. I have no clue, no.

"Q Did you guys, meaning you and your ex, exchange any money on December 7?

"A No, not at all.

"Q Have you recently purchased a new home or a new car?

"A No, I have not.

"Q When was the last car that you purchased?

"A It's nine years old. It's a van.

"Q Has anybody approached you about receiving any remuneration for any book deals or movie deals or anything of that nature?

"A Not at all.

"Q With respect to the $100,000, do you anticipate reaching out to P.S. or Albert Watkins about receiving some of that money?

"A No, I don't.

"Q How did it make you feel when you heard that?

"A Disappointed.
"Q Disappointed how?
"A That somebody had an a agenda that wasn't very kind, I felt.
"Q And when you say somebody had an agenda that wasn't very kind, are you -- do you have anybody specifically in mind?
"A I have no clue.
"Q Do you think your husband had an agenda that wasn't very kind?
"A It's possible.
"Q Do you think his agenda is being assisted by Mr. Watkins who has an agenda that may not be kind?
"A I don't know. I have never seen or spoken to him, so --
"Q You've seen him on TV, I'm sure. You sort of can't miss him.
"A I actually really haven't, but no, I can't say because I -- I don't know.
"Q Do you think or do you feel -- and I know that you may not know specifically, but do you feel that this agenda that's not very kind that may be promulgated by your ex and maybe assisted by Mr. Watkins is being sponsored by, for instance, potentially opposition of E.G.?"

Mr. Steele states an objection.

Mr. Rosenblum then asked, "Have you -- have you ever had that feeling?

"A I have no clue who.

"Q Have you ever had a discussion with anybody such to that effect, anybody at all?

"A No. I know that lots of people have had theories and --

"Q Uh-huh.

"A -- rumors and stuff, and I've just tried to ignore it.

"Q Well, with respect to any theories or rumors that you actually talked about, have you ever had a discussion about any of those theories or -- or rumors with anybody at all?

"A No, not specifically. Just I heard he got paid and stuff like that.

"Q And who did you hear that from?

"A Oh, I don't know. Anybody who knows me who knows about the case, who has followed anything or whatever. I can't even tell you.

"Q Okay. So I want to ask you some questions about some of the specific things that you've said, okay --

"A Okay.
"Q -- throughout the course of this case. And going through all the information that has been provided to us, it would appear that the first time that you ever spoke about these events -- not -- well, the first time that anything that you would have ever said had been documented about these events would have been on March 25 of 2015 when you were surreptitiously recorded by your ex-husband, right?
"A Correct.
"Q And -- and just for the record, I know that when we spoke, you thought it was March 24th. P.S. thinks it's March 25. We're actually asking for the metadata. P.S. thinks -- he's pretty certain it's the 25th. Are you -- do you have a reason to believe it's the 24th other than the 25th?
"A I just knew it was a few days after.
"Q Okay. So you're not taking issue with the fact that it was the 25th?
"A It could have been, yeah.
"Q And just -- during this particular time period, just to set the chronology, on -- on the 20th you said to P.S. you wanted a divorce, correct?

"A Correct.

"Q On the 21st were the events in E.G.'s basement, correct?

"A Correct.

"Q And then I believe you that evening you said you slept with (redacted)?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. Do you know why (redacted) has not been interviewed by anybody in this case?"

Mr. Steele objects.

Mr. Rosenblum then questions, "Well, you still talk to her, don't you?

"A Occasionally, yes.

"Q I mean, she was your -- wasn't she one of the friends that you grew up with?

"A No.

"Q She was a long-time friend, I think. Was -- was she the ten-year friend, or is that (redacted)?

"A That was (redacted).

"Q So (redacted) was a girl you worked with?

"A Correct.

"Q You became close with? Eight years I think you knew her at the time?

"A Maybe four years, yeah.
"Q But in any event, you were close to her, were you not?
"A Yes.
"Q And you worked with her, right?
"A Yes.
"Q And you spent the night with her that evening, correct?
"A Yes.
"Q P.S. wasn't there because you were -- he had already moved out of the house, right?
"A Yes.
"Q And incidentally, before I leave that subject, if P.S. in his deposition said that he had not actually left the family home as of March 1st, he would be incorrect. Would that be an accurate statement?
"A I don't know the exact date. I know he was staying at his brother's, so --
"Q Right.
"A -- I don't know what he --
"Q So he wasn't staying with you at the family home on that weekend?
"A Right.

"Q He had already moved out, essentially quasi-separated and moved in with his brother. Fair enough?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. So if he had said something different, he would be mistaken?

"A Or that's his recalling of it. I don't know.

"Q Okay. So in any event, my question is do you know why (redacted) has not been interviewed or spoken with anybody involved in this case?"

Mr. Steele lodges an objection.

And Mr. Rosenblum continues to ask, "You can answer. Well, let me ask that. Do you know if (redacted) has spoken to anybody in this case? Do you know if she's spoken to the Circuit Attorney's Office?

"A I know that -- I believe it was Tisaby reached out to her.

"Q Is it your understanding --

"A I know that -- I'm sorry.

"Q Is it your understanding that she and Tisaby actually spoke?

"A I do not believe they actually had a conversation.

"Q Well, tell me what (redacted) said to you about Tisaby."

And objection lodged, Rosenblum and Mr. Steele go back and forth for a little bit and then finally on line 24, answer:

"A Well, I don't know specifically other than she just said I am way too uncomfortable. I don't want to be a part of this at all.

"Q She told you she was way too uncomfortable?

"A Yes.

"Q Did you ask her why?

"A Well, I know her. She gets really bad anxiety, and I think it just freaked her out.

"Q That morning that you described where you opened the shop early, and I think that may have been in early May, I think, if my memory serves around 9 o'clock or so, and you met --

"A I'm not sure.

"Q -- E.G. Does that sound about right?

"A Yes.

"Q And that's when you went into the back room, the dye room, and you, I think, established that you passionately kissed, and you masturbated each other, right?

"A Right.
"Q In fact, you masturbated each other to the point of --"
Mr. Steele lodges an objection.
Rosenblum continues, "You can answer. To the point where you both potentially climaxed. I think that was your testimony."
Objection was lodged and then back and forth until --
MR. BARNES: Page 44, line 19.
"Q But you do remember that day, right?
"A Yes.
"Q And was that a day that -- that (redacted) may have walked in on the two of you?
"A Oh, I don't recall.
"Q Do you recall if any of your co-workers walked in that day?
"A I don't recall that.
"Q Is it possible one of your co-workers walked in and saw the two of you in that situation?
"A No, they did not.
"Q All right. So getting back to my original train of thought, so we know that on the surreptitious tape what you said to P.S. Was that while you were in the basement, you saw a flash, and I think it was through your blindfold, correct? You saw a flash through your blindfold, and then at some point later on that day when he came back, there was a discussion as to whether or not -- I think in the transcript you said that he said he erased it. Do you recall that?

"A Yes.

"Q Does that refresh your recollection?

"A Yes.

"Q All right. And then I know we have spoken to (redacted). Are you aware that we spoke with her?

"A Yes.

"Q We had her deposition, right?

"A Yes.

"Q It's fair to say that in looking at the transcript and listening to the tape that at no time did you tell P.S. anything at all about hearing and seeing a flash. That's a correct statement, is it not?

"A If it -- I don't know if it's in there or not. I'm not sure.

"Q You can look at it. I mean, it's -- I have had memorized. I'm telling you it's not in there. If you want to look at it and not accept my recollection, you can, but do you have any reason to believe that you used the words you heard and saw a flash on the 25th?

"A I don't recall exactly what I said, no.

"Q Okay. Would you like to see the transcript?

"A I'm sorry. What?

"Q Of the --

"A Oh, sure.

"Q -- of the words that you used."

And Mr. Steele interjects and Mr. Rosenblum answers.

And then we go to line 23, question by Mr. Rosenblum, "Okay. So I'm going to show you a copy of the transcript which appears to be from the secret recording that P.S. made of you, okay?

"A Okay.

"Q And I'm going to show you the bottom of page 17, and if you can read that to yourself to see if that refreshes your recollection.

"A Thank you.

"Q Does that refresh your recollection?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. And then going forward, and you can look on the top of page 23, and I think that sort of closes the loop where it would indicate that when you came back that afternoon, there was a discussion about the fact that he erased it, if you look at the top of page 23. Does that refresh your recollection?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. So on that occasion, there's absolutely no reference to you saying that you heard and saw a flash. Fair enough?

"A Yes.

"Q There's absolutely no reference of any description of any device whatsoever, whether it was a phone, a camera, the type of camera, an iPhone, anything at all, right?

"A Right.

"Q And to be fair, I mean, you know, if you sort of put your mind back in that circumstance, that probably wouldn't have been something you would have been paying particular attention to, right, at that time?

"A Right, not to --

"Q Right.

"A -- specify.

"Q Yeah, not to specify. You weren't going to start analyzing whether it was a camera or a phone or iPhone or whatever?

"A Because I knew what it was, though. I knew it.

"Q Well, you didn't say what it was there, did you? You didn't say anything about hearing --

"A It was just insinuated, yeah.

"Q Okay. Now you also spoke to (redacted), right?

"A Right.

"Q Early on?

"A Uh-huh.

"Q And we had her interview, and we've taken her deposition. And at least according to her, you never told her anything about hearing any sort of flash. Just again, you reiterated what was there, that you saw a flash through your blindfold, right?

"A If that's what she recalls, yes.

"Q You don't debate that, do you?

"A No, because I don't remember our exact conversation, no.

"Q Okay. So after those events, you know, we went through this whole -- you -- you then go through an entire, such as it is, affair, relationship, with E.G., right?

"A I don't know that I would classify it as that, no.

"Q Well, you've classified it in certain ways before, so fair enough you -- you -- you engaged in a consensual sexual relationship with E.G. over the course of the next several months that -- that included several events. Is that a fair characterization?

"A Yes.

"Q Essentially starting back that very afternoon on the -- on the afternoon of the -- of the 21st, correct?

"A Well, what are you referring to, or how are you referring to that because I did not come back for that purpose at all.

"Q I didn't ask you that. I asked you whether or not when you came back and you stayed 45 minutes whether you were engaged in additional sexual activity.

"A He kept trying to put his hands down my pants and stuff, but no, that was not a consensual sexual activity.

"Q When I asked you in your prior deposition about whether or not there was oral sex on that occasion, you said I don't think so. And then I went further to say can you rule out that possibility, and again, you said I don't think so. Your ex-husband says that you specifically told him on that occasion that there was, in fact, oral sex in the kitchen. Are you denying that you gave E.G. oral sex on the 21st in the kitchen in that -- on that afternoon during that 45 minutes?

"A I do not remember that at all, no.

"Q So the fact that you don't remember it, you're not saying it didn't happen, just to be fair?

"A Well, it didn't happen according to me, no.

"Q Well, it didn't -- are you saying it didn't happen, or you don't remember? Those are two very different things.

"A Not very different because I can't picture it at all. There's no -- you know --

"Q Well, saying I don't remember something like that happening is different than saying I'm telling you for a fact that didn't happen. So which way are you going? Are you going to say even though your husband -- your ex said that you said it happened, are you saying absolutely it did not happen, or I just don't remember it happening, and I can't picture it? Which one are you choosing?

"A I'm saying I don't remember it happening, at all --

"Q Okay.

"A -- and I feel like that's something I would remember.

"Q All right. So then we go forward for the next several months of these encounters, and there would be no reason for you to have any sort of continuing conversation with E.G. about what happened in the basement once you got past it, right, once he apologized, as you said, or explained that he had this fantasy towards you on the afternoon of the 21st. You weren't -- that wasn't a situation where you kept revisiting, right?

"A No. I never -- I wanted to pretend like that didn't happen.

"Q Okay.

"A I did not want to bring it up.

"Q So then, of course, there would be no reason for you to go back and discuss the particulars as to what flash meant to you or any sort of device or anything of that nature?

"A It's a really sore subject. Yeah.

(Off the record.)

(Now John Eggleston is reading the part of Scott Rosenblum and Curtis Trent is reading the part of K.S.)

"Q Okay. Well, and in fact, you never spoke about that to anybody, about the particulars about what happened in the basement with respect to any particular device, whether it was a camera or a phone or a type of phone. You never used the words I heard and saw a flash again to anyone until January 24 of 2018. That's a fact, isn't it?

"A No, that's not a fact. I don't know the exact conversations that I had or how they came or if people --

"Q Well, this is sort of an important subject, okay, and you can understand why, right? Because although we got them late, we certainly got some notes that you had from the -- from the January 24th interview with Mrs. Gardner, okay?

"A Uh-huh.

"Q And I can see what you have documented from (redacted) and on the 25th, and I heard what you've just said, but can you point to me -- point for me any human being that you have said that to, that you hear -- that you heard and saw a flash prior to the 24th of January, 2018, any human being on earth?

"A It's possible. I don't know if anybody asked me that because it was insinuated. They all knew what I meant by that. It wasn't them thinking that I took a 1984 camera or that he took a camera --

"Q Okay.

"A -- and went K.

"Q Well, K.S., that wasn't my question, okay?

"A I think everybody assumed.

"Q I'm not asking -- that wasn't my question either. You have answered two of them now that I haven't asked. Can we try mine? Is that okay?

"A Sure.

"Q Okay. Can you direct me to any human being where you made a statement prior to January 24 of 2018 that you heard and saw a flash in E.G.'s basement on the 21st of 2015, anybody at all?

"A I can ask my friends who I did speak to and just see, but I don't know. Like I said, I don't know exactly how the conversation went.
"Q Well, we've already asked (redacted), and she said it didn't happen, okay?
"A Right.
"Q So who else would you ask?
"A The girls that I was at dinner with.
"Q Those six girls?
"A Yes.
"Q You didn't go into -- you already said you didn't go into much detail with them. That was the night of the election?
"A It wasn't the night of the election.
"Q Well, it was around the election.
"A It was shortly after, yeah.
"Q It was shortly after the election?
"A Yeah.
"Q And as I recall that experience, there was a discussion about E.G. winning, right?
"A That's not how it came up, no.
"Q Well, how did it come up?
"A We were talking about how women who are upset over this Trump getting elected and saying this (expletive)-grabbing comment were ridiculous.

"Q Right --

"A -- and I just burst into tears.

"Q Right. So that affected you, the comment about Trump, right?

"A On a personal level yes.

"Q But you never said anything -- you never said or followed that up with any of those six women, hey, let me tell you about -- let me tell you about my situation. That -- that didn't happen?

"A That did happen. They said why are you crying.

"Q And -- and you think as you sit here now you said at some point in 2016 when Trump -- or after Trump won in 2017 that you gave them particulars about what happened in the basement?

"A I don't know how I worded it, I guess.

"Q Okay. I mean, to be fair, you can't say you ever used the word heard or saw until January 24th of 2018. That's the only time that we actually have that documented. Isn't that a fact?

"A Yeah. That's the only document -- I have no clue how those conversations went.

"Q Okay. And the reason that becomes important is because when you met with Kim Gardner on the 24th, you were alone with your attorney, right?
"A Yes.
"Q Wasn't videotaped, right?
"A No.
"Q And there was -- there was some precatory introduction as to why she was there and what she was interested in, right? I mean, she just wasn't interested -- she just didn't want to meet you as a girlfriend. You knew what she was there for?
"A She wanted to hear what happened, yes.
"Q She wanted to investigate E.G. on a criminal basis, right?
"A Just to see -- she wanted to hear what happened and --
"Q Well, you knew she was a prosecutor, right?
"A Yes.
"Q You knew she was investigating a crime, right?
"A The possibility of it, yes.

"Q And -- and just even from a layman's point of view, you knew that certain -- they're called elements, but you knew that certain facts had to go into a particular crime to make it a crime?

"A I have no clue, no. I don't know what climes are.

"Q And in fact --

"A Yeah.

"Q -- even when this -- back when this happened in 2015, the last thing from your mind was any criminal component, right? You've already said that. You didn't think that E.G. had committed a crime. That was -- you already said that you didn't consider that a criminal --

"A I --

"Q -- issue. I can show you.

"A Given what the -- yes. I -- I would like you to show me that, yeah.

"Q Have you read your deposition?

"A I have not.

"Q Okay.

"A But I remember that line of questioning --

"Q Okay.

"A -- and I knew what I meant by that.
"Q All right. Well, sometimes we just have to go on what your words say, right?
"A Yes. I would like to see my words.
"Q And I'll give you the whole context. On page 54, I guess we were talking about what was going on leading to the disclosure. So you sort of got word or you were notified that something was brewing.
Answer. Correct.
Question. And were you going to get to this at some point, but were -- we were going to get to this at some point, but were you essentially sabotaged at your new salon?
Answer. Right.
Question. Ambushed.
Right.
Obviously disturbing for you, correct?
Answer. Yes.
Question. Because in your mind, this is history that you had preferred to forget.
Answer. Yes.
Question. I -- I would assume, and you correct me if I'm wrong, that the last thing on your mind at that point would have been potential criminal prosecution. Your mind wasn't going there, was it?

Answer. No.

"A Okay. So in your mind, what you were thinking was -- or how you posed that question was did Eric do anything wrong. When I left there, I had never been more upset in my whole entire life. No. I knew what he did was wrong. I just wasn't thinking oh, I've got to rush to the police station. I was like let me ball up in a -- in a -- or get up in a little ball and cry all night. No. I was upset. I knew what he did was wrong.

"Q Well, I just listened to your words, okay, and what your words said --

"A But I didn't realize your question was insinuating that I was saying that he didn't do anything wrong.

"Q Well, my question was because in your mind, this is history you had preferred to forget?

"A Yes.

"Q And I would assume, and you correct me -- I gave you an opportunity to correct me, didn't I?

"A Yes.

"Q And in fact, before the deposition started, I made sure that if you didn't understand any of my questions, you told me, right?

"A I understood it how I perceived it. I perceived it as you saying, K., when you left there, were you thinking of running to the police station, and that's how I answered it, so I'm just clarifying now.

"Q At least your words on that occasion when I asked the last thing on your mind at that point would have been potential criminal production. Your mind wasn't going there, was it, and your answer was no. I mean, that was the question, and that was -- those were your words, right? Am I reading it correctly?

"A Right. You're reading it correctly, but that --

"Q And --

"A -- wasn't at all what I meant by that. I'm also not a vindictive person who would want to come up with something that somebody did horrible to me. That's --

"Q I'm just -- I'm asking if that was my question, and those were your words at the time, right?

"A Right.
"Q And you didn't give me any further explanation at the time, did you?
"A All right.
"Q Did you give me any further explanation?
"A I assumed you meant what I felt, that's all, so I assumed incorrectly.
"Q You didn't get any clarity of understanding at the time. Fair enough?
"A I didn't feel I needed it, no.
"Q And certainly at the beginning of the deposition, I told you that if there was any misunderstanding, to correct me, right?
"A Right.
"Q Okay. So anyway, we're now at January 24, right, and you're in this room with Kim Gardner, right?
"A Right.
"Q And she's taking notes, correct?
"A Yes.
"Q And you remember that, right?
"A Yes, because there wasn't a video camera. I just know she asked me if that was okay if she took notes that day.

"Q And she was asking you to recall events at that point that were almost three years old, right?
"A Yes.
"Q And she raised the subject of a device, isn't that fair, of a particular device?
"A Yeah. I don't remember specifically.
"Q Well, it would make since because you never raised it before, right?
"A Right.
"Q You had never brought -- you had never talked about it before, right?
"A Correct. It was always just assumed.
"Q Right. Well, I know you're saying it was assumed, but a lot of things are assumed, right? It was never talked about prior to this meeting with Kim Gardner, right?
"A I don't recall any specific conversations, yeah.
"Q We've established that. And it was also -- and it's also a fact the first person in that meeting to raise the issue of a particular device was Kim Gardner?
"A I don't recall specifically.
"Q Well, you can't say that it didn't happen, can you?

"A I don't -- I don't really -- I really don't recall.

"Q Well, the way it was raised is she asked you if you had an iPhone, right?

"A I really don't remember.

"Q Do you recall a discussion about an iPhone on that -- in that meeting?

"A I remember -- I don't know if it -- if it was even that meeting, but I know at some point we discussed the fact that I knew he had an iPhone because I had an iPhone, too, and we had FaceTimed.

"Q Well, that was actually potentially with Kim Gardner on the 24th, and you also spoke about it with Tisaby on the 29th. We know that now because we got some of the videotape, and you said specifically that you had FaceTimed, and I think when you initially told Miss Gardner, you said there was a missed FaceTime call.

"A Yes. There was also that, too.

"Q But you didn't tell Miss Gardner what you said in the deposition, that there was actually FaceTime in between the two of you when you were in Arizona in a nude or semi-nude state. That's fair, too?

"A I said I did not recall that.
"Q Well, that's not what I said. You clarified it and said it was semi-nude. Do you want me to read it to you?
"A Yes.
"Q I can.
"A Yes, please.
"Q I mean, you do recall a discussion about FaceTiming him in a robe, right?
"A Yes.
"Q Okay. And that did happen, right?
"A Yes.
"Q I mean, regardless of whether it was in a robe or semi-nude, that discussion was never had with Miss Gardner on the 24th or the 29th, was it?
"A We discussed the times that I actually saw him, yes, but -- "Q I'm talking about the FaceTime.
"A Right. That wasn't --
"Q That wasn't discussed?
"A Huh?
"Q That wasn't discussed.
"A Right.

"Q My question on the bottom of page 29. Well, you -- you seem as were having this conversation that you're recalling more and more. Do you see how that's going?

Answer. Well, no. I just answered your specific question about was I naked.

Question. Did you expose yourself by opening the robe so that he would see you in any state of nudity or partial nudity at that time in Arizona?

Your answer at that time under oath. I would say partial nudity, yes.

That was your answer under oath, right?

"A Correct.

"Q Okay.

"A Can you go back to before that part?

"Q Well, where would you like me to go back to?

"A So before you just read, like, what was the context even leading up to that because I still don't even remember for sure was I -- to me, I read that as I don't know if I had my underwear and bra on underneath because that's what I -- I was getting ready. That's all I was doing.

"Q Do you know what the word partial nudity means?
"A Does that mean -- I guess that's my question.
"Q But I have a question for you.
"A Sure.
"Q Before we started this deposition, I asked you if you had read your deposition.
"A Right.
"Q Had you?
"A No, I haven't.
"Q So you were just referring to something that you had read in the deposition.
"A Yeah. Not that I had read it. You just read it to me.
"Q Well, if you hadn't read it, have you looked at the videotape of it?
"A No, I haven't.
"Q Has somebody read it to you?
"A No, I don't know. What was my question? I can't remember.
Q Mr. Steele interjects, "I think you asked him to go back in the deposition and put what he asked you into context by referring --"
Rosenblum says, "I'll go back."

Steele says, "-- if you can." And then she answers.

"A Oh, I know. I'm sorry. I know what I was referring to. I read something that had been put into the news that I sent him a semi-nude pictures of myself which I 100 percent disagree with, A, and B, wondered where the heck did that come from because from what I recall, like I said, I was getting ready. I had my underwear and bra on. Is that what you call partial nudity?"

Q Rosenblum question, "Well, you weren't sure about whether you had a bra or underwear on at the time?

"A Yeah, I believe I did, though. That's the thing. So that upset me because A, I did not send any pictures, and B --

"Q Well, we're not talking about pictures. We're talking about FaceTiming, right?

"A Right, but it was worded by someone in -- on his team that I sent him semi-nude pictures of myself. It was very definitive.

"Q Ma'am, I'm just asking about the FaceTiming question in the deposition that you answered under oath previously, okay?

"A And I was answering your question as to what I read --

"Q Okay.

"A -- because I haven't -- I haven't read my deposition.

"Q Let's talk about what you said in the deposition. How about that?

"A Sure.

"Q All right. Do you want me to go back or -- or in context, or do you want me to read it again?"

Mr. Steele interjects, "I think she's going to give you the context. It was not the deposition."

Rosenblum then questions, "And I'll read that line again.

"A Not that line. I'm sorry. Previous to that. I remember a back-and-forth with you about whether or not I was nude, and I said I believed that I had my underwear and bra on because I was getting ready.

"Q Well, the back-and-forth was initially you didn't remember anything, okay? That was back-and-forth. And then I ultimately said well, you seem as we're having this conversation that you're recalling more and more. Do you see how that's going?

Answer. Well, no. I just answered your specific question about was I naked.

Question. Did you expose yourself by opening the robe so that he would see you in any state of nudity or partial nudity at that time in Arizona?

"Your answer. I would say partial nudity.

Okay. That was your answer.

"A Okay.

"Q And in Arizona when you exposed yourself in a state of partial nudity, describe it in detail if you would as to what it means.

I mean, I was alone in a hotel room.

Again, that's not my question. Okay. I am asking you to describe how you exposed yourself at the time in that hotel room.

As I recall, we were FaceTiming. He asked -- because I was getting ready. He asked if he could see me.

And you complied?

Answer. To some extent from what I remember. To some extent, but no. I wasn't sitting there just naked.

So you opened your robe. Fair enough?

Answer. Fair enough.

Does that recall -- refresh your recollection?

"A Yes, but like I said, I -- I believe I had my underwear and bra on underneath, so is -- is that what you call partial nudity.

"Q I'm just repeating what your answer were, okay?

"A But I am asking you.

"Q I'm not being deposed. You are. You're the one that answers the questions under oath. Those are the questions that we have. Those are the answers that we --"

And Mr. Steele interjects, "Do you have a question? If you could pose a question, she could answer."

So Rosenblum says, "All right. So getting back to the discussion on the 24th, we've established that you met with Kim Gardner alone, and you can't come up with any other time previous that you used the words hear and see a flash. We have established that, yes?

"A We have established that I -- I absolutely could have said that, but I don't know how it came up in conversation. I'm not sure.

"Q You could have said a lot of things, but you can't show me any specifics. Fair enough?

"A That's the first time that it was written down.

"Q That's the first time. In fact, you could have had a dream about it potentially?

"A Zero percent.

"Q Okay.

"A And that is very unfair to say that. You know what that comment meant.

"Q No. I don't know what any comment -- I'm just accepting your words.

"A And I would like to clarify that comment.

"Q I'm not there yet. Mr. Steele can clarify anything he wants when I'm finished with my deposition, okay?"

Mr. Steele interjects again, "If you have a question, you can pose it."

So Mr. Rosenblum says, "Now, in addition to this meeting by Kim Gardner -- with Kim Gardner, it was the first time that there was any discussion of a particular device, an iPhone.

We've already said you may have discussed a missing FaceTime, and that's why you believe he had an iPhone, but it was the first time with any human being you discussed an iPhone. That's a fact.

"A No, it's not a fact because I don't remember.

"Q Then point me -- then point me to any other human being that you discussed an iPhone with prior to January 24th.

"A Just because I don't have proof of it -- my friends don't write down our conversations.

"Q Well, one way to have proof is to say, hey, I told" -- is this an example of somebody?

MR. TRENT: I don't think this is a real person, right?

MR. RAZER: It's just a phrase. Comes from a song.

"Q Well, one way we have proof is to say, hey, I told Jenny on the block, go talk to her, and then we can go talk to Jenny on the block, and she says yeah. That's right. K.S. told me that. That's one way. That's called corroboration, okay?"

Mr. Steele interjects, "I'm going to object at this point. If you have a question, ask a question."

Rosenblum says, "Well, I'm responding to the witness."

Steele still has problems, okay.

Then Rosenblum says, "Point me -- point me somewhere K.S. Point me anywhere. Point me to any human being where you had a previous discussion before the 24th where you spoke with Kim Gardner about --

"A I'll have to ask and see what I told -- like I said, I don't remember anybody specifically saying --

"Q So as you --

"A You know what I mean? I don't -- I don't know our specific conversations.

"Q I just want to clarify.

"A Sure.

"Q As you sit here now under oath, you can't point me to any human being where you had a discussion about, quote unquote, I saw and heard a flash in the basement on the 24th or 21st. You can't point me to any human being where you said that as you sit here now?

"A I will have to ask. I don't know.

"Q I am not asking about if you can -- whether you can ask, okay? I'm asking about before you ask anybody. I want the information before you have to sit -- before you have to ask anybody. I'm specifically asking as you sit here now under oath, can you point me in any direction where we can talk to someone where you have made that statement before talking to Kim Gardner on the 24th?"

Mr. Steele objects.

And then Rosenblum comes back, "So here's the deal. I'm not deposing him, and I don't really care about his objections to the form because -- because the judge has already said that they carry throughout this deposition. I do care to the extent that he's trying to suggest an answer to you. That's what I care about, okay? So I'm trying to depose you, and I'm trying to depose your recollection, okay? So do you understand that?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. I'll ask it again. As you sit here now without anybody asking, can you point me to one human being where you have said I saw and heard a flash before the 24th of January 2018, yes or no?

"A I don't remember exactly what I have said to them. I know what happened. I don't remember exactly what I -- how I worded it.

"Q Was there something about that question you didn't understand?

"A It didn't -- I can't give you a yes or no answer.

"Q Why not?

"A Because I don't know everything that I've said my whole life, you know --

"Q Okay. Well --

"A -- or how I worded it.

"Q I understand that.

"A Yeah.

"Q I take that as a premise, but you can tell me whether you think there's somebody that exists out there that may have that information."

Mr. Steele jumps in, "And the question has been asked and answered. She doesn't know."

And Rosenblum says, "He just told you you don't know. I am asking you."

Mr. Steele says, "You can answer."

"A I -- I continue to say it. I can't tell you specifically.

Q Rosenblum says, "So the -- so the answer to that question is you can't -- as you sit here now, you cannot direct me to one human being that would say yes, K. told me that. Is that a correct statement? As you sit here right now.

"A I could because who knows.

"Q Well, then do it.

"A Maybe -- maybe my friend (redacted) would say this is what she said.

Q Mr. Steele says, "I'm going object. Wait. Wait. Wait. Wait.

I'm going to object. This is getting argumentative. If you have a -- a question, ask a civil question."

Rosenblum says, "So should I go see (redacted) to see if you said that?

"A Like I said, I don't know specifically the wording that I used. I know that any person who I spoke to knew that he used a phone. Any person. It's -- again, if I told you the story and you were my friend, you would not say well, tell me specifically what did he use. So again, I don't know exactly how our conversation went.

"Q So here's my problem. You said something specific on the 24th, okay? You said I saw and heard a flash, okay? You didn't say anything about a phone at the time. You said I saw and heard a flash. That's something specific on the 24th to Kim Gardner, all right?

"A Okay.

"Q I'm simply asking -- I'm not going to let it go until I get an answer.

"A I don't know how to answer it the way you want it, though. I'm sorry.

"Q How about the truth?"

Mr. Steele, "Answer truthfully. If you don't recall, you don't recall.

Mr. Rosenblum says, "How about the truth?

"A I don't -- I don't remember specifically how I had any conversation. All I know is this is a really difficult subject.

"Q As we sit here, can you lead me -- let me ask you this. For instance, if you made the statement, hey, you know what? The night of the 21st, I spent the night with (redacted), right?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. That -- that's something that you recall. Right?

"A Yes.

"Q That's something that you believe hand, right?

"A Yes.

"Q So it wouldn't have been very difficult for us to go talk to (redacted) and say, hey, you know what? K.S. said she spent the night with you on the 21st. Did that happen? Do you see how this works? That's called corroboration."

Mr. Steele objects, "I'm going to object. Do you have a question? Ask the question."

Rosenblum says, "But do you understand -- do you understand the concept?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. So now relating it to who you may have said I saw and heard a flash to, can you relate it -- now that I have given you that example, can you relate that and suggest anybody I can go talk to that you may have said that to? If you can't --

"A Right.

"Q If you don't remember, just say I don't remember. Maybe you can, maybe you can't, but as I sit here now, I can't give you a name. Is that fair?

"A Right. I can't give you a specific name because I absolutely could have, but I don't remember all of my conversations.

MR. EGGLESTON: I'm ready to pass.

(Now questions by Curtis Trent and answers by Greg Razer.)

"Q And just like you could have, you absolutely could not have as well, right? Both things are possible?

"A I don't recall.

"Q Okay. You don't recall. So it then becomes logical that you may have never said that until the meeting with Kim Gardner on the 24th. True enough?

"A Again, it's the same answer. I don't -- I don't know what to tell you.

"Q You can't say that it didn't occur, that that was the first time you said it?

"A Yeah. I don't remember --

"Q Okay.

"A -- exactly how my conversations went.

"Q And that would be true with respect to the discussion of any devices, any particular devices, for instance, an iPhone. That's also true that that subject was never raised until the 24th?

"A But I don't even believe it was raised that day, though, the iPhone thing.

"Q Well, you had a specific discussion with her about the fact that you guys FaceTimed.

"A I don't even think it was that day unless it's in her notes.

Q Then Mr. Steele interjects, "Maybe if could you show her notes --"

A "Yeah, I don't remember that."

Q Then Mr. Steele interjects again, "-- maybe it would refresh her recollection that they spoke about an iPhone on that specific instance."

And then Mr. Rosenblum continues, "Well, I can put it this way. You were questioned about an iPhone in front of the Grand Jury, right?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. So there was a discussion that you had with Gardner before you testified before the Grand Jury about an iPhone?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. When did that happen? It either had to happen on the 24th --

"A Right. I don't remember.

"Q -- or the 29th, right?

"A I really don't remember.

Q Mr. Steele interjects, "Would seeing your -- the notes from that -- that interview, would that refresh your recollection --"

A "Yes."

Q Mr. Steele continues, "-- as to whether you all discussed an iPhone on the 24th?"

And then Mr. Rosenblum says, "Well, we don't have all the text on the 29th, unfortunately, because there was a ten-minute gap. We only have what has been --"

MR. BARNES: Well, guys, they really have a debate here. It goes over to page 82, line 10.

MR. TRENT: Okay, I didn't realize it went that far. We'll skip over all that discussion and go back to the next question by Mr. Rosenblum.

"Q Was there only one meeting where your attorney and K. -- and Kim were present?

"A I don't remember. I mean, at that -- on the 24th or whatever, yes.

"Q So these notes would indicate that K.S. was there and that your attorney was present and not Tisaby?"

Mr. Steele interjects again, for a few paragraphs, and then --

MR. BARNES: She says "About the iPhone"? Seems like a question.
MR. RAZER: Yeah. About the iPhone.
MR. BARNES: And then she comes back with "I don't see anything. I don't remember that being the case that first day."
Then they have more debate -- where are we?
MR. TRENT: Mr. Rosenblum. Mr. Simpson. Looks like --
MR. BARNES: 84, line 2, I think.
MR. TRENT: Okay.
"Q So looking on the page 2, this is a subject matter -- one of the subject matters I was talking about. Do you see where it says in the middle that all of a sudden, I see lights, flash, and hear a picture sound?
"A Yes."
MR. TRENT: I'm sorry, I left out a part.
"Q Do you see that?
"A Yes.
"Q Okay. Now, I think we have established that as far as we can tell, this is the first time you mentioned that particular phraseology.

"A Well, I don't even know if that was my phrase -- I don't know -- I don't know how I said it. Again, I don't remember exactly every conversation.

"Q Okay.

"A Me speaking to her could sound exactly like me speaking to another friend.

"Q I'm just saying what is based on the notes. Does that refresh your recollection as to what you said to her?

"A Yes. Some things.

"Q And again, we know that in front of the Grand Jury, you had a somewhat -- you had a discussion about an iPhone. Do you remember that?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. And a particular discussion about how -- how an iPhone works and that it has a unique sound and all of those types of issues, right?

"A Yes.

"Q Well, I mean, obviously you discussed that with Kim Gardner before she threw you up in front of the Grand Jury, right?

"A Correct. That's what I was saying, yeah.

"Q Those questions weren't a surprise to you, right?

"A Not particularly.

"Q No, because you knew -- you anticipated what you were going to be asked in front of the Grand Jury?

"A Yes. That it had to do with him using the phone.

"Q And my question now is we -- we have the actual videotape of the -- well, we have a portion of the videotape of the Tisaby interview. We have Gardner's notes on the 24th. So when can you tell me you had this discussion with Kim Gardner specifically about an iPhone and that you're familiar with the sound and how it works and all those things that you testified to in front of the Grand Jury?

"A I don't remember that specific conversation or, you know, when it happened. I don't know.

"Q Well, we can -- is it fair to assume that it happened sometime between the 29th and your Grand Jury testimony which would have been on the 15th?

"A Yes.
"Q Okay.
"A I would assume so.
"Q And would it be -- do you know how many conversations you had with Miss Gardner before those two periods of time?
"A No, I don't recall.
"Q More than one?
"A Yes. I believe so.
"Q So between the 29th and the 15th, do you think you had more than two conversations with Miss Gardner?
"A I don't recall specifically, no.
"Q But at least two. More than one would imply at least two.
"A Right. At least two.
"Q And these conversations between the 29th and the 15th when you actually spoke about -- spoke to the Grand Jury and, in fact, discussed what appears for the first time had a conversation about the iPhone, how long were those conversations that you had with Miss Gardner?
"A I don't recall.
"Q Were they a half hour or so, an hour?
"A I don't recall. I don't know specifically.

"Q I mean, did they go along the same basis as similar -- did they follow suit along the same lines as on the 24th?

"A I really don't recall. I don't know.

"Q You can't estimate how long?"

Mr. Steele interjects, "Objection; asked and answered. She does not recall."

Mr. Rosenblum continues, "Was it more than a half hour?

"A I -- I don't recall --

"Q Okay.

"A -- specifics.

"Q But you do recall just like always, she was writing notes, right?

"A I don't even recall that, that was every single time. I'm not sure.

"Q You can't tell me whether these two meetings before the Grand Jury that you sat with Kim Gardner who -- whether -- whether or not she was writing notes?

"A Right. I'm not sure. I don't know.

"Q Can you say she wasn't?

"A No. I have no clue.

"Q Okay.

"A Yeah.
"Q And can you tell me in these meetings, at least two that you had between the 29th and your Grand Jury testimony on the 15th where the subject of the iPhone came up now for the first time who else was in those meetings? Can you tell me that?
"A I remember my attorney and Robert Steele being in there the -- the one time that I can think of that it was brought up because I remember thinking, yeah, well, I know for sure he -- he has an iPhone, so I just remember that being part of the conversation at some point.
"Q And it was brought up by Miss Gardner. You had no reason --
"A I don't remember -- yeah. I don't remember the specific conversation. I just -- I do remember that.
"Q You never had a reason to bring it up, right?
"A Well, I don't --
"Q It wouldn't make sense.
"A I mean, I don't remember.
"Q You were just there to tell your story, right?

"A Yeah. I don't remember how it came up.
"Q So was it in the -- can you tell me whether it was the first meeting between the 29th and the 15th or the second that you had with Gardner and Mr. Steele?
"A I have no clue. I really and truly don't remember.
"Q You just know that was the first time that it appears Miss Gardner interjected this issue of an iPhone in the conversation, yes?"
MR. RAZER: Mr. Steele objects and then witness one says "No. Yeah.
"Q No? Well, explain.
"A Because I don't remember her -- she never said anything, like, asking me specifically did he have an iPhone or anything.
"Q Well, tell me how you recall the conversation went.
"A I just remember saying I knew -- I said I knew he had an iPhone, so maybe --
"Q You just blurted it out?
"A I don't want to speculate. Right. I don't want to speculate because I'm not sure how the conversation went.

"Q So you can't rule out the fact that she asked you whether or not he had an iPhone, right?
"A I don't remember that -- or I don't remember her saying that ever --
"Q Again, you can't rule it out?
"A -- K., did he have a -- an iPhone.
MR. TRENT: Mr. Steele, "Objection; asked and answered."
Mr. Rosenblum, "Again, you can't rule it out, correct?"
Mr. Steele, "Objection; asked and answered."
Mr. Rosenblum, "He can object all day. Again, you can't rule it out, correct?"
Mr. Steele, "And you answered. She already told you."
Mr. Rosenblum, "Yes? You cannot rule it out?
"A I do not believe that's how the conversation went, no.
"Q But you can't tell me how it went, though?
"A I don't remember it specifically other than me stating that.

"Q But we've established that in the Grand Jury, not only did you discuss an iPhone, but she specifically asked you questions about your knowledge of how it worked. Do you recall that, and your familiarity with sound and all that, right?

"A I don't recall it specifically, but I remember the iPhone came up, yes.

"Q And that would have been a conversation you had with her before you ever took the stand in the Grand Jury, all of those issues, right?

"A What do you mean by all of those issues?

"Q Those issues particular to the iPhone discussion. You would have had that discussion with Gardner before you took the stand in the Grand Jury, yes? You have already answered.

"A Right.

"Q Okay. You don't have to overthink it.

"A I just don't remember exactly how the conversation went, so I don't want to say because I'm not sure.

"Q I'm not asking word for word. I'm asking generally the conversation."

Mr. Steele interjects, "Do you have a question?"

Mr. Rosenblum, "I am asking generally whether that conversation was had before you testified before the Grand Jury, and the answer is yes, right?

"A Yes.

"Q And that would have been a question that you had with Kim Gardner -- a conversation and that subject that you had with Kim Gardner that you had not had with anybody else that you can point me to specifically about the iPhone?

"A Right. I had a general -- I had general conversations with friends --

"Q Okay.

"A -- who I had spoken to that -- about that subject matter.

"Q Just out of curiosity, do you recall a conversation in front of the Grand Jury that Kim Gardner asked you about whether or not the two of you had had affairs prior to E.G.?

"A I don't remember that specific question.

"Q Miss Gardner asked you and at this point, it was just a relationship where it was no issues in terms of any affairs?

Yes. Zero affairs. No.

Do you remember that answer?

"A Yes.

"Q So was that answer specific to you or specific to both of you -- both you and P.S., that neither one of you had affairs in your relationship?

"A I don't -- I'm not sure how -- I'm not sure how she worded it or what that meant.

"Q Well, she was talking about --

"A Was it both of us?

"Q -- P.S., and I think she said -- the set-up was question. Was he controlling?

Your answer. Yes. Extremely controlling. He -- so he had our phones that -- I found out later that he had our phones set up like he was my dad on the plan. I couldn't see anything that he was doing, but he --"

Mr. Steele interjects, "I'm going to object. If you have a question, ask a question."

And they discuss for looks like an extended period of time until --

MR. RAZER: 95, line 1?

MR. TRENT: There's a little more before that. Yeah, I suppose 95 line 1.

MR. BARNES: Maybe 94, 17.

MR. TRENT: Okay. Mr. Rosenblum begins again. "Question. At that point it was just a relationship where it was no issues in terms of any affair.

Your answer, yes. Zero fear -- affairs. No.

Question. And it was just like -- and it was just kind of like a very controlling, kind of insecure relationship between you and him; is that right?

Answer. Yes.

Does that give you the context?

"A Yes.

"Q Okay. And when you answered the question, were you saying zero affairs with respect to you or P.S. or both?

"A I don't remember exactly what was in my mind. I don't -- I don't know.

"Q Well, see, I don't know what was in your mind.

"A Right.

"Q I can just see your words.

"A I'm sorry. I guess I'm just -- I'm confused. I don't know.
"Q Well, you answered the question saying there were zero affairs to the Grand Jury. Were you saying that with -- just with respect to you or with respect to P.S. or both of you?
"A I don't know. I would assume both of us by that context.
"Q Okay.
"A Right.
"Q Was that true, that there had been zero affairs?
"A Well, the only other -- or the only other thing I knew about was that my ex-husband kissed somebody, he told me, one time, so --
"Q That he kissed somebody. That was what the (redacted) girl in Vegas or something?
"A That's whenever I got back from Vegas. He was -- again, he was thinking that if I -- if he told me what he did, then I would confess to something that I didn't do, so -- but that's the only thing that I was aware of.
"Q In the Grand -- in the transcript of the videotape that we received, there was a section where Tisaby was asking you some questions, and we're going to get into this. We won't have time today. Hopefully, I won't take more than another couple hours.

He said you should have thought about -- Mr. Tisaby said and that's all that he would tell you, that you ruined the family.

K.S. You should have thought about that before you were a home wrecker, and you went into another woman's home and you did what you did, K., because in his mind, him being with other women, then you paused, and you said even before I was with E., he was with two of the women.

"A Oh, okay. So when I went into E.'s home that day, to -- to my knowledge, my ex-husband had not done anything with anyone else other than that -- what he claimed was, like, some sort of small kiss or whatever years before that. Later, when we were back together, and that's what the -- came up in the House transcript, too. When we were back together, he kept badgering me to tell him every detail. Did you do this, did he -- that's how the violence -- did he touch you, did -- did this happen, did this happen, and of course, it kept coming up did you have intercourse with him, and each time would I say no, I did not have intercourse with him. So he said well, I need to be honest with you, and then you need to be honest with me. I slept with five women during our separation.

"Q But then you specifically said two of the women --

"A Uh-huh.

"Q -- were before E.

"A So then I said to him how is it -- how is that is possible thinking that yes, our separation started at the very beginning of March. He didn't know about -- he didn't know about E. which would justify it, in his mind, until the end of March which would leave then -- we were separated April, May, June. We got back together, you know, beginning of July, middle of July. So I said, how have you even had time? That's only three months, and he said it's been four months, and I knew he was including that first one, so I said how many people before (redacted) did you sleep with, and he said two. That's how that came up.

"Q Before (redacted). So before March 20?

"A Correct.

"Q So in fact, he told you that he had had extramarital relationships before you were with E., correct?

"A Right. But when I spoke in the Grand Jury, I was meaning when I went there that day, in my mind, there had not been any affairs. I didn't learn about that until after we were back together, if that makes sense.

"Q But you had the information before you testified in front of the Grand Jury that he had been unfaithful?

"A Right.

"Q Which means when you said that both of you had zero affairs to the Grand Jury would not have been accurate?

"A Well, I meant that -- when I was going into his home, that was the case in my mind, if that makes sense.

"Q And -- but I'm not asking you what you meant. I am asking you what you said to the Grand Jury under oath. Do you see the distinction?

"A Right, but I wasn't misleading at all. Again, when I went into his home, that is -- that was the case. It wasn't --

"Q Ma'am --

"A I wasn't trying to get back at him. I had no clue about those women.

"Q I am just asking you -- just asking. When you said to the Grand Jury that the two of you had had zero affairs, that was not an accurate statement based on what you're telling me now because prior to the time you were with E., before (redacted) March 20, he had had two extramarital relations. That's what you just told me.

"A Again, I will say --

"Q Is that accurate?

"A -- how that was -- I know. How I took that question, though, meant when I went into his home that day or up to that point. Up until that point. Does that make sense? It wasn't --

"Q You know what makes sense to me?

"A I don't know. Yeah. I'm sorry.

"Q There's a distinction between the words come out of your mouth and after the words come out how you want to say you took the question. Right now I am just asking about the words, okay? You understand the words, don't you? Yes?

"A Yes, I understand the words.

"Q And when you said to the Grand Jury that the two of you had had zero affairs, factually, that was not correct. Regardless of how you took the question, factually, that was not correct?

"A Right, but in my mind at that time, I -- I knew of zero affairs.

"Q Well, in your mind at that time --

"A Right.

"Q -- you had already testified to Tisaby that he had two affairs on the 29th. That's before you testified before the Grand Jury.

"A No. I am saying when I went into his home. I just -- I didn't know of any prior to that. Does that make sense?"

MR. TRENT: Mr. Steele says "Yes."

And then Mr. Rosenblum, "To use the words --

"A Yeah.

"Q -- that you used before the Grand Jury, that makes zero sense because all I can go on are the words that come out of your mouth, the words you said under oath, and whether or not they were factually correct or not, and in this circumstance, they were factually incorrect. That's a true statement, is it not, ma'am?

"A Well, again, she was leading up to that day. You know what I mean? Well, that's how I took it. I don't know -- I don't know what else to tell you. I would have said it otherwise.

MR. TRENT: Then Mr. Rosenblum says, "It's 4:00, and I've got a ways to go." And then there's a discussion.

MR. BARNES: I think Mr. Simpson makes a statement that's in -- not quite redacted, I think, Representative Mitten, you left it like this to see if we thought this should be redacted?

MS. MITTEN: The highlighting, yes.

MR. BARNES: I think this is fine. So I'll just read what Mr. Simpson says.

"I need to -- I want to clarify what happened at the very beginning of this deposition with regards to the payment of my services." And this is Scott Simpson representing witness one.

"The value of my services, as she said, she did -- she has paid that in value, but it has not been cash to me, just in all candor to everybody. She has paid a year's membership to the gym we belong to, a couple of gift cards, and a couple of nice bottles of alcohol. That is the extent of my payment. That roughly $2,000 she testified to is accurate, but I don't want anybody coming back later and trying to say we withheld something from you."

Mr. Rosenblum says -- go ahead, Curtis.

MR. TRENT: "More importantly, what kind of booze?"

MR. BARNES: Mr. Simpson says, "I'm a whiskey man."

MR. TRENT: Mr. Rosenblum says "So am I."

MR. BARNES: And Simpson says, "Well, and there was a bottle of vodka, but I don't like vodka, so --"

MR. TRENT: And then Mr. Rosenblum notes, "That's great."

MR. BARNES: So they have a discussion and it doesn't seem as if -- they're just discussing scheduling here. So we have completed the record.

I think that we can be finished for the day. For the committee's knowledge, if you can't tell, I think the vice chairman is exhausted. I know that myself, as the chairman, I am exhausted. The Highway Patrol officers have not been here yet. I want to discuss briefly with this committee, I kind of thought about this.

I don't think there's anything we can add that's not already in the transcripts of the hearings and the report that we did and particularly for the new members, obviously, you know, you guys didn't have firsthand recollection of those interviews. So my plan is to provide them with all of the documents that we have and I don't know what else -- what else there is.

Does anyone else have any other thoughts? Okay.

We have a box of the 32,000 documents were culled down to -- 12 boxes were culled down to one and people can go through them if they so choose. I would ask that everybody do that. We have a weekend to do that. My mind is really muddled right now because I am tired.

10 a.m. we have the witness who is the forensic examiner. There is a three-page report that we were provided by the Circuit Attorney's Office. I think that's it. I'd like to come in at 9:00. Do we have any objection to that? Tomorrow morning? And if we don't, if we need a break until 10:00, that's fine. I don't have anything in my head right now except the fact that we're going to break and I am going to go lay down and take a nap and I am going to be back up and preparing for the witness tomorrow.

So if there's nothing else for today -- closed session audio?

MS. MITTEN: That you asked me?

MR. BARNES: I'm sorry, I don't understand. Oh, yes, that's why I wanted to come in early. Okay. We received additional, two additional tapes from Mr. Watkins pursuant to a subpoena that I think he mentioned earlier today, their conversations between witness one and witness three, previously deemed them not relevant.

I think they're relevant to show the nature of the relationship between the two of them. Between witness one and her ex-husband, and I want to do it in a closed meeting because there's -- there are things in there regarding children that I don't think need to be heard in public. And so if there's no objection, the first thing we'll do tomorrow is vote to go into a closed hearing at 9 a.m.

Or can we do that now? So they don't come in and we don't waste time with that. Okay. I vote that we go into closed session at 9 a.m.

tomorrow for purposes of hearing these two tapes, general description of which was just given. All those in favor vote aye.

(Committee members say "aye.")

MR. BARNES: No, we've got to do a roll call. Mr. Secretary, please call the roll.

MR. CURCHIN: Representative Barnes?

MR. BARNES: Aye.

MR. CURCHIN: Mr. Phillips?

MR. PHILLIPS: Aye.

MR. CURCHIN: Mr. Austin?

MR. AUSTIN: Aye.

MR. CURCHIN: Mr. Eggleston?

MR. EGGLESTON: Aye.

MR. CURCHIN: Ms. Lauer?

MS. LAUER: Aye.

MR. CURCHIN: Ms. Mitten?

MS. MITTEN: Aye.

MR. CURCHIN: Mr. Pierson?

(No audible response.)

MR. CURCHIN: Mr. Razer?

MR. RAZER: Aye.

MR. CURCHIN: Mr. Rhoads?

MR. RHOADS: Aye.

MR. CURCHIN: Mr. Trent?

MR. TRENT: Aye.
MR. BARNES: We will begin the hearing tomorrow as a closed hearing for purposes of listening to those tapes and then we will open it for the testimony.
Any other business before the committee at this immediate time?
MR. AUSTIN: I do have a question. The forensics guy is to, what, by phone, is that's talking about?
MR. BARNES: I believe so, yes. Okay. And we'll try to get that -- I think that's three pages. We'll try to get it distributed to everyone via e-mail. No watch your e-mail. No Saturday.
MR. EGGLESTON: The Highway Patrol people that are coming later today --
MR. BARNES: I'm trying to figure out -- I mean, we've got a plan. I'm going to go talk to the chief clerk, that if they show up, go ahead and provide them with everything that we have.
MR. EGGLESTON: Are we free to go?
MR. BARNES: Yes. You guys are -- particularly the three new members, free to go.
There is no more business to be done of the committee today. We're now -- we have now completed -- I believe there are only three depositions, only three, we've completed the third of three depositions of witness one.

Seeing no further business, we're done.

(The hearing adjourned at 2:31 p.m., with the time and location of the continuation agreed upon by all parties.)

CERTIFICATE OF REPORTER

I, TARA SCHWAKE, a Certified Registered Professional Reporter and Notary Public within and for the State of Missouri, do hereby certify that I appeared at the time and place first hereinbefore set forth, that I took down in shorthand the entire proceedings had at said time and place, and that the foregoing constitutes a true, correct, and complete transcript of my said shorthand notes.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: We are back down the hallway. This is the 88th day of this Committee's existence. It is the 88th day that Mr. Greitens has refused -- are you ready? I'm sorry.

It's the 88th day of this Committee's existence. It is the 88th day that Mr. Greitens has not shown up after the -- starting with the first day, we had assurances from counsel that he would cooperate with this process.

A couple announcements before we get to our witness today. Highway patrol did come to the capital yesterday, they collected documents. This weekend we want to finish review of campaign documents, and then the other things we'll talk about afterwards because the witness was kind enough to show up without a subpoena, so take as least time as possible. So let's start with -- I'm going to hand out a report, hand around a report.

Can I have another extra copy, please?

Are we on 51?

Can you mark this as 51?

(Koberna Exhibit Number 51 was marked for identification by the reporter.)

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Can you raise your right hand?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

DETECTIVE BRIAN KOBERNA, being first duly sworn, testified under oath as follows:

EXAMINATION

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Thank you.

Can you state your name?

A. My name is Brian Koberna, K-O-B-E-R-N-A.

Q. And, Mr. Koberna, what do you do for a living?

A. I -- I'm a police officer, but I'm also -- I have a business where I do forensic analysis of devices, in this particular case for a firm, forensics, I analyze devices.

Q. And how long have you been in that business of forensic examination?

A. Approximately six years.

Q. And prior to that, did you have experience in forensic examination as a police officer?

A. During that time I've had experience and training with regards to that, and also

IT-related experience.

Q. How many years would you estimate you have experience in forensic examination of cell phones?

A. Cell phones, I would say six years.

Q. Okay. How many cell phones do you think that you have forensically examined in those six years?

A. I would -- hundreds, if not a thousand.

Q. So over 100; it's a significant amount?

A. Absolutely.

Q. Okay. You have sitting before you what's been marked as Exhibit 51. Do you recognize that?

A. I do recognize -- or the e-mail I believe is from Judge Callahan to Judge Burelson of which I was -- I'm not sure if I was cc'd in that, but I do recognize the report that I generated.

Q. Okay. And the report is on page 2 to 4 of that --

A. Yes.

Q. -- Exhibit 51?

A. And I do not recognize the last exhibit.

Q. You know what, let's take that last page off of there. I think that you're right, that was unintentionally appended, the statement.

So now we have four -- Exhibit 51 is four pages, correct, having taken -- having taken the statement of Eric Greitens off of the report?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. We are taking the last page off of the report. It was unintentionally stapled as part of the copy process in the house office.

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: That makes five pages.

A. Five pages.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Five -- five pages total in Exhibit 51, four pages of which are the report?

A. That is correct.

Q. And it is, in fact, the report you did in this case?

A. It's one of the reports, yes.

Q. Are there other documents from your forensic examination of the telephone that are not included as part of this report?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Pursuant to a subpoena, would you provide those documents to this committee?

A. I'll provide them today, yes.
Q. You would provide them today?
A. Only -- the only catch would be all material is supposed to go through the special master with regards to my analysis of this device. I have no problems with providing it if they would have no problems of releasing it, I guess, would be my caveat.
Q. Okay. I understand your position, you want -- you want to check to make sure. I don't know -- there's no special master here.
A. I understand.
Q. So I would say if those documents are in your possession, keep those documents for now.
A. Okay.
Q. And -- because in addition to the report, you would agree it's important to have documents that underlie the report to understand the report?
A. Absolutely.
Q. Okay. Your report states that there was -- you found no photograph on the telephone related -- that relates to -- let me back up.
You're familiar with the allegations regarding Mr. Greitens' basement on March 21st, 2015?

A. I am vaguely familiar with the allegations. I was never fully briefed with regards to this. I was kept, in essence, in the dark with regards to information and given just specific requests through the Court to look at specific items. And one of those requests at the very end of the analysis of the device was specific to that particular day, yes.

Q. Okay. And what was the specific request as to that day?

A. I was contacted by Judge Callahan, or during our conversation, I'm not sure who initiated the contact, but he indicated that that day may be of interest, and if I could further check the information with regards to photographs taken from that device on that particular day.

Q. Were you told the nature of the photograph you were looking for, the general nature?

A. The general nature for the initial -- I don't know if he specifically told me, but, I mean, I think I, from news media and everything else, understood that, but I was looking for any photographs in particular was the overall nexus.

Q. Okay. And your ultimate conclusion was that you were unable to determine if a photograph was taken on that date; is that correct?

A. Through analysis of -- through analysis of the digital media, specifically the -- the images, there was no determination if that was actually taken on that day. In preparation for this particular meeting, I did review a secondary database of which I did a thorough review of images, but that secondary review of database does indicate there's a population of photographs to that database. That population of photographs do mark that specific day. There was three photographs, but they do not -- that database can be populated in several manner -- or several ways, and those ways are, in essence, if a photo's taken with a device or if a photo's saved by the device, for instance, it's received through a text message or something of that nature and the individual would save that particular photo and it stores it to the overall storage media area.

Q. So let me back up. These three photographs that you looked at the -- you said it was a secondary -- explain to me, a non-techie, you reviewed a secondary set of documents?

A. No, no, no. For clarification, the photos that were already reviewed. In those photos are thumbnail photos of cached images that are benign in nature, but this database is a pointer. All it does is point to if a photo may or may not have been existent in the database during a specific day.

Q. Okay. And do I understand your testimony that there -- that database indicated there were three photographs relating to March 21st, 2015, or did I misunderstand what you said?

A. No, that is correct, but the determination can't be if they were taken with the device or added to the device after that moment in time.

Q. Okay. But the metadata shows --

A. There's no metadata within the thumbnail images. The metadata is no longer in existence on the thumbnail. The actual photos were not resident on the device.

Q. You can't see the photograph that relates --

A. You can't see the original photographs, but the device caches or puts copies of photos whenever you're in its use. In those cached versions, we can see, and those three images are benign in nature, and I provided that report to the special master in furtherance of this -- this investigation.

Q. So let me make -- let me make sure I understand it. So there were three photographs in this -- this database indicated that there were three photographs that were either taken or saved by that particular phone on March 21st, 2015?

A. That's correct.

Q. Okay. And those three photographs, there were cached versions of them that you were able to view?

A. That is correct.

Q. Okay. And then your testimony is that you -- that they were benign in nature?

A. Yes. And I also forwarded that information to the special master for further review.

Q. Okay. Okay. I have -- the vice chair is writing down his questions. He usually expects me to ask more questions. Thank you, thank you.

EXAMINATION

BY VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS:

Q. Well, thank you for being here this morning. I appreciate it.

A. Thank you.

Q. What police department do you work for just out of curiosity?

A. I'm assigned -- I'm employed with the Madison County Sheriff's Office, but I'm also assigned to several subdivision task forces of which I'm transferring from the FBI task force to Secret Service task force, but that's just logistically.

Q. Okay. You must be pretty good at what you do then.

So is forensic investigation, is that a typical part of your daily routine or is it just something that --

A. It is. You've had -- it is a typical part, yes.

Q. Okay. Thank you.

And then what would be your official title, what do we call you?

A. Sir, I'm a detective sergeant, but that isn't --

Q. That's what I wanted to know. Okay. Thanks.

And you've worked in the capacity of a police officer for how long?

A. 15 years.

Q. Okay. Were there any swiping features on this phone that you could find, like something there that could be, I don't want to call it Confide, but was there anything within that phone that you could see that you could take a picture and then immediately get rid of it if you wanted to and block it from you being able to find it, I guess, is what I'm trying to say? I don't know your line of work, but I'm guessing there's got to be something like that.

A. There were -- I don't know -- there were specific applications that may have that capability. I don't know if they have that specific capability that were on the device, so I wouldn't be comfortable saying yes or no because my limited scope that was given to me to analyze this phone was for 2015. It didn't encompass, I guess, that type of question, so I didn't dig into -- I didn't expand my analysis of this device outside the scope of what the Court requested and I tried to stay within that analysis timeframe. I know photographs were the main focus --

Q. Right.

A. -- and that focus was thoroughly reviewed. Any residue photographs, any photographs were reviewed by myself and submitted to the special master for further review and a secondary review of that media.

To say there -- there were applications on there that I believe could have that particular storage capability, so...

Q. Okay, yeah. So it would be fair to say or safe to say that the possibility is certainly there within that particular phone that you looked at?

A. But to be clear, just because I don't find a photograph or don't find an item doesn't mean it did not exist.

Q. Right.

A. I want to be clear on that.

Q. Right. No, we understand that. Thank you for that clarification.

So what were your exact marching orders, so to speak; what were you told to do as far as investigating this phone and this particular instance related to the picture?

A. I was provided a Court order, and pursuant to that Court order it was for forensic examination for communication and photographs with or of KS during the period from January 1st, 2015 to December 31st, 2015. That was the specific scope of what I was asked to review.

Q. Sounds reasonable.

And how was it that you, for lack of another way to put it, were selected to be the one to do this particular investigation; how did they --

A. I'm still confused at that particular instance, to be honest with you.

Q. They just looked through a phone book or looked through a police manual and said, hey, here's our guy?

A. I was contacted with regards to analyzing a device. I had no knowledge at that time that this was the case for the analysis of the device. I was asked to show up at a Court for -- to analyze a particular device. It was not this device, but it was the first device I was analyzing in furtherance of this investigation. At that time, or during that time I learned that this was the scope of what had happened. It's my understanding that the Judge reviewed information and put me as a neutral party to extract the data, provide that data to the special master for further review and/or dissemination to the appropriate parties as Court orders were requested.

Q. Yeah.

A. So that -- so the selection process I still don't --

Q. So the trail definitely led to you somehow, so do you think it was done through a judge that had some knowledge of your previous work or --

A. It would have been -- it would have been through defense counsel who had the initial devices contacted me. That was the first contact. They submitted my information to the Judge for review.

Q. But you're not related to anybody, a friend of a friend of a friend didn't refer you to them? I mean, somehow they got your name, I'm trying to figure out if you're just --

A. We typically -- well, I have no association to Dowd Bennett, any knowledge. This was my first interaction with them and the word of mouth, I think, of the services that we provide is how they probably came to selecting or contacting me with regards to this particular case.

Q. Okay. And was this a -- well, first of all, it looks like -- do you have to get approval, like for secondary employment? Like if you do a job on the side for someone -- like a lot of police departments do security and they have to get approval for that secondary employment -- is that the way it works with your department?

A. I do have approval for secondary employment.

Q. Okay. And this would be considered secondary employment, and I assume you got paid to do it; is that right?

A. That is correct, yes.

Q. Okay. And so where did that pay come from?

A. Still pending, but it's paid with regards to the particular parties who are asking the question, or asking for the analysis of the device. If the defense was wanting devices analyzed in this particular case, which they did, they were paying for that particular service. If -- and the circuit attorney's office is paying for the analysis of Mr. Greitens' device is how the payments are being received.

Q. Okay. Was there ever any kind of a written contract of any sort that you signed and said yes?

A. Yes.

Q. There was?

A. Yes.
Q. Concerning compensation?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. All right. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. No further --

EXAMINATION

BY REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN:

Q. Good morning. Thank you for being here.

I just want to make sure that I understand some of your earlier testimony. So you indicated that there were some applications on the phone that had the capability of basically disguising, for lack of a better term -- and you help me because I speak lawyer language and you speak tech language, so we're going to have a little --

A. I would be -- I want to be clear here. I did not thoroughly analyze the specific applications within this phone, it was beyond the scope of what I was asked to do. So the specific applications and what they're doing, I would not be comfortable saying yes or no that that was 100 percent on that device and I had that capability.

Q. Okay.

A. Because that was not what I was asked to do or the scope of. There was potential -- there's potential there may be applications, but I don't want to say 100 percent yes or no on that particular question.

Q. Okay. And I guess I'm curious, given your -- and I don't -- I haven't personally seen the order that directed you to -- or that, you know, created the parameters for your work, right, your review, but I guess what I'm curious about or what I'm having trouble understanding is if the order directed to find any -- any evidence of communications or photographs of KS or between Mr. Greitens and KS, why wouldn't you look to see if there are other applications that may have --

A. I checked those databases for communication purposes.

Q. Okay.

A. And I checked the full device for any residue of photos regardless of application.

Q. Okay. And then I come back to, though, are there applications that would not have left trails for -- again, I'm talking lawyer language and I apologize.

A. I'm sure there are applications out there specifically for that. I did not -- I'm not 100 percent that there was one on the phone.

Q. Okay.

A. I would not be able to testify that there absolutely was one or there absolutely was not one. Some of those programs contained within a communication device, like a communication chatting application, can contain within them specific ways to communicate and submit photos. That residue sometimes is not left on the phone --

Q. Right.

A. -- or is. So there -- I mean, there's absolutely programs out there that can do that. You have to get very specific on the program and then I have to dive into 100 percent to tell you yes or no on a particular program and that was not done in this particular case.

Q. Okay. Because it was sort of outside the scope?

A. Yes.

Q. Is that a fair statement?

A. Yeah.

Q. I just want to make sure that I'm clear about how that all worked.

Now, looking at your report and your testimony, it sounds to me like you found three photographs from I guess it was March 21st, 2015; is that fair?

A. That is fair.

Q. And you found the cached versions of that?

A. Yes.

Q. But what I'm unclear about is that your report talks about there sort of being gaps and -- and I'm going to just pull out some specific language. I'm not trying to trick you up, I just want to make sure I'm getting the whole thing.

A. I understand.

Q. So, for instance, you said: There could be multiple reasons why the media is no longer resident within the subdirectories -- which is great tech language -- to include deletion of certain media files. It should be noted that as described, many of the files not observed in the original directory were observed in cached directories and then reviewed.

So my question is, when you say many of those files, is it possible that there were other photographs taken on that day that just weren't -- because those big number gaps, you know, you talk about the database being -- listing photographs in number order, is it possible there were other photographs taken on that day that just don't show up, you don't know because all traces are gone?

A. Absolutely.

Q. Okay. Thank you. I just -- again, I need to get it in my --

A. And that's regardless, but you have to understand that you have to have the artifact to analyze in order to further what's going on and sometimes the artifacts don't exist for whatever reason. It could be any number of reasons have occurred, and if those artifacts aren't there to analyze further, then I wouldn't know.

Q. And by artifact, can we say that that means -- is another way of putting artifact trail?

A. Fair enough.

Q. When I think artifact, I think like the museum.

A. Fair enough.

Q. Again, you know, we speak kind of different languages because we have different jobs.

A. Absolutely.

Q. Did you review the device for evidence of, say, I don't know -- well, we heard a lot -- we've been reading the testimony that was given and there was a lot of discussion about FaceTime. Did you review the device for those kinds of communications?

A. There were no written Messenger communication artifacts that I found regarding the specific request of KS. So my scope was for communication on the device with regards to KS.

Q. Okay.

A. And I looked through all kinds of artifacts and there were none that were recovered from the device.

Q. So you're looking through the device for all, for instance, FaceTime, I'm assuming phone calls and I'm assuming text messages, so you're looking through it for all of those, and I guess is it fair to say that, yes, you see there's a FaceTime message from this device to another device, but that other device was not KS's, so you just move on to the next one.

Is that how that works?

A. Fair enough, yes.

Q. Okay. All right. Go ahead.

A. It's kind of a global look at what's going on on the device. If there would have been alias accounts or alias activity, you know, without knowing those specific accounts and specific alias information, I wouldn't know that that communication was relevant.

Q. And which was going to be my next question, because I'm not -- you know, I'm just a regular schmo. I just put my phone number in and use it like anybody else does, but I understand there are ways to, you know, to have a device that doesn't necessarily have a phone number, and if it's going like over the internet as opposed to another device's phone number, do you, A, see that; and, B, have any ability to identify who the recipient is, or intended recipient, I guess I should say?

Am I talking lawyer language again?

A. You are. Unfortunately, my answer is it depends.

Q. Okay.

A. There's so many variables there that could potentially -- I mean, that's a difficult question to answer. It very much depends on the application and what the communication method is in order to say I can absolutely determine that or can't determine that.

Q. Okay. But let's just use FaceTime, because that's sort of an easy default, I guess, default for just average folks like myself where if I use my -- you know, I have my phone with my cell phone number -- and, no, I'm not disclosing that right now -- and I want to FaceTime you, but you have a phone that's not connected to a wireless carrier, it's just you're just using the internet, you know, right?

A. Right.

Q. Can I FaceTime you under those circumstances as long as I know your e-mail address; and your e-mail address could just be, you know, Joe schmo at gmail dot com and that's pretty easily disguised, am I right?

A. Regardless of your communications of the device, if you are connected through the application through FaceTime or whatever --

Q. Right.

A. -- you can communicate.

Q. If it's an IOS to IOS --

A. Regardless, if it's through the same application, regardless of device, IOS, Android, whatever.

Q. Right. But these are IOS phones, so it's easier for me to sort of just talk about that.

Right, these were all IOS phones?

A. Yes.

Q. So if I have an IOS, you have an IOS, you're not affiliated with a wireless carrier, you're just on the internet and I know your baloney gmail address or whatever, I can still FaceTime you via that -- that --

A. Correct.

Q. -- address, so to speak? And in your review, if that was, in fact, happening, you wouldn't be able to determine who that intended recipient was; if it just says 1234 at gmail dot com, how do you know that 1234 may or may not be KS?

A. Without having knowledge of the specific accounts that are communicating and who those are related to, I would not know who that account was unless they're referencing keywords in the communication, such as names or something of that nature, which would lead me to believe that communication had happened.

Q. But would you have, then, if that's a FaceTime communication, which is basically, you know, a visual phone call, there's not going to be any transcript of that, there's not going to be audio -- audio files are not retained from that, are they?

A. No. Correct.

Q. So there would be no way to determine that other than the -- sort of the address, so to speak, whether it's an e-mail, or I suppose you could do an ISP search, but I don't -- see, I'm now trying to talk your language, I'm going to show my ignorance -- but there's no other way other than those sort of two data points?

A. It would be dependent upon the accounts and identifying those accounts as being associated to a particular person.

Q. Okay. And then the same thing with the text message or, I mean, a phone call, again, is also not recorded, you would just know a call was made from device A to device B or C or D or E, right?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. So those are the only two real data points that you have, and then whatever metadata comes behind that, which I guess would be date, time, that kind of stuff?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. See, that I can understand.

Let me just real quickly make sure we got too many and not all.

Also you say in your report that there were a large number of images that were reviewed that were not listed in the original media location. Again, a large number, but not all of them; that's a assessment?

A. Yes.

Q. So can you just give me the brief rundown of what happens if I'm not using one of these specialty apps, which we talked about you didn't really look at, I'm just using my phone, taking a picture like anything else, when I delete that, what happens?

A. Well, the original photo would be removed from the device.

Q. Right, because I can't see it anymore?

A. If -- there may be a cached version of that photo. Depending on how the user interacted with that photo would dictate what kind of cache is reserved or what kind of cache is left.

Q. Is there a way -- so if I delete this photo -- and you know, kids at home, pay attention, right, or don't -- if I -- if I take a photo of you right now, I want to delete it from my phone and I want to delete that cache, is there some way that I as the user could just go and find that and delete it myself?

A. It would be difficult. I mean, is anything possible? Yes. Could you do it? Yes. But it would be difficult without --

Q. Like a third-party software or some other --

A. I mean, if the device is caching information, it does -- depending on how the deletion and also the operating version, those caches can change, so, I mean, there's -- each version may have a different process that goes on because they upgrade or they kind of change, they make things better for the user, and those kind of processes can --

Q. Can change. If they want to make their phone faster, bigger, stronger, all that kind of stuff. So is it safe to also assume when I delete a phone, a copy of it is cached, so to speak, and does the cache just sort of get written over as your phone runs out of space; is that what happens? Or how does -- how does -- I'm so far in the weeds here, right? I apologize.

A. It really depends. And it depends on how the actual operating systems interact with that cache and what's going on. It typically will remain there and it generally sticks around, but there can be reasons for it to be removed, so...

Q. So like if my phone is just basically out of space, I've got caches sitting out there that IOS is not getting rid of?

A. IOS, yeah. I mean, the --

Q. I'm going to write a strongly-worded letter to Apple about that, right?

A. The data, depending on the IOS version, is being manipulated by the operating system.

Q. Right.

A. And the operating system dictates what happens. So I don't want to speak on behalf of specific versions and what they do.

Q. Because each one changes?

A. It can.

Q. Is it fair to assume that -- well, and honestly I didn't look to see which IOS version, I guess this one was using Version 9.2?

A. Yes.

Q. Where are we now and what was it in 2015; do you know that?

A. We're at about 11 point something.

Q. So this phone was not being upgraded at least?

A. Yeah, I mean, it's definitely not at 11, so you went through all those versions. I would have to reference specific dates.

Q. Yeah, I don't remember either.

A. I don't know off the top of my head.

Q. Okay. But we could look up and see what was the IOS version as of 2015 and see if it was 8 when it had -- I guess that's sort of my question -- when you upgrade to a new operating system, then that new operating system may or may not handle those cached -- that cached information differently?

A. It may change.

Q. Okay. Okay. Sorry to -- sorry to get so down -- I want to try and understand this.

And then -- well, I think we sort of already asked that. Again, so your report says: Outside applications can act differently in functions.

So, I mean, could that be something like Confide?

A. I don't know the inner workings of Confide in this -- I mean, with regards to the possibilities and capabilities of that particular application.

Q. Yeah. I think that we're all kind of learning about that as we go, but thank you very much for appearing today. I do appreciate your testimony. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Austin -- I'm sorry, Representative Lauer?

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: That's okay.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Blind spot over there.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: You're fine.

EXAMINATION

BY REPRESENTATIVE LAUER:

Q. Thank you, sir --

A. Thank you.

Q. -- for being here, and thank you also for your service in law enforcement.

A. Thank you.

Q. It's great for our state.

Short of doing a tutorial on Forensics 101 here, we'll try to just keep these as focused questions as possible.

On page 3, the very last page of the report in the second paragraph, sentence -- second sentence, it says -- at the beginning it says: At the request of Judge Callahan -- are you on that paragraph? Last page. It's labeled page 3.

A. Yes, yes.

Q. All right. And the second line it says: I was unable to determine if a photograph was taken on that day.

And what would cause you to be unable to determine what other factors --

A. The lack of artifacts.

Q. Okay. So it just didn't exist?

A. I would -- no, I'm not saying there wasn't a photo that didn't exist, that wasn't taken. There could very well be an image that was taken on that day. The artifacts did not exist.

Q. Okay.

A. So without artifacts to go back on, there's no trail, there's no responsive data.

Q. Okay. Thank you.

Also, you mentioned a little bit earlier about the first device, and so would you explain the first device that you reviewed and the second device?

A. Yes. It was PS's device was the first device, and the second one was KS's device.

Q. I'm sorry, the first one was?

A. PS.
Q. PS?
A. Yes.
Q. And the second was KS?
A. Yes.
Q. And was there any review of Mr. Greitens' phone?
A. The phone that we're discussing here?
Q. Right.
A. Yes.
Q. So you did three?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
A. I'm sorry.
Q. I'm sorry, I'm trying to track all three here. Three, then, that we did?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And, again, not understanding the whole forensic side, you're looking at one phone and looking at the merits of that and information that's on that, and then looking at another phone and the merits of that, and just by doing that you would be able to tell if there was any communication between those, correct?
A. If there's a lack of artifacts or phones have been reset or changed, there would be -- the artifacts would not be prevalent to determine that.

Q. Okay. So other than the photos that you were charged with looking at, were there -- was there other communication that was transferred between Mr. Greitens and KS that you noted?

A. I don't believe we found any artifacts from KS's phone with regards to communication back to Mr. -- or Governor Greitens' phone.

Q. And, conversely, none from his?

A. Correct.

Q. We've been talking about the application and I think you pretty well indicated that there are ways to resurrect these pieces if the artifacts are there?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And when -- when you delete -- kind of going back to this Confide application, multiple applications that are out there, when Confide -- we've been kind of looking into this I'm sure -- it says it's automatically deleted from the device, it's just gone?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. But then when you look online and try to find out any other information about it, it's very silent.

So in your understanding, might that information go to a Cloud or might that information go to a server that Confide might contain or have ownership of?

A. I would not be able to speak on the specifics on Confide because I don't feel that I know enough about their specific transmission and/or storage, that they're obviously are applications that store things in the Cloud. There are communications that are stored in the Cloud, there are communications that aren't, so I don't know specifically on Confide. That was outside the scope of --

Q. Sure.

A. -- where I was looking particularly on this phone.

Q. Now, on a regular phone, I can send my data to the Cloud?

A. Yes.

Q. And through your forensics, would you be able to see what would have been sent to a Cloud and not remained on the device?

A. The --

Q. Forget the Confide thing. I'm just talking --

A. Could you potentially see artifacts that were synced or up to the Cloud, potentially, yes.

Q. And you would be able to note that in your review of the --

A. I did not review that in this particular case. Any Cloud-related activity, that was not asked of me, so I was -- I did not see Cloud-specific information, but I can't say that it did or did not exist. It was -- it was -- I just reviewed basically the photos that were resident on the phone, the data that was contained on the phone as requested, and that's where I focused my -- my efforts on.

Q. Okay. And I certainly respect that. I just always have been told that even though you delete information, it can always be resurrected. And, so, again, I'm not technically savvy about these things, but I understand that you can transmit things to a Cloud and it's held there and even though it may not show up on a device?

A. That's true. There can be artifacts absolutely on a Cloud that are not resident on the particular device.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I want to make sure we've got a clear record. So your testimony is you did not review the Cloud -- any Cloud account for artifacts.

THE WITNESS: That's correct.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay.

BY REPRESENTATIVE LAUER:

Q. Because that was not outlined in the scope of what you were to do?

A. I was not given any Cloud information or outlined in the scope. And in order to glean Cloud-based information you have to serve Apple with appropriate legal process and obtain it like that. That information was never handed over to me for review. I don't know, there may have been another party that reviewed that that I'm unaware of.

Q. Okay. And that was not on any of the three phones; you were not given that charge on any of the three phones?

A. To review Cloud-based information, correct.

Q. Okay. So basically the scope was the same on each of the three phones?

A. No, that's not correct.

Q. What was the scope, then, on each of the three phones, if you would, please?

A. Do you want me to repeat the scope on the --

Q. I would just like for you to share in your own words, if you would.

A. The scope with regards to Governor Greitens' phone would have been for forensic examination for communications and photographs with or of KS during the period of January 1st, 2015 to December 31st, 2015.

Q. Okay. So that was very limited in nature and timeframe and then scope of what you were looking for?

A. That's correct.

Q. Okay. Thank you.

And then the next one?

A. The other two phones were similar in nature. The -- well, posted to me was through the special master: For each phone the forensic technician can package this category as a forensic report of production.

I'll go through it; it asks for text messages, chats, e-mails and/or written communications with any attachments to or from any of the following individuals from 2014 to present.

Do you -- there are specific names in here.

Q. We'll redact those. We don't want to bring those up.

A. All right.

Q. Don't mention those.

A. Information, in essence, with regards to KS. Information, in essence, with regards to PS. Eric Greitens, specific phone numbers, [redacted] (sp), [redacted] (sp).

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Whoa, whoa, whoa.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Whoa. That's okay.

A. No more?

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: He's looking at something we don't have.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: There are other names. I believe you have a document that we do not have.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Can you -- after you're finished testifying, can you provide that document to the committee?

THE WITNESS: Yes. I mean, the only --

I have no problem with providing it to the committee. I guess I would call the special master and ask him, but if you guys give me a subpoena, I mean, it is what it is. Whatever process we have to go, I don't have a problem. It's the Court documents.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I understand.

THE WITNESS: They're all part of the Court record. I personally don't have a problem, I just don't want to overstep my bounds in providing information that I don't have authority to provide.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I understand completely and we will -- we will work with you --

THE WITNESS: No problem.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: -- for that purpose. Slow down on any name, okay?

THE WITNESS: Okay.

BY REPRESENTATIVE LAUER:

Q. Let's just stop your reading at that point, because I think what the question I was asking was something that you addressed from what I heard you say, again, Governor Greitens' phone was very limited in timeframe and very specific in looking for pictures; is that correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. And then the other two phones, the scope was much broader as far as text, any messages, any phone numbers from a variety of people or for a variety of people?

A. That's correct.

Q. And for a much longer period of time?

A. Yes.

Q. And --

A. Yes. Yes, both, yes.

Q. And that length of time was -- I'm sorry -- was set from?

A. 2014 to present.

Q. Okay. So over four years basically?

A. Yes.

Q. You were looking at that versus four days or three days on the pictures of Governor Greitens?

A. A year for --

Q. Timeframe?

A. One year.

Q. Oh, it was one year?

A. 2015 was the year.

Q. Okay.

A. In essence.

Q. Okay. Great.

A. But to be clear, all photos were reviewed. It wasn't -- because you've got to be careful, if you review thumbnail images, the date and time, you don't want to pigeonhole yourself not to review all images and all media. In this particular case, all images and media were reviewed on all three phones.

Q. Okay. Thank you very much. I appreciate your patience in trying to explain all this.

A. No problem. And I apologize for overstepping my -- I was just reading off --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: You're okay. You're okay. Accidents happen.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Thank you.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Austin?

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

EXAMINATION

BY REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN:

Q. Just a few followup questions.

A. Sure.

Q. The first full paragraph that begins: At the request of Judge Callahan.

A. Yes.

Q. The next sentence -- and I know we've gone over this so sorry to plow the same ground twice -- but it says: I was unable to determine if a photograph was taken.

That's because you found three cached images, and because they were cached, you can't tell if they were taken or if they had come in from an outside source and they were saved?

A. That's correct.

Q. Okay. And those three cached images, while they're not the original, they're copies, you can actually see what is portrayed in the photograph?

A. Yes.

Q. Like you -- if it were a picture of a dog, you could see a picture of a dog?

A. Correct.

Q. And those three images you, for lack of a better term, downloaded or hard copied and the Judge, Judge Callahan, has those right now?

A. That's correct.

Q. Okay. Next it says: And I did not observe any artifacts of a deleted image.

So artifacts, either there were no deleted images, that's why there's no artifacts, or there's a sophisticated sweeping, cleaning program that can remove the artifacts, or there was an upgrade in the operating system that may have deleted those artifacts, and correct me if I'm wrong because --

A. Well, no, I would be hesitant to say that there's a sophisticated system or something of that nature, because if you're looking back three years there could be any number of things on a particular device that are added, taken away, upgrades that happen that can affect how the artifacts exist on the phone. So I don't want to say that -- I didn't observe anything that was a sophisticated type of eradication system, but, you know, because I didn't observe it doesn't mean there's nothing --

Q. Yeah, I'm just listing the possibilities, not if you observed it or not.

A. Okay.

Q. The reasons there were a lack of artifacts -- three reasons there could be a lack of artifacts is, one, no images were deleted; two, some sophisticated program could have cleaned it or swept it; or, three, an upgrade in operating system could have --

A. The upgrading system can also, depending on the version of the operating system, it can get rid of cache. I mean, it's not always going to be resident, but generally speaking it is, okay. I don't want to get -- that's a fair enough assessment. I mean, the options you gave were -- are options that are -- there may be more options that could cause it, I guess, is what I'm trying to tell you.

Q. So what you're saying is -- and I'm not trying to corner you in or box you in --

A. No.

Q. -- but the universe of the reasons that there's not any artifacts are more than the three I gave you?

A. I believe there could be more, yes.

Q. Okay. That's all I have. Let the expert go.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Thank you. Representative Eggleston?

EXAMINATION

BY REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON:

Q. Good afternoon.

A. Good afternoon.

Q. So first question: Prior to examining the phone, and I think Representative Phillips kind of touched on this but I want to make sure, did you have any relationship, friendship, connection in any way to Governor Greitens, his lawyers, his staff, his associates, KS, PS, Scott Faughn, Al Watkins, anyone associated with this drama?

A. No, absolutely not.

Q. Didn't know any of them?

A. No. I was a little bit taken aback when I kind of walked into it, to say the least.

Q. I will tell you it is refreshing to see someone sitting in that chair that doesn't have some possible ulterior motive sitting next to a lawyer who's trying to obstruct us from actually finding the truth, so I definitely appreciate you being here today to help us out.

So in your report, the phone was an iPhone 6 that you examined?

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. And the IOS version that was on it when you examined it was 9.2?

A. Correct.

Q. So we kind of talked a little bit about phones and versions and upgrading the operating systems. The iPhone 6 came out in September of 2014. The alleged photos, if they were taken, would have been taken in March of 2015, so this would have been a fairly new phone at that time, and the IOS that the iPhone 6 came out with was 8, version 8.0. So now that it has 9.2 on it, there were a number of releases -- I mean the original 8.0, and then there was 8.1, 8.2, 8.3, 8.4, 9.0, 9.1, and then ultimately the 9.2 that was on it when you examined it, so that's seven possible operating system upgrades that has happened since the alleged photo may have been taken.

Would that -- does that sound right to you?

A. If you're saying -- I trust your -- you're reading it, so, yes.

Q. Okay.

A. That sounds about right.

Q. Knowing iPhones and the way they work, would an iPhone automatically do those updates as Apple released them?

A. They've kind of changed their practice. They almost annoy you to the point where you have to upgrade them now, so --

Q. Yeah, Apple is very controlling in that way, so -- and I have an Android and I kind of have to opt in, you know, when there's a new version.

So how do iPhones work in that regard?

A. Well, it probably depends on the version that you had, but they keep requesting you to upgrade even and confirm that you want to upgrade, and then they'll upgrade even when you plug it in at night or something of that nature, upgrade later or something of that nature. So it almost continually requests you to upgrade as far as the current versions.

Previous versions, back in the 9s, I would have to recall. I mean, I think they also asked, obviously they would prompt you to upgrade, but I don't know how often they were.

Q. Sure.

A. Currently I can testify it's very continuous on their request.

Q. Okay. So there's a pretty -- you would say there's a pretty strong likelihood that this phone underwent up to seven operating system upgrades from March of 2015 to when you examined it here a little over three years later?

A. If that's what the record shows on Apple.

Q. That's the data that's out there. Okay.

Now, I know in a regular laptop or computers, PCs, if you go to delete a file, it doesn't actually delete the file itself, it deletes the entry in the file allocation table, the FAT, that kind of references where that data is. The file allocation table, it's kind of like a table of contents in a book and then the chapters are the actual data, and so if you go to delete a file, it doesn't like rip out the chapter, it just erases the part in the table of contents to let the computer know where the file is.

Cell phones, I think, work the same way, including iPhones; would you say that's right?

A. They have databases in order to --

Q. Kind of like that table of contents?

A. A table of contents that save information.

Q. And as long as -- if a phone -- if an item gets deleted off a phone and you want it back, the key is you kind of need to undelete it before new data comes in to overwrite that space that the old file was in?

The sooner --

A. The recovery -- or to recover an artifact of that item, say that the closer to the recovery of that artifact that I have, the better chances are that the recovery's going to happen.

Q. Sure. I'm talking the file itself, not the thumbnails that you had found, but the actual file itself?

A. Well, you've got to remember Apple also has an encryption containers and things like that where you're not getting a full physical analysis of the device that you used to get, so Apple has protected containers that you're not going to get certain information, and it kind of -- it's not a full system. I would be -- when you recover a file, you're also going to have stripped information, but it's similar in nature. I guess, I'll give you it's similar in nature --

Q. Sure.

A. -- to what you're talking about.

Q. I guess what I'm getting at is that you take a picture, you delete that picture, that data's still there, it's just the reference is gone to make it look deleted, and then as the phone does new things, takes more pictures, gets voicemails, gets videos, does operating system upgrades, the phone could think that that space is free and use that space and overwrite where that picture was?

A. It could.

Q. And the operating systems, of course, are a huge file; they're the biggest thing probably stored in the phone itself?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. All right. Do you know when an iPhone takes a picture, you pull out an iPhone, you pull up the little camera app and you take a picture, by default, just fresh out of the box, does the phone make any sound, that sort of shutter click sound, when you take a picture?

A. I believe it does.

Q. Okay.

A. Well, it makes a click. Well --

Q. You're not sure; I can tell you're not sure.

A. Yeah.

Q. I have a couple friends who have iPhones and we were kind of comparing what sound does it make.

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay.

A. I'm not really --

Q. I was curious if you knew.

A. I mean, I can pull out an iPhone and see if we hear it, but I don't know if that does anything.

Q. Okay. I gotcha. Okay.

Yeah, the iPhones that I've -- I checked out before interviewing you, whenever we went to take a picture, it was silent.

A. Yeah.

Q. Mine, it goes -- you know, makes that shutter sound, but mine is an Android. Now, of course, that's just an artificial noise. You can make it play Yankee Doodle if you want to, you know, if it's --

A. I don't recall the newer iPhones making a loud noise, in essence, but --

Q. Okay.

A. -- there may be a little sound. That's very hardware specific that I would not be able to testify to, sounds.

Q. Okay.

A. I would not feel comfortable doing so, sir.

Q. Well, there was -- in the course of this case, a sound was heard when the picture was taken, and if iPhones don't make a sound, that might lead one to believe that it wasn't an iPhone that took the picture.

A. Sure.

Q. That's why I was asking if you knew what sort of sounds iPhones make by default, or could you turn the sound on and off, or do you have any experience in that?

A. It's off my recollection and use of iPhones. I don't recall a sound being loud or anything. I think you just click the button and --

Q. That's the way it was with the ones that I checked out.

The three photos that you said you did find for March 21st that were sort of the mini thumbnail versions, they weren't the full pictures, but you kind of found the thumbnails of three photos that were taken on March 21st?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. That's -- and you said those were benign, they weren't the picture that we've kind of been looking for with the woman?

A. Yes, they're absolutely benign.

Q. Can you tell, were those --

A. Let's be clear. Did you indicate that they were -- they were on the device in a camera roll subdirectory, that doesn't mean they were actually physically taken with the device.

Q. Right.

A. Okay.

Q. Okay. But they got onto the phone in one way or another on March 21st.

A. They could have been placed on there -- the date and time you're capturing is the original date and time that the photo was taken. So if I take a photo yesterday, send it to you, the date and time stamp I'm looking at is going to be associated with --

Q. That's encoded in the thumbnail itself, that's where you found that?

A. It's not in the thumbnail, it's in a database.

Q. All right.

A. And that's a pointer to a particular file, so...

Q. Okay. So then -- so March 21st was the date that those photos were taken, but maybe not taken with that phone, it could have been taken and then transmitted in text at a later time?

A. Yes.

Q. Got it. Okay.

Were those photos -- had those photos been deleted from the phone that you examined and you just found the thumbnails?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Do you know when, can you tell, is there any trace as to when those photos were deleted?

A. No.

Q. Okay. And I think Representative Austin kind of hit on this, if someone wanted to take a picture and delete it and then also delete all trace that it had ever existed, like deleting these thumbnails and all of those file table entries, that is a possible thing; I mean, it would take some technical expertise to do, but it is doable?

A. Anything's doable. I mean, I would be real hesitant to say somebody can't accomplish manipulating data or something like that.

Q. Sure. You hook the phone up to the computer and then you bring up the -- and you can look in there, right.

The --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I just need a clear record. That was a yes, correct? You're not saying it happened in this case, you're just saying that you think that would be possible?

THE WITNESS: Yes. I -- yes.

BY REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON:

Q. Okay.

A. I mean, the specific thing, can somebody alter data was your question?

Q. Yes.

A. Yes.

Q. Is that possible?

Okay. The phone number itself of the phone that you analyzed was not listed in the report. Did you have that phone number of the -- of the --

A. It didn't have service at the time of my analysis.

Q. Okay. So you don't know what phone number was the phone number of the phone that you analyzed?

A. I think I do know it, but, I mean, I think it's referenced in another connection report, but I do not have it listed, no, because it didn't have service.

Q. Gotcha.

Do you have that with you or is that somewhere else?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Do not read the phone number.

BY REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON:

Q. Yeah, we don't want to know it out loud. Do you have that with you?

A. Yes. Yes, I do.

Q. Okay. Can I show you some phone numbers and ask you to verify whether that is one of the phone numbers?

A. I suppose, yes.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Is that okay with you?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: That's fine with me.

A. I don't believe -- the phone number I have associated to the individual was a different phone number, but that doesn't mean that the device didn't have that. It had no service, so I don't have the phone number or didn't note it. Plus, it wasn't -- I don't have that specific phone number associated. I mean, I don't know what it is that was on that device because I really didn't get into that specific phone number.

I mean, you look at all the information that's on there and you look at the contents, but I didn't note the specific phone number because it did not have service is why I didn't note it.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: So let me back up and let's make a record of what you just showed him.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Sure.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: And then what the answer was. You don't give the numbers. Describe --

BY REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON:

Q. So these are phone numbers that were associated with the, well, Governor-Elect, I guess, at that point -- he wasn't Governor at that time but he was running for office -- and I'm just trying to figure out, are any of these phone numbers the phone number of the phone that you analyzed?

A. I don't know that.

Q. And you didn't recognize that any of these four were part of the phone that you analyzed?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: And Representative Eggleston, what timeframe were those numbers, to your knowledge?

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Those were during the campaign.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. So 16 potentially, these are numbers that you know of and it's your understanding that they were during the campaign?

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: 15 to 16, I believe.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Can I get a list of those numbers and maybe I can compare?

BY REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON:

Q. While he's looking, we'll move on.

So during the course of this, the Governor's attorneys have thoroughly interviewed KS, I think on three separate occasions. This is the transcript of one of those, about nine hours of it. And, let's see, page 293 there's a section here where they're talking with her about phones and they were talking about FaceTime, and the Governor's attorney, I believe this was Mr. Rosenblum at the time said: Well, you don't know how many phones he had?

And she says: Correct.

You never asked him how many phones he had?

She said: Well, I knew that he had the one phone.

And then the attorney says: On one occasion, he got another phone, but to your knowledge you don't know whether, for instance, he had a phone associated with a campaign, a private phone, a public phone; you have no idea whether or not -- whether he had one phone or ten phones, do you?

So through that question it would seem to indicate from the Governor's attorney that the -- the person who would become governor at that time, wasn't governor then -- would have had multiple phones. So my question is: On the phone that you analyzed, is there any way to know if the user of that phone also had other phones; is there any sort of interconnected data?

A. Not that I observed.

Q. Okay.

A. And, again, my scope was just for the photos and things of that nature. So I wouldn't have observed that.

Q. Okay.

A. And, I mean, I wouldn't know all the device information associated to other phones.

Q. Yeah. I didn't know if there was any file interaction sharing somehow, if there's two phones on an account.

A. Not that I analyzed.

Q. Yeah. Okay. So something could happen on one phone and another phone wouldn't know anything about it.

And then there was other -- there's some other discussion about burner phones, I believe, Mr. Greitens had provided KS -- according to KS's testimony, of course, we don't know for sure -- but according to her testimony, he had provided her a burner phone for their communications. And that burner was one she used, so I guess this is one of those temporary phones you can go buy at the different stores that really aren't associated with a normal plan, you sort of pay as you go kind of thing.

Do you have any kind of expertise on those phones, how they might differ from an iPhone as far as can they take pictures, typically; can those phones that you buy take pictures?

A. It would depend on the phone.

Q. Yeah.

A. Obviously, without a specific phone -- I mean, there's definitely phones out there, yes, a lot of phones take pictures.

Q. That you could buy that are burner phones that could take pictures?

A. You can go to Walmart and purchase a phone that takes pictures.

Q. I've never done that, I didn't know. That's why I was asking.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Can I follow up real quick? I've got one additional number.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Sure.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: While we're on that line of questioning, I don't want to get too far afield from it, I want to check and see --

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Sure.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Now we have a sixth number for you; is that a number associated with the phone.

THE WITNESS: I won't say it's associated specifically with the phone, but that's more likely a number I had listed for Mr. Greitens, I believe. It's the same phone number I have listed.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay.

THE WITNESS: But I'm not going to say that's the phone number for the phone.

BY REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON:

Q. All right. So I'm pretty much done. It seems to me like we've got three possibilities here that are possible.

Based on your examination of the phone or what you figured out, it is possible that Mr. Greitens never took the picture in question, that's a possibility?

A. That's a possibility.

Q. You didn't find anything to refute that in your examination.

It is possible that he took the picture on the phone that you examined, he erased it that same day and then that space was overwritten over the last three-and-a-half or three-plus years with other data, software upgrades and so forth that to the point where you couldn't determine if that phone had actually taken the picture?

A. Correct. I have not been able to determine that phone took a picture.

Q. Okay. And it's also possible that he took the picture with a different phone than the one that you analyzed?

A. Sure.

Q. Okay. I appreciate you answering all the questions --

A. No problem.

Q. -- and helping us with that information. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I want to make a clear record, too. So there's five phone numbers shown between Representative Eggleston and myself regarding phone numbers of Mr. Greitens. One of those five numbers you indicated was associated in some fashion with the device you reviewed; is that fair to say?

THE WITNESS: No, that -- that's a phone number I have listed for Mr. Greitens.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay.

THE WITNESS: It's not necessarily specific to that particular device.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. So, you know, if we've got five different phone numbers, it could have been -- is it possible to have two phone numbers for the same device.

THE WITNESS: You could.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: You could have a mobile voice number that's tied to the phone.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: It's possible that five different phone numbers means you have five different devices?

THE WITNESS: Sure.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. Thank you.

Representative Trent?

EXAMINATION

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. Thank you for being here today. Let me make just one quick note.

Okay. So to begin with, and it seems like we've had several different hypothetical scenarios here about the realm of infinite possibilities, what could happen. I mean in the realm of infinite possibilities, you could have a team of engineers go through zero and one and write the whole programming system and write all the data for a phone, in theory, correct?

A. True.

Q. So we're talking about data, which is infinitely malleable, but just because the possibility of infinite malleability exists, sometimes that gets to the point like an asteroid hitting like, yeah, we could all be wiped out in the next five minutes, but that doesn't mean it's probable or likely, and it certainly doesn't mean that there's any evidence that that has occurred.

Would you say that's a fair statement?

A. That an asteroid is going to hit?

Q. Right, or that any of these infinitely malleable hypotheticals could potentially have occurred; just because it's out there in the realm of possibility doesn't mean it's probable or that there's any evidence that it happened.

So -- okay. So the benign photos that were on the phone, those were not photos of KS, correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. And, in fact, there's no evidence that there are any photos of KS on the phone, correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. Okay. And the photos that were on there for the date, just for clarification, you said if someone texted a photo to a person, that it would have the date that it was taken on, whatever device it was taken on would be the date reflected in the phone, not the date they received it?

A. In the database that I was referencing.

Q. In the database, and would that be true also if they got it from Facebook or the internet or just anywhere it came from?

A. It could be a different time stamp depending on the acquisition of the image. So, I mean, depending where they're getting it from, so, yeah.

Q. So -- so that doesn't really tell us anything about when -- when or where the photo was taken?

A. That's correct.

Q. Okay.

A. I mean, it would tell you the date and time would be date and time associated to the photo --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. -- creation.

Q. Right.

A. But not necessarily when, where -- or not how or where it was.

Q. So in your review of this phone, you didn't find any evidence that any photos were taken, deleted or transmitted on that date in question; not affirmative evidence to show?

A. Correct. Yes.

Q. Okay. Now, there's also some speculation about apps that could have been used, but you didn't find any evidence that an app was used to delete any photo artifacts on the phone, did you?

A. No, I didn't observe anything.

Q. Okay. And you didn't see any hint of a sophisticated photo deleting or manipulating app on the phone?

A. No.

Q. And in your experience, if that kind of app was on the phone and was being used, would it have left traces that you could have identified?

A. Not necessarily.

Q. Not necessarily?

A. It depends. You're -- whenever you're talking hypothetical about apps and specific programs, I have a hard time giving you a specific answer because it's very dependent upon the specific app and the specific program because they all function a little bit differently.

Q. So there's so many apps out there?

A. There is a large number of applications.

Q. But you saw no evidence of such an app being used?

A. That's correct.

Q. Okay. And if such an app had been used, do you think it would have affected a lot of the artifacts that were left on the phone? I mean, how -- let me ask it this way: Did you find a large number of photo artifacts on the phone?

A. I think we found 16,000.

Q. 16,000?

A. Yes.

Q. And if such an app were being used, do you think it's likely that there would be 16,000 artifacts remaining on such a phone?

A. It would depend on how the function -- what they were doing with the particular app, but, I mean --

Q. Unlikely; is that fair enough to say? I mean, I don't want to try to put words in your mouth if that's not a fair statement.

A. It would really depend on what they're doing with a particular app.

Q. Okay.

A. So if I'm deleting one photo, deleting 1000 photos, that is a very different type of functionality with a particular app, and you're talking about an app that is --

Q. Okay.

A. -- a hypothetical and not a --

Q. So, again, just no evidence.

A. That's correct.
Q. No evidence in the affirmative that such a thing was happening, okay.
Did you see any evidence of a Confide app on the phone that you reviewed?
A. Yes.
Q. And do you know when that would have been placed on that phone?
A. No.
Q. No evidence of when that would have occurred?
A. That was beyond the scope of the information I was looking at. I did check for information pertaining to conversations and photos, but I can't tell you --
Q. When or anything?
A. That was beyond the scope and beyond what I reviewed.
Q. Okay. Fair enough.
Now when you reviewed the phone, was it at or near storage capacity?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Because earlier we discussed in one of the earlier lines of questioning that, you know, when phone data is updated, that it might override if it were close to storage capacity, but you don't think that it was near storage capacity?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Did you see any evidence that there were multiple phone numbers associated with this device?

A. No.

Q. Okay.

A. Again, I would just say no, I didn't see any evidence, that's correct.

Q. No affirmative evidence, okay.

Now, did Apple turn over any of the Cloud data that -- that would have been associated with this device?

A. I wouldn't know that answer. I was not asked to analyze any Apple data, nor do I have any Apple data in my possession.

Q. So that's beyond the scope of your investigation here?

A. That was not given to me to review or analyze. I don't know who would have done that.

Q. Okay. Now, you also mentioned earlier that you conducted examinations of two other witness phones that are associated with this, with the PS and KS's phones?

A. That is correct.

Q. I have with me here some excerpts from those reports, and I would like to present them to you and see if you could authenticate that these, in fact, came from the reports.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: And with the chairman's permission, I'd like them entered into evidence for the committee.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Can you distribute it?

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: I have copies.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Can we make copies for the committee? Let's have the committee have the opportunity to review them first.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: How many pages is this?

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: It will be five pages.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: We're going one page at a time.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Each page is an individual page.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Mr. Chair, this hasn't been redacted.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: How many pages do we have total?

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Five.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative, I want to make sure that we've got all this. I think I have duplicates here.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Mr. Chair, I would ask that we hold off on this because there's no reference in here where this came from, when it was obtained, anything about this.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: I believe they're in the other two reports, so the whole point is while he's here today to have him authenticate --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Gentlemen, let me ask you something, because we've been told that we can't receive anything from defense counsel.

Do you care to share where you received this from?

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Defense counsel.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Can you state that for the record?

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Yes, we received this from the counsel for defense.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: You mean you received this?

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: I received it, but it's for the committee.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I understand, but my concern is -- and I would like an opportunity -- maybe we'll take a little break to review it.

My concern is that defense counsel told us no such records could be provided to any member of the committee because of a Court order, and now we have a committee member who has been provided with records from the case.

Ms. Nasser, can you explain why Mr. Dowd said no such records could be made available and now today we have a document that was made available to a member of this committee after we have subpoenaed them and requested them for months?

Ms. Nasser, can you answer that question?

MS. NASSER: I'm happy to take a break with the chairperson.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I have no problem, I want to look at the evidence. What I do have a problem with, Ms. Nasser, is repeated assertions from Mr. Dowd that no such evidence could be provided to anyone, and now all of a sudden a document pops up that he said earlier this week could not be provided and then repeated it yesterday.

Are you aware that this was provided to a member of this committee?

MS. NASSER: I'm happy to take a break with you, Mr. Barnes.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I'm interested in an answer now, Ms. Nasser.

And I don't blame you, Representative, you were provided with a document, but we've been trying to get documents for months; is that correct, Representative Austin?

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: Yes.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Is that correct, Representative Phillips?

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Yes.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Is that correct, Representative Mitten?

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Absolutely.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Is that correct, Representative Lauer?

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Absolutely.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: And we were told Monday and Tuesday you couldn't give them to us.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Perhaps something has changed since then that we're not aware of, and so I think maybe it is a good suggestion for us to take a break and get to the bottom of what actually is going on.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Excuse me, Mr. Chair, didn't we just have a discussion with Mr. Dowd about this yesterday?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: We had a discussion yesterday in which he said yesterday that no such documents could be provided.

And, Representative, I don't want -- we can have a discussion offline about when you received them, but yesterday Mr. Dowd was standing approximately to the right of where the witness was yelling at me about the fact that the Court order said he couldn't give -- provide any such documents, and yet here we are.

And in addition to that, we have -- I want to distribute for the committee right now -- go ahead and hand these out -- this is a subpoena to the Governor for production of documents that went to Mr. Dowd, and the letter on the top is dated May 24th. There are essentially boilerplate objections to much of what we requested, and, for example, request number 1, it's on page -- it's on the second sheet as you look there, says: We requested all communications, including written communications and text messages between Eric R. Greitens and KS. We know it was previously requested by the committee on February 28th, 2017, three months ago.

And there was an objection, and then there's an answer: The respondent is prohibited from producing these documents pursuant to Judge Burelson's March 8th, 2018 order stating that no discovery depositions, items of discovery or evidence will be secondarily distributed in person not employed by or working directly for the parties' legal team. That's the Court order.

Ms. Nasser, can you come and speak to the committee?

MS. NASSER: I would like to take a break.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: We are not taking a break right now. I would like for you to answer the questions. You are here on behalf of Governor Greitens. We received yesterday an objection to a request for documents that were discovery in this case. A lot of objections. We saw Mr. Dowd stand to the right of where the witness is sitting right now and yell at me because he said no such documents can be produced, and yet today, magically, such documents are produced. And not all of them, but documents that were given to this witness -- to a committee member. Are you refusing to speak to this committee?

MS. NASSER: Mr. Barnes, I am respectfully requesting that we take a break.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I am not allowing for a break right now. You are here on behalf of Mr. Greitens, Ms. Nasser. Will you please take a chair?

MS. NASSER: Mr. Barnes, I am here to treat this entire committee with respect and I would like to speak for a moment.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Do you believe --

MS. NASSER: Mr. Barnes --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: -- it is respectful for a member of your team yesterday to yell at me for suggesting that he should provide us documents and saying that he cannot do that thing, and then the very next day provide documents that yesterday he said he couldn't provide?

MS. NASSER: Mr. Barnes, I respect this entire committee and the work that they are doing. I was a federal prosecutor in Chicago for 13 years and I would only ask that I be treated with the same respect that I am treating this committee. I was not here yesterday, as you know, and I am respectfully requesting that we take a brief break so that we can come to a resolution and then we can come back in here. That is all I'm asking, Mr. Barnes.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Here's what I am going to request. We can take a brief break.

MS. NASSER: Thank you.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: But I am requesting that Mr. Greitens and your team provide us with every document associated with the review of this phone and any other device involved in this rather than cherry-picking evidence to provide to members of this committee after we have dually subpoenaed your client, and your partner told us yesterday, yelled at the chairman, yelled at me, and said he couldn't provide them, and yet magically they are here. That's offensive to this committee. It's offensive to this process. I don't blame Representative Trent for having them, they were provided, but we've asked for them as a committee since February.

Let's take a break for 20 minutes. Is that sufficient? And I would actually -- I want to vote to go into a closed session of the committee.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Mr. Chairman, before we do that, I would just like to make a brief comment, which I understand we have some new members here, but for those of us that have been here since day one, we made some specific -- very specific review of what we did have and made some very specific decisions to no longer accept cherry-picked evidence. I believe that we even referenced that in our report after much discussion, and I feel that no matter what discussions you may engage in during this break with counsel for the Governor, personally, and I think I do believe I speak on behalf of some of the other members of this committee, we have already made a determination as a committee that we will not accept cherry-picked evidence, period. And for that reason, I strenuously object to the distribution or the admission of these documents at this time.

If we were to receive complete responses from the Governor's team, I would be more than happy to change -- to review that and revisit this. But we have already determinately made a decision that we will not accept cherry-picked evidence and I do not see any reason why that should change at this juncture. Thank you.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Mr. Chairman, if I could just make a brief response to that?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I don't think it was an attack on you.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: I understand it wasn't an attack on me, and I didn't take it as such, but I believe that the evidence that is here before the committee today is highly probative to the nature of what has occurred in this situation, and I don't believe that this committee should ever refuse to accept highly probative information if we are trying to get to the truth and the whole truth. So I understand the lady's objections, but I object to the objection.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Gentlemen, the problem with what you just said is if we're trying to get to the truth and the whole truth, and the whole truth requires production of all of the evidence, not just that stuff which is cherry-picked, and I'm not saying we won't accept this as evidence eventually, but we have subpoenas for production of documents out there, documents that we have requested for three months, Ms. Nasser, three months, and Mr. Dowd had the audacity to stand there and yell at me and say that he couldn't provide them to any third party yesterday, and today we have a series of documents that he said he couldn't do it because of a Court order. Mr. Dowd lied Monday to this committee, he lied Tuesday to this committee, he lied Wednesday to this committee. I am tired of your team playing games with this. We have 35 requests for production of documents. You have objected to the vast majority of them, many of them saying you can't provide them, and now there's a subset that was -- that was provided.

Representative Phillips?

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Mr. Chairman, I'm absolutely going to agree with our ranking member, Representative Mitten. We did, prior to taking on any additional members, we certainly did come to that agreement that we would not accept little pieces of information here and there, and I suspect this is absolutely playing right into the defense's hands here without -- just a glance at this first sheet tells me that.

So I say let's get all the evidence and then we'll consider it without taking little pieces here and there that they want to dictate what the committee looks at and what they don't.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Mr. Koberna, man, you really didn't realize what you were going to get called in for. You testified earlier that you didn't -- you didn't have this set up.

What are your available dates next week? I'm sorry.

THE WITNESS: That's fine. I can make myself available. It's better next week than the following. I'll be out of town the following week.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Ms. Nasser, can you come to the seat? Are you going to object to a subpoena that we sent him for all documents relating to the search he did of any of the phones?

MS. NASSER: Mr. Barnes, I'll take that into consideration and consult with my team and our client.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. You have 20 minutes. I expect an answer in 20 minutes on whether you're going to object to our subpoena to Mr. Koberna to produce all evidence for us. We will be back --

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Might I?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Yes, you may make a comment.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Thank you, Mr.

Chair. I just wanted to comment that along with my colleagues, this, again, seems to be an approach to circumvent the entire process of this committee by not only providing cherry-picked information, but providing it to one specific person and not even having that information prior to this meeting where it is just sprung on us with an anticipation that this should just be part of information taken at face value. So I certainly agree that we should ask for all documentation. Thank you.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: One additional point of clarification, if I could. I, too, concur with the other members of the committee that we should have all the evidence available. My only point that I wish to clarify is that I don't believe we should turn away any probative evidence based on our concerns about how the rest of the process has unfolded. But I do agree that we should have all evidence in this matter available for the record.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: May I respond?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Thank you.

Yes, Representative Mitten?

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: And with all due respect to the gentleman from the Trent district, and this is just an unfortunate circumstance that you haven't been here since day one. However, again, I think that I can speak on behalf of the entire committee that we have had too many instances where whether it's information given to this committee or information given to the press or to the media through public statements that is absolutely cherry-picked, and after this committee has had an opportunity to review all of the evidence, with the exception of the Governor's testimony, we have consistently and repeatedly and, indeed, I cannot think of a single instance where we have not concluded unanimously that the information was insufficient and indeed cherry-picked in such a way that it was not the truth and was not credible. And I don't see any reason why the members of this committee, certainly those of us that have been here from the get-go, would have reason or cause to think at this juncture this kind of thing would be any different than it's been every single time it's happened in the past.

So thank you, Mr. Chair.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: And just so we're not speaking in generalities, let me give the two most prominent examples off the top of my head.

The first prominent example is that in response to receiving the circuit attorney's video that they received, the Governor's team made a public pronouncement that that video undercut everything that this committee had done in its report. The next day we obtained the video. The next working day in this building the committee reviewed the video. And the committee unanimously found that there was nothing in that video that undercut the committee's report. That's the first prominent example.

The second prominent example was the comment about the dream, this public comment about a dream. Now, we have the actual transcript of the deposition testimony, which we've read into the record, which makes very clear that witness one said that she did not remember seeing the phone in particular, and that she would not testify to that under oath because her memory of that was not strong enough, but nothing else that she said was in the nature of a dream, that she knew her memories were strong enough on everything else, other than the visualization of the phone, that she could testify to those things under oath.

Those are the two most prominent examples.

Let me give you a third example. We got a letter from Mr. Dowd when he knew that we were reviewing the circuit attorney's video, a letter that, by the way, violated the very Court order that he hides behind, and that letter claimed that PS had driven KS to the police department in Jefferson City on the morning that she spoke to our committee. Well, guess what, we know where PS was that morning, we've spoken to KS's lawyer, he picked her up, he drove her down. That was another cherry-picked claim that was a lie from Mr. Dowd.

And so, Representative Trent, I fully agree, we need anything that's probative, we need it, but this committee has experience with Mr. Dowd and this team that shows that their cherry-picked evidence cannot be trusted. This is the Show Me State. You want us to look at evidence, give it all -- give all of the evidence to us.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: And a fourth example would be the pornographic bondage pictures that they claimed would be KS that obviously were not.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: That's a fourth example. I bet if we went through the entire transcript of this committee, Ms. Nasser, we could find seven, eight, nine, ten examples of lies from your side.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Let me ask Representative Trent, this stuff that you're going to be bringing out, is it going to require, then, followup questions to Mr. Koberna?

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Well, that was the intention was to get him to verify that it is, in fact, authentic information that came from the phones that he reviewed, and then at that -- to lay the foundation that this is evidence that should be considered.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Well, I think we are blessed to have someone who is willing to testify in a nonpartisan, unbiased, you know, raw data.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Absolutely.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: So I hate to inconvenience him any more than we have to, but if we have to, we have to.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: I appreciate the gentleman's forbearance with the committee and the process.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Mr. Koberna, if we were to provide you with a subpoena, and you know what, if Ms. Nasser will consent today, I don't think we would need a subpoena to get these documents.

If we were to provide you with a subpoena for all the documents, how long do you believe it would take to produce them?

THE WITNESS: For the documents that I have in my possession, or the documents I submitted to the special master?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: All documents in your possession relating to your examination of this phone or any other account of Mr. Greitens or submitted to the special master, everything?

THE WITNESS: I could get to -- I'm trying to remember what all I gave to the special master, because it's all through pretty much e-mail.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Everything that you have. So you just -- we want everything that you have. We are not going to cherry-pick evidence in this committee, Ms. Nasser, and you can tell Mr. Dowd that as well. And Mr. Dowd knows it because we've made that clear to him for a long time. In fact, we put it in a report and we unanimously agreed upon that as a committee.

I'm glad you remembered that,

Representative Mitten, because we did unanimously agree to it as a committee.

So how long for the entire --

THE WITNESS: The only reference I would say is I would contact Judge Callahan, the person who I've been entrusted by the Court to facilitate this, and let him make the ultimate decision with regards to all that. That would be my -- because he's ultimately in charge of the data and the contents. I don't have any problem giving you whatever you need.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Ms. Nasser, do you have all of that information? Does your firm have all of that information?

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Check with the special master.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Yes or no?

MS. NASSER: Mr. Barnes, I am happy to talk with you --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: It's a fact question. Do you know the answer to that?

MS. NASSER: I'm not here to testify.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: It's a fact question.

MS. NASSER: And I would also appreciate if --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Do you know the answer to the question, Ms. Nasser?

MS. NASSER: I would appreciate if you would not yell at me anymore.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Ms. Nasser, I would appreciate it if your side would take this process seriously and stop playing games.

MS. NASSER: Mr. Barnes, I would appreciate if you would stop talking over me and stop yelling at me. You've been yelling at me for a very long time and I only met you for the first time about an hour ago. And I am happy to speak with you over a break and to entertain --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: We are not going to speak over a break.

MS. NASSER: Okay.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: We are going to speak on the record. You can call back to the office, you can answer the question of whether you are going to consent to the handing over of all of the evidence and not just the cherry-picked stuff that was provided to a member of this committee without knowledge of any other member of this committee and without being shared before this hearing today. That is the question.

So two questions: One, do you know the answer to the fact question of whether you have all of the data?

MS. NASSER: I'm not here to answer any questions. I am here as an observer. And we are not consenting to anything today.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Is there a reason you are here today instead of Mr. Dowd? Did Mr. Dowd not want to be here when he had said yesterday that he couldn't give us evidence, and then today that evidence was going to magically -- evidence in that category was going to magically appear so that we couldn't talk to Mr. Dowd? Do you know, is Mr. Dowd in Jefferson City today?

MS. NASSER: Sir, I'm not here to answer your questions. I am here to observe.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: These are fact questions. Is Mr. Dowd --

MS. NASSER: I'm not here to answer any fact questions. I'm not here to be yelled at. I'm not here to be spoken over.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: We are not here to have one side of this process play games with us.

Is Mr. Dowd in Jefferson City today? Can he talk to this committee? Do you have -- if you're saying you don't have authorization to make any such decisions, I understand. Is that what you're saying today?

MS. NASSER: I'm not saying that.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. You do have authorization?

MS. NASSER: I'm not saying that either. I'm saying I'm not here to answer questions.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: You are here on behalf --

MS. NASSER: I am speaking with respect and expect the same from you.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Well, I'm sorry, but your team has not treated this committee with respect. Your team has not treated taxpayers with respect. We have asked for these documents for three months, three months, and now all of a sudden they just magically appear?

You refuse to answer any questions? Your team is going to refuse to answer any questions about whether you will consent to the production of all of documents associated with this?

MS. NASSER: I am not here to answer questions. I'm here to observe and I'm happy to speak with you --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Can you call Mr. Dowd and ask how long it will take him to get into this hearing room?

MS. NASSER: I'm not going to do that.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: So when Mr. Dowd goes out in the hallway and expresses disappointment about not being permitted to have further participation in this process, and now we are seeking his participation in this process or seeking answers from you, your answer is that you're not going to participate.

Thank you. Let's take a 25-minute break. I would like to -- I would like to have a closed discussion for a moment, and I so move.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Second.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Mr. Secretary, please call roll.

MR. SCHEIDERER: Chairman Barnes?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Aye.

MR. SCHEIDERER: Vice-chairman Phillips?

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Aye.

MR. SCHEIDERER: Representative Mitten?

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Aye.

MR. SCHEIDERER: Lauer?
REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Rhodes; Austin?
REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Pierson, Jr.; Eggleston?
REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Trent?
REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Razer?
REPRESENTATIVE RAZER: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Eight.
CHAIRMAN BARNES: Mr. Nasser -- Ms. Nasser, you are correct, this is not a problem that you created, it is a problem that Mr. Dowd created. You happen to be the person from your firm here today representing them. I wish that Mr. Dowd were here to answer these questions.
We will be back at 12:30.
(Recess taken.)
CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. Let's go back on the record after a short hearing.
By the way, Representative Trent, I love the phrase infinite malleability. I did have that noted earlier that I'm going to use that at some point on some thing.

We took a short break. We made a decision, the vice chairman is going to have a motion here in a moment. I want to apologize, Ms. Nasser did not come back, I want to apologize for some of my conduct towards her and I realize after, with a little time, that Ms. Nasser was set up as the person to be here sort of as a fall person for Mr. Dowd who did not show. And I think Mr. Dowd's conduct as an attorney this week and through the course of this matter raises some real questions about whether he's violating some rules of professional ethics, and Rule 4 in particular, and I want to say to the committee I am incredibly disappointed. In fact, I would go so far as to say I am in absolute shock. Maybe I shouldn't be. Maybe I'm too optimistic. Maybe I see things -- expect better from people and always hope to see the good side. But what happened today is really shocking for me after the screaming that Mr. Dowd did yesterday about not being able to provide these documents, and then we get objections to our request that say they can't provide them and then all of a sudden things magically appear.

Mr. Dowd, I know you're listening. You are welcome to come back to this committee next week. We will have some significant questions for you and your conduct.

Mr. Vice Chair?

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Thank you, Mr. Chair. Just for the record, if some of the rest of the committee members can come up with impressive words, that we will be in favor with you as committee members.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Yes.

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: I'm going to work on that.

I'm going to make the motion --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Hold on, hold on. Ms. Nasser is back and -- and so I apologized while you were not here, so I don't want to just apologize in absentia. I am sorry for any anger I directed towards you or frustration towards you. You are right. This is the first time you've been involved in this process. You were thrown into this. I am shocked at what has happened, at what has occurred after what we've been told, but it shouldn't have been hollering at you. So I apologize for that.

I did ask if you could see if you could get consent to -- that you -- consent to say you would not object to a subpoena or to the production of all of the documents that he has relating to Mr. Greitens' phone, and we're not going to have this screaming match again, but I do want to ask the question: Have you received -- can you state your side's position on that issue?

MS. NASSER: I do have a statement from Mr. Dowd that I can read.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: That's fine.

MS. NASSER: So this is a message that I've been provided by Ed Dowd. He says: I am not in Jefferson City today, therefore I am asking Ms. Nasser to read the following from me.

We were led to believe that the circuit attorney's office had delivered to the committee all discovery that the circuit attorney possessed. As I sit here today, I have no reason to believe that is not true. That material would have included the documents provided this morning to Representative Trent. If the circuit attorney did not provide these documents, then that may actually raise a question as to why she provided some, but not all of the discovery which she possessed. Nevertheless, our provision of records to Mr. Trent was done with a belief that the committee already had this material. As to the request for our consent to allow Mr. Koberna to turn over everything he obtained from the three phones in question, we cannot do so, but will be happy to work with committee as to what can be turned over that has not already been turned over. Much on the phones was kept from the parties because it was personal and totally irrelevant to the matters in question. Those things will need to remain protected for all three individuals, and I will be happy to come back to Jefferson City next week.

So that's from Mr. Dowd. And he is not in Jefferson City today.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Thank you, Ms. Nasser.

MS. NASSER: And I do appreciate your apology because, as I said, I've been a federal prosecutor for 13 years and an attorney for 16. I've been before countless federal judges and other judges and I've never been in a proceeding where I've ever been spoken to like that in my life, and so I do appreciate your apology.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: And I mean it for you. I do not mean it for Mr. Dowd.

I want to comment on that because I believe that we made clear in this committee that we weren't sure whether, in fact, we received everything from the circuit attorney's office because, for example, we were still searching and seeking out Volume 2 and we actively made the comments about that we weren't sure how organized they were to actually give us the files, and I believe that we had that discussion in public.

Does anyone else have a different recollection?

So the extent that Mr. Dowd makes that claim, I believe that he also knows that to be untrue.

Representative Razer?

REPRESENTATIVE RAZER: I was just going to ask if you could just explain what we just heard in nonlegal terms?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I think what we just heard was that Mr. Dowd is determining that he is going to be the arbiter of what is relevant and what is not, and this committee is going to be the arbiter of what is relevant and what is not. We are going to subpoena all of the documents and we need to talk about this as a committee.

In an ordinary Court proceeding, and we understand, Representative Trent, this is not a regular Court proceeding, this is not a Court proceeding at all, I believe lawyers that engage in this type of conduct would be sanctioned by a Court, and maybe sanctioned by the Missouri Bar, I don't know. That's separate and apart from what we do. But until we get all of the evidence, because of Mr. Dowd's pension for lying to this committee, we're not going to call this witness back in until we get all of the evidence. And I'm sorry that Mr. Dowd has spent the last three months lying to this committee and we've finally reached a breaking point, but do you know what you call someone who lies?

REPRESENTATIVE RAZER: A liar.

I would just -- if I could add, I've been on this committee for a week, I did not realize that being on this committee was going to require me to be on blood pressure medication because this is making me angry. I have read, seen, heard things in the last week that I'd rather not read, see or hear. We have had testimony in here from a self-proclaimed hillbilly from Butler County.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Who lied the whole time.

REPRESENTATIVE RAZER: We had another attorney whose language was so colorful that I had to speak up yesterday. And then another attorney who seems to be representing them both, and it seems to me today that we have a Navy Seal and his legal team cowering in front of a Jefferson City attorney.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. Representative Phillips?

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

I make a motion that we excuse the witness. You'll be pleased to hear that, no doubt.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Mr. Koberna, you really walked into it.

Start the motion again. I'm sorry for my -- so this is what -- this is the look I often get in the committee in which Representative Phillips is the --

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Absolutely. Okay.

Once again, I make the motion that we excuse the witness. Mr. Koberna, thank you for being here today, and that we subpoena all the documents that you have in your possession, and when you return, that you return with those documents and we will work with your schedule. We're not going to demand anything, but we would like that done as soon as possible.

THE WITNESS: I understand. I reached out to -- just so you're aware -- am I interrupting or --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Let us --

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Let us vote.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Let us vote on the motion.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Can you speak up?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: You're speaking to scheduling.

THE WITNESS: Scheduling, and also I've reached out, just so you know, during the break to Judge Callahan, the master of the documents -- or master of everything, he's reaching out to Judge Burelson in order to get clarification on how we can get you the information that you're requesting. So that is the path I'm taking because that's who I answer to in this particular case, and I don't want to overstep their bounds or legal proceedings they have going on.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: We fully appreciate your position and that you have been thrust into this, that you had no idea what you were getting into on day one, and now you're in like day 90 and you've got a special master and you've got a house committee and you've got a Judge in St. Louis and you -- there's a lot of -- a lot more parties you're dealing with than normal.

THE WITNESS: I understand.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: So we appreciate your position.

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: If everyone is okay with the motion I make, then I renew the motion.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Should we vote -- do you want to take a roll call?

Mr. Secretary, please call the roll.

MR. SCHEIDERER: Chairman Barnes?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Aye.

MR. SCHEIDERER: Vice-chairman Phillips?

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Aye.

MR. SCHEIDERER: Representatives Mitten?

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Aye.

MR. SCHEIDERER: Lauer?

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Rhodes; Austin?
REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Pierson, Jr.; Eggleston?
REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Trent?
REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Razer?
REPRESENTATIVE RAZER: Aye.
MR. SCHEIDERER: Eight to zero.
CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. Now, some of these announcements. We have Michael -- witness, you are excused.
REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: You can stay, you can go. It's up to you.
CHAIRMAN BARNES: Do you have a business card that you can leave so we make sure we have all of your contact info so we can coordinate on a time?
REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Reluctantly.
CHAIRMAN BARNES: Yeah. So the plan for Tuesday, we have finished reviewing the first round review of the 32,000 documents. There's a PDF file, I believe, that the Alex's have; is that correct?

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: I believe so.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: That we'll ask them to send the PDF file around. On Tuesday we have Mr. Hafner (sp), we've talked about some of the documents he has, we're calling him again to testify. He can authenticate those documents that we -- and we can ask him some questions about those.

I'm not sure if -- I highly doubt that Mr. Koberna is going to be available on Tuesday, but if he is, maybe we can -- maybe we can do that.

I would also -- I think it also is relevant for people to know that we have subpoenaed Mr. Greitens to appear on Monday, June 4th, 2018. We have subpoenaed witness one to appear again on June 5th, 2018.

Ms. Nasser, we would kind of like some idea for scheduling purposes, we are trying to work out a time for Mr. Austin Chambers to appear. There's a negotiation on times. We have sent him a subpoena as well. He is out of state. It's harder to deal with out-of-state subpoenas and actually get them properly served, but there's currently a negotiation going on about what day he would be there, and so it would be helpful for our schedule if we would know before Monday, June 4th, if Mr. Greitens is, in fact, going to testify on that day so that we would know if that's a day available for Austin Chambers in his absence.

Ms. Nasser, do you know at this moment in time if he's going to testify?

MS. NASSER: I don't know.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. The answer -- for the record, the answer was: I don't know.

I think I'm going to get the same answer. Do you have any idea as to when a decision will be made on that?

MS. NASSER: I don't know.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. I don't know. But I want to make sure that Mr. Dowd, I'm sure, is watching again, and so, Mr. Dowd, the question is out there for you.

From the very first day this committee was formed, it has endeavored to find out the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Since that first day, Mr. Dowd promised to cooperate. This is a two-way street. We need documents, not stonewalling from Mr. Dowd. We need Mr. Greitens to appear and testify under oath before this committee. There have been reports that he's been talking to members of the house about various events, and if he is capable of doing that, he is capable of coming to this committee and testifying under oath. That's what we're after, the truth. And in order to get the truth, we need to hear from both sides. And if one side refuses to participate and refuses to provide any documents pursuant to lawful subpoenas that were sent to them, we're going to proceed without them because that's all we can do.

We've extended this offer every single day. We are in our 88th day, and we are still waiting for Mr. Greitens to testify.

Witness one has testified under oath, I believe, five times, once before this committee, and I believe four times in the case in the City of St. Louis. There's also an additional video of her, so six times.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Seven, twice through grand jury, three depositions here and video.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Seven times. Seven times. We called her back as a witness.

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: May I interject?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Yes, you may interject.

VICE-CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Well, Mr. Chairman, as you know and the committee knows, for 28 years I was a Missouri State Trooper and I had the opportunity to interrogate, if you will, to question a number of witnesses, if not thousands through the years, but certainly hundreds and hundreds. It's always been my observance that those that don't have anything to hide are more than willing to speak with you. Those that do have something to hide are very reluctant to speak to you, and that's just all I wanted to say based on my background and experience in that particular area. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

She has testified seven times. Mr. Greitens has refused to go under oath. And yet Mr. Dowd insists that we call witness one back for an eighth time and won't say whether his client is going to show up and testify for the very first time. We seek the truth. Mr. Dowd, please have your client come testify.

With that, we are adjourned until Tuesday -- we are going to cancel Saturday. There will be no Saturday hearing. Are we noticed up for Tuesday at 8:00?

MR. SCHEIDERER: 10:00.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I was -- I was just about to say for those driving in from elsewhere, we we're going to move it back to 10:00, so we're noticed up for Tuesday at 10:00. I hope everyone has a nice, enjoyable, relaxing Memorial Day weekend.

(The House Special Investigative Committee on Oversight hearing was concluded at 12:52 p.m.)

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE COMMITTEE - AM

(May 29, 2018)

CHAIRMAN BARNES: All right. Call this hearing of House Special Investigative Committee on Oversight to order. Mr. Secretary, please call the roll.

SECRETARY CURCHIN: Representative Barnes.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Here.

SECRETARY CURCHIN: Representative Phillips.

REPRESENTATIVE PHILLIPS: Here.

SECRETARY CURCHIN: Representative Austin.

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: Here.

SECRETARY CURCHIN: Representative Eggleston. Representative Lauer.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Here.

SECRETARY CURCHIN: Representative Mitten.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Here.

SECRETARY CURCHIN: Representative Pierson Jr. Representative Razer.

REPRESENTATIVE RAZER: Here.

SECRETARY CURCHIN: Representative Rhoads.

REPRESENTATIVE RHOADS: Here.

SECRETARY CURCHIN: Representative Trent.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Here.

SECRETARY CURCHIN: Quorum established.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: We have a quorum as previously announced. Alix with an "i" is making copies of documents that are going to be exhibits. A lengthier version of the same, I don't think it's much lengthier, was sent to everyone yesterday and I just want to make sure everyone has the exact same packet of documents from which I'm working, which is a subset of what was e-mailed out last night. We will stand at ease until Ms. Hallen returns.

I apologize for my legislative time this morning. So if others become -- get on legislative time and the Chairman chastises them, well, there's not much room for the Chairman to chastise legislative time any more after this morning.

(Off the record.)

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Let's become formal now. We are officially in session. Mr. Hafner is here again this morning. Mr. Hafner, thank you for being here. Why don't you come on up and take the witness stand. The Committee appreciates your patience with the Chair. Can you raise your right hand?

(Witness sworn.)

MICHAEL HAFNER, being sworn, testified as follows:

QUESTIONS BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Can you state your name?

A. Michael Hafner.

Q. And Mr. Hafner, this is not the first time that you have testified before this Committee; is that correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. Have you reviewed your testimony from the first time you came before this Committee?

A. I have.

Q. And is there any statement you made previous to this Committee that you would like to retract at this time?

A. No, there's not.

Q. Do you affirm that everything you said previously was truthful?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. So for other members of the Committee, if other members of the Committee would like to go back to previous testimony, feel free to do so. I'm not going to go back on those grounds, but I want to make clear at the outset feel free to do so.

I'm going to be sending Representative Austin up to you on a frequent basis. And so the first document I'll have him --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Do we know what document we're on, Bryan?

MS. HALLEN: I just numbered these. So we'll be on 76.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: We are on 76.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Representative Austin is handing you what's been marked as Exhibit 76 which is a Greitens for Missouri strategy session. Should be a two-page document. Do you recognize this?

A. I do.

Q. And what is this?

A. This is an agenda for a strategy meeting that was held at the Greitens for Missouri office in the central west end in January of 2015. The date is wrong on the top.

Q. The date is incorrect on page 1. It's actually 2015?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. I now direct Mr. Austin hand you what we're going to mark as Exhibit 77.

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: That would be Hafner Bates stamps 4 and 5?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Hafner Bates stamps 4 and 5, correct.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Do you recognize this? And let me in addition to 4 and 5, the next which is 6, Hafner 4, 5 and 6 should be attached to what we've marked as 77. Okay. And so do you recognize this?

A. I do.

Q. And what is this?

A. This was one of the first meetings we had with Mr. Greitens and his staffer Dave Whitman in early 2014 to discuss a potential run for office.

Q. And was it known at that time what the run for office was going to be?

A. It was not.

Q. And what was on the potential table for the run for office?

A. At the time, we believed that every state-wide office and other offices too were on the table.

Q. Based on your meeting, did you come to a belief as to whether Eric Greitens was going to be a candidate for some office in Missouri?

A. Yes, you can say that.

Q. And what was the conclusion you reached based on this meeting?

A. Based on this meeting, as well as the previous meeting we had with him, we knew that he was serious and we knew that he was planning to run for office in 2016.

Q. Would you say at that point in time it was a certainty -- that you believed it was a certainty he was going to run for office or was this still something in consideration?

A. I wouldn't say 100 percent certainty, but it seemed that his mind had been made up on running.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. I'm now going to ask Representative Austin to hand you what he's going to mark as Exhibit 78 which should be Hafner 13, Hafner 14, Hafner 15.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Mr. Hafner, do you recognize this document?

A. I do.

Q. And what is that document?

A. This was correspondence between myself and the managing director of Greitens Group, Dave Whitman, discussing a meeting that we had set Eric up with to meet a group of donors in March of 2014.

Q. Were those major donors or small-time donors?

A. Major donors.

Q. And did you attend that meeting?

A. I did not.

Q. Did Mr. Greitens --

A. Yes.

Q. -- attend that meeting? The e-mails here are from February 27, 2014. Do you know when approximately that meeting occurred?

A. I do not know the exact day. I know the meeting time for this group is specifically on a certain day of the month. At the time, I think it was on a Thursday. In the e-mail, it's listed as March 13. I don't have any reason to believe it wasn't on March 13.

Q. Okay. And for the Committee's knowledge, the plan before publicly releasing these is to redact personally identifiable information of other participants in the meeting which would -- and e-mail addresses of people who are witnesses who otherwise -- whose names otherwise would not be redacted; does that make sense?

A. Okay.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Austin, can you do now Hafner 17 --

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: The next document in the package you gave us is actually 16. So we are kind of going out of order there.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: That's right.

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: Exhibit 79 will be Hafner Bates stamp 17.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Mr. Hafner, do you recognize this document?

A. I do.

Q. And let's be clear with the Committee. All of these documents were requested pursuant to a second subpoena that the Committee sent to you; is that correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. Seeking documents about fundraising relating to Mr. Greitens?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. And what is this particular document?

A. This was another meeting that I set up for Mr. Greitens to attend with a group of -- with a group of donors in March of 2014.

Q. Were these major donors or minor donors?

A. Major donors. They did -- Later on in the campaign they did end up contributing a pretty large amount to his campaign.

Q. Did you attend this meeting?

A. I did.

Q. And can you describe what happened in that meeting?

A. This was an introductory meeting for Eric to be introduced to a number of influential donors in Missouri, and again it was going -- kind of going through his bio and his future plans on running for office. At the time, I don't think he specified a particular office that he was running for, but it was essentially just an introductory meeting.

Q. Did he say he was going to run for office?

A. In this meeting, and other meetings, he always said that he wanted to run for an office where he would have an impact, and for him that was always governor or lieutenant governor.

Q. Did he say anything about fundraising at that particular time or at any point in the future during this meeting?

A. During this specific meeting, I don't recall anything about specific fundraising.

Q. I mean obviously he wasn't taking donations?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. Was there any ask for support or was the meeting go in vague terms about plans?

A. At this time, it was all very vague. To my recollection, he was still involved with The Mission Continues quite a bit but in a transition period where he was transitioning out. So it was very vague in this specific meeting. I don't recall discussing any fundraising or anything like that specifically asked.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Austin, if you could hand the witness what's been labeled Hafner 16 and let's mark this as Exhibit 80.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Do you recognize this?
A. I do.
Q. And what is this?
A. This came out of a meeting that we had with Mr. Greitens. They had wanted the contact information for a researcher to do an inoculation file on Eric to determine his vulnerabilities as a candidate, and so I reached out to a vendor who I had worked with in the past on a number of races for contacts. He had connected me with this gentleman, and I forwarded the contact information on to Mr. Whitman for them to follow up on.
Q. Was this ever done? Let me give you a time frame. Okay. Obviously at some point in time they probably did research like this. Do you know if this was done in 2014?
A. I do not know. I don't believe that it was but -- and I say that just because when I was working as a contractor for him working out of his office they were in discussions with another researcher at that time too.
Q. Okay. So that's the basis of your belief that it had not been previously done because it wouldn't make sense for them to be talking about doing a second round of it?
A. Correct.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Austin, Hafner 19, 20 and 21, can you mark that as Exhibit 81, and I'll let folks catch up who are on the computer, Representative Rhoads.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Do you recognize this?

A. I do.

Q. And what is this?

A. This was information about a meeting that we set up for Eric and his team in the summer of 2014 where we included a number of Missouri-based political consultants and some national consultants and potential vendors for a campaign.

Q. Did you attend this meeting?

A. I did.

Q. And if we could go down here, I want to ask you, so you had a researcher there?

A. (The witness nodded his head.)

Q. Did he actually attend?

A. Yes.

Q. You had a demographer there. Did he actually attend?

A. Yes.

Q. You had a media buyer there for a potential campaign. Did he attend?

A. Yes.
Q. You had two political consultants there. Did they attend?
A. Yes.
Q. You had a pollster listed here. Did that pollster attend?
A. Yes.
Q. And is that a national pollster?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. So this isn't the guy next door. And then you had Mr. Greitens' staff member at the Greitens Group was there; is that correct? Did he attend?
A. Correct.
Q. And then there were further staff members associated with you. Did those folks attend as well?
A. They did.
Q. And then there's a name here of a political type person under others. Did that person eventually attend?
A. To my recollection, yes, he did.
Q. Okay. And what was discussed at this meeting?
A. It was essentially going through all the different departments of a campaign basically laying the groundwork for a pending campaign, going through the different areas, whether opposition research, grassroots. I don't recall fundraising being a topic of discussion there. But each of these individuals that you mentioned, they put together presentations for Eric and his wife and allowed themselves to address any questions that they had about running for office. The demographer obviously had a bunch of historical analysis put together on different races and previous campaigns, as well as just the voter demographics of the state.

Q. So there were 14 people at this meeting approximately?

A. Approximately. I believe this is the full list.

Q. Did you rent a room?

A. Yes.

Q. Did that room cost money?

A. So it was actually at a hotel of a donor. I don't know if we -- if they comped the room or not. I don't recall.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. If we could, Representative Austin, if you could mark 27 and 28 as Exhibit 83.

Mr. Hafner, what's the exhibit marked in front of you right now that we just reviewed?

THE WITNESS: 81.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: 81. We are on 82, you're correct. Thank you, Representative Austin.

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: Just doing my job, sir.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Do you recognize this?

A. I do.

Q. And is this the meeting agenda for the meeting you just discussed?

A. This is a meeting agenda for a meeting that was -- I believe it was a follow-up meeting to the meeting that we had previously discussed.

Q. So this was a separate meeting?

A. It was a separate meeting right after the vendor meeting that we had.

Q. Okay. If you look at page 2 here which is labeled as Hafner 28. You start with a vendor meeting recap; is that right?

A. Correct.

Q. So it is fair to assume now at this point in time that to the extent your memory might have been wrong does this refresh your recollection as to it being a separate meeting?

A. Yes. I remember a meeting that we had directly after the vendor meeting. Eric was very interested in advancing the discussion on running.

Q. And you have topic here such as Building a Winning Grassroots Campaign; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Positioning for a Primary?
A. Yes.
Q. National Finance Strategy and Goals?
A. Yes.
Q. Timeline and Priorities for the Candidate and Campaign?
A. Yes.
CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Austin, Hafner 31 if you can mark that as 83.
BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:
Q. Do you recognize this?
CHAIRMAN BARNES: While you review that, do we have more exhibit stickers?
(Off the record.)
BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:
Q. Mr. Hafner, do you recognize this?
A. I do.
Q. And what is this?
A. This was a statement that we helped Eric draft, and I don't know the exact reason why he released it. I think this was the time period where he was stepping down from Mission Continues and we helped draft the statement to address any media inquiries that he had.

Q. Maybe the next document can help you.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Austin, if you could mark Hafner 32 and 33 as Exhibit 84.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. And what we've marked as 84 appears to be -- So 83, the subject line in the e-mail is Draft V2. 84 is Draft V4. And if you look down below the dotted line there, it says Dave, I saw what you wrote about Eric and I want to clarify what you were told. Do you know who Dave is? Does this refresh your recollection?

A. I do. It's Dave Drebes, the Missouri scout, Subscription News Service.

Q. Okay. So does that refresh your recollection as to Exhibit 83?

A. It does. He had posted something about Eric, and Eric and Dave Whitman wanted to address what he wrote. I don't remember what he wrote. It might have been something about him, you know, having Democrat ties, and I say that just because of the content of the exhibit Draft V2. So I think they wanted to address a lot of things in this statement. And so we were helping them through many drafts of a statement to respond to him.

Q. Okay. And you helped with that draft. Who wrote the draft, though?

A. I think Eric had a direct hand in it. I know I added -- I had some input as well. I don't know who -- you know, the final draft I think was mostly a creation of Eric and Dave.

Q. So in Version 2 it says I've always been a Republican and strong fiscal conservative. Do you know who drafted that?

A. I don't believe it was me.

Q. And you played a role in drafting this?

A. I did to a certain extent. I say that because our advice at the time was to have a very short statement addressing the content that was in Mr. Drebes' post, and so this was an extremely long statement. As you can tell, it's a page long. We knew he wasn't going to print the whole page. I know that I helped draft part of this. Certainly a lot of this was not my content.

Q. Okay. If you could move forward to Exhibit 84 which is Draft V4. Dave Whitman says I spoke to Eric and he agreed on all edits. Do you recall any further conversations about this particular statement?

A. No. They had kind of taken over control. They wanted our input, but they wanted to go in a certain direction on it.

Q. And that last sentence of the first paragraph, Democrats have approached him about running for the senate for congress and state wide on several occasions. He has said no on everytime. Do you know whether that is a true statement or not?

A. I think that's what Eric wanted people to believe. But in my discussions with other people, you know, I think it was kind of the other way around. I think he openly solicited national Democrats in 2008 and 2010 to try to get them to recruit him to run.

Q. Do you recall who those people were?

A. Do I recall those people? Who are you referring to?

Q. The people with whom you spoke about Mr. Greitens contacting national Democrats to be recruited.

A. Not specifically, you know. Those would have been rumors that kind of came to the surface during the campaign, during the governor's campaign. There were some documents released from national level Democrats that had memos detailing meetings that Eric was having with national Democrats and, you know, you just don't go fly to Washington, DC and meet with the DCCC if you're not serious about running or not serious about gaining support of national Democrats.

Q. What's the DCCC?

A. The Democrat Congressional Campaign Committee. There are some memos out there, I know I've seen them on the Internet, from Steve Israel who is head of the DCCC and some others. I know I've never had access to those.

Q. I'm not sure we're going to credit the internet memos at this point in time.

A. Sure.

Q. What date did you start working for Mr. Greitens for pay?

A. January of 2015.

Q. And what was the nature of your work?

A. So at the time I thought it was to help him help network him around the state, kind of navigate the political waters. He was a first-time candidate. It wasn't until I started probably the first or second day that I knew that he brought me on just to focus mostly on fundraising for him. And that was something that I was qualified to do. I'd done that work for a number of candidates in the past. But I didn't know what my role was until really those first couple days of working with him at the office.

Q. Who actually paid you at the start?

A. The Greitens Group paid me for the month of January.

Q. Did you do any work that was not political?
A. No.
Q. And do you know when Danny Laub started?
A. I do not know. I know there's testimony released that --
Q. I do not know, we'll just stick with I do not know.
A. Yeah.
Q. What was the nature of Mr. Laub's -- Mr. Laub was working with you starting in January?
A. So he was working I know at least since December out of Eric's office in the central west end, and so I had assumed that he was just doing mainly political work as well.
Q. Okay.
A. Those are the only discussions Danny ever had with me was just solely about politics and political work.
Q. And is that in January that that's true that the only discussions you had with Danny were about politics?
A. I met with Danny a couple times in December. One time was out of Eric's office. And Danny was already -- had already been working out of his office. There was a transition period, and I want to get this on the record because I think it might clarify a couple things, there was a transition period in the fall of 2014, where I was working with Dave Whitman quite a bit. He and Eric had parted ways and there was a transition period where at that time I think that's when Danny kind of moved into the picture and later that fall in December is when I started working with Danny a lot more. And so I knew he was involved, but I don't know the extent and I don't know how he was paid or anything.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. Representative Austin, Hafner 34, 35, 36, 37, 38. If we could mark that as Exhibit 85.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Since we have five pages, I'll give you a minute. You know the question is going to be do you recognize this. Let me give you a minute to review, Mr. Hafner.

A. I do.

Q. And what is this document?

A. This was correspondence between Mr. Laub and myself.

Q. Let's back up. Let's start on page 34. Your initial e-mail is from you to whom?

A. So the initial e-mail is from me to Eric, to Mr. Greitens.

Q. What do you tell Mr. Greitens?

A. So there was a lot of discussion that we were having in the fall of 2014. We had suggested that he open some sort of committee.

Q. When you say "we," who's we?

A. Myself and David Barklage.

Q. Okay.

A. We had suggested that he open some sort of committee so that he could raise money, use it for traveling. Even if he -- Again, at the time we weren't positive that he had settled on an office yet or even 100 percent that he was going to run. But we still suggested that he open a committee so that he could raise money for it because he was doing political activities.

Obviously he was meeting with us and we had introduced him to many different influencers, donors, activists around the state. And so we had suggested numerous times that he open some sort of committee.

I had a discussion with the Missouri Ethics Commission and kind of said the situation as I knew it. And --

Q. How did you describe the situation to the Ethics Commission?

A. That he was doing political activities and, you know, if he could open a continuing Committee rather than a candidate committee, and their advice to me was that he should open a candidate committee. And so this e-mail that I sent to Eric was with that advice advising him to open a candidate committee.

Q. And what did Mr. Greitens say to that advice?

A. Obviously he disregarded it. He forwarded this e-mail to Danny Laub who reached out to me right away or within a few days. A couple days later it looks like he reached out to me and wanted to set a meeting to go over his stuff and then a bunch of other campaign related items.

Q. And did you have that meeting with Mr. Laub?

A. I did.

Q. And what occurred in the meeting with Mr. Laub?

A. So I don't recall every detail of the meeting, but I met him over at Eric's office and we discussed just campaign activities and kind of next steps and it was more I think to formalize -- to begin formalizing some sort of paid arrangement between myself and Eric Greitens.

Q. In regards to the formation of -- the official formation of a candidate committee, do you recall the substance of the conversation and the decisions that were made -- and/or the decision that was made?

A. I don't. I don't recall exactly. And I mean for the record I'd like to, you know, kind of give some background on this. Eric's timeline from very early on in 2014, he had it kind of charted out. He wanted to announce for an office after his book was launched.

His book was planning on being launched in the spring of 2015. His plan was to essentially use the positive media generated and, you know, and the exposure from his book to use that as a launching pad to his campaign. And so we advised him obviously that he should have a committee set up, formed, but I think that ran contrary to what his plans -- to what he thought his plans were and should be.

Q. Let's talk about this book. You had conversations with Mr. Greitens about a book tour?

A. I think only to the extent that it affected his time in the office because he was doing a lot of traveling and speaking engagements in March. His book launched in early March of 2015. I think just to that extent we did but not very much.

Q. I should have given you a temporal component to that question. That was 2015. So in 2014, did you have conversations with Mr. Greitens about the launch of a book and a potential book tour?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And what was the substance of those conversations?

A. I think it was more under the general umbrella that this was the timeline, this is what he was planning on doing. He didn't want to announce until after the book tour.

Q. And why was that?

A. I think for a number of reasons. I think strategically he wanted to focus on selling books and getting his name out there and promoting the book and doing the national media circuit, and so, one, I think he wanted to focus on that and, two, I think it was a great opportunity for him to reach out to potential donors of the campaign as well, his book launch. I say that because I know that I was copied on a number of e-mails that he sent to potential donors with recent news of the book or recent articles about himself, and so I think he was using that as a promotional tool as well.

Q. Did he ever speak to you about the availability of nonprofit foundation funds for publicity purposes relating to the book?

A. He did not.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Austin, if you can mark Hafner 43 as Exhibit 86.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:
Q. Mr. Hafner, do you recognize this document?
A. I do.
Q. What is this document?
A. This is an e-mail from Jeff Stuerman to myself and other members of the campaign team about filing -- about filing a committee with the Missouri Ethics Commission, and Jeff was following up with some information, just proactively following up about some potential responses to questions that the campaign might receive about forming the committee.
Q. And it was sent on January 16, 2015?
A. It was.
Q. And Mr. Hafner, had you been working out of Mr. Greitens' office prior to that date?
A. I was. I believe my first date working was either the 5th or 6th of January.
Q. Did you get paid more than 500? Was your rate of pay more than $500 total for those two weeks?
A. Yes.
CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Austin, if we could now mark 79 and 80 as Exhibit 87.
BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:
Q. Do you recognize this?

A. I do.
Q. And what is this?
A. This was an e-mail with a bunch of follow ups that Mr. Greitens sent to me in February of 2015.
Q. It includes a forwarded message that he had sent to Mr. Laub and Mr. Mark Bobak; is that correct?
A. It does.
Q. Okay. And it describes a series of to do things. And I want to point you to a couple of these. The third on the list says -- and I'm going to -- two of the names we're just going to redact here. It says ensure follow through blank 25K, blank 2.5K, Mason Fink 10K, Alex Rogers 50K. Do you recall what was meant by follow through? Were there already commitments in place?
A. Yes.
Q. I asked you a compound question. Do you recall what is meant by follow through? The answer -- Was your answer yes?
A. Yes.
Q. And what was meant by follow through?
A. So three of the four donors you just mentioned contributed in the very early days of the campaign -- of the campaign committee being formed. So ensure follow through essentially means follow up on those contributions and see what you need to do to get the donors the mailing information and get them in the door and into the account.

Q. Had Mr. Greitens been soliciting donations prior to the formation of the committee?

A. That was my understanding, yes.

Q. Now, No. 6. It says Monu will do 50K, 25K today, 25K later this year and will raise at least 250K. Do you have any knowledge as to whether Mr. Greitens had previously spoken to Monu Joseph about donating to the campaign?

A. I can't speak to that specifically. I do know that Eric introduced me to Monu. I had a couple conversations with him about this -- about some of the information in No. 6.

Q. Okay. And that's what -- If you could go on what you're referring to about some of the other information in No. 6 and explain to the Committee what you mean by that?

A. So there was a memo developed on people in financial services contributing that I believe either Eric or his attorney would have forwarded on to Monu. And then the last thing on here if LLCs and/or C3s and PACs can donate. I had conversations with Monu about C4s and nonprofits contributing to the campaign.

Q. Are people in financial services sometimes referred to as restricted donors?

A. Yes. And that's because of SEC regulations.

Q. What do those SEC regulations?

A. You know, I'm not a campaign finance attorney, but I do know that people in banking generally usually can't give over a few hundred dollars, I think.

Q. Okay. So what was the purpose of Monu asking questions about guys in financial services?

A. I think he had a very vast network from people throughout the country and perhaps from some people that they had gone to Oxford with. And some of these gentlemen -- If I recall correctly, Monu was also tied in with the financial services industry as well somehow. I don't know what his company or his exact nature of business was, but I know he had a lot of contacts in that world and wanted to look at avenues for ways that they could contribute.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. Representative Austin, if you could mark 45, 46, 47, 48, 49 as Exhibit 88.

BY CHAIRMAN BARNES:

Q. Do you recognize these?

A. I do.

Q. And I should not say these. Do you recognize what has been marked as Exhibit 88? What is Exhibit 88?

A. So this was a radio plan that was developed and provided to Eric sometime in 2014 from other consultants not associated with me. And they had put together a plan to air some ads on conservative radio for Eric. And I think it was in relation to his book launch, if I recall correctly. I never had a direct role in these conversations. These were mostly the other consultants in Eric's campaign team.

Q. Okay. So if I understand it, Mr. Greitens is on this e-mail, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And a Mr. Hageman is on this e-mail; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. What is the nature of Mr. Hageman's business?

A. He's a political consultant.

Q. Mr. Michael was on this e-mail; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. What is the nature of Mr. Michael's business?

A. He's a political consultant.

Q. And you were on this series of e-mails, correct?

A. I was only on this series of e-mails whenever

I officially began working out of Eric's office. They forwarded these e-mails to me.

Q. Okay. That's right. Looks like the forwarded message was from August 15, 2014. And if you go to page 47, the attachment about radio speaks to books. Is it your understanding that this was for a book tour through Missouri radio stations?

A. Yes -- Well, it was my understanding that this was -- this would kind of be coordinated with the launch of the book to help Eric get his name out to Missouri voters.

Q. And Mr. Laub was included in some of this information; is that correct?

A. Correct.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. I actually have one more document that is not in this packet but I'm going to need to get it printed. I'm going to hand it over to Representative Phillips.

REPRESENTATIVE PHILLIPS: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

QUESTIONS BY REPRESENTATIVE PHILLIPS:

Q. Thank you, Mr. Hafner, for being here with us again. I especially appreciate your choice in ties this morning.

A. Thank you.

Q. For those that can't see, it appears to be identical to the one I have on.

A. Good taste.

Q. Excellent taste. I want to backtrack a little bit, and I have very little. I just want to kind of touch on credibility, and so forth. Seems to be a real thing that's of great importance. We hear people testify before this Committee and then we see them publicly thrown under the bus not too long after that.

As I recall from your earlier testimony, you realized, and correct me if I'm wrong, but you realized pretty early on that Mr. Greitens was a very different sort of Republican candidate than you had seen; is that fair?

A. Yes.

Q. Do I have good recollection? Okay. In fact, if I recall your testimony, you said you kind of suspected that he was more of a Democrat than a Republican?

A. Well, he certainly, you know, had the Democrat ties, and we had known that he had been close with former Governor Bob Holden and a couple others that obviously were Democrats.

Q. Would it be fair to say there was somewhat of a level of education that he needed toward the Republican platforms, speaking points, that related to Republican issues and priorities?

A. Yeah, you can definitely say that. There was numerous, you know, policy sessions and other things that people held with Eric in 2014, in late 2014, people that we introduced him to that were helping him through conservative policies.

Q. Has anyone from the Greitens camp, for lack of another way to put it, contacted you since your last testimony? Have you heard from anyone there?

A. I have not. Danny Laub sent me an e-mail I think on accident a couple weeks ago, and it was just an e-mail that I think he meant to send to his attorneys but it involved me because I had referenced his name in some testimony or something. And I responded back just hope you're well. That was it. That's the only, yeah, that's the only thing from the Greitens camp that I've -- yes.

Q. Thanks. Didn't they, and I say they, the Greitens camp, didn't they describe you as a disgruntled former employee?

A. Yeah, among other things.

Q. Yes. So you have gotten the opportunity to hear from them through the media about what they think. But are you in reality a former employee who is disgruntled and has an axe to grind?

A. Well, so, one, I'm here pursuant to subpoena. I didn't seek this out.

Q. Right.

A. And I'm here in pursuit of the truth. And if I wanted to use a lot of this information that you're seeing in Committee and the documents revealed through testimony, I could have used it politically against him when I worked for another candidate in that race and I didn't. So I was perfectly content with leaving this all in the past and moving on and I had. The reason I'm here is because the governor and his team were untruthful to the Missouri Ethics Commission about that donor list.

Q. Right. And I appreciate you being here and I remember from your first testimony and again today you've been a very cooperative witness. You've been someone who's presented himself in a professional manner. I think -- Well, there's no question that both your testimonies before us were under oath.

Is there any reason in the world to give us information that's less than factual?

A. No.

REPRESENTATIVE PHILLIPS: Okay. Thank you. And thanks for being here again.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Mitten.

QUESTIONS BY REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN:

Q. Okay. Welcome back.

A. Thank you.

Q. Sorry about that. Wasn't quite ready.

I'm going to go just start back with I'll find the number here. On Exhibit 79, I just wanted to clear up a little bit of this. So I know that Chairman Barnes asked if during this meeting, if I understand it, you were having a meeting with some potential donors, right?

A. Correct.

Q. And you described it as an introductory meeting for Mr. Greitens and Missouri's, quote, influential donors, close quote. Do you recall if during that meeting there was any kind of an ask for support? Not necessarily a donation but I can tell you and I assume that you see this all the time, I'm thinking about running and I hope I can count on your support or more importantly I'm thinking about running, can I count on your support. Do you know if those questions were asked during this meeting?

A. There was no -- To the best of my recollection, there was no specific ask. These were donors that had never met him before. To my recollection, it was purely an introductory meeting.

Eric told his story, went through his resume and obviously said he was considering running for office.

Q. Okay. Then moving on to Exhibit 80, page 1, and you're going to have to forgive me because I don't know how to pronounce this guy's name. Bill -- I'm just going to call him Bill W. I don't think that's the Alcoholics Anonymous guy.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: If we could avoid adding names that are not already in the public record.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Okay. I appreciate that. Thank you, Mr. Chair.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: I should say not adding names that aren't already in the public record. You got my point. I said it wrong, but you got my point.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: I think I got the gist.

BY REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN:

Q. Do you know if that person was ever, in fact, used?

A. I do not know. I don't believe that he was.

Q. Okay. So it looks like he was reached out to and there's just a couple of e-mails and that was the end of it?

A. If I could add something really quick. I say that because I remember when I was working out of his office, you know, in a more official capacity in 2015, there was a hesitancy even then to conduct inoculation research. I don't know what the reason was, but they had delayed it a lot longer than what a normal candidate running for an office like that would.

Q. Okay. Okay. That makes sense. So then basically this was in March of 2014 by the time you're sort of on the payroll in December of 2014. Research still hadn't been done?

A. To my knowledge, correct.

Q. The inoculation research had not been done. Okay. Then at the e-mail at the bottom of this page which is Hafner 0016, it says I told his GCs. What is GC?

A. General consultant.

Q. Okay. And Hafner who is the ccd, what does that mean?

A. Just copied.

Q. Who is ccd? Oh, right. Ccd here, I got it, sorry. I just wanted to make sure I got the acronyms right.

Then moving on to Hafner 20, that e-mail is to you from Mr. Whitman, yes, that name is out there, and it says I don't think we'll need NDAs for the attendees as they fall under your umbrella. What do you think Mr.

Whitman meant by, quote, your umbrella?

A. Just so I'm clear of the document we're looking at, can you tell me which exhibit that is?

Q. Exhibit 81, page 2, Hafner 20.

A. Thank you.

Q. It's the very first one.

A. So there was a question -- I know I didn't sign an NDA during 2014. I don't know who they did have sign NDAs, but that was a part of the discussion that I had with Dave and I think they had wanted some people maybe to sign NDAs and that's why this is on there. They said it wasn't needed. Under your umbrella. I know I didn't but a consultant that I was working with might have signed one at that time.

Q. Okay. Were you an employee of that other consulting?

A. At that time, yes, in 2014.

Q. Okay. That's what I thought. So it would be, for instance, if somebody hires me, my paralegal is my employee and is covered under my. That's sort of --

A. That was their reasoning, but I'm not a lawyer.

Q. You're not sure if that's accurate or not but that was the reason. We don't need an NDA from these folks because your firm basically, or the firm under whose employ you were under had made the arrangements to reach out to these particular vendors and therefore they would sort of be on the hook if the information was --

A. That's what it seems like that their, you know, decision was on that. But I can tell you a lot of the people that were at that meeting weren't direct employees of ours or our firm's.

Q. Okay.

A. They were independent contractors.

Q. Yeah, right, which makes sense.

A. Technically I'd like to clarify, too, at that time I might have had other clients too that I was operating independently of the firm. I know I did at the time when I was actually working with Eric directly. I wouldn't have considered myself an employee of the firm at that time when I was in a paid capacity.

Q. Right. Once you were being paid -- Right. Once you were being paid directly by Mr. Greitens or who, whether that's his campaign or one of his entities, once you're being paid directly by them, that constituted sort of an independent contractor employment outside of your employment with the firm, the consulting firm?

A. Well, I'll say in January of 2015 is when I had my own -- when I kind of went out on my own.

Q. Right. Okay. I'll try and move on here. Then to Exhibit 85. Hang on. I'm trying to read my own chicken scratch here.

Your testimony was a little bit unclear to me at least as to when you first -- I understand that this e-mail, the first one, the December 12 e-mail memorializes your, as you testified, your conversation with the Missouri Ethics Commission and saying you have two options. But your testimony I wasn't quite clear about. When was it that you first had a conversation with Mr. Greitens or his team, for lack of a better word, about the need to form the candidate or continuing committee?

A. Gosh, I don't recall. It would have been earlier in 2014, but I don't know when that was part of the discussion. I know that our assessment was that -- We also didn't know if he were spending money or not.

Q. Obviously I get that.

A. We were advising him in an informal capacity, and so I know that that was part of discussions that, you know, he should set up some sort of committee, whether that's a continuing committee where he could go and travel to Lincoln Days and speak on veterans issues to get his name out there.

I don't know the approximate date when those conversations occurred. I just know it was earlier in 2014.

Q. So you don't know if that was July of 2014 when you're having, I think it was July, when you were having this big meeting with vendors or later in the year?

A. I would think it would have been in some of those initial meetings.

Q. So like when you're introducing him to the influential, Missouri's influential donors, which I believe was also in the summer or fall of 2014?

A. The spring.

Q. Spring. Okay. So at that time -- so trying to understand this. So you're thinking about the fact that hey, this guy probably needs to form a campaign committee. Are you articulating that to Mr. Greitens directly?

A. It was in our advice to him that he should form some sort of committee if he was spending money on political activities.

Q. Okay. Well, again, I guess I have to go back now and look at this influential donor meeting. Where was that? Do you remember?

CHAIRMAN BARNES: 78 and 79 were I think major donor meetings in February and March of 2014.

BY REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN:

Q. Right. And do you know where these meetings were held? This was in Troy?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. I understand that might be considered de minimus. Traveling to a meeting in Troy, isn't that beginning to spend money?

A. You could say that.

Q. Okay. I'm going to. Then you also indicated in your testimony talking about these December 12 and December 15 e-mails, which are Exhibit 85, that you weren't 100 percent certain that he'd run. I guess my question for you is, is it typical for you to be spending this kind of time on a candidate that you're not sure is even going to run?

A. That's not typical, right.

Q. Okay.

A. Yeah. And just to clarify, we assumed he was going to run, but we weren't 100 percent certain. You know, the other testimony that's been released has said he settled on running for governor sometime in early 2014. From our standpoint, we didn't believe -- we didn't know because he was telling us something different. He was telling us he was interested in running for other offices all through 2014. It doesn't seem like that was really accurate.

Q. Let me ask you this. Did you feel, you know, with a 95 percent certainty that he was going to run for some state-wide office?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. So as of December 1, 2014, you would say that you were very confident, completely confident that Mr. Greitens was running for some state-wide office?

A. Yes, not 100 percent but yes.

Q. Well, nobody is ever 100 percent. I mean --

A. Sure.

Q. I'm not 100 percent very often. I suspect you aren't. This isn't 100 percent business.

A. Certainly not.

Q. Is it fair to say that by January 1 when you first became employed directly, whether as an employee or an independent contractor, but when you first went on the payroll for the Greitens team that you were 100 percent certain he was going to run as of January 1, 2014, when you went on their payroll, began getting paid?

A. Yeah. I don't want to assign 100 percent to it just because, again, I think he was giving mixed messages to a number of different people, and so I was fairly certain that he was going to run.

Q. Okay. Were you aware of these mixed messages at the time that you decided to come under his employ?

A. Not during 2014. We really didn't know who he was talking with and other discussions that were being held.

Q. But at the time you went to work for him for money?

A. I thought we were, yeah -- I thought I was one of his main consultants, you know, he was bringing me on board to work in a paid capacity for him.

Q. Okay. My assumption is that most folks just don't go to work for somebody that they're not real sure about.

A. Sure.

Q. Is that a fair assumption?

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay. You testified about earlier when, again, talking about advising Mr. Greitens to open a campaign committee. You used the term we advised him to open a committee. But you felt that Mr. Greitens saw it as counter to his plan. By "we," do you mean you and the consultants for whom you were working at the time?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. But you personally advised him to open a committee?

A. Correct, I did, yeah, and I advised his staff and then I advised him in writing on this.

Q. That's fine. Makes perfect sense. It's just our conversation sometimes when we put it down on paper we start talking about we and they and stuff and it gets to be confusing. I just wanted to kind of make sure that we're all clear about that that you personally gave that advice, as well as the folks for whom you were employed in 2014?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Then I'm going to call your attention to Exhibit 86 which is a January 16 e-mail. And I'm not going to use the name of the gentleman that sent it because I'm not sure that that's out in the public domain. I would call your attention to the fact that the e-mail address is MrX@greitensformissouri.com. This is January 16, 2015, when you were then being paid by -- I believe your earlier testimony was in January 2015 you were paid for by the Greitens Group; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. So at that time you're being paid by the Greitens Group but if I remember your testimony, 100 percent of the work that you performed in January 2015 was political?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Did you have any involvement with creating a website or an e-mail address called greitensformissouri.com?

A. Can you repeat that question?

Q. Did you have any involvement with the creation of a website or an e-mail address of greitensformissouri.com? I'll just, you know, it's kind of obvious. This is January 16 of 2015, some six weeks before a campaign had been formed, at least a month after you in writing advised Mr. Greitens to form or at least his staff that he needed to form a campaign and possibly as much as six months or nine months after you had had discussions with Mr. Greitens specifically advising him to form a campaign if he started spending money. Well, it seems to me that creating an e-mail address called greitensformissouri.com is spending money.

A. Sure.

Q. So we'll just piece this up. So one, were you aware that greitensformissouri.com was an e-mail address in January of 2015?

A. So what I remember about that is that there was a lot of discussion that I had with Mr. Laub about what the web domain should be.

Q. Right.

A. And it was settled on Greitens for Missouri in addition to what the campaign committee should be called as well. Those discussions would have happened before January 16. And I recall this because we were developing a logo for the campaign and other things. And all of that happened. Before that I did not have a direct role in securing the web domain or setting up the e-mail addresses but I had an e-mail address. That was the greitensformissouri one. I don't know when that would have came online. I just remember the discussions that I was a part of in that time period.

Q. So again, when saying we were working on developing a logo and coming up with those names, who do you mean by we?

A. Danny Laub. Danny Laub was the de facto campaign manager at the time. So I essentially took marching orders from Danny.

Q. Okay. So as far as you're aware, Danny Laub would have been the point person to create Greitens for Missouri -- to purchase the domain, to organize or, you know, farm out the website creation and the e-mail addresses and all that?

A. Yes. Danny would have either done it himself or had been working with a web vendor at that time.

Q. Okay. And you just don't know if he did it himself or worked with a vendor?

A. I don't recall.

Q. That's fine. I'm more curious because it's unclear to me from the review of the campaign finance reports who, you know, where that was paid for, how that was paid for. I guess it sounds like you don't know either?

A. Yeah, I wasn't around when they would have filed their April quarterly of that year. So I don't know what was reported on that quarterly report and what wasn't.

Q. Okay.

A. And the gentleman on here --

Q. Mr. X we're calling him, I think?

A. Yes. He would have been in charge of the compliance procedures and for filing that report with Ethics.

Q. Oh, okay. I think I'm getting close to being done. Okay. So here again if I go back to Exhibit 87, it's the same thing where now we have you're using a Greitens for Missouri and this is on February 23, and I don't think I have a question about that.

Okay. Then looking back at all of the meetings that were held during the calendar year 2014, and again we've talked about the fact that those meetings -- at the time you were employed by another firm, correct, a consulting firm?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. And is that normal for you or for a consulting firm to be having, you know, one is an eight or ten hour meeting with vendors to be putting -- It seems to me like you guys were putting an awful lot of time into a potential candidate and potential campaign about which you've testified you weren't 100 percent sure or you were sure that he was running for a state-wide office. Is that the normal sort of course of business?

A. So I'd like to state something to get on the record about all this. So at the time, you know, like all consultants in the state they look for clients when they're approaching election cycles. During that time period, we had had a long-term relationship with the lieutenant governor, with Peter Kinder, and we had known that he wasn't going to run for reelection. And so we obviously had known Eric was very ambitious and was looking at a high level office. We thought and encouraged him to look at the office of lieutenant governor.

And so it was under that pretense that we did want to help him navigate the political world.

Q. I'm sorry. Basically you had an opening on your dance card and you've got a proven track record for a successful lieutenant governor campaign. So if you sort of have another candidate that's going to fit that slot, kind of everybody is happy, right?

A. We were recruiting a candidate for an office, yeah, or helping recruit a candidate for a specific office.

Q. There's nothing wrong with making money. To also make sure that your business is --

A. Sure. It's not unlike what a lot of consultants do.

Q. Absolutely. Okay. So you would say that having those meetings, doing those introductions and I guess encouraging a potential candidate to run for an office that works well for your firm, that's not unusual?

A. No. The opportunity to work with Eric was, you know, was a great opportunity to work with somebody who had a great background, a great profile for a high level office, and again he led us to believe that we -- that he was looking at other offices, not just governor. If he had told us from the outset that he was only planning on running for governor, we probably never would have helped him down that road because we didn't believe that he should have ran for governor.

Q. Okay. Is there not value to the time that you personally and your firm -- I mean you weren't being paid for by the Greitens team. I use that word team because we know you've been paid for by both Greitens Group and Greitens for Missouri. So understanding that no one from the Greitens side of the equation was paying for your time, is there not value to your time?

A. Can you repeat the question?

Q. It's a rhetorical question to the extent that obviously your time is valuable. But the thing is that, you know, you're an employee of a consulting firm that is expending a lot of time and I'm assuming that that time is not just freely given away?

A. Sure.

Q. And so my question would be, is you've said that that's the normal course of things. If there's value to that, it just seems to me that that value would be subject to our campaign finance laws.

A. Probably. I'm sure there's --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Hold on. You're calling for a legal conclusion. I'm not sure what the question is. So is the question is your time valuable? Does your time have value?

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Right.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. Does your time have value?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. I think that's where -- To the extent you're asking for him to draw the legal conclusion, and I've been distracted, I missed a couple things, that's not his role to judge to draw a legal conclusion but to answer factual questions.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: And if I might have a follow-up question then.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Proceed.

BY REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN:

Q. Why were you encouraging -- What was the basis for your encouraging Mr. Greitens to form a campaign committee going back to possibly as early as spring of 2014?

A. Well, again, I thought -- I didn't know that he was talking to other consultants; that, you know, that testimony is revealed that he was having a lot of meetings outside of the meetings that we were having with him. So I really didn't know the extent of what he was doing. Again, he said he was still, you know, in a transition period from the charity into regular life and focusing on his book. So I really didn't know, and I still don't know, if he was spending money during that time or what. But we assumed just from him meeting with us that if he was going to be more active in that world that our advice was he should have some sort of mechanism to raise money to cover those political activities.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Okay. Thank you. Thank you, Mr. Chair.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Representative Lauer.

QUESTIONS BY REPRESENTATIVE LAUER:

Q. Thank you, Mr. Chair. Thank you, Mr. Hafner, for being here again. Some of these are clarification and just trying to put them in a package. On Exhibit 78, which has at the bottom Hafner 13, again, I want to go back and clarify Dave Whitman's role with the Greitens Group. Throughout some of these documents he is listed as continuing to work for the Greitens Group yet is very engaged in working on the potential campaign/campaign in that role; is that correct?

A. Correct. He was Eric's right-hand guy. He was the gatekeeper. So I worked with Dave quite a bit through 2014.

Q. And at no time were you aware or at any time were you aware that he actually moved from the Greitens Group into Greitens for Missouri or any other campaign group?

A. He did not. And he and Eric parted ways in -- it was in fall of 2014. There was some issues there that Dave was moved out of the picture, and that's when we started discussing, you know, this kind of stuff more with Krystal Taylor who was Eric's personal assistant at the time.

Q. Just to clarify also when you say at Eric's office, was that under the umbrella of Greitens Group or The Mission Continues or the campaign, d, all the above?

A. There's -- So when we first met Eric, it was out of the Greitens Group offices which were located at The Mission Continues just south of the stadium in St. Louis, and from there we never met again at that office. He transitioned out of leadership at the charity and then when we started meeting with him again the Greitens Group had moved offices I think in the late summer or fall of 2014 and that's when they moved into their current -- well, I don't know if they're still there, but that's when they moved into the central west end office on West Pine and that's -- we picked back up again when I meet at their offices, at that office, and I think that was -- I think my first time over there was December of 2014.

Q. Did you at anytime list -- You said you got paid by Greitens Group at least for a month or period of time?

A. Just one month, in January.

Q. Did you at anytime file a statement of in-kind donation?

A. I did not.

Q. Are you aware of anybody from the Greitens Group such as Mr. Whitman who might have filed in-kind donations to the campaign committee?

A. I am not aware.

Q. You said that Eric Greitens disregarded the starting up of a committee. So why do you think there was a reluctance or a delay to creating that?

A. I think that ran contrary to what his plans were. He's somebody that is very methodical in planning. And when he has something that he wants to do, he puts his mind to it and does it. I think my advice kind of ran contrary to what his timeline was in his head. He wanted to announce for office after his book launch. And so I think that advice and some other advice just wasn't heeded.

Q. So was the intent then to not file a committee until after the book launch/announcement?

A. I don't recall exactly. I do know that the political calculation changed in early 2015 when there was another candidate, John Brunner, had started I think having more discussions and having more discussions with activists and other people about potentially running for office in 2016 as well. I think that moved Eric's timeline up a little bit. He wanted to lay down a marker and, you know, get his name in the discussion of candidates that were running for office in 2016, and so that's why I believe -- I believe that's why that timeline moved up and why he formed the committee in February rather than sticking with his original plan which was to announce after his book launch which would have been in March.

Q. That was 2015?

A. Yes.

Q. All right. So following along that, let's go to Exhibit 86, and it has at the bottom Hafner 43. Do you have that as well?

A. I do.

Q. Okay. So there is interesting in the e-mail that was sent to Eric Greitens with you on there as well. It says that once the statement of committee organization is filed, meaning in my opinion it hadn't been filed yet?

A. Correct.

Q. Yet it says apparently that there are some talking points. The first one is yes, I am pleased to confirm that the exploratory committee has been formed for Eric Greitens. Is that a contradiction or am I not reading that correctly?

A. So there was discussion. Obviously they were spending money solely on political activities in January. I'm certain -- The gentleman who sent this e-mail was brought on to handle compliance, and he was an executive at a financial services firm. And so he wanted to do everything by the book. And I think this was his way of proactively trying to come up with something he could give to press when the exploratory committee was filed with the MEC.

Q. Okay. And again going back to the once it's filed would indicate that it hadn't been filed at that point?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. So you said it was the committee, and this was Greitens for Missouri, the committee we're talking about, is that right, was filed in February?

A. Yes. I don't know the exact date. I think it was late February.

Q. Okay. And again, during the times that we're talking about the book launch/announcement, did he in this book launch and speaking engagements that he went to to promote the book, and so forth, did he verbally say or announce that I'm running for a state-wide office or did he give that indication?

A. During his book launch?

Q. Yes. When he was actually physically out in groups?

A. I know there was some media reports that he included, you know, looking at state wide where his quote, and you'd have to go back and look at the reports and the night shows he went on, but I do believe there was instances where he mentioned he was running for office in 2016 during his book launch.

Q. Just to clarify again, the book launch was part of the Greitens Group, the for-profit organization?

A. Yes, it was. There was a very, very limited amount that, you know, they asked me to help out with the book launch. They had an event in St. Louis that I think was the official kick off in March, and I invited a bunch of political types. They asked for my help in reaching out to a bunch of political types to invite them to the book launch. They asked me to I think write an Amazon review on the book and some very, very minor stuff.

Q. So there was a little bit of overlap with activities you were doing for Greitens Group while you were --

A. A little but really minimal, yeah.

Q. Now, he was also doing these radio interviews that you had listed here or the plan -- there was a plan to do radio interviews?

A. That came by way of another consultant. I had nothing to do with that. Mr. Laub might have coordinated some stuff along those lines as well.

Q. Are you aware of him actually conducting those interviews on radio?

A. I know he did a lot of radio interviews. I'm not sure how much that plan was followed.

Q. When he did the radio interviews, again, was this about the book?

A. Yes.

Q. Was it also about his running for office?

A. I don't recall any of the specific radio interviews he did. I know he did some. So I don't want to -- I can't speak to whether he discussed running for office or not. I do recall a couple television interviews where he mentioned he was looking at running.

Q. All right. And I want to go through a bit of the fundraising mechanics. Not of the actual -- well, kind of the fundraising things. Let's go back to some discussion on a 501(c)(4) and PACs. And you've been engaged in fundraising. So I imagine you're familiar with this. What is the purpose of a 501(c)(4)?

A. To conceal the identities of donors.

Q. Okay.

A. That's not the only purpose. That's why you would do it for a political campaign.

Q. Okay. And to conceal the donors, that would mean that their names are not listed?

A. Correct.

Q. Would the amounts they give be listed?

A. No.

Q. No contact information would be listed?

A. Not publicly.

Q. It would only -- would be within the confines of an internal review, not to the outside?

A. Correct.

Q. Not posted on Ethics as you would a 501(c)(3)?

A. Correct.

Q. And a PAC, what is the purpose of a PAC?

A. For political activities.

Q. I'm sorry?

A. There's certainly different kinds of PACs. There's the continuing committee that you can raise funds and use for political activities. There's obviously a candidate committee which you all are familiar with.

Q. And does a PAC list the donors publicly?

A. State, certainly state-based ones do. File through the MEC.

Q. Okay. Other ones? Other non --

A. I don't know what the disclosure laws are for super PACs. I just don't operate in the super PAC world, but certainly state-based ones are, yeah.

Q. So then let's go back to the 501(c)(4). Was there any specific discussion that you had with Greitens or any of the folks contacting or connected with Greitens in regards to specific purposes for setting up a 501(c)(4)?

A. There were specific donors that I reached out to who Eric connected me with, and we discussed specifically nonprofits and C4s and what the process would be to establish entities like that to accept contributions for bundling contributions.

Q. Okay.

A. And then there's some other discussion there that I think might be a privilege to Eric just because there's attorneys involved.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Okay. Did you have a comment?

MR. ERNST: Just to maintain consistency with the previous testimony. To the extent there would be conversations that might arguably be privileged to Governor Greitens, we're not taking a position that they are or are not. Out of an abundance of caution, Mr. Hafner is not going to go into those discussions now unless and until that issue is resolved by the powers that be.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Okay. Appreciate that. Thank you.

BY REPRESENTATIVE LAUER:

Q. In that fundraising capacity then, on one of the agendas it said that you were discussing in state and national, and I believe at previous testimony you indicated that there was also at a point in time discussion on potential for foreign moneys. Would you please restate that?

A. There was a couple conversations that I had had with some high level donors that Eric connected me with who specifically referenced some buddies that they had gone to Oxford together with that wanted to contribute or that would contribute to the campaign. There was another donor. I never had a direct conversation with him. I think we may have exchanged e-mails. And he's in one of those documents, but he lived overseas. And I don't know if he was a foreign citizen or if he was just an American living abroad.

But there were conversations that we had where foreign money was discussed -- where foreign money was discussed and the possibility of foreign money, you know, being contributed to an entity, there were those discussions that were being had in the early stages.

I parted ways with the campaign in late March of 2015. I don't know where those discussions went after I left. I just know I didn't go down that road.

Q. The individuals that you were just referring to, were those any names that were already listed in these exhibits that were named publicly?

A. Yes. Monu and then the gentleman named Alex Rogers. And I know Eric was planning on visiting with him in Hong Kong at some point. I don't know what came of those meetings. I never had a conversation with Mr. Rogers. But I do remember I put him on a call list because Eric had said that he would contribute a substantial amount to the campaign, but I don't know how, you know, how or if he ever did.

Q. Okay. But there was conversation to the degree that there was an anticipation of funds?

A. Yes.

Q. And Monu is located where?

A. I thought that he was located somewhere in California. I don't know. I don't know much about him. I just had a couple conversations with him.

Q. And Rogers is located?

A. At the time, he was abroad in Hong Kong, but I couldn't tell you where he is now.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. Representative Lauer --

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Yes.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: -- we are going to take a recess for lunch. I wanted to start at noon. Unless you have just a few more questions, I would let you finish. If you've got more than just a few more, I'm not trying to cut you short at all. I just for timing purposes if you've got 15 minutes, let's stop. If you've got 2 minutes, let's go ahead.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: I can do it, sir.

BY REPRESENTATIVE LAUER:

Q. So then, just to kind of clarify then, you were not involved in any of the efforts made to contact those individuals in regards to contributions specifically?

A. I was connected with Monu who was planning on raising a substantial amount of money for the campaign, I think somewhere between 250 and half million dollars. And my conversations with him, he wanted to know if there were avenues set up where -- that were nonprofits or C4s that they could bring money in and not disclose the source of those contributions, but I don't know where those -- After I left, I have no idea what happened with those.

Q. When you say "they," was that Monu? Was that Eric Greitens? Was that Roger? Who?

A. It was my understanding that Monu was going to be a major connector and bundler for the campaign.

Q. He was interested in identifying any mechanisms that could donate with that PAC?

A. Yes, without having to disclose the source of the contributions.

Q. So again, Greitens for Missouri is the campaign committee. To what degree are you familiar with the New Missouri?

A. Just through the press. Same thing that everyone has seen.

Q. Do what degree are you familiar with Seals for Truth?

A. Just to the extent of again what was in the press. They had, you know, I think close to $2 million that came into the primary race at the end in 2016.

Q. You were not in contact with anyone from that group?

A. I was not.

Q. American Policy? Were you connected with them or to what degree were you familiar with them?

A. The only degree that I'm familiar with them is just that I think of what I've seen in the press is that I want to say that they were one of the funders of --

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Hold on. If you don't have first-hand knowledge.

THE WITNESS: Yeah, I don't have first-hand knowledge.

BY REPRESENTATIVE LAUER:

Q. And the last one is Freedom Frontier. To what degree are you familiar with that?

A. No first-hand knowledge.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: That is all. Thank you, Mr. Chair.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: Okay. We're going to take a recess. I apologize, Mr. Hafner and Mr. Ernst --

MR. ERNST: He needs to feed the meter.

CHAIRMAN BARNES: -- for 45 minutes, 12:45. I say 45 knowing we'll probably get started at 1:00. If I had said 1:00, we'd probably get started at 1:15.

So 45-minute recess and we will be back.

(Off the record.)

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: We are back from Legislative recess, which is always a little longer than normal.

Mr. Hafner, do you want to wait till Counsel returns? Why don't we do that.

MR. HAFNER: All right.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Yes is the answer, whether -- regardless of what your answer is, yes is the answer to the question. So we'll stand at ease until Counsel returns.

Mr. Hafner, you -- just a reminder, you are still under oath.

MICHAEL HAFNER,

of lawful age, having been produced, previously sworn, and examined, testified as follows:

Representative Lauer.

REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: Yes, Mr. Chair. Thank you.

FURTHER QUESTIONS BY REPRESENTATIVE LAUER:

Q. Just one last question -- another last question for you, Mr. Hafner. The Greitens for Missouri was set up as a 501(C)(4); is that correct?

A. The Greitens for Missouri, the campaign committee, was set up through the Missouri Ethics Commission as a candidate committee.

Q. Okay. And was -- and was it a 501(C)(4), the funding?

A. No. No, not that I'm aware. There was -- I believe that was only a candidate committee set up through the MEC.

Q. Okay. And then the other committees were set up under the 501(C)(4)?

A. It appears there were other C4s that were active in the governor's race, but I don't have any firsthand knowledge of -- REPRESENTATIVE LAUER: All right. Thank you.

MR. HAFNER: -- those.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Representative Austin.

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: Thank you, Mr. Chair.

QUESTIONS BY REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN:

Q. Thank you for being here today, Mr. Hafner. I'm going to step up and hand you what's been marked as Exhibit 89. When you've had a chance to review it, just let me know, because I have a few follow-up questions.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: A good chairman would have returned the favor by handing the witness the documents.

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: That's all right. I need the exercise.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Yeah, it's 911 Hank and Eric email.

BY REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN:

Q. Mr. Hafner, have you had a chance to review Exhibit 89?

A. I have.

Q. And just for identification purposes, this is a two-page document that has a top -- well, not -- the very top line of the second line says gmail, and then it has your email address; correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And then the line beneath that has Re: 911: Hank and Eric; correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And who -- well, is Eric referring to Eric Greitens?

A. Yes.

Q. And the 911, what is that a reference to, in your belief?

A. That was, I believe, a subject line that I had put on this email thread because it was an important piece of information that just came across my desk. And I sent it -- I forwarded it on immediately to -- I was working for John Brunner at the time. This was an email sent in June of 2016, just a couple months before the primary. And so I sent it up to some -- some of the senior staffers in the campaign.

Q. Okay. And so 911, is that -- is that a reference to something that's emergent or is it an emergency situation?

A. Yes. Just a high profile, yeah --

Q. Right.

A. -- important item.

Q. And you sent an email thread -- as I look at this exhibit, it only has two emails, if I'm looking at it right. Is that correct?

A. Three total. But, yes, there's the original one to myself. And then I forwarded it to, I believe just -- probably only one or two people. And then -- and then the last email is from the other gentleman at the top to myself and three other individuals.

Q. Okay. And there -- if we look at the top -- and you've already given us the date. I appreciate that. If we look at the top, it says FEC Complaint ASAP. What does that mean?

A. So that was -- that was the suggestion of a consultant that was involved in our campaign that somebody should file an FEC complaint concerning this issue immediately.

Q. And what is the issue?

A. So at the time there was -- there was a C4 that was operating in the governor's race in the summer of 2016 called the LG PAC. It was targeting the candidate I was working for, John Brunner. And when the ads, you know, what would be -- we track the ad buys. And when the ads came up, it was a very substantial ad buy. I think later on it showed that this organization had purchased millions of dollars in ads. I think our calculations indicated it was over $4 million in paid media that ended up influencing the Missouri governor's race in 2016.

The LG PAC was set up to -- to appear to the general public that it was in support of the current lieutenant governor at the time, Peter Kinder. We had known kind of within hours of the ad's -- of the ad's launch that Peter was not involved in any way. He had -- he had made it clear to us early on in the campaign, you know, early on, right after the ad launched.

I believe we saw Catherine Hanaway at an event that evening or maybe the next day -- I know it was really soon afterwards -- and she informed us she was not involved in any way. And she had reached out to her largest donor to see if his political operation had had any role in it, and he had assured her that it was not -- he had no role in it either.

So by process of elimination, we kind of assumed at the time that it was -- that it was the Greitens campaign. They denied it at the time, that they were involved. There was a press report that I believe aired on KNBC that had footage at Greitens' -- at Eric Greitens' campaign office grand opening in Kansas City, and in that footage there was a -- there was a gentleman there by the name of Hank Monsees, who was -- who was publicly listed as -- as an agent of the LG PAC. And Hank was listed in -- or was shown in the footage. He was talking with Eric. I think the footage had him on a -- on a phone making phone calls in the campaign office.

Anyways, the gentleman who wrote this email, Greg Sparts (phonetic), he saw the footage from the news -- from the news clip, immediately forwarded it to us and said that -- you know, their campaign team is a member of the Hanaway campaign. They said -- they listed why, you know -- why there were potential grounds for probably an FEC complaint, because their assessment was that -- that the LG PAC could not be made in -- any expenditures made on behalf of the LG PAC could not be made in coordination with any candidate or any candidate committee. And the footage kind of proved that, you know, the agent of the LG PAC -- or publicly-listed agent of the LG PAC was, in fact, at the Eric Greitens campaign headquarter -- Kansas City campaign headquarter opening. So the FEC complaint was kind of based on this information that was forwarded to us.

Q. Let me back up just a little bit. If we go to page 2, there's a picture -- well, two pictures in there. Clearly one of them is Eric Greitens. The gentleman to his left there on page 2, is that Hank Monsees?

A. It is.

Q. And so an operative for the Brunner campaign -- or, no, an operative for the Hanaway campaign saw a Greitens ad in which Hank Monsees is communicating to Eric Greitens; is that correct?

A. Saw footage of a campaign event where Hank was present.

Q. And that formed the subject of an FEC complaint, based upon coordination between LG PAC and Greitens' campaign? Or was there more?

A. Yes, that was the -- that was the subject of this email thread. I don't know if the FEC complaint was ever filed.

Q. Okay.

A. I just -- yeah, I don't recall.

Q. And if we go back to the first page, it talks about, it says, Same deal as Right to Rise U.S.A. What's Right to Rise U.S.A.?

A. I believe that was Jeb Bush's, you know, IE, Independent Expenditure, PAC.

Q. So that --

A. I think it was just used as an example of -- you know, of an organization that is similar to LG PAC; that it's legal to operate, but it can't be operating in coordination with any candidate or committee.

Q. Right to Rise had -- had nothing to do with this gubernatorial race, and there's no allegation that it had anything to do with this gubernatorial race; correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And you said it was just being referenced as an example of what a PAC maybe can do or can't do as far as coordination?

A. Correct.

REPRESENTATIVE AUSTIN: That's all I have.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Representative Rhoads, Mr. Sunshine.

REPRESENTATIVE RHOADS: They're all upset that I was on vacation last week, so that's why a comment like that.

QUESTIONS BY REPRESENTATIVE RHOADS:

Q. Again, thanks for coming back. You had a couple of earlier statements that I just wanted to clarify. Earlier Chair Barnes asked you about working for Eric Greitens and what you were doing. And you said that at the time you thought that your job was A, and then you were actually doing B.

So you said that you had met with Danny Laub. Did you guys talk about terms of employment prior to -- when you had a meeting and there was an email, I believe, about it?

A. Um-hum. In December when I met with Danny Laub, you know, I don't recall the exact conversation that we would have had regarding employment or specific terms. But I believe it was discussed in some general --

Q. Okay.

A. -- part, yeah.

Q. So this -- you had mentioned too that prior to that you -- or about that time you went out on your own, and you used to work for another company?

A. Yeah. I worked for a consulting firm, political consulting firm called Barklage & Knodell.

Q. And you were just an employee there; correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. So this was kind of the point where you were kind of going on your own; correct?

A. Yeah. Yeah. I'd had -- I had been in discussions with some other people about potential clients that I could -- that I could do some work for. And -- and the opportunity was there with Eric, and I was kind of in a -- in a transition period where I was going out on my own.

Q. Okay. Great. So at what point were the terms and conditions of what your job entitled told to you, that we'll pay you X amount of dollars to do this job?

A. So in late December I had at least one meeting with -- with Eric regarding -- regarding, you know, terms of a -- of employment. What we came up with during that time was a set amount a month -- I think it was $4,000 a month -- and I would work out of his office three or four days a week. And it was more just kind of general -- general political activities. It wasn't discussed that I would be focused solely on fundraising. It wasn't until I actually started working there that I kind of knew that he envisioned me to focus --

Q. So --

A. -- pretty much on that.

Q. Okay. So after -- excuse me. After January 5th -- which was your first day. Is that 2015; is that correct?

A. Yes. I don't know the exact day. It was --
Q. Pretty close to that?
A. Ballpark.
Q. So after that, how long ago -- how long after that did you realize that he wanted you to solely work on campaign contributions?
A. Immediately. He provided me a number -- they provided me a number of donor lists one of my first days I was working there and --
Q. Which was something you were familiar with --
A. Yes.
Q. -- doing?
A. Yeah. A little bit. It's not -- it's not something that I prefer doing, but I have done it -- done fundraising for other clients.
Q. So was it your understanding that you'd be a full-time employee and not to work anywhere else or...
A. To spend a lot of time there, a few days a week, three to four days a week, and working out of his office, but not -- not a full-time employee.
Q. Okay. Was it said, hey, I may pick up a client over here or one over there; is that okay? Anything like that? I mean...
A. Yeah.
Q. And I want to stop you here, because I know in your prior testimony you spoke about some compensation packages that you were still getting from Barklage & Knodell, which I don't think were anything monetary, it sounded like; it was just other things. But I didn't know if maybe you had went to work for somebody else as well as them at the same time.

A. So during that time I was also doing some -- doing some lobbying work as well. So -- and I'm not sure exactly when -- I'd have to go back and look whenever I registered, you know, as a lobbyist for that client. But, yeah, I was doing other activities, in addition to just working with Eric.

Q. Okay. So let's go back to the conversation with -- is it Monu?

A. Monu, yeah.

Q. Monu. Okay. And you had mentioned that he had talked to you about -- or you had give him -- I don't want to say give him advice. In your talk you talked about filing 1C4s and donations. What did you tell him, if you can recall that?

A. I think I left it at we'll, you know, talk to the campaign attorneys and see if there's some way we can make this work. It was something that I was -- I'd never experienced before working directly for a candidate. So -- and this was somebody that was, you know, I believed to be one of Eric's best friends. And Eric obviously connected me to this gentleman, and so I knew he was going to have a major role in the campaign. And because of our discussions, that's when I had -- when I, you know, had other discussions from that with attorney -- with campaign finance attorneys that were also connected to the Greitens campaign.

Q. Sure. So when -- if there was a question like that that came up, was it a pretty open basis that you could talk to these campaign finance attorneys or was it something that had to be an official inquiry, bill it out, that kind of thing? How did that work?

A. I know they were billing somebody. They're very reputable attorneys that are based in DC. And, you know, I know they had a high billable rate, because I was told they were, so to keep my conversations brief with them.

Q. I understand. Did you ever contact them about it?

A. I did.

Q. Did they ever come back with anything?

MR. ERNST: This is where we're not going to testify about any discussions he may have had with those attorneys. Again, for consistency, Mr. Hafner is not going to testify about any conversations that he had directly with those attorneys that were retained by Mr. Greitens or his campaign, out of concern for attorney-client privilege.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: And that's because he was an employee of Mr. Greitens at the time.

REPRESENTATIVE RHOADS: I understand.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: So the privilege attaches -- or the concern is that the privilege could attach to the organization, and they were representing the organization at the time.

REPRESENTATIVE RHOADS: I understand.

MR. ERNST: That's correct.

BY REPRESENTATIVE RHOADS:

Q. So obviously -- let me move on. So in your -- of course now I guess that would have probably been one of the last biggest campaigns would have been the gubernatorial campaign in the last year or two. You've never worked that much with campaign, like a donation list and things like that?

A. No, I mean, I've -- I've -- I'm not sure if I understand the question.

Q. I'm sorry. Let me help clear it up. So in your past experience as a consultant, as a paid consultant, have you worked with other lists of campaign donations for other --

A. Yes.
Q. -- clients? Okay.
A. Yes.
Q. Was there any kind of list, other than a designated campaign list, that you've -- like somebody said, hey, here's a list of people I know or here's a list of the members of the 4H Club or whatever?
A. Yeah, specifically I -- you know, I don't know off the top of my head. But, sure, there's other lists people create all the time in politics that -- and certainly my work for -- that's kind of the value in being hired, you know, by a specific candidate too is you bring -- you know, you bring your --
Q. Sure.
A. -- list too.
REPRESENTATIVE RHOADS: Okay. Thank you again. Thank you.
REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Where am I in seniority? Eggleston? Representative Eggleston, are you next? Okay. Representative Eggleston.
QUESTIONS BY REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON:
Q. You talked about a number of different lists that were eventually compiled together into one master list. Did all that happen while you were still on board?
A. That would have happened -- yes, to answer your question, it would have happened in the -- yeah, that first month of my employment with Eric.

Q. Okay. Some of the stuff that went on to get him elected happened while you were there, and then you left, and then some stuff happened after. But the compilation of all those lists, you were on board then?

A. Um-hum.

Q. Did you get to see the people's names on the lists and go through them?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

A. Now, all the lists that I was provided in the early days of my employment with Eric were not utilized, but a number of them were too.

Q. Okay. One of the lists that went into making the master was -- according to what all I've read, was Tom Schweich's list, the Schweich list. Did you get a chance to read that, those particular lists of names over?

A. I did open that list up. That list was the one I kind of just referenced was that we -- I did not use that list. I don't know if it was used after, you know, I parted ways with the campaign. But I was uncomfortable with using that list. Tom was -- I considered a friend of mine. And I don't know how they had access to that list or who sent it to them. But that was something that was work product of another contract fundraiser in the state, so I never used it.

Q. In looking at the names on the list, do you think that the names got on that list just by going to the MEC website and downloading all of the donors that had ever donated to Schweich or did that list contain more names than just simply those public lists, do you think?

A. Yes, it was -- it was a professionally-compiled list. It had -- if I recall correctly, it had donor history dating back years which, yes, can be found on the MEC website and quarterly reports. But this was much more expense -- extensive. And I believe it also had some federal candidates on it as well, which led me to believe -- I do believe it was created by a professional fundraiser that was employed at some point by Mr. Schweich.

Q. So it wasn't somebody just went to the MEC website, downloaded all the public documents, and made the list; that list had other names on it that was, like you said --

A. Yeah, there was donor -- yeah, there was donor history, previous donor history on that list that was pretty extensive.

Q. Okay. So --
A. And contact information too.
Q. You've -- prior to this, prior to working on the Greitens campaign, your history is that you've worked on quite a number of campaigns before; is that right or --
A. Yes.
Q. -- what you -- okay. And at that kind of statewide level?
A. Yes, most have been statewide.
Q. Would you say it is normal and common practice that one candidate ends up with their opponent's donor list and vice versa during the course of a campaign or was this unusual to see Eric Greitens end up with potential competitor Tom Schweich's donor list?
A. It was -- it's not unusual to share donor lists among candidates or clients. But usually you have permission to do that. With -- with Schweich's donor list, it was very -- you know, I was surprised that they had Tom Schweich's donor list. I don't -- I don't believe Mr. Schweich cared for Mr. Greitens all that much. I don't want to speak for him at all, of course. But just from my personal experience and conversations I had with people connected with Mr. Schweich and working for Mr. Schweich, there was no way that he would have ever allowed Mr. Greitens to have --

Q. Well, just as professional courtesy, I'll share my list with you, you share your list with me. It wasn't like that --

A. No.

Q. You think somebody probably took that from the Schweich campaign without Tom Schweich's permission?

A. I believe that.

Q. Do you think that -- but you don't know who would have had access to that, who could have gotten that for Mr. Greitens?

A. I don't care to -- I don't want to speculate too much on that. I know that when the list was sent to me in the early stages of the campaign, it was listed in a sentence that that Schweich list was sent over via another consultant who was doing work with Eric.

Q. Do you think that -- do you know whether or not Mr. Greitens asked that person who would have that contact to get the Schweich list, go get that list for me, or did this consultant just throw that in sort of for free without Mr. Greitens requesting it?

A. He -- he very well likely could have done it willingly just to, you know, be in -- be in the good graces of Eric. I don't know if they were being paid at all by the campaign, but I know that they were doing a bunch of work for Eric as well.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Okay. Have we -- Mr. Chair, have we named who these different players are or not? Are we avoiding that?

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: I'm not positive on the answer. If you want to come say the name, I think I will be able to tell you yes or no. Or Representative Mitten will know.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: A little gray area, so we'll just leave it for now. We might come back to it.

BY REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON:

Q. You talked about earlier that foreign donors to campaigns -- is it true that campaigns on a statewide level, that's an illegal thing to have a foreign donor to --

A. As far as I'm aware, yes.

Q. Okay.

A. And --

Q. It's not just a federal thing; it's a state thing as well?

A. As far as I'm aware.

Q. Okay.

A. In any form. That's how I've always operated. But I'm not a -- REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: You're asking for a legal conclusion, I think. I can find you the federal statute. Although I believe foreign money is illegal in any election in the United States, whether state, local or federal.

MR. ERNST: Mr. Hafner is not an attorney.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Right. I was just asking if he thought it was illegal, I guess. So...

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Sure.

BY REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON:

Q. So let's say I want to run for some big office and I say, Mr. Hafner, I want you to be my guy; and you say, well, you're going to have to raise a lot of money. I say, no problem; I got buddies from way back when; I got one that lives in -- I don't know, pick the place -- Saudi Arabia, one in Canada, one in France; I'll get them all to donate a bunch. You would advise me that you can't do that; would that be correct?

A. I think it depends on the circumstance. If there's somebody that's living abroad that's a United States citizen, there might be avenues that that --

Q. Well, these are citizens of other countries that I just asked --

A. Oh, I would never advise going down that road.

Q. That would definitely -- yeah, that would be kind of a legal no-no to do that. And then let's say I'm really naive. I say, well, why is that; they're friends of mine; why can't -- why would there ever be a law against something like that? And you would explain, well, because why?

A. Well, for the sole reason that foreign influence in American elections -- I think we're -- you know, we're dealing with that right now on a national level, obviously. But certainly you don't want, you know, foreign entities influencing your electoral process.

Q. Sure. Okay. They're not really kind of from your home area, so there may be some ulterior motives involved for folks that far away from home wanting to donate to a politician's campaign?

A. Sure.

Q. Okay. Have you had a chance to look over -- I know you left in the middle -- but look over any of the folks who ended up donating to Mr. Greitens' campaign, kind of that donor list and his MEC reports? Are you familiar with some of them?

A. Are you referring to The Mission Continues list or the Schweich donor list?

Q. I'm referring to the reports that were filed on MEC, the quarterly reports, the 30-day after reports, and so forth, that actually listed back -- back when everything was done that way -- this was before Amendment 2 and transparency kind of took a hit there.

A. Yes.

Q. But, you know, back then you had to report your --

A. Sure.

Q. -- you know, who gave you what and when. So have you had a chance to look those over to see who ended up donating to Mr. Greitens?

A. Yeah, I don't re-- obviously, I don't -- wouldn't recall when I would have reviewed those reports or anything. But I'm generally familiar with a lot of his major donors that ended up --

Q. Yeah.

A. -- contributing to his campaign.

Q. So normally in a statewide race would most of the money that you would raise come from the state you're running in?

A. Generally. On a higher-profile race, like a governor's race or a U.S. Senate race, a lot of national money comes in.

Q. And that's --

A. A high-profile race, yeah, high exposure, and --

Q. And I know you can't give us an exact dollar amount, because it's going to vary from race to race. But proportion of local state money versus outstate national money that literally isn't from that home state, kind of usually how much is home versus how much is outstate, percentage wise?

A. Gosh, I think it kind of depends on what level of race. So your -- your higher-profile U.S. Senate/governor races will have a larger percentage of out-of-state money in it. A lot of that's routed through entities like the RGA or the DGA. So it would be hard -- it would be hard for me to give an exact percentage. I think it depends on the situation and the race.

In the governor's race in 2012, you know, there wasn't a lot of national money in that race from national donors, other than -- other than the gubernatorial committees. But the race in 2016, obviously there was incredible amounts of national money, and then there was another bucket of that money that we don't know where it came from.

Q. Well, true. That's through the PACs you're talking about there. But even in the itemized names where we know where it came from, if you took out the RGA and just had kind of the individual donors and companies, if, I don't know, let's say half, if it was 50/50 would that be normal or would that seem like it was a lot more outstate than normal or less normal or what do you think?

A. Again, I think it probably depends on the candidate. For somebody like Mr. Greitens, that ratio, yeah, I mean, he raised a lot of money from out of state. So --

Q. Well, and I'm trying to find out did he raise an abnormal amount --

A. I think so, yeah.

Q. -- out of state compared to other candidates, compared to other races that you've worked on?

A. Sure. Yes.

Q. Okay.

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Now, while legal, with the same premise of, well, that's not really home money, those aren't home people, kind of apply to big money that may have come in from New York or California that's just as geographically far away from our state as a Canada or a Mexico --

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Well, hold on. Before we go down that line, there's nothing illegal about a California donor donating.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: I know.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Okay. I just want to -- okay.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: I'm just asking about the --

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: I'm giving you a lot of leeway, but we're -- go ahead.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: Okay.

MR. HAFNER: I think the political perception among some voters, they don't want to see a candidate that's funded by outside interest, from out-of-state interests. But that's a political calculation that the Greitens team made and, you know --

Q. Sure.

A. -- yeah, they raised money from around the country.

Q. But those, of course, are the ones that can be identified through the MEC reports. But as you had said, there's also the PACs, and you can't --

A. Yes.

Q. -- identify those donors at all?

A. Correct. Every -- everything that was contributed through Greitens for Missouri obviously would have been disclosed through MEC quarterly reports and, you know, the eight-day after election reports and, you know, preelection reports. So that's all -- that's all disclosed, obviously, and searchable online.

There's the other element to it that -- yeah, that I don't think anyone's aware other than internally those organizations how much money they raised and spent. And I'm referring to, you know, the Seals for Truth, which we don't know where that money came from. That was disclosed in MEC, but the way they did it was -- I think they're a super PAC, which then contributed to the MEC. But then the LG PAC was just making enormous expenditures in that race; and that was routed through ghost corporations in Texas, I think.

Q. Okay. Would there be a re-- you kind of said before that maybe one of the reasons that a PAC is made is to hide the identity of the donors. If the donors are foreigners, then maybe you set up a PAC to hide that. If they're Americans though, you can just take that money and go ahead and post it right on MEC. So is there any reason to make a PAC to hide American donors' names?

A. Well, at the time in Missouri, obviously there was no contribution limits. So if anybody wanted to contribute a million dollars -- we saw that happen numerous times.

Q. Right.

A. -- they could, obviously, and it was disclosed. So setting up another entity where you could accept unlimited contributions, I would have to believe that was -- that would only be for one reason, and that's to conceal the identity of a specific donor or groups of donors.

Q. Just to hide the fact that it was one person donating a huge amount of money, even though they were American and were legally allowed to do so?

A. Sure.

Q. Is there something politically beneficial in doing that?

A. I don't think there is, but certainly some people see the benefit in having C4s operate in that -- in that realm where you're making million dollar ad buys and doing other political activity and not disclosing that. But that's not something I've ever advised a candidate to do.

Q. All right. There was a mention, Alex Rogers. I think we're kind of questioning whether he was -- you had said he was in Hong Kong. Do you know of what his nationality was? Was he a citizen of there or was he an American citizen who just happened to be over there or staying over there for an extended period?

A. So there were two specific individuals that, you know, were connected with this conversation that we're having on foreign money. One was this Alex Rogers gentleman, and the other was Monu.

Alex, it was to the extent that he had worked for, I don't know, some multinational hedge fund or some sort of financial services fund and was based in Hong Kong; and Eric was visiting there at some point in the coming months, and Eric had had a $50,000 commitment from Alex. And I'd have to go back and look at -- look at my notes that I -- you know, that I took down from Eric on that particular individual. I know it's been disclosed to the Committee and -- but there was -- there was that gentleman.

And then there was Monu, who I spoke to a number of times, who referenced that Eric and him had a lot of buddies from Oxford that were interested in contributing in the race. And Oxford obviously is, you know, in England, and most students are foreign in that -- I know there's Americans too, obviously, that are students of Oxford University, but -- but the majority of are from abroad.

And so through those two discussions, you know, those -- that's the extent of my discussions with the Greitens team on foreign contributions. I don't know what happened after I left or -- and where those conversations went, but there were -- there obviously were commitments from Alex early on in the campaign to contribute a lot of money and to raise a lot of money.

Q. All right. So I've got that story, and I think that's the same thing that you've said in other testimony. But my question was do you know anything for a fact or did you hear something that would lead you to believe that Alex was -- did not have American citizenship?

A. No.

Q. So he -- so as far as you knew, he could have been an American just living in Hong Kong at the time or visiting --

A. He could have been. I've never talked to him. You know, I do believe I was listed on some emails with him. I know he had a foreign number that I believe Eric contacted him at, because I put that number on a call list for Eric. But I don't know the extent of his nationality.

Q. And then Monu, from all the MEC reports I've seen, seemed to be living in California. Do you have any solid knowledge as to his citizenship?

A. I do not.

Q. Okay. All right. When you worked and started getting paid in January 2015, did you invoice -- because you were as an independent subcontractor to begin with.

A. Um-hum.
Q. Did you actually give them a bill, give them an invoice for your time?
A. I'd have to go back and look. That's standard operating procedure for me. I -- I invoice all clients. So I believe I did, but I don't recall exactly. I know I was paid, because I had to get the bank record.
Q. Right. To whom would you -- did you make the invoice out?
A. That's a good question, because I'm not sure what the entity even was at that time. And I had to go back and look to see that I was even -- that I was paid from Greitens Group. So, yeah, I don't recall doing an invoice, but usually that is standard -- standard what I do.
Q. If you -- as far as you know, if you did do an invoice, it would have been made out to The Greitens Group or Greitens for Missouri, one of those two; it would not have been a third entity, is that correct, or might it have been a third entity?
A. That's why -- yeah, that's why I'm drawing a blank, because it would have been Greitens Group or Eric and Sheena Greitens or -- or Greitens for Missouri. But at the time in January there wasn't a campaign committee set up. So if I did an invoice, I probably wouldn't have invoiced a committee, because it didn't -- it didn't exist.

Q. Well, right. But I didn't know if he just up and wrote you a check and you didn't give him an invoice or you --

A. What I recall --

Q. -- what you received, you made an invoice --

A. If I -- I remember when he gave me the check. I was standing next to his -- next to his office, and he walked out, and I wasn't expecting it at the time. It was in -- I believe it was in late January. But I remember the exchange, because he told me I was doing a great job and -- you know, just a nice gesture. So --

Q. But was there a point where you went from independent contractor to employee or were you always independent contractor?

A. I was always an independent contractor.

Q. Okay.

A. Yeah, through the whole time. It just -- the entities changed in February --

Q. Gotcha.

A. -- yeah, from Greitens Group to Greitens for Missouri.

Q. Well, I guess what I'm getting at, I want to make sure that every -- if you put out any invoices, every invoice you would have put out, to your recollection, was to either Greitens Group or Greitens for Missouri, not something else; would that be fair?

A. Right.

Q. Okay.

A. Yes.

Q. Not The Mission Continues, not some other --

A. No.

Q. -- business, not --

A. The only other part-- it could have been in January just to Eric Greitens directly, if I -- if I created an invoice. But I don't recall an invoice for -- for January. And I think I testified earlier that I didn't know if I was paid from Eric personally or The Greitens Group. I knew it was one of the two. That was in my first testimony. And then I went and looked at the bank records and got a copy of a check, and it was from Greitens Group. And that I discovered after my first testimony to this Committee.

Q. Okay. Last thing, I want to talk about how you sort of ended up parting ways with the group, because you had been with them for a while; you had been providing information. Some of it was just sort of for free so they could get a feel for you, and then they started paying you. But within a few months of that, there was sort of a change in running that campaign. Tell me again your story of how that went down.

A. So in March -- Eric wasn't in the office all -- all that much during the month of March. And, again, I was only -- you know, I was spending three to four days a week, so I wasn't there full time either. Some of the consultants that I was connected with, they told Mr. Greitens and his -- his two closest advisors that if Eric ran for governor that he wouldn't be with him in that race, because they had been talking about John Brunner and they thought John was -- had a better profile and would have been the better candidate for governor, and that if John ran for office -- or ran for governor, that they would likely be with him.

So because of my relationship with those consultants, Eric felt it necessary that he needed to sever ties with me. And so the way they communicated that to me was first it was Mr. Laub. I talked with him in the morning. He said that Eric was completely 100 percent going for governor, that lieutenant governor and other offices were completely off the table, and that -- and this was the phrase that they coined, that each of them used when I had discussions with them that day, that they were taking a strategic pause in our relationship, meaning my professional relationship with them.

And Eric's senior advisor called me a few hours after that. He said that that was all political; it was just -- you know, there's no hard feelings and, again, it was -- you know, it was a strategic pause on the relationship.

Eric called me that night. I talked to him. I told him I was disappointed that I didn't hear it directly from him, because I had put in a lot of work for him all through 2014. Again, from my perspective, you know, I and a couple others that I was close with introduced him to many of the people that ended up becoming his inner circle of advisors and campaign team. And so, you know, I expected to be told directly and to hear it from Eric first. But it is what it is, and I moved on. We parted ways.

At that time in our discussion, Eric said that I would be a great employee in the governor's office someday; that in a few months if John Brunner didn't decide to run and the consultants that I was connected with weren't going down that road, that he'd love me -- love to bring me back on the campaign team. And so it was a very amicable pardoning of -- parting of the ways. And, you know, didn't have any hard feelings. I appreciated the opportunity to work with him. And, you know, four or five months later I went to work for John Brunner, who obviously ran for governor.

Q. Where do you feel like your relationship is now with the Governor's staff and those who took over the campaign and your replacement? Are you still -- I shouldn't say still. Are you bitter? Are you totally content? You don't care one way or the other? I mean, I don't want to put words in your mouth, but kind of tell me where we're at now.

A. Sure. Well, before all this, over the last few months, I mean, I was -- I was content moving on professionally and everything else. The circumstances changed when these investigations started -- started moving. And so, you know, I've been drawn into this thing, you know, somewhat unwillingly. But I'm here because of -- one, because I was subpoenaed and, two, I do believe in uncovering the truth in all of this.

In terms of our relationship, you know, it's -- I'm not watching the Stanley Cup with him on TV at night. You know, I'm not invited to barbecues. But, you know, if we saw each other, you know, I think he's -- I appreciated the opportunity to work with him, and I don't have any hard feelings against the guy. I'm just here because the subpoena and because I, you know, want the truth to come out.

And to your point about the staff, you know, I don't have very much contact with them and haven't -- and have never really had very much contact with them.

Q. Well, you know, the reason I had asked the question, obviously there's going to be some question of whether you're just a disgruntled former employee. And I know you kind of brought that up before. This is the first time you and I have had a chance to visit, because I'm new on the Committee. But you've talked to the Committee once before. I've read those transcripts. You've talked to the Attorney General as well, I believe; and I've read those transcripts. In the Attorney General's interaction when you were sort of asked that, it was a little -- I think you called it unprofessional and -- a little harsher version of what you had told and -- what you had told to this Committee. So I'm just trying to feel out and make sure that the testimony that you're giving us is --

A. Sure.

Q. -- just the flat, honest truth. You're not biased one way or the other, or can we read some bias in or what?

A. Yeah. Well, and to clarify, and I think it's important for the record, I mean, you know, if you follow social media, I mean, there's some pretty wicked stuff being thrown around. And I've tried to push that to the side. This isn't fun for me at all, nor have the last four months been, you know, my idea of a good time working in Missouri politics. But they'll -- I know they'll try to frame me as I'm doing this because I'm a disgruntled employee. I know I've done some of the interviews. And that's important for me and that's a personal decision for me, because I've seen what some other witnesses have gone through, in terms of their credibility being questioned and other things. And I'm -- I'm here to, you know, defend my testimony and not let, you know, other people define it for me.

So I know that's a long-winded way to answer your question. But, no, I was perfectly content on all this to leave -- to leave it behind. And, unfortunately, we're in this position, and it's a very serious and sad time for the state and for all of us to go through.

REPRESENTATIVE EGGLESTON: All right. Thank you, Mr. Chair.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Thank you.

Representative Trent, is that -- yeah. No, Representative -- you're tied in seniority, except for committee seniority.

Representative Pierson, you weren't here on Thursday when we were going to Representative Trent next.

So you are definitely senior here.

REPRESENTATIVE PIERSON: Thank you, Mr. Chair, and time served on this committee has doubled.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: As it should. You know what, we should make the request for those of you who will be returning to get bumped up in your line for picking offices.

REPRESENTATIVE PIERSON: I like that. Hear ye, hear ye.

First of all, thank you, Mr. Chair, and thank you, Mr. Hafner, for being here.

QUESTIONS BY REPRESENTATIVE PIERSON:

Q. I just had a couple of perhaps clarifying questions, because we've covered a lot -- a lot of landscape. I wanted to, if you would, draw your attention to Exhibit 87. And I just want to make sure -- because I know you talked about a typo on another page. I wanted to make sure that there was no typo on this one. As we look at number 6, where it talks about Monu --

A. Um-hum.

Q. -- and I believe near the end of that particular numbered item, do you see where LLC and/or 501(C)(3)? Should that be 501(C)(4) or is that indeed 501(C)(3)?

A. I don't want to speak for Eric Greitens, because he's --

Q. Okay. That's from him?

A. -- the one that wrote these notes. I would think he would have known that C3s can't contribute. So I would -- I would -- I would think that's supposed to say C4, but...

Q. Okay. Because I know we've been talking a lot about C4s in particular.

A. Yeah.

Q. So --

A. C3s obviously are charities. Yeah, so it should be off limits completely. So, yeah, I would think that's a typo, but I don't -- I don't know. I don't want to speak for him.

Q. Okay. Okay. Very good. I just wanted to --

A. I mean, he wrote this email, so...

Q. Thank you. Thanks. Very good. Have you -- have you been involved in any other campaigns as early as you were involved in this particular campaign?

A. I'm trying to think. Yeah, probably. And I'll give you an example. You know, in 2010 and 2011 Peter Kinder was looking at running for governor. And, you know, we were trying to lay some initial groundwork for that campaign; and that was quite a bit of time off away. I don't know if it was, you know, more than two years, but it was pretty far in advance. This is -- this is -- it's not unusual.

You know, Catherine Hanaway had announced for governor, I think, in early 2014. And Eric was obviously having those discussions about running. So I don't think it's unusual. But, you know, me personally -- and I really wasn't directly involved with Eric until January 2015. You know, I served as informal advisor and, you know, acted as a resource and helped connect him in and network him in all through 2014. But it wasn't until '15 when I had more of a direct role. So that would have been a year and, you know, 11 -- 11 months out from the 2016 general election. So that's not unusual.

Q. Okay. So perhaps it is general practice for someone in your role to work with an individual prior to there being the campaign and working without compensation?

A. Well, to a certain extent. If a candidate is very serious, then you want to encourage them to open some sort of mechanism to raise funds. In Missouri obviously that's opening a campaign committee. And so it's not -- it's not unusual to put some leg work in on the front end when you're going through a candidate recruitment process. I mean, you see the caucus committees do this all the time with potential candidates. You know, you're advising them through a decision process; and then they, you know, make a formal decision on whether to run for -- run or not.

You know, again, I mean, we didn't know the extent of how active Mr. Greitens was through 2014, you know. Honestly, we thought we were one of the only consultants that he was talking with in Missouri, and it seems like he was working with a number of others.

Q. Is it your experience that that pro bono work perhaps gets factored in once a campaign committee is formed?

A. I think it depends on how much work an individual is putting in. If they're a full-time staffer, then, yeah, usually that's something that would be reported, that should be reported. I mean, if they're legitimate campaign expenses, yeah, they should all be disclosed in your MEC reports.

Q. So there could be a situation where an individual has done some pro bono work before a campaign has started; then once a campaign starts, that work is in some form or fashion rolled into the agreement that they have moving forward, if it be a reporting mechanism or if it be in the package that they accept moving forward; is that...

A. Just so I understand your question, could you restate it?

Q. I will try. So we kind of talked about individuals working and helping and -- another individual, potential candidate. And then once that candidate becomes an official candidate and opens up a committee, then is that relationship and that pro bono work taken into consideration in whatever compensation --

A. Oh.

Q. -- going forward, and is that reported previous? Just kind of how might that work?

A. I'm not sure how ethics would -- you know, would tell you how to report that. But if you're -- if you're doing legitimate campaign work -- say if I was working with a candidate prior to them forming a committee, then they form a committee, you would think that that should be listed as an in-kind contribution or listed as an expenditure from the committee, you know, based on that political work that you're doing for that campaign.

I'm not sure what ethics would tell you on that. But, I mean, I -- that's how I would operate. I mean, if you're -- if you're making expenditures on staff, that should be reported in some form. Now, I guess could a consultant, you know, say that he wasn't paid for, you know, the month of January, and then -- and then say, well, when you open a campaign committee, then -- then, you know, just pay me for the month of January then. I suppose you could do that. But that's something for -- that's a campaign finance law issue. I'm not an attorney.

Q. Okay. Very good. Thank you. Were you involved in -- you kind of talked about the book tour. And approximately when did that happen?

A. In March of 2015.

Q. March of 2015. So that's right around the time where you separated?

A. Late March, yeah.

Q. Did you have --

A. Probably around the 20th of March.

Q. -- much involvement with that book tour?

A. No. Just to the extent that Eric had asked me to invite a bunch of political --

Q. That's right.

A. -- types to his book launch in St. Louis.

Q. Okay. Okay. I think you said something to the effect of, I guess, Mr. Greitens or his team kind of sending mixed messages to people to kind of keep them engaged. What kind of led you to that thought?

A. I think -- I -- look, I mean, I think we were misled pretty greatly. I don't think he ever had a real desire to run for anything else other than governor. Hindsight's always 20/20. But, you know, at the time I wanted to believe that he could be a -- you know, a generational leader for our party. I went to work for him because I did believe in him and he had a great resume. I wanted to believe the conversion to, you know, his Republican etiology was sincere. It wasn't until I started working in a more close capacity that I realized, you know, the truth about some of those things.

But can you remind me what your question was again? I think I digressed a little bit.

Q. That's all right. Just let me ask: So do you feel those mixed messages were sent and perhaps perpetuated intentionally?

A. Yes, I do. And, look, I mean, we introduced him to an incredible amount of donors and influencers and activists and a lot of people that became his inner circle staff. That was through our network. And, yeah, I do believe we were misled quite a bit on the office he was -- the office he was seeking. And I think that was intentional. But, you know, I don't want to speculate on his motives or anything.

Q. Okay. And kind of lastly, I think you made a statement in regards to Mr. Greitens' plans and those plans superseding heeding advice to form a committee.

A. Um-hum.
Q. Is that an accurate representation of perhaps what you stated?
A. Yes, it is.
Q. Okay. And then also that his creation of the committee was not in any -- was not done in, I guess, adherence to anyone's advice, but perhaps in response to Brunner's decision to enter the race?
A. I think, you know, Eric would probably say it's for -- it was for a different reason. But the way I remember it was that Tom Schweich announced very early in 2015 that he was running. Catherine Hanaway had already been in the race for a year. Then you had John Brunner, who -- who was having more discussions and conversations with people about potentially running. And I think the political calculation changed for Eric, and he decided -- and they decided that, you know, they needed to have -- you know, they needed to plant a flag to make sure that they weren't being left out of the discussion. Because if you -- if you had, you know, somebody like a John Brunner, that if he would have gotten in early and, you know, decided to contribute, you know, a bunch of money to his race, that would have changed the landscape quite a bit and would have left somebody like Eric and his candidacy on the outs.

And so I think the -- I think at that time period -- they might say something that's totally different. But what I experienced, what I recall was that that calculation changed during that time period.

REPRESENTATIVE PIERSON: Thank you, Mr. Hafner.

Thank you, Mr. Chair.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Representative Trent.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

QUESTIONS BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. Thank you, Mr. Hafner, for being here today. So there's a lot of different things I wanted to cover here. But I guess let's start with the campaign committee just briefly. When do you typically advise a client that they need to create an MEC committee of some sort?

A. I think it depends, you know, on the -- on the client -- or the potential client's involvement. You know, if we know that they're making expenditures, real expenditures, on political activities, then --

Q. So what is the threshold of expenditures at which you advise them to create a committee?

A. I'm not sure if there's a specific threshold that I use. Just if it's -- if it's money -- if it's legitimate money, like on staff or something like that, we would --

Q. Do you know what the legal threshold is?

A. I mean, I would assume it's -- no, I don't know specifically.

Q. Okay.

A. I think it's $500, but I don't know.

Q. Well, I think that's correct too. I mean, you know, it seems like that's kind of a bright line. And you're fairly experienced with campaigns. I mean, you've been doing it for a long time, right, at a pretty high level?

A. Different aspects, yeah.

Q. And at a pretty high level. You've done statewides before this. You've done a variety of campaigns before this; right?

A. Yes.

Q. When do you typically get brought into a campaign? Are you there at the ground floor or do you usually come in later after the campaign's already well underway?

A. It really depends. Sometimes -- you know, the firm that I was working with, I mean, they would do -- they would recruit candidates. So in that sense it was on the ground floor. But, you know, a recent example, you know, like with John Brunner --

Q. Was later on?

A. -- he would -- yeah, he had a campaign committee set up for a number of months, and I was brought in at that point.

Q. But you -- this certainly was not the first campaign you came in on at the beginning?

A. No.

Q. Yeah, so it's something that you -- that you've done before. And so I would assume prior candidates that you talked to that you've helped, you have helped them navigate that same process; you've helped indicate to them when they should file a committee?

A. Yes. This was unique, from just my personal experience, because for a governor's campaign I don't think I was ever on any -- yeah, I was never on the ground floor.

Q. But it would be the same, I mean, no matter what the -- the threshold's the same for any race. So it -- the nature of the -- of the committee in this case would not have changed the nature of your advice; is that fair to say?

A. I don't know if I would say that.

Q. I mean, in terms of creating the committee, like when that has to happen.

A. Yeah, if there was legitimate expenses, yeah.

Q. And just to clarify the timeline here. You did not advise the formation of the committee before December of 2014; is that correct?

A. That's the first time in writing. There were some discussions that we had in 2014, but I don't know the exact dates of those conversations.

Q. Okay. So that was the first time that we can verify?

A. That I formally, yeah.

Q. Yeah, you did it in a formal way. Okay. All right. And when did you first get paid again, just so I'm clear on?

A. January of 2015.

Q. January of 2015. Okay. We might come back to that in a minute. But let's move on to the list, The Mission Continues list. So -- and you've got quite a bit of experience in fundraising too. That's something that you've done a fair amount; is that accurate?

A. Yeah, it's not my main role, but I've done it for some other clients in the past.

Q. Okay. And you met with then-Candidate Greitens to discuss fundraising; correct?

A. At what time are you referring to?

Q. Well, I mean, early on when we were talking, I mean, you met with him repeatedly throughout your engagement with the campaign to do -- is it fair to say -- let me put it this way: Is it fair to say you were very active in the fundraising component of the campaign?

A. When I was officially -- officially paid, yeah, I was. And I didn't realize that was going to be my role or what envisioned that --

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: I think, Representative, I think I asked a similar question. I didn't put a temporal limitation on it. Are you talking about in 2014 or 2015 -- early 2014, late 2014, or early 2015? And that's why I think that we got the hesitation there.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Yeah, just --

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Just put a time frame on the question.

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. Just longitudinally. So late 2014, early 2015, and then onward, you were pretty much -- when you first began to be involved in the campaign, from that point going forward, you were involved in the fundraising side of it fairly extensively?

A. It was never discussed that was going to be my role prior to me actually starting to work out of his office. So once I got there, then quickly realized that's what they wanted me to work on.

Q. Yeah. This is just a --

A. And that's at the beginning of 2015.

Q. And this is just a small tangent. But when they did discuss bringing you on, what did they say your role was going to be? Did they go into a lot of detail on that?

A. If I recall correctly, so -- so Dan Laub was -- again, he was kind of the -- he didn't have the title of campaign manager, but -- but he was in charge of all the political activities. And so the way I was brought on was really to assist him in laying the groundwork of the campaign. And --

Q. So you were chief cook and bottle washer; is that what you're saying?

A. Yeah, washer. Washer mostly.

Q. Okay. Well, you know, that's -- I mean, that's how a lot of these campaigns work. I mean, you're -- you know, early you don't have a lot going on; you just have, you know, one guy or a handful of guys in maybe a statewide race, and you're doing potentially --

A. Yeah, a little of everything.

Q. Yeah.

A. Yeah.

Q. So you don't -- you don't have a formalized structure, role, or anything, because the campaign's not really got started yet.

A. Yep.

Q. Okay. So now in these meetings, when you were talking with the candidate about the ability to raise money, what did you tell him about his ability to raise money from his network of friends, associates, and people that he was close to?

A. You know, through 2014 he had indicated that he wouldn't have a problem raising money. And so, you know, I was, of course, skeptical because a lot of donors -- lot of Republican donors just didn't know him in the state. Some did, of course, that were donors to the charity. And so when we're going through the notes on one of the first days I was employed, I mean, he did have an encyclopedia recollection of donors and notes on specific donors. And so when we were going through the list --

Q. When you say the list, what list are you referring to?

A. The Mission Continues list.

Q. Okay. So it's that list. And the notes are on that list --

A. There's not --
Q. -- or are these separate notes?
A. There's not really notes. I took notes based on Eric's, you know, verbal --
Q. Oh, okay. So let me --
A. So --
Q. -- try to clarify what's happening here. So you've got this list, Mission Continues list. You're going down it. You point at the first name on the list, and he says, ah, that's so and so, here's bam, bam, bam, three things that are important about them; here's how much money I think I can get from them, something like that?
A. Almost exactly like that.
Q. Okay. So --
A. And what the best way to reach out to them. Sometimes, you know, on a higher, you know, net worth individual, it will be, well, we have to reach out to so and so. And those were all notes that I had to get directly from him, because we just weren't aware of them.
Q. When you were going through that list, did he pull out his phone or anything and say, hey, that's out of date; you should actually be calling at this number or you should contact their kid or something to that effect?
A. No.

Q. Nothing like that?
A. No. It was all, yeah, based on the list.
Q. Okay.
A. Some people on the list, of course, he had some --
Q. He never had a --
A. -- relationships. Yeah, he had some personal relationships with some of the people on the list; but there was a lot that he didn't recall how -- you know, how he knew them or how they contributed.
Q. Okay. So some people he was not familiar with, but a lot of people he knew who they were, he had lots of details on?
A. Some, yeah.
Q. Could you -- could you --
A. It would be tough -- it would be tough to --
Q. Quantify?
A. Yeah, it would be tough to quantify, because there was -- you know, with the list that he -- there was contact information for companies and for, you know, foundations and stuff like that on this list too. And so, I mean, I don't think it was a thousand names, but somewhere between 500 and a thousand. It would be tough to quantify how many people he had personal relationships on the list.

Q. Okay. So you can't say for sure, but it was -- I mean, it's enough, obviously, that it stood out in your mind that this was something he was pretty familiar with?

A. Yeah. Yeah.

Q. Yeah. Okay. And this was information -- and I think we pretty much covered this. But this was information he had either in his own mind or information that only he had access to that he was coaching you on here?

A. Well, I -- I didn't know -- you know, I didn't know how the list was created or anything --

Q. Um-hum.

A. -- or that it was potentially property of the charity, how it was acquired. Obviously, I didn't -- I didn't think it was acquired anything but lawfully.

Q. But you knew it was a list from The Mission Continues?

A. I did not know.

Q. And --

A. That's how it was described to me, but I did not know that it was --

Q. So they told you it was on The Mission Continues?

A. The way that they sent it over -- and I think the -- I think the -- I know the Committee has the documents on what was listed on the email. But I think it just said The Mission Continues -- The Mission Continues list or something along that effect. But, again, I didn't know if it was a list that, you know, his assistant had created or, you know, if it was -- I didn't know it was property of the char-- or if it was property the charity or not.

Q. Did you ask any questions about the list?

A. I don't think so. Well, what do you mean about the list?

Q. Well, I mean, did you ask any questions about its origin or how it was acquired or any of that kind of information?

A. I did not.

Q. So you just kind of took it at face value and didn't think about any of those ethical questions?

A. Well, I wouldn't say -- I wouldn't say didn't think about the ethical questions. I just didn't -- you don't expect somebody with, you know, a degree in ethics to acquire a list anything but -- using anything but lawful means. You know, you -- it just didn't occur to me that it was -- it could have been direct property of the charity and they didn't have authorization to use it. It just didn't register.

Q. And did you ever obtain any direct knowledge about the way that the list was obtained or the legality thereof?

A. Not directly. It wasn't until, you know, October of 2016, I think, that I received a call from a reporter saying that they had access to the list and that it was created by somebody at the charity. And that's the first time I ever heard that it was likely property of the charity.

Q. Did you ever advise the campaign on fundraising lists and how all that works under Missouri ethics regulations?

A. I don't think so, because -- I don't recall doing so just because, again, I mean, I -- I worked for a nonprofit at the time -- not at the time. But in the past I worked for a nonprofit, a civic organization in St. Louis. And so I understood a little bit on how charities work. And so I -- yeah, I mean, I just didn't -- didn't think that the list was acquired using anything but lawful means, and so I didn't -- there was no reason in my head to advise them, you know, well, if this is, you know, property of the charity, then --

Q. I mean --

A. I just figured I --

Q. I mean, even beyond that list, like you never gave them any general advice, like, hey, when you're -- when you're thinking about fundraising and thinking about how that operates, here's some pitfalls that you should be aware of, that you should look out for? You didn't give any of that kind of advice?

A. On fundraising practices?

Q. Yeah.

A. There was a meeting sometime in January that we had that we discussed fundraising, fundraising practices. I don't recall the topics we discussed in that meeting. I don't think we discussed anything about, you know, raising money from C3 donors because, again, I didn't know that the list was acquired -- I didn't know how the list was acquired, and I didn't -- I didn't know that they didn't have authorization to use the list.

Q. Was there anyone else that advised the campaign on these matter? I mean, did they have an attorney or someone else or were they looking to you for that?

A. No, I mean, they had -- they had attorn-- they had a number of attorneys that were advising them.

Q. On campaign finance issues?

A. Yes.

Q. And when did they begin?

MR. ERNST: I want to be careful -- I want to be careful that we're avoiding straying into any attorney-client privileged communications. I think you can answer this question.

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. Yeah, I think this is a safe question for you.

A. It was my understanding that a couple of these attorneys were involved from the -- I mean, that --

Q. You don't have direct knowledge?

A. -- before me -- well, I have direct knowledge that they were involved, because I had to reach out to them --

Q. Oh, okay.

A. -- on a couple of occasions. So there was that. And then there was also -- you know, they brought somebody in who was an executive at a financial services firm that I think he -- I don't know if he was paid; he might have been volunteering his time. But they brought him in in January, and he was kind of designated as the guy who was going to handle compliance going forward. And he was a really sharp guy. So, yeah, I think that was -- my role, I think, was supposed to be limited just to fundraising.

Q. And you didn't see any other activity in the campaign which would have raised any red flags? Like there was never any attempt to conceal where the list had come from or to obscure, you know, fundraising names that had been pulled from the list or anything like that? Like it was just all -- appeared to be open and aboveboard, and no one appeared to have any concerns, and so you had no concerns; is that fair to say?

A. I don't know if -- I don't know if I would say that. At one point when we were going through the list, Eric had suggested that I reach out to somebody who had just worked at the charity or might have still worked at the charity to go over donors on that list. Because Eric didn't recognize a number of the donors, and he said that this individual -- her name was Lindsay, and I've seen through what's been posted publicly that she's testified, you know, previously here. But he wanted me to reach out to her to discuss that list and discuss donors on that list. And that was when I kind of drew the line. I never reached out to her to schedule any meeting. You know, that -- that to me was clear coordination between, you know, charity resources and a political campaign.

Q. Did you raise those concerns to any other staffer?

A. I did not at the time.

Q. Did you raise those concerns to the candidate?

A. I didn't raise them -- I didn't raise the concerns, but I -- you know, I didn't follow up on -- on that direction, because it's -- you know, it did make me uncomfortable, so I didn't reach out to her.

Q. Did you believe -- I mean, you said that that was a line that you didn't want to cross. Did you believe that was illegal or unethical?

A. Yeah, I believed that was unethical.

Q. Why did you fail to report that to any other staffer or the candidate or any authority, if that was how you felt about that action?

A. So at the time, you know, there was no committee set up. You know, I can advise my client, you know, to do a certain thing; but it's ultimately his decision, and it's up to the candidate to -- you know, to take the advice or not.

Q. But can the candidate make a decision if those concerns aren't voiced to them?

A. Well --

Q. Because, I mean, we're talking about a first-time candidate that -- I mean, of course all individuals have an obligation to understand the law. But, I mean, you knew that he was very inexperienced in this area, and so that's why I just --

A. Yeah, well --
Q. -- I don't understand why you would fail to raise that concern, so --
A. Right.
Q. -- that he would be better aware of what the choice was.
A. Yeah, well, I mean, at the time, again, I didn't -- I didn't know and I didn't suspect that that list was actual property of the charity or that it was acquired --
Q. But now we're talking about the coordination with the staffer. And you said you felt that was a clear violation or that you were uncomfortable in your mind at that time, but yet you just said that you didn't raise any concern about that to anyone.
A. Well, I kept to myself. You know, I wasn't going to go down that road and talk to a staffer of a charity about political fundraising.
Q. Or a staffer of the campaign or the candidate?
A. Again, I mean, it was something that Eric suggested that I do in a meeting. And it wasn't -- you know, I thought it was just going to be a dead issue if I didn't go down that road. And it looks like, you know, somebody did meet with her later on. But, again, it was something I just didn't want to -- want to go down.

Q. Okay. Let's switch to the foreign donors. And I was a little unclear from your earlier testimony, but do you believe that the campaign Greitens for Missouri took donations from foreign nationals and concealed that; is that what you're saying you believe?

A. No, I'm not saying that. I don't know. That would -- any sort of thing like that would have happened well after I left, and I have no direct knowledge of it.

Q. So you have no evidence that any foreign donations were ever taken?

A. The only thing I have evidence of is that those discussions were being had in the early stages of the campaign.

Q. And what --

A. What happened after I left, I have no idea.

Q. And what evidence do you have of those discussions?

A. Well, my -- my personal conversation --

Q. From your personal observation.

A. Well, I mean, Monu was able to come here and, you know -- or whoever and sit here next to me and say that there wasn't a -- the governor -- I mean --

Q. Sure.

A. -- I know what happened. I know what I experienced. I know the conversations I had and the follow-ups from those conversations. But in terms of evidence of them accepting some sort of foreign contribution, no, I don't have evidence of that.

Q. There's no emails? No written documentation? I mean, we discussed some of this stuff late yesterday, so I, you know, admittedly could have missed something in there. But there's no tangible evidence of any desire or intent or indeed actuality of foreign donations?

A. All I know is -- is what the discussions were about in the embryonic stage of the campaign when I was working there and the people that Eric connected me with. And what happened after I left, yes, I don't -- I don't know what happened with those.

Q. Now, did you ever look up -- I mean, Monu and Alex Rogers were the two folks that you mentioned that you were unaware of their citizenship. Did you ever take any steps to ascertain what their citizenship status was?

A. I don't think that was -- I didn't believe that that was my role. Again, you don't -- when you're working with a candidate, you don't think that they're going to connect you with somebody who, you know, might not be able to legally contribute to your campaign or raise money. So...

Q. Well, I mean, so you believe that the candidate knows all the legal requirements in and out and has all the information of all the donors and everyone that he's talking to in and out, and you don't think a staff in a campaign has any obligation to try to help double-check those kind of facts?

MR. ERNST: I think that's a little argumentative.

THE WITNESS: I think --

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. I mean, I'm just trying to understand what we're saying here.

A. Sure. So, look, I -- I gave Eric a little more credit as a candidate. He's a Road Scholar. He's got a doctorate. You know, he's not an idiot. He asks tough questions.

Q. Sure.

A. You know, when you're working with a candidate at that level, you don't -- you don't think that's -- you know, that's -- that he'd ask you to do something that was unethical.

Q. Are the services that I described, you know, trying to run all the traps on all the different minutia of campaign finance law, is that not typically what campaign consultants do?

A. Well, again, this is -- I was there in the very embryonic stage of the campaign, and I know -- I know the discussions that I had with Eric and people Eric connected me with. You know, I can -- I can offer advice in a, you know, certain way. And, look, I mean, I can talk about the conversation about foreign money, but that includes --

MR. ERNST: Is your question whether Mr. Hafner's role was to provide expert legal advice on the minutia of campaign finance? Because I think he's testified clearly he's not a lawyer and that would not have been his role.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: No, I'm not suggesting that he should be providing expert legal advice.

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. Simply that, you know, when one deals in this area, when one works on a lot of campaigns, when one is in this role for a period of time, you may not know all the answers, but you sort of know where you need to be looking out. And it -- and it seems like that there are a lot of concerns that are being expressed now, which were not expressed at the time. And all I'm trying to understand is what that situation, what that environment looked like --

A. Sure.

Q. -- where those concerns weren't expressed then.

A. There were -- again, I don't know what happened after, you know, Eric and I parted ways. I know -- I know the discussions that we had and the discussions that I had with attorneys that they connected me with on these issues. I take direction and legal counsel from campaign attorneys when it comes to campaign fundraising practices.

Q. Now, did you -- did you retain a copy of The Mission Continues list yourself?

A. Obviously I had to supply that to the Committee, so it was in my files.

Q. Okay. And did you have permission to take that list with you when you left, from the campaign?

A. Well, at the time -- again, I didn't -- I didn't know that it was in any sort of way property of the charity or anything else. They never asked me to delete or anything else any files that I had. Now looking back, you know, I do recall deleting some -- some things when I parted ways. But I think there was -- obviously I've turned over a lot of documents.

Q. Is it typical to retain things like donor lists from campaigns once you finish working with them?

A. Sometimes.

Q. And is --

A. But in this case I never used the list. If I wanted to use the list, I could have used it for John Brunner, who was a veteran as well.

Q. Oh, certainly. Then -- and I understand that you didn't use this list. But do you typically use lists like that for other candidates? Do you -- you know, is that part of the value that you bring to the table?

A. Yes, that's part of the value. It depends on the circumstance and the candidate. But I wouldn't use a donor list of yours without your explicit permission.

Q. So you never -- so you retain the list from someone from a campaign; you would never use it in another campaign without first going back to that candidate and getting permission?

A. Yeah, if I -- if I had worked on your campaign, I don't think I would use your donor list, personal contacts and thing like that, without your permission.

Q. If you did, in fact, use a list like that, would that have to be reported as an in-kind contribution from someone?

MR. ERNST: Are you --

MR. HAFNER: That's a --

MR. ERNST: -- asking a legal question?

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: I'm sorry, when you say a list like that, I'm just personally confused. So I don't know if we could clarify what you mean by list like that.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: List like the financial donor list, like The Mission Continues list, or a similar list.

REPRESENTATIVE MITTEN: Well, like a 501(C)(3) list or a list from another candidate? That's where I'm confused. So I just want to get the record clear, Representative. That's all that I was asking.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Just a general campaign donor list that a campaign would typically have.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Well, I think Representative Mitten does actually have a good point there, because the campaign donor list that a campaign would typically have is certainly a different category than a donor list from a 501(C)(3) that a campaign would not typically have, unless it was open and offered to everyone else. So I guess -- I think what Representative Mitten is asking is to put these in tranches, I guess, where --

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Well, I mean --

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: And you can ask it how you want, but --

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: A 501(C)(3) --

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: -- let's make it a clear record.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: I mean, we're starting to kind of get into like legal technicalities now, because my understanding is a 501(C)(3) could give permission for someone to have their list.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: They can. My understanding is if you give permission to one, you have to give permission to all.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Right, but that would still be -- let's say you gave permission to everyone, there would still be a value to that list; correct?

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: There could be, but -- and I'm not sure what -- so, yeah, but I -- that goes to your question. I think Representative Mitten is not saying you don't get an answer to your question. I think she's just saying --

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: No, I understand.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: -- clarify the question and put it in the right -- put it in -- be very specific with your question is what she's saying.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: So we're not talking about a list that would necessarily be a 501(C)(3), although I don't actually think it'd matter in the context of my question. What we're talking about is a list of financial donors that a campaign has and was using to raise money.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: A list that has value?

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Yes.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Any value is your -- okay.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Right.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: I get it.

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. And so if you had a list of that nature that you had retained from another campaign and you provide that list to a new campaign, how would you list that in-kind contribution?

A. I don't -- I don't know. I'm not sure I -- I'd have to call up ethics and see how they'd want me to report it, I guess.

Q. Okay. So you would have to -- you'd have to check in on that?

A. Well, you're referring to just another candidate's list, not a --

Q. Right. So I guess my question -- I could put it like this: Would you list that in-kind contribution as the campaign whose list it originally was or would you list it as an in-kind contribution from you, the consultant, who had provided it to them?

A. I guess it depends on who owns the list; does the candidate own the list or does the consultant who created the list -- or the staff that had created the list?

Q. Would -- you have retained a list in our scenario here and you have permission to have that list. Would you believe that -- and I'm not asking for a conclusion of law. I'm asking for what you would believe. Would you believe that that is a list you own and can use freely or would you believe that that list was still the property of a campaign committee, especially when that campaign committee may no longer exist, like if it was from a candidate that was now retired and was no longer in front of you?

A. That's tough to answer because, you know, contract fundraisers create lists on behalf of candidates all the time. And you could make the argument that somebody like that, which is what I've done for some other candidates, would have control -- or would have ownership of that list that they created. And then by providing it to another campaign, yeah, then it should be --

Q. It's pretty unclear -- I mean, it's pretty foggy, isn't it?

A. I'm not an attorney. I mean, again, I would call ethics on this and --

Q. Yeah, you --

A. -- talk to them about it.

Q. And so, I mean, you and I have been doing this for a long time, and I'm not sure we could puzzle out what the answer is just sitting here ourselves.

A. In terms of this transfer in owner --

Q. Yeah.

A. -- transferring a donor list?

Q. I mean, there's a lot of technicalities there. It's pretty unclear. Okay. Thank you. I appreciate that.

And then I had a few questions about your -- when we went through all the different exhibits that were just -- that were just presented.

So going first to Exhibit 80. And if you need to refresh your recollection on this, just let me know. I don't think my questions will require that, but --

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: I think he still has them up there.

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. Oh, okay, then perfect. You've got them up there.

A. Yeah.
Q. That's perfect. So the inoculation research. And just for viewers at home, inoculation research is typically for a candidate or someone who's thinking about being a candidate to go through and find out what an opposing candidate's opposition research would reveal about that candidate; is that fair to say?
A. Yes.
Q. And so the mere fact that you are performing inoculation research does not indicate that you are a candidate. I mean, if something terrible comes up, you may decide you don't want to be a candidate; right?
A. Sure.
Q. So when this research was done, it's not necessarily indicative of whether or not a campaign has yet been decided upon; would you say that's fair?
A. In my experience, yeah, I think that's fair.
Q. Okay. Let's see. Moving on to number 81. Were the -- all the different vendors that were part of this meeting, were they ever retained by the campaign? Do you know that?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. So a lot of these vendors were never actually ultimately hired by the campaign?
A. No. But, I mean, there were -- I don't want to speak for the other individuals on here --

Q. Sure.

A. -- but I think they were advisors at one point to the Greitens campaign, a couple of them.

Q. Some of them may have been, but you think some of them probably weren't retained by the campaign ultimately. And indeed that's fairly common, is it not, for consultants and other vendors to kind of go to a candidate or a potential candidate and showcase their wares, what they can do for them, then nothing ever becomes of that?

A. Sure. This wasn't really an opportunity for them to pitch their services though. It was more -- it was more an advisory role.

Q. So you'd say it was more informational in purpose in how it unfolded?

A. Well, somebody for a -- for a serious candidate, yes. It wasn't -- certainly wasn't something that we would put together for --

Q. Right.

A. -- somebody who wasn't serious about running for a high-level office.

Q. But the point of this meeting was not to -- to lay a groundwork for a campaign so much as it's just to answer the question that especially a new candidate would have about virtually everything in the process?

A. Yeah, I'd say that. Now, in hindsight, again, you know, we believed that we were the only people that he was talking to. It looks like he was using a number of other consultants in the same way, in setting up meetings and things like that. So...

Q. So he was shopping around, trying to get the best deal or the best quality or whatever criteria he may or may not have in his mind?

A. You'd have to ask him that.

Q. Right. I mean, it's something we can't know. But, I mean, he's clearly not just looking at one group of folks; like he's evaluating many people during this time?

A. Testimony seems -- yeah, that's been released seems like that was the case.

Q. Okay. And, again, have you seen meetings like this occur for candidates who ultimately decided not to run?

A. I don't know about this high a level. But, yeah, I mean, similar meetings like this.

Q. Yeah. So there could be a meeting like this where somebody's kind of kicking the tires, and then they decide, oh, well --

A. Usually it's --

Q. -- it's not the time or it's not for me or --
A. Well, I mean, at this point this was -- this was something that, you know, national vendors were in town for. It was a high-level meeting. We wouldn't have had it if we didn't believe he was very, very serious about running.
Q. Sure. I mean, that makes sense. I mean, you wouldn't want to come incur the expense of an airline trip, if there was no chance that you might not land a client. So --
A. Sure.
Q. Sure. No, that's fair. Then let's move on to Number 82, the follow-up meeting. Again, would you characterize this as an informational meeting, like that was kind of a round-up of what they had heard at the previous meeting and answer any questions that might have developed since then, follow-up questions?
A. Yeah. More just laying the groundwork and going a little bit more in-depth talking about some of the presentations.
Q. Was any strategy for the campaign laid down in this meeting? Any -- any concrete plans that were then executed?
A. I don't recall. I'd have to look at the notes. I mean, I know there was notes taken, and I know there was follow-ups from this, yeah. But I --

Q. But you're not aware --

A. I'm sure I've turned those over -- I'm sure I've turned those over to the Committee though.

Q. But you don't remember any executables that came from this?

A. I'm sure that there were, but I don't recall the exact ones right now.

Q. And then 83, Exhibit 83. And this one looks particularly interesting to me, so -- and I'm not trying to put words in your mouth here. But just so I understand what your testimony is, are you saying that the Governor is a secret Democrat?

A. I'm certainly -- one, I don't know if I ever -- no, I mean, I wouldn't say he was a secret Democrat. I -- this is an email that was written from Dave Whitman to myself. They were very sensitive to the fact that he had a previous history as a Democrat. And so, yeah, in terms of saying he's -- no, I wouldn't say that. Look, at the time I believed the conversion was sincere and --

Q. Do you still believe the conversion was sincere?

A. I think -- I think it depends on -- on how you want to define sincere. You know, I --

Q. Has the --

A. After this -- I mean, after this email in question, obviously I entered into a paid, you know, working relationship with him. And, you know, I sat through the messaging sessions and the meetings where he was working through conservative beliefs and conservative positioning. And so it wasn't until that point, you know, that I believed and still do that he modified a number of his beliefs in order to match a certain part of the electorate.

Q. Sure. So, I mean -- I mean, like with anything, only -- only the mind of God can truly know what our innermost thoughts and beliefs are, but there --

A. I'm not God.

Q. And, you know, none of us here are. And so, you know, that is a realm upon which we mortals cannot tread. But have you observed any actions from the Governor, either during the campaign or during his administration, that would lead you to believe he is anything other than sincere in his Republican beliefs?

A. Gosh, I -- you know, I -- I really don't care to speculate on this, on his sincerity. You know --

Q. I mean, no observations? I'm not asking you to speculate. Just have you observed anything?

A. No. I mean, look, I think he's been a fairly conservative governor during his time in office. And that's -- again, that's not why I'm here though. I mean --

Q. Certainly.

A. -- I'm here because of a few issues that --

Q. I only bring it up because it was brought up earlier. No, I --

A. I don't think he's a Democrat.

Q. I concur that the relevance is sketchy at best, but --

A. He was elected as a Republican. He's a Republican.

Q. Okay. Exhibit 85. I believe -- and, again, still not trying to put words in your mouth. Was there -- and I think I'm on the right exhibit.

MR. ERNST: Could I ask if you're near --

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Yes.

MR. ERNST: -- the end, could we take like a five-minute break at some point? We've been going for two hours.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Yeah, certainly at the Chairman's discretion.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: If you're okay with it, we can take a short recess now for --

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: That's fine with me --

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Ah --

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: -- when we come back.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: I don't know. We'll talk about that at recess. We'll do a -- you want ten minutes?

MR. ERNST: That would be great.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Okay. Ten-minute recess real-world time.

(Off the record.)

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: All right. We're back from legislative recess.

Representative Trent.

Don't make me get a gavel out, Ladies and Gentlemen on the Committee.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. Okay. I believe we were on Exhibit 85. And this was where -- and I think I said earlier we might come back to this. This is where you talked a little bit in this email about the various routes that were available; candidate committee, exploratory committee. Did you think that the -- that the campaign was in violation of any ethical codes at this point?

A. No, I did not.

Q. Okay. So you thought they were -- they were in compliance; whatever expenditures may or may not have been made up to that point, they had not reached the threshold, but we're getting close to the point now where it makes sense ethically to go ahead and get that filed. And that's your advice here?

A. Given what I knew at the time, yes, at the time I did not believe any -- any potential violations were occurring.

Q. And your advice was taken, I mean, within what, like a few weeks, a month, roughly? I mean, this was just shortly before a campaign was, in fact --

A. So --

Q. -- committee was, in fact, created; right?

A. I don't know the exact dates. But they formed a candidate committee, exploratory committee in late February of 2015. So --

Q. Okay. So --

A. Two months. A little --

Q. Two months.

A. -- two months.

Q. Two months. Okay. Did you have a sense that -- was there -- was there discussion going on surrounding that? I mean, did this just go out into the -- into the -- into the campaign and then -- and then nothing, or was there discussion? Was there concern over this?

A. If I recall correctly, I spoke with Mr. Laub about this in December, whenever -- whenever I met him over at Eric's office at The Greitens Group, about forming a committee. But there was no substantial follow-up. We got into a, you know, Chris-- holiday season --

Q. Sure.

A. -- and then -- and then I started working over there in January.

Q. What was -- what was his reaction when you had that discussion? Kind of walk us through that.

A. Mr. Laub's?

Q. Yeah.

A. I -- I don't recall the exact. I just know it -- if I recall correctly, it was just a general discussion about, you know, forming a committee. I wasn't working in a major capacity. I was, you know, an informal advisor at the time and --

Q. So there was nothing about that conversation that stood out as concerning to you?

A. No, I don't -- I don't -- I don't recall everything we talked about in that conversation, but nothing really jumps out.

Q. Did the -- did the book tour ever come up, in conjunction with this discussion on the formation of the committee?

A. The only time the book tour came up or the book launch came up was kind of sporadically throughout 2014 when Eric would kind of, you know, let people know what his timeline was.

So in terms of specific conversations, you know, I don't -- specific conversations related to the book tour and forming a committee, I don't really recall those specific conversations. But --

Q. Okay. Did Candidate Greitens talk about his timeline that you just referenced very often?

A. Frequently, you know, yeah. I mean, from I think our first meeting that we met him over at, you know, The Greitens Group and Mission Continues, it was -- it was always pretty clear that that's the timeline that he had had in his mind.

Q. Could you describe that timeline a little further, what it looked like?

A. Just that he was in a transition period from Mission Continues to the book tour and he wanted to announce for office following the book tour.

Q. Okay. So the timeline was really just in reference to when he wanted to announce relative to this transition period; it wasn't anything beyond that? Like he wasn't giving you hard dates or hard, you know, lists of specific things that he wanted to occur in a certain order or anything like that?

A. Correct, I wouldn't say that. It was a general timeline, based on major events, like a book launch followed by campaign launch.

Q. So you'd describe it as sort of a -- and, again, not trying to put words in your mouth, so -- but, you know, this is kind of a conveyed plan that he has in his head; it's not something that's ever committed to writing or ever done in any kind of like formal way?

A. Yeah, there might have been specific timelines that they created, but my knowledge doesn't -- yeah, doesn't --

Q. And is that -- and is that atypical in your experience with candidates? I mean, do a lot of candidates that you have worked with in the past kind of have like a general vision for the campaign that they carry around in their heads, subject --

A. Yeah, sure.

Q. -- to events on the ground? So -- but he didn't have any kind of rigorous planning or any kind of strategy that went beyond just kind of the normal picture that most candidates have, in your experience?

A. Not with us. But he wasn't working with us every day.

Q. Sure. But if there were such a plan, it's not something you ever saw?

A. No, not through 2014.

Q. Okay. On 86, Exhibit 86 -- and I think we already clarified part of this earlier. But I did want to ask if you had ever spoken -- in the context of Candidate Greitens' situation, did you ever speak with the MEC regarding the advice you gave him on whether or not to form an exploratory or candidate committee?

A. When I spoke to MEC in December of 2014, I don't -- I don't believe I ever told them who the candidate was or potential candidate was. But when I spoke to them, I just kind of gave the situation and wanted to see what the options -- what they -- you know, what the options were.

Q. So you just kind of made like a general pitch to MEC, and they gave you some general advice in return, and that was pretty much the extent of that?

A. Yes, but -- yeah, their -- their specific advice was if -- you know, if they were going to be spending money on behalf of the candidacy, that they needed to have a candidate committee set up. And that was -- the previous exhibit, that was based on my conversation with the MEC.

Q. Okay. And then number 87, Exhibit 87, we got the --

A. Did you want to --

Q. -- Monu -- pardon?

A. I have 86. Did you want to discuss 86 or no?

Q. I don't believe I had any questions on 86.

A. Okay.

Q. Unless there's something that you wanted to add there.

A. No, I don't think so.

Q. Okay. Yeah, 87, the Monu donations. Did you ever find out any of the -- of the contributions that came through him?

A. So there were two contributions very early on in the campaign. I don't recall the exact amount.

Q. Were they from him or from his associates?

A. They were companies that he was associated with. And there's some email -- I know there's some email traffic saying what those were.

Q. I'm sorry. When you say associated with, do you mean own or partially own?

A. They were LLCs I think that he owned.

Q. That he -- okay. That he controlled.

A. Yeah, I know they were -- they're listed in the very first few contributions that were see -- that were received on their quarterly reports. So I'd have to look to see. I think one was like Gray something and Barsch and com-- I don't know. They were something along those lines. They were LLCs. They didn't say Monu, Joseph. I know that.

Q. Right. And so these LLCs, I guess it's your understanding that he was an owner or partial owner, but you don't know who all might have been involved in those?

A. It was my under-- yeah, it was my understanding that he owned them.

Q. Yeah.

A. They were companies of his.

Q. And that's the case with any LLC. Like no LLC has to disclose all parties that have interest in that LLC; correct?

A. You know, I think there's some --

Q. That may be too much of a conclusion of law.

A. I'm not a -- certainly I'm not a campaign finance attorney.

Q. Sure. The only reason I ask that is because you spoke at length earlier about using LLCs to conceal donors, and so you seem to have a really firm grasp of that.

A. There were discussions that were had between

Monu and myself that he wanted to do that. I reached out to some campaign finance attorneys -- and not just LLCs. LLCs -- I have an LLC and I, you know --

Q. Sure.

A. -- can contribute, and it's fully -- fully legal. There were other discussions that I had with Monu where he wanted an entity where you didn't have to disclose where they came from.

Q. Did he say why?

A. The only discussion that we had about -- about why was just that he had a number of donors that were ready to contribute that didn't want their names disclosed.

Q. He didn't say why. Did any red flags raise in your mind that there's anything less than legal about that desire to conceal those donors?

A. Yeah, on the -- on the C4 issue.

Q. And what caused you to believe that there could be a potential illegality involved in that?

A. Well, one, you know, they referenced potentially some foreign contributions.

Q. Who referenced foreign contributions?

A. Monu had said that there were buddies of Eric's and his from Oxford that wanted to contribute and --

Q. Did he mention the nationality of these friends?

A. Not specifically. But just that overseas, foreign.

Q. So there's no reason to believe that they could not legally contribute?

MR. ERNST: I don't think that's what he's testified to.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: I just want to make it clear for the record that that's what he's saying.

MR. HAFNER: So what are you --

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. So --

A. Can you repeat what you --

Q. So my question is did you have any reason to believe that the individuals in question that you just described, the Oxford, did you have any reason to believe that they could not legally contribute to an American election?

A. Well, there wasn't specifically people that Monu connected me with. So they were -- they were buddies from Oxford. That's -- that's what was presented to me. And he specifically asked about how -- what would be the way to get, you know, foreign money, contributions from abroad into the campaign. I then had discussions with campaign finance attorneys about that, of Mr. Greitens'.

Q. Okay. And -- and what was the -- well, I guess you can't answer that. So the -- you did not -- well, let me phrase it this way: So in your mind whatever concerns you had did not rise to the level of a crime or imminent crime; is that fair to say?

A. So at the time my thought process was this was -- this was common sense that you couldn't get foreign money into your campaign.

Q. Right.

A. I had conversations with attorneys about that. And it was a road that I thought we -- you know, it might -- in those discussions that we mutually agreed that it was something we didn't ever want to touch or go down. And I don't know what happened after I parted ways. I don't know if Monu was involved at all. I don't --

Q. And you didn't raise any of these concerns with other campaign staffers or make any reports to authorities?

A. I raised this issue with attorneys associated with the campaign.

Q. Okay. And I would assume that goes to privileged conversation. Okay. Now, I mean, being in fundraising for as long as you have and being around politics for as long as you have, there are other reasons why one might not wish to disclose the identity of donors; is that correct?

A. In campaigns?

Q. Yes.

A. Sure. I -- I know donors have their reasons for wanting to go down that pathway.

Q. And so the mere fact that someone wished to conceal that they were donating to a campaign, whatever we might feel about that personally -- I tend to favor full disclosure, as I believe you stated earlier as well -- that in and of itself is not evidence of a crime?

A. As far as I'm aware, no. But, again, I'm not a -- I'm not an attorney. You know, you -- I don't -- I've always operated that in campaign finance you can't purposely conceal the identity or the source of money. But it's a -- it's a big gray area. That's why I take advice from --

Q. Certainly.

A. -- attorneys on that.

Q. Well, like a fully-domestic LLC that you didn't know all the owners of, like there's nothing -- and I know this goes to a legal conclusion. But in your -- in your understanding you don't know that to be a crime?

A. Correct. Yeah, LLCs can contribute in Missouri.

Q. Even when all the donors are not known or even when all the owners of that LLC are not known?

A. Well, they're still a registered agent, of course.

Q. Right.

A. So there is some --

Q. There's -- someone is known?

A. Yes, but --

Q. Okay.

A. Yeah, I mean, there's other -- there's some other issues here that, again, you know, I'm not a campaign finance expert --

Q. Sure.

A. -- not a campaign finance attorney.

Q. And then finally -- well, I probably shouldn't say finally. On final Exhibit Number 88, the radio plan, this is not actually a -- the radio buy, correct; it's just a list of rates and locations and general information about radio programs around the state?

A. Yes, that's what I believe. I had nothing to do with this. This was just something that I was provided.

Q. Yeah.

A. This was created by other consultants, and --

Q. So you --

A. -- I don't know if it was ever executed.

Q. I mean, so you don't have direct knowledge -- I mean, there's nothing to execute on here. I mean, it literally just gives the rates of -- you know, if you run a specific show or depending on the nature of the ad. Like it just gives the costs and some of the personalities that are on these radio shows. It does not go into points. It does not go into -- you know, if you were trying to make a radio buy, this is not the kind of document you produce, is that correct, in your experience?

A. Yeah, I had nothing to do with -- you know, I provided a lot of documents to the Committee, and this was --

Q. Have you ever done radio buys before?

A. The campaigns I've been on, we've contracted those through other vendors.

Q. So it's not really something that you've done directly then?

A. Not -- no, I -- I don't place ad buys directly.

Q. Okay. All right. Well, then I won't ask anymore about that. Now, the 501(C)(4) entities, those are entities that are -- yes?

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: About how -- just for clarification, how long do you have?

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Oh, half a page --

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Half a page.

REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: -- perhaps. Not too long. My writing's fairly large.

BY REPRESENTATIVE TRENT:

Q. You talked earlier about 501(C)(4)s. These are groups that are permitted to make political expenditures, but they're also required to engage in educational activity as well. And I believe the threshold is 50 percent. I don't know how familiar you are with that. But these entities are perfectly legal and routinely used, in your experience; is that correct?

A. They're certainly used in the Capitol a lot for specific issues and things like that.

Q. And they're not just used by candidates; they're used by a lot of groups?

A. Yes. Yeah, there's too many to count that operate within Missouri on both sides of the spectrum. Certainly I think it is kind of unique to use them in campaigns, which is what ended up happening in the primary.

Q. Yeah. But these are the -- these are the kind of groups that were perhaps not used by candidates, but were used by a lot of conservative groups. The first I remember starting to hear about them to a large degree was the Tea Party Movement, and you had the whole Obama Administration and IRS targeting these groups and some of that kind of stuff. But that's essentially what we're talking about here is these groups that have both a dual political and educational purpose?

A. Well, to a certain extent. Again, full disclosure, I'm a registered lobbyist. Through the MEC one of my clients is a C4. Our issues -- obviously we're all registered lobbyists. And our issues are listed on our website for public on who's involved in us.

So I think what you're saying, though, to equate the two between that and a campaign entity are a little bit different tracts.

Q. Oh, certainly.

A. I mean, our budget -- I can tell you, because I don't get paid this. But our budget is in the millions of dollars, you know, that some of the C4s that have operated recently in Missouri have been.

Q. Well, since you represent a C4, has your C4 ever engaged in anything that we would consider candidate advocacy?

A. Not to my knowledge. And it's not my C4. I'm a registered --

Q. Your --

A. It's a client.

Q. So your C4, the one that you represent, tends to do more of the educational side?

A. I'm on -- you know, I'm one of, I don't know, four or five registered lobbyists for them. And we do -- we do advocacy educational lobbying in the Legislature. So education reform, tax reform, labor reform, you know, just premarket conservative.

Q. Okay.

A. Yeah.

Q. And then also you said earlier that Auditor Schweich, that he would never have agreed to give his list to the Greitens campaign. Is that a fair summation?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever have a direct conversation with the auditor to come to that conclusion or is that just your perspective based on what you know?

A. That is my perspective based on direct conversations with people who worked for him.

Q. Okay. But no direct knowledge from he himself?

A. No.
Q. Okay. And, I mean, it is true that people do things for reasons other than whether or not they like someone?
A. Sure.
Q. Okay. Well, I mean, I just wondered if you had -- if there's insight there or if that was --
A. No. Look, I mean, every -- everything that -- I don't -- I don't think the relationship was good, and I don't think they cared for each other all that much. And that's based on my direct conversations with people who worked very close with Tom, and that's also based on my conversations with Eric.
Q. Okay. Fair enough.
A. Yeah.
Q. I mean, I didn't mean to cut you off.
A. No, it's okay.
Q. Okay. All right. I just wanted clarity on that. I appreciate it. Thank you.
REPRESENTATIVE TRENT: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.
REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Representative Razer.
REPRESENTATIVE RAZER: The beauty of being last is that all my questions were answered. So thank you.

REPRESENTATIVE BARNES: Thank you, Mr. Hafner and Mr. Ernst, for being here today, the second time around.

We are going to end today's hearing, and tomorrow we will have review of some evidence that we have. No witnesses, but lengthy review of evidence. Some eyes may bleed, and we are going to -- gosh, that's a terrible way to say that. It's not going to be -- it's going to be document day.

And, with that, we are adjourned for the day.

(Off the record.)

CHAIRMAN BARNES: It is Thursday, April 5th, 2018 at 4:00 p.m. The rest of the members of this Committee have been excused to drive home under the agreement that at this point in time we will have a court reporter transcribe three public statements that Governor Eric Greitens made relating to the relationship with witness one.

The first such recording is an Associated Press interview with Governor Greitens that occurred in mid-January 2018 and which is present on the website soundcloud.com in what appears to be its full form.

There are two reporters in the room identified, and you can identify them by voice one is Mr. David Lieb, another is Ms. Summer Balentine and Governor Eric Greitens.

The transcription will start now.

QUESTIONS BY MR. LIEB AND ANSWERS BY GOVERNOR GREITENS:

Q. First of all, thanks for agreeing to meet with us.

A. Well, thank you guys for making the time to come out. I appreciate it.

Q. I want to ask you about a question right up front here. Are you going to resign from office?

A. David, I'm staying. I'm staying. We're strong.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a35

Sheena and I are strong. Our team is strong. And we're excited about what we can do together.

In fact, one of the things I'll tell you that's happened in this process is we've reached out to a lot of people and a lot of people have reached out to us.

And two of the best conversations I had over the course of this were actually with two senators. And the other senators who I've had some disagreements with on policy, but they are people who have experienced some pain in their life, and some suffering, some hardship, and they were some of the thoughtful, caring people in this whole process.

And our conversation, I think, really reset our relationship. And I'm hopeful about what we can all do together moving forward.

Q. You've apologized --

A. Yes.

Q. -- for a personal mistake and acknowledged being unfaithful to your wife. Your attorney has denied some of the other allegations that were included in that audio recording made by your hairdresser's ex-husband. We know these are going to be sort of difficult and maybe uncomfortable questions.

A. David, I want you guys to ask every question you have, sir, please.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a

Q. Very well. Did you tie or bind the hands or blindfold your former hairdresser?

A. David, this was a consensual relationship. There was no blackmail. There was no violence. There was no threat of violence. There was no threat of blackmail. There was no threat of using a photograph for blackmail.

All of those things are false. The mistake that I made was that I was engaged in a consensual relationship with a woman who is not my wife. And that is a mistake for which I am very sorry, sorry to Sheena. I'm sorry to our boys. I'm sorry to our family, to our friends and to everyone who has been affected by that.

Beyond that this is -- it's a private matter, and everyone involved has asked for privacy, and I respect that, and I would ask you to as well.

Q. Did -- did you actually take a photo of her?

A. As I said, this was a consensual relationship, David. There was no blackmail. There was no threat of using a photograph for blackmail. And there was no violence.

The mistake that I made, as I said, was that I was engaged in a consensual relationship with a woman who wasn't my wife. And beyond that, everyone -- Sheena, everyone has asked for privacy. Again, we would ask you to respect that.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a35

Q. When did this begin?

A. You know, David, this started and ended years ago and it was -- it all took place in 2015.

Q. That audio-recording would indicate that it was March of 2015, is that approximately --

A. Yeah.

Q. -- when it began?

A. Approximately.

Q. Okay.

A. Again, for Sheena and I this is -- it's a private matter that we wanna -- we wanna -- that we've dealt with privately.

It was hard when we dealt with it, but with a lot of help from family and friends and a lot of faith, we've moved forward together and we're stronger as a result.

Q. When did it end?

A. This all -- it ended in 2015.

Q. I mean, but if it started in March, when did it end?

A. It ended in the -- in the fall of 2015.

Q. Fall, okay. So there -- there was -- you had more contact with her than that one audio-recording that was released in March?

A. David, again, this is -- it's a private matter. And what I would ask you, and everyone, is to respect the fact that Sheena and everyone has asked for privacy in this.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a

Q. Did you tell her about it, Sheena that is, back in 2015, or did it not get discussed with her until, like, recently?

A. No. Sheena and I dealt with this years ago. Sheena and I dealt with this back in 2015, and we dealt with it privately. We dealt with it together, and we moved through it together.

And it was hard and -- what was hard about it was that I caused pain for the people who moved me the most. And my job as a husband and a father is to protect my children and to protect my wife, and I caused pain to them, and that was hard.

Q. You indicated there was never any violence, but I want to ask you this directly, because it's come out, someone alleged it: Did you ever slap your former hairdresser?

A. Absolutely not.

Q. Okay.

A. And I also -- I wanna to be clear, there are all of these rumors and falsehoods that have been reported, completely irresponsibly. There was a story that was out that while Sheena was giving birth, that I was with another woman and slapped her.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a35

And it's preposterous. We didn't even have a child that year. And when we did have children, I was there with Sheena in the delivery room.

These are outlandish, absolutely false stories, and they're also hurtful. They're hurtful to Sheena. They're hurtful to our family.

When Sheena has friends who call her and Sheena picks up the phone and they read these things that are false, it is hurtful.

Q. Besides your former hairdresser, have you ever had a romantic or sexual relationship with anyone else while you were married?

A. No. I made the mistake with one woman, sir. I made a mistake with one woman, and I'm deeply sorry for the mistake that I made. I'm sorry to everyone involved and everyone who has been affected.

QUESTIONS BY MS. BALENTINE AND ANSWERS BY GOVERNOR GREITENS:

Q. So you had created an exploratory committee to run for office in early 2015, then you embarked on this extramarital affair at the same time that you're making preparation to run for office, but that seems like a pretty risky move politically. What were you thinking?

A. You know -- you know, Summer, this was -- as I said, this was a private matter that Sheena and I dealt with. It was -- it was -- we dealt with it privately. And it ended years ago before I was ever governor, and we're moving forward.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a

We're going to continue. We're staying strong as a family. We staying strong as a team and continue to serve the people of Missouri.

Q. Some voters would say that a marriage vow is the most important promise a person makes and argue it's even more important than an oath to uphold the constitution.

What would you say to those voters who wonder what this affair says about your character and integrity?

A. Yeah, what I'd say is that I made a mistake. I made a personal mistake in my marriage years ago.

And I'm incredibly grateful to Sheena for her forgiveness and her love. And I'm grateful to everyone who's provided love and compassion and support to this whole process.

And that is one point that's important I want to make, is that amidst the storm of negativity and craziness and falsehoods, Sheena and I, in the center of that storm, felt a tremendous amount of love and compassion.

And I am going to work every day to be the husband that Sheena deserves, the father that my boys deserve, and to be a great governor for the people of Missouri.

QUESTIONS BY MR. LIEB AND ANSWERS BY GOVERNOR GREITENS

Q. Have you talked with or been subpoenaed by the St. Louis Circuit Attorney's Office --

A. No.

Q. -- in relation to this affair?

A. No. I have not been contacted by anyone at the Circuit Attorney's Office. I have not been contacted by anyone at the FBI.

My attorneys have never been contacted by anyone at the FBI on this or any other matter. And as far as my conduct, there's nothing to investigate.

Q. Are you familiar with this Eli Karabell person who says he was a volunteer on your transition and says that he was interviewed by the FBI in November?

A. I do not know him. I know a number of members of the staff do.

Q. I know you made various calls to lawmakers; did you call each and every one of them?

A. We called almost all of them.

Q. Both Republican and Democrat?

A. Republicans and Democrats, Senate and House. It's really important for us to work together, and one of the things that I am so hopeful about is that, you know, God has a way of making sure that good things can come, even from difficult situations.

And we work with a lot of people here and talk with a lot of people here, and are working with lot of people here who want to work with us to get things done. Wanna work with us to get things done for the 13,000 kids in Missouri's foster care.

They wanna work with us to get things done for law enforcement officers. They wanna work with us to get things done for military families and veterans.

They wanna work with us to get things done to put money back in the pockets of the people of Missouri. And I'm really hopeful about the work that we can do together with Republicans, with Democrats, with people in the legislature and with people all over the State of Missouri.

Q. And I know you reached out to lawmakers and a lot of people --

A. Yeah.

Q. -- have you also talked with either Vice President Pence or Donald Trump about this?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Anyone in their administration or national party leaders?

A. No.

Q. Okay. How do you think this affects any future plans you might have for other offices?

A. You know, what we do every day, every day is that

I wake up every morning and go to bed every night and ask for God's strength and wisdom to serve the people of Missouri.

And that's what I'm going to do. That's what I did this morning. That's what I'm going to do tomorrow morning, and that's what I'm going to do the day after that.

We're a hundred percent focused on serving the people of Missouri, and that's what we're going to continue to do.

Q. I know there is a rally that's going on outside starting at one o'clock to support Donald Trump, and most of the other statewide Republican officials are there; are you going to that?

A. No.

Q. Why not?

A. You know, it was really important for us to get -- to get a lot of work done for the people of Missouri.

I think you've seen we're back to work. You've seen what we're doing last week. You've seen what we're doing -- what we're doing next week.

Q. Your critics are suggesting that you're hiding from the public by not going to the Trump thing or not holding your tax tour that you were going to do. Are you hiding?

A. No. No. The fact is, we've been talking -- we put out the statement as soon as this came out. You've seen other statements. We've reached out to people.

And we are, we're going to continue to go out and engage with and be with the people of the State of Missouri.

We'll continue to do -- we will do our tax tour. We'll do our statewide tour, and we're gonna get great things done.

QUESTIONS BY MS. BALENTINE AND ANSWERS BY GOVERNOR GREITENS:

Q. There are legislators who have questioned your ability to effectively lead and implement your agenda in light of all of this.

I know you said that some have spoken with you and said they're interested in working with you to accomplish these things, but realistically, you know, how do you respond to some of those questions about your ability to implement these policies?

A. We're staying. We're moving forward. We've got a great team. We got a great team and we got a lot of people both here in Jefferson City and around the State of Missouri who want to get things done, and that's what we're going to do. We're going to move forward and we're going to get things done for the people of the State of Missouri.

QUESTIONS BY MR. LIEB AND ANSWERS BY GOVERNOR GREITENS:

Q. The woman, the former hairdresser, has not come forward publicly. No one has been reporting her name out of respect for her, but have you or anyone associated with her -- with you, paid her --

A. No.

Q. -- in exchange for her silence?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Did she -- people have asked if you tried to blackmail her, and you said absolutely not. Did she try to blackmail you on this?

A. No.

Q. Okay. Does -- has her ex-husband tried to blackmail you on this?

A. No.

Q. Okay. I want to go back to the small details there, and we've already addressed the violence and the slapping thing.

A. Right.

Q. When you acknowledged being unfaithful to your wife, are you saying you actually had sex with this woman?

A. Yeah. David, this is a private matter. Everyone has asked for privacy, Sheena has, everyone involved. And I would ask you to respect that.

Page 15

Q. Okay. I'm just going through the list of --

A. Yes, sir.

Q. -- things professionally.

A. Yes, sir. Yes, sir. Yes, sir. And I understand, and I appreciate that.

Q. Have you talked with her since this all blew up in the news?

A. No.

Q. Okay.

A. My understanding is that she's asked for privacy, and I respect that.

Q. One of the other -- speaking of the privacy sort of things, rumors have floated out there because I've seen it reported that Sheena is in Washington, I guess, with her family which leads people to speculate that she left you. Not the case? What --

A. It's another absolutely false and hurtful rumor. The fact is Sheena and I dealt with this privately years ago, and we've also dealt with this together.

You know, we went into a meeting together the day after this, and as we went in, people were so supportive, so loving. They knew exactly what Sheena and I needed, and they were there for us. And the days after we had beautiful mornings with our boys.

One of the great joys for me is to wake up every morning and go in and see Jacob, who is one and a half years old, who sees me and starts bouncing in his crib.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a35

And Joshua, who wants to wear his pajamas to preschool. And Sheena and I wake up every day knowing that we've got an awesome family and fantastic boys.

Today, this morning, she is on a preplanned vacation that we've had planned since last fall for the boys to spend time with their grandparents. And we were not going to allow this to interrupt time for Sheena and the boys and their grandparents.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: I want to jump in real quick here. We're at 15 minutes. If you have maybe one final question, we're happy to do that, and then we need to move on to the next one.

QUESTIONS BY MS. BALENTINE AND ANSWERS BY GOVERNOR GREITENS:

Q. You had said that you've received love and support as you've been reaching out on this?

A. Yeah.

Q. I'm wondering how this might affect your relationship with lawmakers moving forward, especially in the Senate where you've butted heads with lawmakers in the past and have been fairly critical of some lawmakers in the legislature?

A. Well, first let me say the love and support has been tremendous from people all over the state. And we are very grateful to friends, to family, of people who've reached out.

You know, this has been hard, and hard on our families. I went to see my parents, and they're reading of the falsehoods, and they're reading all of the rumors. And I walked into my house -- their house, and my mom is on the phone with my 95-year-old preschool teacher, who had called my mom to say I love you. I care about you. We care about Eric and your family, and we are here for you.

We have had tremendous love and support from people all over the state. And we have, we've reached out to legislature -- members of the legislature, and they have reached out to us.

And I'm very confident that together we can do great work. I'm very confident that God has a way of bringing good from difficulty.

God has a way of helping people in the midst of pain to emerge with wisdom.

God has a way of helping you to move through suffering and actually become stronger.

And I am very confident that working with members of the legislature, Republicans and Democrats, Senate and House and people all over the State of Missouri that we can accomplish great things together.

Q. I know you've written a whole book about resilience, but --

A. Yeah.

Q. -- sort of puts it to a new personal test.

A. Yeah. One of the -- one of the most wonderful moments for me -- and I want to say again, this has been hard, and I think people from the outside, they see all of the craziness and the negativity and the falsehoods and the rumors.

Inside there's been a tremendous amount of support. And one of the nicest moments was when my buddy, who I wrote those resilience letters to, called me.

And he just said hang in there, Mr. G. He said we're all rooting for you, talking to all the guys. We're behind you. You changed my life. You had my back. I've got yours.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: Thank you guys so much for making the time to come in on a Saturday.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yeah.

UNIDENTIFIED SPEAKER: We appreciate it.

MS. BALENTINE: Yes. Thank you.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Thank you, David. I appreciate you.

MR. LIEB: Yeah. Thank you, sir.

(END OF AUDIO.)

CHAIRMAN BARNES: The previous transcript was from an interview that took place on January 20th, 2018.

The next transcript is from a video posted on YouTube of a press conference that Governor Greitens held to discuss the state budget on January 22nd, 2018.

It was posted to You Tube by the Columbia Daily Tribune on January 22nd, 2018.

(YOUTUBE VIDEO STARTED WITH COURT REPORTER TRANSCRIBING THE FOLLOWING.)

The economy is growing. Missouri's businesses are creating jobs. People are going back to work. Missouri has the lowest unemployment rate it's had in 17 years.

More manufacturing jobs are here in Missouri than there were a year ago, and we moved up nine places in the rankings of the best states in the country.

Because our economy is getting better, our budget situation is stronger than it was a year ago.

You'll remember when we came into office, there were plans to spend over $600 million that we didn't have in the budget.

So we faced a choice. We could raise taxes or cut spending. We did the hard work of cutting spending.

The budget we're introducing today is a common sense conservative budget. We're watching out for the tax dollars of the people of Missouri, making important investments in Missouri's future. And also making the top choices that are necessary to make sure that we don't burden Missouri's children with them.

In our work we protect every dollar and every cent we can.

Just last week we announced we got rid of another 80 cars and saved the people of Missouri another 2 million dollars.

We pay attention to every dollar and every cent, because dollars and cents matter. We pay attention to them because we remember that every single dollar this government spends was earned by the hard work of Missouri and is the people's money.

You've all been given a summary of the budget. The full budget is available online. We're happy to roll out the budget today and take questions on the budget from the media today.

We'll also be doing a Facebook live later this week to answer questions about the budget from people all over the State of Missouri.

Our budget director, Dan Haug, will also be holding a press conference a little later to review the budget in detail.

I want to walk through a few of the areas where we made some investments, and also be clear about some of the tough choices we made.

Our budget increases funding for our (inaudible), and you'll see increased funding for infrastructure, for education, for programs to support our most vulnerable (inaudible).

We're able to afford those investments by making top decisions to balance our budget and protect taxpayers' dollars.

Our government doesn't create jobs, but it can create the conditions of which businesses can grow and prosper.

That's why this budget includes an increase of 162.8 million dollars to help build roads and repair roads and bridges.

We're also investing 25 million dollars to establish a new jobs and infrastructure fund that will assist local communities, and build the infrastructure necessary to create jobs.

We're also investing 7.6 million dollars to improve our (inaudible). This is an important investment. It will help our farmers and other businesses to sell Missouri goods around the country and around the world.

We're also investing in our future by supporting our teachers and students. Since we took office, we've increased the funding that schools receive by almost 200 million dollars.

This year's budget has 87.5 million dollars more for schools than last year, and a total funding of 6.1 billion dollars is a record investment in the State of Missouri for elementary and secondary education.

We're proud to make that commitment. We also want to see that those dollars get to students and teachers.

Teachers in Missouri are not getting the pay that they deserve, and that's why the 2019 budget increase is paid for teachers and state-funded schools.

And we're sending more money than ever to our elementary, middle and high schools. We want to see that our school districts follow our lead and increase teacher pay.

Last year we introduced an initiative to bring high-speed broadband to rural public schools at no cost to the school themselves, and we're continuing that investment of 6 million dollars this year.

We've also made some investments in programs to support vulnerable children. We put in 5.3 million dollars in new funding, a new line item to help reduce the backlog of children in the foster care system who need legal assistance so they can move to a safe, stable and loving home.

The budget also includes an increase of 3.3 million dollars in funding to care for children who have been abused or neglected and removed from their homes.

There's also, in this budget, an increase of 8.5 million dollars for the First Steps Program, which provides earlier intervention services for families with young children with disabilities and developmental illness.

We've also included 8.4 million dollars in new funding to provide instruction and therapy to young children with disabilities through the early childhood special education program.

We're making investments in our veterans and public safety. We put 1.7 million dollars in the new funding to ensure that veterans' homes residents are provided with the quality care that they deserve, and the quality care that their families expect.

Our budget increases pay for the highway patrol and for front-line corrections officers. It provides needed safety and forensic investigation equipment, and it increases funding for drug treatment homes.

We're including 3.6 million in new funding for adult, family and veterans' treatment core programs which provides effective treatment for substance use disorders and opioid incarceration -- opioid incarceration in the correctional system.

We're making a number of critical investments, including 3 million dollars in new funding to expand the crime lab at the Missouri State Highway Patrol's General Headquarters.

We're also expanding our fight against the opioid epidemic. We've invested 4.7 million dollars in new funding for peer recovery coaches and hospital emergency departments and faith and community recovery support services.

And we've allocated three quarters of a million dollars in new funding to reduce opioid involved deaths in training, education and the distribution of opioid antagonists like Naloxone to first responders and law enforcement.

Now despite the fact that Missouri's economy is growing and we're in a stronger position than we were last year, what continues to be the greatest challenge in the budget is the explosion in federally mandated and other health care spending.

When we came into office, spending on health care was at 10 billion 334 million dollars. And in this budget it's at over 11 billion 633 million dollars. That's a 1.3 billion dollar increase in just two years.

The State of Missouri spends more money on health care than we do on K through 12 education, community colleges, technical colleges, domestic violence shelters, veterans programs, our judicial system, public safety and our corrections system combined.

That massive spending increase on health care means we have to tighten up in other areas of government and spend less money.

We're making some important investments with this budget. We're also having to make some hard choices.

There's been a growth in administrative costs at many of our universities. We want to thank university leaders who work in partnership with us to identify savings.

As just one example, President Choi and others did a study with PricewaterhouseCoopers and identifying $70 million dollars in savings.

The UM system is going to save up to 2 million dollars just by getting rid of cars that they don't need.

We were happy to help them find those extra costs and glad that they were eager to work with us to bring those administrative costs down.

We appreciate their strong leadership, and we also appreciate the important role that they play in moving forward.

We've had to make tough choices this year, and while we're increasing funding for elementary and secondary education by 87 million dollars, higher education will see a 7.7 percent reduction.

This wasn't a choice we paid lightly. We have been working with the universities to try to help them to manage the budgets better.

Last year we had a choice. We could raise taxes or cut spending. We face that choice again this year.

And, again, we are not raising taxes on the people of Missouri. Instead, we told departments to tighten their belts. We reduced the total number of state employees and we made tough choices.

We did that because that's what the people of Missouri sent us here to do, to look after their tax dollars and build a common sense, conservative budget that makes sense.

I'm proud of the work that our cabinet, our team and others have done on this. We've already had good meetings with House and Senate budget chairs, and I look forward to working with members of the House and Senate to get a balanced budget passed.

And I would be happy to take any questions.

REPORTER: Governor Greitens?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes, sir.

REPORTER: Phillip Joens with the Jefferson City

News Tribune.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes, sir.

REPORTER: A 2016 study showed that Missouri state workers pay ranks last among state workers in the 50 states. Do you plan to call for or issue a proposal to increase the pay of state workers?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes, sir, I do. And what was your name again, sir?

REPORTER: Phillip.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yeah, Phillip. Yeah, thank you so much for your question, sir.

So first of all, one of the things that we're doing, Phillip, is in our budget for every state employee who is making $50,000 or less, they will see an increase in pay of $650.

And we -- that's going to happen when we get civil service people on past this legislative session, and we're confident we can get that passed.

We've talked with a lot of members of the House and the Senate so they will see that increase in pay soon.

What you'll also see, sir, is that we're going to invest an additional 61.2 million dollars in state employee health care.

You'll see that we're fully funding the contribution for state employee pensions at 14.4 million dollars.

And one of the other things that you'll see, sir, is that there are targeted pay adjustments of 4.5 million dollars for specific jobs in the State of Missouri, but we want to see those pay adjustments to make sure that Missouri is offering a competitive wage for those positions.

REPORTER: Thank you.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: You're very welcome, sir.

REPORTER: Last year there was a lot of debate over in-home health care patients and the best way to try to fund that. You vetoed the choice that came out of here.

What -- what would you -- what type of (inaudible) would you like to see will be acceptable to provide or restore that funding?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yeah, so -- so first of all, I think -- well, the way we think about -- what was your name again, sir?

REPORTER: Marshall (inaudible).

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Marshall, so one of the things that we do is that we think about our health care funding in the context -- or we think about that question in the context of our overall health care fund.

So as I mentioned, when we came into office, we were looking at 10.3 billion dollars in the health care budget.

We're now at over 11.6 billion dollars. It's an increase of 1.3 billion dollars that we are putting into health care funding just over the course of the last two years.

We look forward to continuing to work with members of legislature and members of (inaudible) and any proposals that they have to help us to -- to -- to slow down and control the costs of what government is spending on health care.

And the same time also work with them to make sure that we're improving the quality of health care for people in the State of Missouri.

So, again, when we think about this, we think about it in the context of the massive increase in health care spending, which we need to -- which we need to control.

And I'm happy to work with anyone who has proposals to make sure that we're taking care of the most wonderful Missourians.

REPORTER: Governor, Lauren Trager with KMOV. You made some remarks recently, but there's one point we want to clarify: Did you take a picture of the woman in question?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yeah, Lauren, so I'm happy to address this for everyone here once. And to make sure that we can do this so that we can move on and talk about the budget and other important priorities that are before us.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a35

As I said before, I made a personal mistake years ago before I was elected, a personal mistake for which I take full responsibility.

And it's something that Sheena and I have dealt with years ago. We dealt with it by the book. We dealt with it openly. And it was hard, but with a loving family and a lot of prayer and tremendous support, we made it.

And I am grateful, grateful to Sheena for her forgiveness and grateful to God for his forgiveness. I'm also grateful that the people around the State of Missouri, who at this time come to us with tremendous love and compassion and prayer, who helped us through a very difficult time.

And we also appreciate those who understand that this is a private issue, that Sheena and I dealt with years ago that's now been dragged into the public.

We look forward -- I look forward to work with legislators in this building, people around the State of Missouri in getting their priorities passed and making a difference for them.

A lot of what's been put out is not true. There was no blackmail. There was no violence. There was

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a

no photograph for blackmail. There was no threat of using a photograph for blackmail. There was no threat of violence.

The mistake that I made was that I was engaged in a consensual relationship and a mistake for which I am deeply sorry.

REPORTER: Governor, the specific question was --

GOVERNOR GREITENS: And for Sheena and I --

REPORTER: -- was about the picture, was it taken?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: For Sheena and I -- for Sheena and I that is where the story begins and ends.

Everyone involved has asked for privacy. I'm going to respect that privacy, and I would ask you to respect that privacy.

And to set the record straight, I've never been, and my attorneys have never been contacted by law enforcement on this or any other matter.

Sheena and I are moving forward. We are blessed with beautiful children and a fantastic family.

Many of the rumors that have been put out are false, and they have been hurtful, hurtful to Sheena, hurtful to our family, hurtful to the people we love.

We are grateful, though, that we believe that the people of Missouri will see through this.

We have law enforcement officers, military families and veterans who are counting on us to get this work done, and that's what we're focused on today.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Sir, we've got a lot -- again, we answered those questions this weekend. We answered them here.

We are moving forward. There's a lot of important work that needs to be done, important work that needs to be done that we talked about here.

There's kids in our foster care system, there are families who are counting on us to get this right. There's important work that we need to do for public education, and that's why we made a record investment in public education.

We have complete confidence in our policies and our procedures. And as I've said many times we follow the law.

Any questions on the budget?

REPORTER: Phillip Joens, do you support the tax reform plan like Senator Eigel, just wondering?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: You probably saw last week, we rolled out our principles for tax reforms. And we're really excited about our tax reform plan.

It's going to cut rates for 97 percent of

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a35

Missourians. And we're going to be rolling out next week that plan in detail. And also we have a statewide tour around the State of Missouri to talk about all of the details for that plan.

We've also been in touch just very recently with Senator Wallingford, the Chairman of the Committee. We look forward to working him.

Our team's been in touch with Senators Eigel and Keeney (phonetic spelling). I think that we have a wonderful opportunity to reduce taxes on the people of Missouri and we're going to -- we're going to do so.

We look forward to working and cooperating with members of the Senate.

Yes, ma'am.

REPORTER: Yes. Governor, Kat Reed with 41 Action News in Kansas City.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes, ma'am.

REPORTER: When we spoke to some lawmakers today, they mentioned that when I told them there was a four p.m. press conference today about the budget, they did not know these recommendations were coming out.

Can you talk to us a little bit about the contact you've had with lawmakers and your faith and the ability to work on this with them?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yeah. I'm very confident

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a

that we're going to have a really cooperative, good relationship working on the budget.

In fact, not only did Dan Haug, our budget director, and our team meet with Chairman Fitzpatrick and Chairman Brown last week, I've spoken to them multiple times including as recently as a couple of hours ago.

So we're really confident that we're going to be able to work for and with them to make sure that a lot of these important agenda items, again, get addressed in this budget.

Yes, ma'am.

REPORTER: Alisa Nelson, Missourinet.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes, ma'am.

REPORTER: Can you talk a little bit about what your proposal includes for the Ag Department?

Also what happens with state worker pay for those that make more than $50,000 a year?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes, ma'am. So, Alisa, the focus, ma'am, of the raise for state employees is those that are making $50,000 or less.

The people who are making $50,000 or less, they will see a $650-a-year increase in their pay, and, again, when we get this civil service reform passed.

And our budget director, Dan Haug, when he does his follow-up with you, can also talk in detail about positions within Missouri, within Missouri government. And some of those are people who are making more than 50,000 dollars.

And then I'm sorry, ma'am. I think you had a first part to your question?

REPORTER: Ag Department, can you give us some highlights about that?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: So a couple of -- couple of important points, one of the things that you will see in our detailed budget outline is a lot of work that we're doing to make sure that we're supporting farmer and ranchers. Director Haug will go through all of the details in the budget for Ag specifically, but I'll just mention a couple of highlights.

One of the things that we heard from a lot of farmers and ranchers around the state is that they wanted to see increased investment in infrastructure to make sure that we could move goods to market.

So a couple of specific things that we're doing there. I mentioned the 162.3 million dollars that we are investing in infrastructure.

In addition to that there's an additional seven plus million dollars that we are investing in (inaudible).

Because of Missouri's position in the country and because of the fantastic farmers we have here, we believe that making these kinds of investments will help Missouri farmers move their goods to market.

There are a couple of other infrastructure investments at the county levels, partnerships with, which again, Director Haug can talk you through in detail.

And the last thing I'll mention just on the infrastructure side is the 25 million dollar jobs in infrastructure.

So what we're doing with the jobs and infrastructure fund is the State of Missouri is investing 25 million dollars.

And when we have counties or communities at the local level who have an opportunity for economic development and they want to invest in infrastructure, when they put up a hundred dollars, the State of Missouri will put up a hundred dollars and make those investments in infrastructure together so that we can help to bring jobs.

So those are just some of the key things that we're doing in Ag.

And what you'll see as well in the press release, if you haven't seen it already, is a lot of support from the agricultural community around the state for making some of these key investments.

REPORTER: Governor, my name is Mike (inaudible) from Kansas City. Will you support and campaign for an increase in fuel tax?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: So, Mike, when we -- when we -- when we roll out our tax plan in detail next week, sir, you'll see that this is a plan we're really proud of.

It is a bold plan. It's going to reduce taxes on 97 percent of Missourians, and that's what we want to do. We want to cut taxes for the people of Missouri.

Our plan will not include an increase in the gas tax.

REPORTER: Why not?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Well, sir, right now we don't want to raise taxes on the people of Missouri. What we want to do is lower taxes on working families throughout Missouri. Again, we will be rolling out all the details for that plan next year.

REPORTER: Governor, in an effort to move forward as you stand on other issues, will you agree to (inaudible) with every media outlet about this matter, and will you be cooperating with the circuit attorney's office --

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Ma'am --

REPORTER -- investigators?

GOVERNMENT GREITENS: Ma'am, we've addressed those questions. I've addressed --

REPORTER: With every media outlet and (inaudible).

Page 41

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Ma'am, we've addressed those questions here today. We addressed them in interviews this past weekend, and I can tell you we are moving forward.

REPORTER: You declined to speak with KMOV. Would you agree to sit down with us?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Ma'am, we're moving forward. And we're moving forward because that's what the people of Missouri (inaudible).

We're moving forward because we've got a lot of people around the State of Missouri who are counting on us to get results for them.

And that's what Sheena and I are doing. That's what our family is doing. That's what our team is doing. We're moving forward.

REPORTER: Summer Balentine, The Associated Press.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes.

REPORTER: You're already getting some pushback from lawmakers over the cuts to higher education; why cut in that area?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yeah. So look, there are tough choices that have to be made in the budget. As you've seen, we're increasing funding for elementary and secondary education by over 87 million dollars.

We are also increasing funding for programs for fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b8e1e9872e35

vulnerable children by almost 30 million dollars. These are really important investments for us to make for the State of Missouri.

But in any budget you also have to make tough choices. Now the good news is I really appreciate the cooperation that you have of a lot of leaders in higher education who have worked with us to identify cost savings.

So as I mentioned earlier, PricewaterhouseCoopers sat down with President Choi and the University of Missouri system, and they identified over 70 million dollars in savings just within the UM system.

So we are fully confident that we can address administrative overhead, take that cost out while continuing to do great work here in the State of Missouri.

I'll also mention now -- I think it's important -- there is an increase that we are diverging in higher education, scholarships that we're putting in for students.

I believe that the increase is somewhere on the order of 6.5 million dollars. And, again, Director Haug will have all of those details about the increase in scholarship funding for higher education.

REPORTER: David Lieb, AP.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes, sir.

REPORTER: Your sheet here says you are fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b8e1e9872e

recommending 40 million dollars in cost containments to Medicaid. What are you proposing to cut?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes, sir. So one of the things that we're doing with the Medicaid program is exactly what you said. There's a number of places where we can contain costs.

And the Director Haug and Steve Corsi, the Director of our Department of Social Services can talk you through what we're thinking in terms of those specific cost containment items. And I'll make sure they get you those details as we have them.

But, again, Medicaid is the largest drawing cost for State of Missouri's budget, as I said from 10.3 billion to 11.6 billion dollars. And we're confident that there are a number of cost containment measures that we can put in place. And unfortunately I don't have those details with me.

REPORTER: In general, would it be the people receiving?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: No, sir. In general, what we're doing is we think that there are a number of ways for us to contain costs, deal with administrative overhead and make sure that we're still providing services to most vulnerable Missourians. It's really important for us to do that.

I'll also ask -- you know, Director Haug can talk you through in detail, for example, some of the increased investments in Medicaid to make sure we are taking care of the most vulnerable people in the State of Missouri.

I'll ask Director Haug, for example, to talk you through in detail what we're doing with the 65.8 million dollar investment in the Department of Mental Health to make sure that we're taking care of 1,399 individuals who have disabilities or are in need of additional assistance.

REPORTER: Does your budget proposal include any cuts in state worker positions?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: We are -- we are reducing on the state workforce, and we continue to do so. Right now the state workforce is the smallest that it's been in decades.

And, again, Director Haug can talk you through in detail where all of those positions are.

Big picture for us, what's important for us to get done in this legislative session is to get civil service reform passed.

We want to make sure that we can pay good workers more. And right now this system holds us back from doing that.

We want to be able to invest in and reward people

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a

who are doing good work.

We also want to make sure that we can move people into jobs where they can do the best possible, best possible work for the people of the state.

REPORTER: Governor, yes or no, did you ever take her picture?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Sir, again, I just answered. We answered them over the course of the weekend, and we are moving forward.

REPORTER: Governor, (inaudible) KMOV. Is there a reason you're not choosing to speak with everyone in a public setting?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Ma'am, we are -- we have spoken to people in a public setting. We addressed these questions in multiple interviews over the course of the weekend.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: But, ma'am, we have addressed the specific outlets.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Ma'am -- ma'am, we've addressed this question. We've addressed it. We've addressed them over the course of the weekend. I've answered your question and we're moving forward.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Mike, again, I appreciate your question and others. As I said, I've addressed those questions here. We addressed them this weekend in multiple interviews, and Sheena and I and our team are moving forward to serve the people of Missouri.

Any other -- any other questions?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Sir -- sir, I've answered your question. We answered them with multiple outlets this weekend, and we're moving forward.

Any other questions on the budget?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yes, sir.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a

REPORTER: Why do you think the state already needs another tax cut?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Yeah, so what's really important to understand, especially as it relates to the budget, is that this is a revenue neutral tax cut.

So it's revenue neutral, and I'm really proud of the work that the team has done on this.

Again, I'd be happy to sit down with you and others to kind of talk to that in detail when we roll that proposal out next week and again do the statewide tour.

Thank you again so much for showing up. Director Haug will be available to answer your detailed budget questions. I appreciate everybody coming today. Thank you guys very much.

Thanks for inviting us, Governor. I'm Christopher Ave from the Post Dispatch. It should be noted I think that when Governor Nixon, your predecessor, had these gatherings he didn't have any knives out, like there were no knives. So to your credit there are knives out here.

So let's just get this out of the way. In the matter of the affair, did you take a photograph of the woman? That is a question that hasn't been clearly answered.

GOVERNOR GREITENS: Actually, Christopher, we have answered all of those questions.

REPORTER: So what is the answer to that one?

GOVERNOR GREITENS: We've answered them in multiple interviews with multiple people. We're ready -- we're ready to move forward, which we have, we are, and we have.

I think what you'll note, what's exciting to see is the way that people of Missouri are responding to our agenda.

I think -- I think that you probably saw last week we did events around the state in Macon, Palmyra, Jackson, Springfield, Joplin and Kansas City and had hundreds of people who were coming out because they were excited about the work that we're doing.

fafd8db0-5c74-4b55-b4dd-b9e1e9872a

They're excited about the fact that we are working to cut taxes for the people of Missouri.

They are excited about the fact that we are making sure that we're building an economy where families can prosper.

They're excited about the fact that we're cutting regulations on the people of Missouri. And we're really excited about that agenda, and we're going to continue to work on, talk about and get that agenda passed because it's the right thing to do for the people of Missouri.

PROCEEDINGS

GREITENS: Later today a report will make accusations about my personal life. We fully expect that the report being released tonight will include lies and falsehoods.

I want to say again what I've said from the beginning, this is a political witch-hunt.

In just 33 days a court of law and a jury of my peers will let every person in Missouri know the truth and prove my innocence. In 33 days this witch-hunt will come to an end.

Over three years ago I made a personal mistake. I engaged in a consensual relationship with a woman who is not my wife. It was a private mistake that I regret every day.

With the help of friends and loved ones and prayers, my family moved forward.

This was a private mistake. It has nothing to do with government and shouldn't be about politics, but people are turning that personal mistake into a political spectacle and telling new lies about it.

Let's call this what it is, a political witch-hunt now based on the testimony of someone who said, under oath, that they may be remembering this through a dream.

We expect that tonight's report will be full of more false, outlandish and salacious accusations.

Now, keep in mind how this was written. No standard of evidence were used. No witnesses were cross-examined. No one who was representing me was allowed in the room, and no members of the press or the public were allowed in the room.

If the Committee had waited 33 days, they would have received a full set of facts. Instead, it was decided to publish an incomplete document made in secret; one that, based on the falsehoods that have been pushed from the beginning, seems will be filled with lies that we now know may have come from a dream.

We've heard some of the stories they've been pushing in the press, and they are downright false.

This matter is being tried in a court of law, and a court has a procedure in place for making sure that people are telling the truth, but the people interviewed by the Committee face no consequences for telling lies.

Since the beginning, their stories have changed, their memories have been hazy, and their lies have been revealed for all to see.

Soon after this story broke, for example, the people who are attacking me now falsely claim that I slapped a woman while my wife was giving birth.

It was absolutely untrue and slanderous and incredibly hurtful.

It has also been 100 percent disproven, because it was impossible. I was with Sheena in the hospital when our son was born. It was a lie, and they continue to lie throughout this entire process.

Just 48 hours ago our attackers lied about how they have spied on and harassed my family.

Now, I fully expect that they will come up with new lies and new accusations, but the people of Missouri see through this, and they know far better than to trust one-sided, tabloid trash gossip that was produced in a secret report.

The people of Missouri recognize all of this for what it is, and they see that the people who are driving this story are part of an absurd political witch-hunt.

It is an honor to work for the people of Missouri. And all of you should know that that deeply-felt honor, that deeply felt -- inspires me every day. And that I will continue to serve the people of Missouri as their governor and to work for you every day.

And they know, they need to know that fake charges and falsehoods aren't going to stop us.

This is nothing new. When I came into politics as an outsider, I was attacked with falsehoods every day.

They attacked my service as a Navy Seal. They attacked my service for veterans through The Mission Continues. They attacked my humanitarian.

Since we got into office, they have attacked us every single day. But know this, they don't scare us. We're not scared by the lies, and we are not afraid of their falsehoods.

This is exactly like what's happening with the witch-hunts in Washington D.C., smearing, lying and attacking people who want to change how things are done is wrong in Washington and it's wrong in Missouri.

People see how this works. They launch attacks. They let accusations fly. And then some politician and irresponsible members of the media pile on.

I fully expect that desperate people and some politicians will bring more phoney charges and make more false accusations.

But here's the good news, in 33 days this will all come to an end because in the United States of America you get your day in court.

I want to thank all of the good people who have stood up with us, who have stood beside us, people who have prayed for us, people who have stood beside us, people who, even in the face of injustice, have stood firmly behind us.

And this includes many state representatives and state senators and elected officials, all of whom recognize that the Court of law must do its work, and that in this country we don't judge people before justice is done.

I'm grateful to everyone who has stood beside us, and it is an honor to work for the people of Missouri every day.

Thank you all, and God bless you.

The following were present on April 13, 2018 at Barnes and Associates Law Office in Jefferson City, Missouri for the audio/video playing of a previously recorded interview.

JAY BARNES, Chairman of the Special Investigative Committee on Oversight

SHELLY STEWART, Certified Court Reporter

P R O C E E D I N G S

CHAIRMAN BARNES: It is Friday, April 13th, 2018. I am Representative Jay Barnes, Chairman of the House Special Investigative Committee on Oversight.

Pursuant to a subpoena issued this morning by Speaker Todd Richardson, the Committee is in possession of a video-recorded interview of the woman identified as Witness 1 in previous materials.

It is noted by the Governor's defense team that they claim that this video contains exonerating evidence, and that there is no testimony of coercion.

The first eleven minutes of the video are inaudible. What follows is the transcription of the interview.

QUESTIONS BY INTERVIEWER AND ANSWERS BY WITNESS 1:

A. -- was trying to ask him -- I said I was referring to my friend which essentially was me.

My friend wants to know -- she was in this situation. She wants to know what happened or why that would happen, because she knows how her situation is with her husband, but she's curious --

Basically I was just trying to ask him what happened, did he have feelings for me? And I was really just curious, because it just happened to be weird timing.

So anyways, he said he had a plan. Could I meet him in a few minutes? Because I was in the Central West End with my friends after work.

So at this point I didn't know where he lived. I knew he lived near [redacted], so he said he would meet me -- it was like in an alley right by Starbucks.

So I met him there. He just kind of hugged me and, you know, was trying to calm my nerves and just said, listen, I know I want to talk to you too about this. Can you come to my house next week?

And I said no. Can't we just meet at like a Starbucks or something?

He said, no, I can't be seen in public with you.

At this point I knew he was running for office because he had told me at his appointment, because that was March.

So then I told him I didn't know if I would be able to meet him, but I would call him the night before and let him know. He had asked me to come over Saturday the following week.

So then during that week -- and I -- so let me backtrack.

I had saved his number under my friend's name, who is also -- she has a DC number, because his number came up as DC. And I knew my husband is going to see this and he's going to freak out and call this, which is what -- exactly what he did without me knowing until -- I want to say it was right before this happened, or maybe right after I saw him, he asked me about it.

I -- he said to me, Witness 1, I -- I called that number that was on your phone that you had saved as [redacted] -- I was trying to get ahold of [redacted] basically was his story as to what -- that he was trying to get ahold of [redacted] which is a lie.

Q. Is this [redacted]?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Got that number, a 202 number?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Okay.

A. Yes. So he was trying to get ahold of [redacted] supposedly, and that he called the number that I had saved, and it came up as Eric Greitens' voicemail.

And I just said, well, yes, I talked to him. You know, but not about what, or whatever.

So then on that following Friday -- I called him from my work that Friday night and just said, hey, I don't think I can meet you tomorrow.

Because that Friday night was [redacted]

Q. Uh-huh.

A. My conscience got to me, and I just felt like I can't meet him.

Q. [redacted] what's the date?

A. March 20th.

Q. March 20th?

A. Uh-huh. So March 20th, 2015.

Q. Okay.

A. So he -- he said -- and I said, but I would be willing to meet you for coffee though. I'll meet you at Coffee Cartel or Starbucks or somewhere.

And he said, no. I really cannot be seen in public with you. And, you know, if you come to my house, it will be fine. We can just talk. Nobody is going to see you. It will be fine. Just come in my back door and just --

I guess he calmed me enough about it that I felt like, okay, I can go -- I was going over before work, so this is seven a.m. the next morning.

Q. March 20th, 21st seven a.m.?

A. Yes.

Q. And I had to be at work at eight a.m.

A. Uh-huh. So I was, like, okay, he knows what I want, whatever. So that morning I went over there and he was waiting in the kitchen. He had told me to come in the back door.

And as soon as I walked in, I had a purse and keys in my hand, and he took it from me. He -- whenever I walked in, he was doing this to me.

Q. Motioning you not to say anything?

A. Yeah. Like don't say anything at all.

Q. Okay.

A. And so he took my purse and keys and put them down on the counter, like, to the side, and still did that to me.

And I was standing there confused, like what the heck is he doing? And he started digging through my purse, and then came over to me and just started, like, patting me down everywhere to see if I was wired-tapped.

Q. To see if you were wearing a wire?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Okay.

A. And so then finally he stopped and just said, look, I'm just trying to make sure that -- you know, I know you said your -- your husband -- oh, because I had told him whenever we met in the Central West End that day, you have to understand my -- my husband is really controlling. You know, he -- he looks through everything. He's going to see that I had talked to you.

So anyways, he -- he just said, look, I just want to make sure that he didn't put anything on you.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. Okay. So -- so then I tried talking to him, which was the point of me being there, and he was kind of on a mission, or so it seemed.

And he said -- like didn't -- wasn't really wanting to talk and just said, Witness 1, how long do you have? When -- when do you have to be at work?

I told him I had to leave by, like, 7:40.

And he said, well, can you come back later?

And I told him that I got off work around four, but that I couldn't because I had to get home to my kids.

So he was, like, well, okay. I want you -- Witness 1, I just want you to know -- I just want you to feel good. I just want to make -- I just want to take care of you. And I had this idea, so I just want you to trust me. And remember, I just want you to feel good and whatever.

And I was like, what are you talking about?

I wanna -- I want to talk to you. I want to talk to you, and he said no.

Listen, have you worked out today?

And I said no.

And he was, like, okay, I promise you this will be so great, whatever. Just take these clothes and go put them on. Take off everything else and put on these clothes and then follow me downstairs.

So I did it. Went into his spare bathroom in his kitchen. I put on this -- it was his t-shirt that he had cut like a little slit at the top, and then pajama pants, his pajama pants.

Q. What were you wearing that day?

A. My work -- it would have been my black pants and a black shirt.

Q. Black pants, black shirt?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Just your normal work outfit?

A. Yes. So I followed him downstairs, and --

Q. Was the t-shirt white again?

A. Yeah, white.

Q. White. And how were the --

A. It had like a little slit at the top.

Q. Okay. Slit at the top, and then the pajamas, striped, plain white, if you can recall?

A. I can't recall. I mean --

Q. Okay.

A. -- I know that they were, like, neutral color.

Q. Neurtral?

A. Male. Yeah, they were definitely guy's pajama bottoms.

Q. Okay. Go ahead.

A. So I followed him downstairs. And he said, I want to teach you how to do a proper pull-up.

And I could tell he had something sexual in mind, but I felt like, oh, I had already told him I'm not cheating on my husband, so whatever he has in mind, he'll -- he'll respect my boundaries and whatever.

So up until this point he was a perfect guy to me, so . . .

Anyways, he tells me, put my hands up on the rings and starts putting this, like, gauze stuff, like sports tape, around my hands to keep them to the rings.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. But it wasn't actual tape, so I wasn't --

Q. It was like gauze tape?

A. Yeah. And then he says, I'm going to put a blindfold on you.

He puts the blindfold on me.

And at this point there's, like, really no talking. I really was standing there, like, I have no clue what the hell is going on. I'm probably just as much turned on as I am fearful as I am curious. You know, I don't even know. We hadn't kissed or anything.

Q. So you were fearful and you were also --

A. I was turned on. I was --

Q. Turned on?

A. -- fearful. I was confused. Very confused --

Q. Very confused?

A. -- more than anything.

Q. You were very confused about the situation?

A. Yeah. Like, how did this -- how am I even down here? How -- this is literally the first time I have ever been alone with him, other than that time in the -- outside in the Central West End, but we didn't even kiss or anything.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. So anyways, after he puts the blindfold on, he tells me, first you need to know how to drink, and he tries like -- he pours water in his mouth and he tries spitting it in mine.

I guess I was supposed to kiss him or something, and I just let it dribble out and just kind of stood there like --

And he did it again and I still did nothing. I just kind of, like, let it dribble out thinking, oh, my God. I have no clue what's going on now.

And then he started kissing my -- kind of down my neck and down my chest. And then once he got to, like, right here on my chest, he took the shirt and ripped it in half, and then proceeded to kiss down my stomach.

And then got to the pants and pulled down my pants, and then I was just standing there motionless like, oh, my God. I have no clue what's going on.

And then --

Q. You're still blindfolded?

A. I'm still blindfolded.

Q. Okay.

A. And he steps back, I guess -- I can hear and see at the same time a flash through the blindfold, and I hear like a phone take a picture --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. -- a picture at least.

And he said, now, if you ever mention my name to anybody, I will put this picture everywhere. I will put it everywhere I can.

Q. His exact words were what? He said --

A. Yeah.

Q. -- what you just told me. I mean, I have to get it down pat. I don't want to paraphrase it. He said --

A. If you ever mention my name to anyone, I'm going to take this picture and put it everywhere I can so everyone will know what a little whore you are.

Q. Take this picture and put it -- so that everyone will note (sic) --

A. Will know what a little whore you are.

Q. Go ahead.

A. So I just stood there and didn't say anything. And he walked over to me and said, so are you going to say anything?

And I didn't say anything at all. I was quiet.

And then he spanked me and said, are you going to say anything?

Q. Spanked you on your buttocks?

A. Yeah. And I just said no, like that, like seething through my teeth.

So then he -- it was as if he was just still going to go on with whatever he had planned and started kissing down my stomach again. And as soon as he got to like my genital area --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. -- I just started freaking out and started ripping my arms out. I was like, I don't want this. I don't want this. I'm not ready for this. I don't want this.

And he -- he was like, Witness 1, oh, my God, oh, my God. Here. And he was helping me take my arms down as I was ripping them off.

And I was like, I'm leaving, and went to go upstairs, and he took me in his arms and was, like, no, no, Witness 1, Witness 1, you can't leave like this. You can't leave. Come here.

And lays me down on the ground where I'm laying on his, like, basement floor in the fetal position. And he was -- I'm crying, like, hysterically at this point.

And he was like, shush, it's okay. It's okay. It's okay. It's okay.

And at this point just really coaxing me like a wounded little animal on the ground, I don't know, is how I felt.

And I just kept saying, I'm not ready for this.

And at this point he proceeds to undo his pants and take his -- take himself out of his underwear or whatever.

Q. He took his penis out of his underwear?

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay.

A. And, like, put it near my face and I gave him a blow job at this point.

To finish, as far as I remember, the whole time -- at this point I hate him in my mind. I think he's disgusting. I hate him. I can't believe I'm down here.

Q. You felt disgusted?

A. I just felt super degraded, really disgusting.

Q. Okay. You felt super betrayed?

A. I just couldn't believe that he was still turned on --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. -- and had no clue how pissed off I was.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. Thank you.

But I just felt like I'm going to do this and he'll be satisfied that he had his little whore, and I'm going to leave and I'll never see him again, was what was going through my mind at this point, you know, just like, ah --

Q. So he seemed to be enjoying what he was doing to you, having you go through?

A. Yeah. He definitely was not upset at this point at all.

Q. Okay.

A. I mean, he seemed worried whenever I was pulling down my arms, because he helped me, and then, like I said, laid me on the ground.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. Yeah. Laid me on the ground and was like, shush, it's okay. It's okay. It's okay.

So then after that I got up and just walked upstairs. He didn't stop me. I went to the bathroom and I changed back into my --

Q. Regular clothes?

A. -- regular clothes, and I got my purse and left, just left.

And as soon as I got to work, I realized I freaking left my keys there, because I had set them -- or he had set them separately on the countertop.

Q. So you walked to work --

A. Yeah.

Q. -- from there?

A. It was like a block away.

Q. Okay.

A. He lived really close.

And then after work -- so all day long I just kept hoping he's going to bring my keys up here. Because he had told me, you can never call me, after I had called him, you know, from my work, and then we talked a couple of times.

So I just sat there all day thinking he's going to bring up my keys, something, then realized I had to go back there to get my keys because I couldn't leave.

So I just walked back there and went to the back door, and he was waiting in the kitchen. Like I said, he knew when I was getting off work that day.

Q. When was this?

A. That was the same day.

Q. Same day --

A. Yeah.
Q. -- when you went back over to his house?
A. To get my keys at this point.
Q. After work?
A. After work. It was like four p.m., and he was waiting in the kitchen. And he was back to the normal person who I had met, you know, and seen for so long where he was just kind and -- as soon as I walked in, I was just like, I am so pissed off. I am so pissed off at you.

And he was like, I know. I know. I've been thinking about you all day, and, you know.

And I said, you freaking took a picture of me. I haven't even let my husband take pictures of me.

And he said, I know, but it was just to protect myself, Witness 1. You know, I'm running for governor, and you have no clue what people would do and -- so I was just protecting myself, and I deleted the picture.

So to which, of course, I did not believe him that he deleted the picture, because he freaking took it like that, but --

But I also believed that he was sorry. I believed all of those things enough to where, you know, I left that day not as mad at him, but left that day with the understanding that we would not see each other again, like that, but that he still wanted to come in and get his hair cut with me.

And that night I was supposed to go out with a friend of mine, and she came over to my house. I told her, you know, come over to my house instead. I need to talk to you.

Q. What was her name?

A. [redacted]

Q. [redacted]

A. That's [redacted] No. [redacted]

Q. [redacted] was the one you told about it?

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay.

A. [redacted] -- [redacted] are the ones that I told about him, like, rubbing my leg up to my crotch that day or whatever.

Q. You told both of them about that as well?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Okay.

A. So -- but [redacted] is the one who came over that night, and I just, like, bawled my eyes out. I told her all of it.

And, of course, she was, like, Witness 1, there's no way he hasn't done this before. Stop.

You know, I think in her mind she was just so angry at what had happened to me, but I was trying to -- I still had feelings for him.

And I was so confused at this point and felt just disgusted at the whole thing and didn't really know how to feel about it.

But anyways, I told her, I think I need to tell my husband, because I was -- I just felt so guilty and disgusting and whatever. So she didn't really have an opinion either way.

So that night she just stayed with me -- I think that was the night she stayed with me all night long. I could not sleep.

Then the next day I think -- it was the second day that I told my friend, Witness 2.

Q. Who?

A. Witness 2.

Q. What's her full name?

A. Witness 2.

Q. (Spelling)?

A. (Spelling of Witness 2's name).

Q. (Spelling)?

A. (Spelling)

Q. Okay. Is that (spelling)?

A. Just (spelling).

Q. Okay.

A. And then I told her I still hadn't slept and that I think I need to tell my husband.

To which she said -- so I knew her and -- or she and her husband through my ex-husband.

They just weren't friends with him anymore.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. And she said, you know, you can't tell him because, Witness 1, he is crazy and he will do whatever he can to hurt you. And this guy sounds like he's crazy, so you -- don't -- don't do it, Witness 1. Just --

So I went another day. I believe it was, like, three or four nights with zero sleep at this point. And I just thought this -- the only way to sleep again is to tell my husband. I need to tell him.

So I called him and said, I need to talk to you about something that's really sensitive. Can we meet?

And he said, yes, we could meet. Because at this point he was still staying at his brother's. We were still separated.

So we met in the parking lot and I got into his car.

Q. The parking lot of the salon?

A. No. It was a grocery store.

Q. A grocery store?

A. By our house.

Q. You got into his car?

A. Uh-huh. Yeah, because he was in the driver's seat.

And I took him through everything except for the very last part where I gave him oral, Eric. Because that was the part that I knew, A, he's going to, you know, hate me and I feel so degraded. I feel so disgusting, whatever.

Anyways, I eventually told him about it once we were back together, but other than that, I told him pretty much everything.

Q. Everything?

A. And the other thing that I know I did not tell him all of was when I told him about him taking the picture, I didn't say that he called me a whore, because I also thought, he's going to -- I knew that my husband would flip either way, but not -- you know, I was just hoping that he would have empathy or whatever or understand.

To which then that day he told me, and then the following days, he really could not be with me now because I was disgusting and a whore, and he needed to get an apartment.

So then he got an apartment in April for, like, a three-month lease or whatever, and --

Q. April 2015, right?

A. Uh-huh. Yes.

Q. Okay.

A. So then it must have been maybe a week later, a week after this happened, or two weeks after I had seen Eric --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. -- he came in for a haircut, and I had not spoken to him at all in the interim.

And when he came in, of course, he was that normal guy again. And I described to him that when I saw him that first time, you know, at, like, seven a.m. -- he just has this testosterone surge is what it seems like, where he really does not seem like the same person.

You know, so the guy who was so kind and so charismatic all of a sudden is just like just filled with testosterone and rage almost, you know.

So like I say, whenever I came back that day, he was so -- he seemed normal again, and then when he came into the salon -- other than him pretty much, each time I saw him in the salon, making sure you haven't told anybody, have you?

Q. He kept asking you that, you haven't told anyone?

A. Every single time I saw him.

Q. Okay.

A. Yeah. You haven't said anything? No.

So other than that, he was normal and just told me, Witness 1, I can't quit thinking about you. I want to see you again. When can I see you?

And then as far as I remember, the next time I saw him was at his next hair appointment he asked -- so --

Q. How -- how often did he come in for hair appointments, every two weeks?

A. During this time right afterwards?

Q. Uh-huh.

A. Like after he came in that time?

Q. Uh-huh.

A. He probably came in every two or three weeks.

Q. Okay.

A. Normally probably every three to four weeks.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. But we didn't have a lot of communication between -- because, you know, we didn't call or text like normal.

So then the next time I saw him was for his next appointment. I came in early to the salon and -- where we were the only people there. I opened up the door. He came in, and that time -- I did kiss him that time. I was willing -- at this point I thought, my husband is --

Q. And this was several weeks after this incident?

A. After the first incident?

Q. Yeah.

A. Probably like a month later.

Q. Month later. That's when you kissed him?

A. And then I kissed him, and we basically made out, and then I cut his hair, then my coworker showed up, like, 20 minutes later or whatever.

Q. Did you just kiss him?

A. Just kissing and, like, kind of handsy stuff, but we were clothed, yeah.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. Yeah. So -- and that time I felt like, okay, no, maybe I was wrong. Maybe he is normal and that wasn't that horrible or whatever.

And then the next time was, I was sitting outside of the salon on, like, the fountain outside of [redacted] reading a book, and he drove by and asked if -- or told me to come here, he wanted to talk to me. This was in between haircuts too, so . . .

Q. Between haircuts you saw him?

A. Yeah. So this would have been probably sometime in May.

Q. May 2015, okay.

A. My guess, yeah. And he told me to come here. He said, you look so beautiful sitting there. I want to see you. Can you come over tonight?

And I told him I didn't know, you know, because I had to get back to my kids, but maybe I could come by before I got my kids.

And so after work that night, I went over there for a short time, because I did have to leave, maybe 30 minutes or something, 45 minutes.

And that time was sexual in nature. We did not have intercourse, but we basically -- we were in his bathroom and just like both of us participating in a sexual encounter, I guess, just without intercourse, yeah.

Q. There was no sexual intercourse?

A. No. There -- yeah, no sexual intercourse. There was never any sexual intercourse.

Q. Just oral sex?

A. Just oral sex.

Q. And the sexual nature at that time was oral sex as well?

A. Right.

Q. You both participated in?

A. Both. And that time --

Q. In his bathroom?

A. In his bathroom. Other than -- you know, like I said, he just kind of takes on a different persona or whatever when he's like that, kind of testosterone. He was fine that time. It wasn't scary to me.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. So then -- then in June when he came in for a haircut, he had said he really wanted to see me at the end of June because his wife was going out of town for a week.

But he also wanted to be able to talk to me too during that week because she was going to be gone that whole time.

And he bought a burner phone, or like a throwaway phone or something to use during that week. I assume he bought it that week, because I know I only talked to him a few times on it or during that time.

Q. You should have his number?

A. I'm sure in my phone records it's in there, because I remember the approximate date.

Q. When was this?

A. This would have been end of June.

Q. End of June?

A. Because I saw him twice when -- during that week whenever -- it was in the beginning of the week, so let's say if he said, I want to see you -- you know, she's gone Friday to Friday.

On Saturday night after I had been out with some girlfriends, I went over to his house. And that night at first he seemed normal, and, you know, talking, whatever.

And then we went upstairs into his, like, spare bedroom and were making out. And then he asked me if I had slept with anyone, had I had sex with anyone?

And I said, yes, I have, with my husband. Because at some point I had. I don't know. And he slapped me across my face. And not like playful like.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. Like what the fuck did you just do? You know, like, slap me across my face.

And to which I said, you know, you're married. What -- what are you talking about, you know?

And then as far as I remember, we talked about that. Because I asked him if he was maybe screwed up from being in the war? Like what -- that was so bizarre to me that he would think that that was okay.

And then I left. I left that night.

And then -- but I guess we had talked long enough afterwards that -- it's not like I got up and left right after that.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. So then the next time that I saw him was a couple of days later, before work. He asked if I would come over and we could work out together in his downstairs gym or whatever.

So I came over in the morning before I had to be at work and --

Q. You had to be at work again at seven?

A. No. It would have been more like eight or so.

Q. Eight or so?

A. Yeah, because it -- the only day I have to be there that early is on Saturdays. And this would have been during the week, so I probably had to be at work at ten would be my guess.

So I came in, and at first we really did just go through a workout and it was fine, and then it turned. And then it turned sexual and we were -- at this point at least I was -- I don't know if he was nude, but I was nude.

We were not having sex, but it was -- we were in a position that kind of looked like doggy-style, and he was --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. And so he was behind me and, like, fingering me. And all of a sudden he, like, I don't know, just lost it or something and shoved me and smacked like the -- slapped me on my butt at the same time to where I fell over, like, rough to where it instantly made me start crying.

And I just laid there crying, like what the heck just happened? And was just like, you can't be rough like that. What are you doing?

And that time he also just seemed like, I don't know what's wrong with you, you know.

I mean, it wasn't -- I don't know. There wasn't a whole lot of conversation other than I'm crying on the ground and this is, you know -- now we're in this uncomfortable --

Q. So you're on the floor again?

A. Yeah.

Q. Go ahead.

A. And then I got ready for work and I left for work. And then when I was leaving work that day, he was waiting outside and told me I needed to follow him.

He was waiting outside my work, and so I got in the car and followed him to a parking lot.

Q. Parking lot whereabouts? What parking lot?

A. Manchester. Like by that Kmart on Manchester and -- I don't know. Manchester -- past Manchester and Kingshighway further.

Q. You think it was Manchester near the Kmart?

A. Uh-huh. And he told me to get in his car. And whenever I did, he said that somebody e-mailed his wife earlier that same day and said they saw a woman -- or that a woman was in his house.

And he told me -- and at this point he was, like, panicky, kind of freaking out. And he told me, listen, I told her that you came by to get a signed book for your daughter. So if anybody asks, that's what it is. It was a signed book for your daughter, that's what you were doing.

Because at this point he thought it was, you know, democratic operatives or, you know, people in his neighborhood that -- he said he had some neighbors that were always trying to find something.

He was, like, you know, I knew if this got out, you know, this is what happens, so that I should -- but, of course in my mind I'm thinking, no, whatever. This is my -- this is my husband, because I knew he was having me followed.

Even though we were not living together, he was constantly asking me now, because I knew I had already told him that initial time that I saw him, so he was asking me, have you seen him? Has he been in to get his hair cut?

You know, I knew he was obsessed enough about it, and he had dropped little hints that he knew where -- you know, who are you out with tonight? You know, he knew what I was doing, so --

When I left that day, I had just said, you know, okay, because he told me he was leaving, flying to go see his wife to convince her that everything was okay, and told me we should not see each other, but he still wanted to come into the salon.

And so I said, no, don't come into the salon. Just -- this is it. Like, just don't -- don't come in.

So he left that day, and then a couple weeks later my ex-husband, or husband at the time, and I went to,

like, a mediator to talk about our divorce, and --

Q. Is the mediator's name [redacted]

A. That was our marriage counselor for four years prior.

Q. Oh, four years prior, okay.

A. I mean a long time.

Q. A long time.

A. On and off. We saw a different counselor, and then [redacted] Yeah. No, he was a marriage counselor.

Q. Okay. Did the mediator -- you mentioned mediator?

A. So -- yeah, the mediator, like an attorney to talk about how to move forward with our divorce.

And at this point I knew for sure I am not going to see Eric again in that context. And after the mediator, like that next day, I said to my husband, is there anything that we have left to salvage? Do you think that we can work on anything at this point?

To which then he told me, well, he would have to think about it, because, you know, whatever.

So I -- that following week he decided, yes, he did want to work on things with me and -- but he had to be honest with me as long as I was honest with him, that he had -- which was that he had been with -- he had been sexual with five women during this March to July separation that we had, including one that he was dating at the time.

He had just met her a couple of weeks before, but he had planned a trip with her, like, that following week, and so he would have to cancel the trip if he decided to work on things with me.

So then he decided, yes, he's going to, but now that he's told me all this, I need to tell him the truth, which was -- and that's kind of what he interrogated me for the next few months about every detail of anytime I saw him, because I kept saying, I did not have intercourse with him. I didn't have intercourse with him.

So that was July. And then we were, you know, back together until October, so then from July to October I did not see Eric.

I did save -- there was one -- at one point in August he tried to FaceTime me, to which I showed my husband.

And just said, look, I'm not -- I'm just -- because I was an open book from July until, you know, October. I said, I just want you to know he tried to FaceTime me. I didn't talk to him.

Other than that, that was it. Never saw him.

And then in October he walked by the salon and came in and asked if he could get an appointment with me.

And they said, Witness 1 has a cancellation after this client. You can come in then.

So he came in that day, or if he stayed or whatever, and whenever he sat down, I just said, listen, I'm back together with my husband, which, of course, he was, you know, instantly, did you tell him? You didn't tell him anything, did you?

You didn't mention me, did you? He doesn't know anything, because, you know, my wife doesn't know anything. She believes what I told her or whatever.

So let's see. So then I came home that -- well, sorry. So then he told me, you know, I just can't quit thinking about you. I want to see you.

And I just told him, I can't open this door. I can't go back here. You've got to leave me alone. You're still married. I'm in the middle of this, you know, craziness with my husband. Just leave me alone.

When I went home that day, I told my husband, as I promised, that if I see him ever again, I will tell you.

I told him about it, and he, you know, flipped out telling me I was wrong, that I shouldn't cut his hair, that he can't be with me because this is never going to end.

So I said, fine. I will send him an e-mail, and I think he will get the hint, because he had told me, do not contact me.

And so I sent an e-mail just basically saying, please, leave me alone, and don't come into the salon at all. Because I knew -- there was -- there was a period of time I don't -- I told him don't come to me, and he went to one of my coworkers for a while. This was in between March and July.

So I told him, don't even come into -- don't come into the salon at all.

And that was, like, middle of October.

Q. October 20th you sent to his personal e-mail, right?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

A. And he didn't e-mail me back. I never heard from or saw him again.

Q. After October?

A. After October.

Q. Now, just -- I got everything I need here.

Now the people you confided in, can I get the names?

A. [redacted] I confided everything to her.

Q. Is that a woman I take it?

A. [redacted]

Q. How do you spell it? [redacted]--

A. [redacted] I saw her all the time. She's my best friend.

Q. She still works there?

A. She -- no, she works at a different salon now in Clayton.

Q. Do you have her contact information?

A. Yes.

Q. She willing to talk?

A. She said she would if I asked her to.

Q. Will you ask her to?

A. (Witness nods head.)

Q. Okay.

A. And then Witness 2.

Q. Witness 2?

A. Yeah.

Q. You got her contact information?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. Is she willing to talk?

A. Yeah.

Q. Who else?

A. And then [redacted]

Q. [redacted] the one that has the DC phone number?

A. Yes.

Q. Is she here now?

A. Yes, she's in St. Louis.

Q. She willing to speak to us?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have her contact information too?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

A. Those were all the people I told before my husband.

Q. Before him?

A. Yes.

Q. Who did you tell after?

A. Well, then he -- I didn't tell anybody after until he did. So then in June he sat my whole family down while I was out of town and told them everything I told him.

Q. June 2015?

A. June 2015. So my mom and two sisters. I don't know exactly who all was there. Of course, my whole family knew within, like, two minutes. I know my mom and two sisters.

Q. Anyone else that you told the story to?

A. Not until -- [redacted] [redacted] is her -- or [redacted] actually. She got married. [redacted] So she and her husband --

Q. What is it?

A. So [redacted]

Q. [redacted]

A. --b-y.

Q. --b-y. [redacted]

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay.

A. So she and her husband, [redacted], were -- were friends with my ex-husband, so he told them -- he told anybody that would listen.

Q. So they were told by your ex-husband?

A. But [redacted] and I are friends, so she came to me.

Q. Okay. And told you that your ex-husband had told them everything?

A. Yeah. So then I had talked to her around that time too.

Q. So you told her everything?

A. Yeah. And then the only other people I have told would have been a year later, year and a half later when he won the seat, the governor seat, because I wasn't quite as scared.

Q. '16? November 2016?

A. So after he won, then I specifically remember telling a group of girlfriends. We were having dinner together, and I was really, really, really emotional during this time period. Because, you know, during that time period, I didn't want to talk about it with anybody because I was scared that --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. I knew my ex-husband was already telling people, and if Eric hears about this, who knows what he'll do, because --

Q. So you were scared because --

A. Yeah. Yeah. What -- what extent would he go to, you know?

Q. With the ex-husband disclosures, right?

A. Yeah.

Q. That you were afraid of being (inaudible)?

A. It's going to get back to Eric, or my ex-husband is going to do something, because at this point -- after October -- I should back up.

After October -- the reason why we went through with the divorce is because after I sent that e-mail, he said he still couldn't be with me.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. At this point I was so exhausted hearing I'm a whore, everything is my fault, being interrogated all the time about these instances that I had seen Eric.

And so I said, that's fine. If you want a divorce, I've done everything you've asked me. I'm so exhausted. I can't do this. That's fine.

And then he told me, well, wait, wait. You are right. Because I had asked many times throughout this time, you sure none of these women are still in your life or anybody new?

So then in October after I sent that e-mail and I had been so forthcoming or whatever, he said, yes, there is another woman in my life.

And, yes, I was with one of the other women of the previous five again after we were back together. And that's the woman who he was with, is the woman who he's still with now.

So at that point -- who was a married woman too with two kids. And so I was just like, oh, my God. This is too much.

Q. Is this the [redacted]

A. Yeah. Yeah. So then that -- at that point it was like, end it. We're getting divorced.

So that was it. He moved out shortly after permanently.

So anyways, yeah. And then I -- so I really did not talk about it. I really just tried to avoid it, the whole subject. I wanted to move forward and didn't want to think about either one of them.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. My ex-husband made it very clear many times. You know, I -- so I had no clue that he recorded me at any time until -- like, my guess is either during that time that we were back together or right after when we were getting divorced he told me, I could ruin you and him at any moment. It would take me 30 seconds and you guys would be ruined.

Q. Okay. The next point that I wanted to address is your husband and specific threats that -- or you felt they were threats or -- I don't want to put words in your mouth.

When he approached you, how did you feel? (Inaudible) in conversation I'm asking you, did you feel threatened or embarrassed or what?

You have to tell me exactly what you were feeling when he said I can ruin you and all this; how did you feel?

A. Petrified, because I also knew that Eric wasn't a normal person, so the second that he knows that I told Witness 3, you know, who knows?

At this point I really was afraid of anything, especially before he won, during that year or whatever before he won while he was campaigning.

Q. You were afraid the whole time?

A. Oh, yeah. And especially anytime my ex-husband brought it up, which was anytime he could. During this period of time, you know, say things like -- of course it was always you ruined our family. You're a homewrecker. You deserve anything coming to you. You know, and I could ruin you at any moment.

So at some point he had said to me, I could ruin you at any moment --

And I said how?

-- Eric and you both.

And I said, how?

Because the way he threatened it, and that's the way -- you would just have to know my ex-husband. He's the type of guy who will be like, you don't even know. He's just that kind of guy.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. And I said, how?

And he said, because that day I recorded you.

And I believed that he did, but also hadn't heard it, so hoped that he's -- please tell me, A, you can't understand me, or that B, he really would not do that. He wouldn't do that, would he?

Q. And when did you discover that he did?

A. The day it came out.

Q. So how did -- I need to back up.

When you told -- when you told your friends, your girlfriends, you told them everything?

A. [redacted] remembers me telling her pretty much everything. Witness 2 and [redacted] I asked them, because I was trying to -- because it was kind of hard to remember everything.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. And so I asked them, what did I tell you?

And they just remember that he was creepy and took a picture and blackmailed me with it. Because they both were like, this dude has done this before, Witness 1, and --

Q. Did you relate that -- did you relate that he --

A. Slapped me?

Q. -- slapped you?

A. So neither one of them remember that.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. [redacted] I believe [redacted] does remember it. I think [redacted] and Witness 3 were the only ones. I did tell my ex-husband.

Q. You told him?

A. I told him when we were back together.

Q. When?

A. When he kept interrogating me and asking me, you know, just anything that he could ask me about each time that I was with him and every detail, how I felt. Did you -- I mean everything you can imagine.

Q. Specifically when your husband voiced his words to you, did you feel threatened by that?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you feel intimidated by that?

A. Yes.

Q. And why did you feel like that? In what ways did you --

A. Because I knew he was malicious.

Q. Okay.

A. He was so -- he's the type of person that, I mean, really and truly we have had marital issues for years before.

So many of our friends and family were not shocked when we were getting divorced. I had asked for a divorce the year before and in the year before that.

And so -- but in his mind -- and anybody who knew us knew -- anyways, kind of like there was more.

Q. And him being malicious, in your own words, you felt that he would --

A. He would do whatever --

Q. -- take information to make you look bad and embarrass you in public?

A. Positively.

Q. Positively?

A. Because in his own words many, many times I am a homewrecker. I am -- I am a whore. I am --

Q. Those were his exact words to you?

A. So many times.

Q. And he was going to make this public?

A. Oh, yeah.

Q. To embarrass you?

A. Many times.

Q. Did you ever ask him about considering, you know, the children --

A. Many times.

Q. -- and your reputations and everything?

A. Many times.

Q. What did he say to that? He didn't care?

A. He said I ruined our family.

Q. So he blamed you?

A. Hundred percent. And so I already ruined our family.

Q. So --

A. I ruined our family.

Q. And that's all he would tell you, that you ruined the family?

A. You should have thought about that before you were a homewrecker and you went into another woman's house and you did what you did, Witness 1.

Because in his mind, him being with other women -- even before I was with Eric, he was with two other women.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. In his mind, because I asked him initially to move out into his brother's house. Before I had even done his hair that day, I asked for a separation. I -- I went out and had a relationship. I ruined our family, and I would suffer. I would pay.

So throughout the past few years -- I mean, you could probably meet countless people who he sat down to tell them how disgusting I am, you know, what a whore I am.

Q. And so what he's done, he's actually gone out in the -- in the -- in the public and spread this information about you?

A. And he has also -- so I didn't -- I knew at the time, because friends were saying, I don't know what's wrong with him, but, you know, he keeps Tweeting stuff.

I don't have Twitter. You know he keeps Tweeting stuff, but remember, this was during that period of time where I was trying very hard to ignore everything, so Witness 2 and [redacted] --

Q. And he was Tweeting this?

A. Through his public account. My ex-husband is a local celebrity.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. So has, you know --

Q. He's got a public Twitter account?

A. Oh, yeah, with a huge following, and was Tweeting stuff like Eric Greitens is a homewrecker.

Q. And he was Tweeting and saying things about you as well?

A. Just, you know, like you're -- you were with your -- how is your hairdresser and stuff like that, just trying to, like --

Q. So he was doing this Twitter stuff about Eric Greitens?

A. In the hopes that -- he was hoping that this would come out, but he -- he was -- okay. So during this time -- during this period of time from the time that we were separated-separated until Eric won, my ex-husband has gone around telling anybody who would listen, A, the story about he is crazy. I'm a whore, all of this stuff, and that he was going to -- or that he paid money to keep it quiet.

Q. That Eric paid money or that --

A. Who knows? My ex-husband said -- no. My ex-husband said he paid somebody lots of money to keep it quiet.

He tried to tell me something of the sorts like -- so -- but any time he ever tried to talk about it or even text about it, I just texted him -- I either didn't text him back or I would say, you need to stop. Nothing else.

So during this time -- this had to have been right around the election -- my ex-husband came over -- I have no clue -- to pick up the kids. I don't know what it was. It might have been one of the times he was trying to take the TV off my wall.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. Really, he was just going through -- anyways, he said -- that was one of the times in particular that he said, you don't even know what I have been dealing with. And, you know, I had to get a gun recently.

And I said, what do you mean?

And he said, you don't deserve any of this. You ruined our family, whatever, but I protected you and I paid all this money. I paid thousands of dollars. You don't even know. You don't even know.

But meanwhile -- and I heard that from a couple of friends, just so you know, and my sister even. He told my sister this. Back up.

My sister's husband and he were in the same band together until a week ago.

Q. A week ago?

A. That's how I met him. That's part of the reason why he was a local celebrity. My sister's husband is how I met him. They have been together since they were teenagers.

So he also relayed that to my sister's husband and another bandmate, anybody that would listen, that basically he was this hero, because he had paid money to somebody to keep it quiet.

Q. Keep this information quiet?

A. That he --

Q. About you?

A. Right. That nobody had -- except for through him, which is why I knew -- you know, he's -- at this point he's trying to be the hero when he's really the villain.

So I had -- fast-forward. I had heard -- Eric wins. I am just devastated because now at this point, A, I know that my ex-husband didn't get what he wanted.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. I had heard from -- so let's see. One of my clients is an attorney who said to me, Witness 1, I heard a rumor -- this is right after he won.

Witness 1, I heard a rumor that I really hope isn't true, and it involves you and it involves your ex-husband and it involves Eric Greitens.

And I said, oh, my God. What did you hear?

And she said, well, one of my -- one of her coworkers, either he or his wife worked on the Koster campaign, and said that my ex-husband was going around shopping this story about me and the governor and -- but that it didn't get picked up because it was from this, like, scorned ex-husband and so they weren't taking this story.

Which is -- of course, that was my fear all along, especially because I knew he was going around telling anybody who would listen.

So at that time was really the first time I started processing, even though I felt all along that because I felt relieved, like, oh, thank God, finally. No matter how hard he tried, he couldn't get it out. I can move on and that was, you know, 2016.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. So then to the next year -- I mean, my ex-husband texted me mean stuff randomly. You know, we would be talking about signing the kids up for something and he would say, you know -- bring it up again.

You know, well, you ruined our family, and, you know, our kids are always going to suffer because -- you know, he was just bringing it up, bring it up. And every single time I would just ignore it, deflect, until -- and this is a question I have if you guys have any clue as to how this could have happened?

So August this year he bought a house with his girlfriend. They have stayed together all this time.

Q. August 2017?

A. Yes. Uh-huh. And ever since August, other than right before this came out in December, he texted me something to the effect that he had al-- you know, so many times before, but from August until December he was much better behaved, you know, as far as texting me.

And I thought, oh, good. We're moving on. This is -- he's finally not being horrible to me, until December when he texted me, which was -- I do have those texts.

Q. Okay.

A. Everything before August is out of my phone.

How?

All of my old pictures -- there are pictures of my kids that we sent back and forth --

Q. Uh-huh.

A. -- that's still in our text message thread from 2016. Meaning I've never deleted the threads. Those pictures would go away.

The texts from before August are gone.

How is that possible, I --

Q. From your phone?

A. From my phone. So -- so one day we were going back and forth about something a while ago that had to do with the kids, and I just was, like, this is about the kids. It was about a schedule or something. It had nothing to do with this.

And he brought up, you know, how I -- again, whatever, I'm a homewrecker or whatever he said. At that time I remember specifically -- I went back, couldn't find nothing before -- whatever -- it was like a couple of days before that, all my texts were gone.

I knew positively I had not deleted these texts.

And then all of a sudden they came back.

So if there is any way that he could have control over my texts, would be my fear. Because it doesn't make sense, why would I have all of these pictures yet in my text message threads, they're literally only images?

So because -- so back up. During this period of time from, let's see, October -- so Eric won in October. In March that -- those friends, [redacted] had cancer in the past.

Q. This is March of '17?

A. Yes.

Q. Yeah?

A. Right, 2016.

Q. Eric had won, right? Didn't you say Eric had won?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Eric won in November, right?

A. Yes.

Q. And you say in March?

A. So maybe it was March before. Hold on. Let me think.

Q. I don't want to confuse you.

A. Yeah, I know. So it would have been maybe March, April, May, June, July. I feel like --

Q. Was it before he won or -- you said after he won, and then you said -- then you said March. I'm just trying to see what --

A. I know, but would have been, like, this past March, right?

Q. Yeah, March of --

A. So before. Yeah, this would have been, like, a year and a half ago.

Q. March of '16?

A. '16.

Q. Okay.

A. My -- so our friends -- our mutual friend, he was celebrating not having cancer for five years. So his wife said to me, you're coming to his -- maybe it was last year. Yes, this would have been last year.

Q. March of '17?

A. Yeah. Yeah. I'm pretty positive. That makes more sense, yes.

Q. Okay.

A. Okay. So he -- anyways, she was having this party and said to me, I want you to be there.

I said, well, you know, Witness 3 is still bitter. He won't even look at me. I don't know if that's a good idea.

She said, I don't care. We're closer to you anyways. You better come.

So I came. And that's why I was trying to think of the timing. The guy who I am currently still dating I was dating at the time, and we had been together for, I mean, at least -- at least eight months or something at that point.

Because we had met -- I would say we met a few months after Witness 3 and I were separated for sure in October that year, 2017. We met at (inaudible) at four months later in January, whatever.

So anyways, we had been dating for enough time, but my ex-husband wouldn't even look at him. Never introduced himself. Never said hi to him.

So this would have been, like, you know, a while after we had been together. And we are at this party.

Q. When was your divorce?

A. When?

Q. When was it final?

A. So that -- so March of 2016.

Q. So March of '16 your divorce was final?

A. Wait. Oh, my God. I'm so confused. This is 2015. If October was the last time I saw Eric, it was that March following October, because I believe I met [redacted] right before that.

Q. So that would be --

A. That would be 2016.

Q. 2016?

A. That makes sense, yes. So then this is the following -- yeah, because this was not around our divorce. We had been divorced for a year.

Q. Okay. So March of --

A. 2016 or whatever.

Q. Yeah.

A. Okay. Yeah.

Q. Yeah.

A. So this past March, yeah. Because then he -- so my ex-husband made it very clear to my friend, [redacted] before the party he was extremely angry that I was going to be there. He wrote her these long texts, which, of course, she forwarded to me.

Q. Do you have those?

A. Yeah. That were, you know, essentially this woman ruined our marriage. She ruined our family. She should not be allowed here. She has no class if she comes.

To which she sent them to me, but said, listen, we want you there -- or it was a surprise party at this point. So she said, I'm telling you we want you there. Don't -- you're coming, please, and please bring [redacted].

Because I also had never brought him around anybody that was a mutual friend, because the girlfriend had been around everybody, but I just didn't feel comfortable with everyone coming around him.

So I -- we go. Everything was fine until the -- I was standing there talking to Witness 3's girlfriend, [redacted].

And I said to [redacted], listen -- because she said, yeah, I guess -- I guess this was an issue about tonight or something.

And I said, yeah. I don't think you realize how -- because at this point I had said hi to her plenty of times and been cordial, but we had never spoken.

And I knew maybe if she knows how mean he's still being to me currently about everything, making everything a big ordeal, maybe she'll calm it down.

So I said, yeah, I don't think you really know how bad it is still. It's still bad. He's still not kind to me.

And she said, well, yeah, I know. Because he was making a big deal to her that I was going to be there that night.

Well, as soon as my ex-husband sees that I'm talking to her, he comes and steps over -- and at this point he literally wouldn't even look at me whenever we went, you know, at anything with the kids or whatever.

And so he comes and steps in front of me and looks and said, we're leaving right now.

And I said, you can't even look at me?

And he said, no, I'm not going to talk to a little whore like you.

This is in front of everybody who is around at -- you know, this was a party with all of our friends and family and whatever.

And to which then he stormed off, and his girlfriend took his side and they leave.

It was at this point that I just was like, okay, he's already won. Eric had already won. Because I thought he's going to give up then.

So it was just clear that he still -- this is still on his mind. He's still that obsessed for whatever reason. You know, that this is all my fault. I am this -- I ruined it.

Q. Do you still feel threatened and intimidated by him?

A. I haven't spoken to him at all, so I don't know. And, of course, he's not texting me that stuff right now, so I don't know.

I really only feel that way whenever he gets on these rampages and texts and texts and texts and stuff like that.

I am worried that he is probably angry right now that he didn't get exactly what he wanted.

Q. You haven't deleted all of those texts?

A. None of them.

Q. None of them. Okay. We need to see those texts to see if there's anything else.

Are any of those texts from -- and I need the phone numbers and I need those e-mail accounts, which I think I have on the ones you e-mailed Greitens on the few times you did, and those phone numbers from him, the one that you had the text messaging to the other phone which you had that number too.

And so your husband mostly just texts. Did he e-mail you a lot with his threats or comments or whatever?

A. No.

Q. It was mostly, like, texts?

A. Mostly texts.

Q. Okay. So you captured most of those?

A. (Witness nods head.)

Q. We need to get those.

Oh, yeah. We need to ask you one thing too. When did all this information come out about you, about your situation? When did it come out?

A. You mean January 10th or whatever, like just recently?

Q. Yeah, recently. Was it --

A. Yeah. So I -- in December I was -- I had a weird appointment on my book.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. And at this point I'm in a different salon, and I only really see people who know me and book appointments with me.

So I found it odd enough that I even told one of my friends. Well, I also told another friend at that time, [redacted].

Q. [redacted]

A. [redacted]

Q. [redacted]

A. Yes.

Q. You told him?

A. Her.

Q. Her? [redacted]

A. [redacted]

Q. Oh, [redacted]

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay. [redacted] You told her?

A. Yeah, at that time. And then I -- she was part of that girls' dinner that -- I was at a girls' dinner after he had won that I told -- or she wasn't there that night, but she is part of that group of girlfriends. And I told the rest of them. So after he had won, and that was -- that was it as far as who I had told.

Okay. [redacted] was in early in December, that day. And I was, like, I had this weird appointment on my books. I don't know who this is.

And so -- but, you know, kind of concerned because that was weird. That doesn't happen. How you book with me, that's pretty personal, so . . .

Anyways, this woman comes in, and my client before her had drank too much and, like, fell into my mirror.

Q. Uh-huh.

A. And so I was concerned about him driving home. And so when she walked up, I was talking about it with another worker there.

And I said, I'm so sorry. I'm Witness 1. It's nice to meet you. I'm kinda shaken up because I'm worried about my client.

And she said, oh, it's going to get a lot weirder because I'm here, I'm working on a story. I'm a reporter from Channel 4.

And I just started crying. I said no. No. You cannot go here, please.

Q. And this is December?

A. This is December.

Q. 2017, Channel 4 reporter?

A. Yeah. I just started crying. I said, you have to understand my -- because I knew -- again, because back when my -- one of -- part of one of his threats was, you know how many people I know in the media. I know people at every news station. You know, so I -- because I knew he was shopping around for the story.

So I just said to her, you have to understand, my ex-husband is extremely vindictive.

And she said, yes, I understand that. All right, you know, I'm sorry to hear that or whatever, but there are these allegations that, you know, are disturbing.

And I said, that was a really, really traumatic period of time in my life. I cannot relive this again. I don't want to relive any of it. Please, I have kids. I go to school full-time. I own my own business. I take care of my house. Like, please, you have to just leave me alone.

And she brought up a couple of the allegations, which, of course, were directly from my ex-husband's mouth, meaning it's -- you know, even if somebody was following me around, they wouldn't have known those things except for I told him in private about, in particular, the blackmail.

I don't think at that point she asked me about him slapping me.

She asked if he had paid me off. That was the only thing I did say, no, I haven't seen him at all. You know, none of that since -- it's been years, but I really -- I -- whenever she left that night, she left it at --

Q. She left you her name and calling card and said, call me?

A. Exactly. And I just said -- if I ever wanted to talk, and I said, okay. And then at that point --

Q. You've got that information?

A. Yeah.

Q. Okay.

A. So then at that point I just -- I got a bunch of missed calls the next few weeks. And one of my clients, the very next day, stopped by my salon and said we need to talk.

And then she met with me and just said, listen -- she's in politics, and just said, this is everywhere all over Jeff City. Your ex-husband is trying to get this story out, Witness 1, and I think it's going to come out and you really need to tell your story.

And I was just shaking. I said, please, no.

I -- do whatever you can to not -- I cannot go here, especially because I knew how badly my ex-husband wanted this.

Q. And then it broke in January?

A. So then a whole month I ignored everybody, phone calls, and I talked to my friend -- so [redacted]

[redacted]

Q. Name?

A. [redacted]

Q. She's [redacted]

A. Yeah. And I had talked to her and I told her -- she said, Witness 1, just -- if you don't say anything, they're not going to release a story based on an ex-husband's word.

And she said, is there any way that he would be able to, you know, corroborate it without you?

And I said, well, remember, he threatened that he had that tape.

And she said, did you ever hear it?

I said, no, but, you know, I know him. And he absolutely would do something like that.

She said, well, for all you know it's probably, like, staticky. You can't hear anything.

So it made me feel better.

And then I just ignored calls, and then the day before it came out, that woman called and left a voicemail saying, I just heard an audio of you and -- having a conversation, and so other media outlets have it. You need to -- you know, please call back and give a statement, or we want to hear your story or whatever.

So I didn't call her back. I called [redacted] said don't, Witness 1, because, you know, yes, she has something, but you don't know. Maybe it's really blurry. You don't know what it is.

So then the next day she texted, the woman texted me again and said, did you get my voicemail? It's really important.

[redacted]

Q. Do you remember her name?

A. That's Lauren Trager. She's the one that broke the story.

Q. That's KMOV News?

A. Yes. [redacted] called her and said, you know, I'm Witness 1's attorney. I had -- I had told her, my attorney will contact you.

So [redacted] called her and just said, what is this about an audio, because my client was unaware of being taped?

And she said, well, there are allegations on it about -- you know, there was a picture taken. You know [redacted] felt like she probably really had heard it, but again, she didn't know how good it was or what it entailed, so she just said, my client does not have a comment. Where did you get this audio from?

And she said at first she wasn't -- you know, she said, well, we can't really release that.

And she said, okay, but this is an audio with my client on it, so how did you get something like this?

And she said, from her ex-husband.

So this was all I knew at this point. I just hoped -- because at this point she just kept saying, somebody is going to release it, but not her.

And then that night, that same night she --

Q. It got released.

A. I -- three minutes before she called [redacted] and said, I'm going live with it in three minutes. Does your client have any comment?

To which, of course, [redacted] said, no, and called me.

And I said, call her back. Do whatever you can, please, please. And she tried calling her and said it went to voicemail, and then I saw it.

Q. Have you heard it?

A. Yeah. It's awful. I know exactly how I felt back then.

Q. And you begged them not to do it, right?
A. Yeah, like a million times.
Q. Million times?
A. I mean, I really -- especially because I was so -- I mean, I was so disgusted. I was so embarrassed. I was so shameful. Everything he told me about myself I believed it all.
So, no, it was awful, the whole thing, and especially when I was in the car that day, you know, I know exactly -- I mean, I really had not slept at all.
Q. Did you beg him not to release this stuff and what had been hanging over your head, threatening you from day one?
A. Yeah. So I went on a trip by myself in June during the middle of this for three nights in Arizona, and while I was there, that's when my family called me and said that he had sat them down to tell them.
And even just that was, like -- I don't know that I've ever whaled crying so hard. I just couldn't believe -- especially because of how --
Q. Even when he took it out, not only did he take it out and tell your whole family and friends about it, but he ended up going to the press and turned that over to that reporter about you?
A. Yeah.

Q. He -- he had this hanging over your head all this time?

A. Yes.

Q. Coercive to you? I mean, in your own words, you just felt that he would continue to harass you with that story for threats --

A. Yeah.

Q. -- of going public?

You were scared?

A. Yeah. And it just kept it in the forefront of my mind that, like, both of these two --

Q. Again --

A. -- you know --

Q. And, again, when you -- when you -- I know you told him about, what about the kids? He didn't care. You said he didn't care. I'm asking, did he?

A. He -- it would make him angry. If I ever brought up the kids, it would make him angry, because I ruined that.

Q. Yeah.

A. I ruined our family. And how dare you ever claim anything otherwise.

And the thing is, is that, like, with Eric it kept me more scared of him the more that my ex-husband -- you know what I mean? Because I felt like if I just never mentioned him --

At this point after he had won the governor seat or whatever, I ~~was~~ wasn't scared of the pictures anymore at that point.

Because my friend, [redacted], right away was like, Witness 1, do not be scared of this, because it's in his basement. And it's not like, you know -- that would just be the dumbest thing ever for him to do.

So during that time, no, I was still scared of that. I was still scared of just him in general doing whatever it took to not have things go public.

Q. I want to get back to just how -- how do you feel about -- about Eric, you know, even now? And he's out there now, and, again, just give me your honest assessment, honest opinion as to how you feel about him making statements now about no blackmail, no abuse, no slapping or anything else like that? How do you feel about that?

A. It would almost be better if he had just denied the whole thing, or just -- than that, because those were the only parts that were painful or hurtful or --

That's the only thing that made me feel like -- on top of all of it you're calling me a liar in particular, and the parts that were the most painful and not -- you know, if he was just to step down and not comment on any of it, I think I would feel neutral enough, you know, that, like, all right, I can move on, but it makes it that much more painful, because I really did experience those things.

Q. How did -- how do you feel now about when he -- his comments to you about let the world know, let everybody know that you were a whore? How do you feel about that? Is that still painful and hurtful to you?

A. Yeah.

Q. And how do you equate that now when you see him now still commenting?

A. I -- it's -- it's -- it's so confusing. I really feel like he's two people. It's exactly how I felt that day.

That was the most confusing, crazy thing that's ever happened in my whole entire life, hands down, because he was one person.

The person I thought I was going to come over and talk to is now calling me a whore. This person who I thought, like, you know, he's -- I am thinking oh, my gosh, maybe he has, like, feelings for me or something, and it just made me feel disgusting and degraded.

And then it just solidified each time I heard it from my husband is how I felt. It was fucking horrible, this whole period of time.

Q. Do you feel -- do you feel now that you've been -- been -- been betrayed by both your husband -- ex-husband and Greitens are still characterizing you as -- in your mind they both -- the words -- you used the word whore, demeaning, that they seem to you something like that -- that's -- how do you feel?

A. I just feel used.

Q. Used?

A. I feel used, big time, because I feel like -- I think my ex-husband thought that he was going to feel -- he was going to get the sympathy that he wanted obviously all this time and wanted to feel like the victim, and this was going to be the ultimate.

And then in Eric's case, I just -- I mean, at that time, in particular certain periods, certain points I just felt used, like, you just want to get off, you know.

Q. Uh-huh. But once he was done (inaudible)?

A. Yeah.

Q. Some morbid fantasy he had or --

A. Yeah. I mean, this was somebody who I had built up so high in my mind, so it was really, really confusing.

I mean, I knew that he had done all this amazing volunteer work. I knew all of these incredible things, so that -- it was just really, really confusing.

Q. Okay. All right. I think -- okay. Oh, yeah. Oh, yeah, and another thing too.

Back to when you said about you discussed and there's been testimony on it, I think, did he ever promise you anything, or did he ever pay you any money --

A. No.

Q. -- or gifts or anything like that, promise you anything?

A. Huh-uh. No.

Q. Just -- as far as -- did Eric or anyone else give you any money to start your own business?

A. No.

Q. No. But I'm serious, because we've (inaudible).

A. No.

Q. Really no -- no -- no -- and, again, like I said, you know, had to be (inaudible) in your answers and try to --

A. Yeah. No.

Q. -- get everything and make sure --

A. That -- that would be really easy. I will give you access to everything in my life. I mean, yeah.

Yeah, I did not receive a car. I literally have had zero contact with him or anybody in his staff or -- yeah, I have had zero contact since October 2015 or whatever.

Q. When was the last time you talked to your ex-husband?

I, Shelly L. Stewart, Certified Court Reporter, within and for the State of Missouri, do hereby certify that I was personally present at the proceedings had in the above-entitled cause at the time and place set forth in the caption sheet hereof; that I then and there took down in Stenotype the proceedings had and produced with computer-aided transcription and that the foregoing is a full, true and correct transcript of such Stenotype notes so made at such time and place.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand on this 14th day of April 2018.

SHELLY L. STEWART, CCR
CAPITAL CITY COURT REPORTING

TRANSCRIPTION OF TAPED RECORDING OF:

WITNESS NO. 3 AND WITNESS NO. 1

PREPARED FOR COUNSEL

PROTECTED AND CONFIDENTIAL

REPORTED BY: CARRIE A. CAMPBELL, RDR CRR CSR CCR

WITNESS NO. 3: This might be a long grocery run.

WITNESS NO. 1: So --

WITNESS NO. 3: I need -- I need every single bit of the truth. You owe me every single bit of the truth because this has been a torturous evening and day, and you owe me, and I am not -- I'm not going to ask questions because you're going to tell me everything.

WITNESS NO. 1: Okay. My first question for you is knowing this and this alone, yes, I lied to you. No, I didn't sleep with him. No, we're not having an affair, and I'm not talking to him. But, yes, I lied to you. Yes, I've had feelings and --

WITNESS NO. 3: I have (inaudible) --

WITNESS NO. 1: Right. But, no, I need to know this from you: Would -- knowing how you feel right now and how you have felt, would that make you want to work on our relationship knowing that I've lied to you?

WITNESS NO. 3: I can't tell you what I'm going to feel or any of that kind of stuff --

WITNESS NO. 1: But I want to --

WITNESS NO. 3: -- except that this is what I know: I know that I'm not stupid.

WITNESS NO. 1: I know you're not stupid.

WITNESS NO. 3: And stop -- and you need to know I'm not stupid and that I deserve 100 percent of the truth, and that means without having to ask, I know every single detail. Okay. No, stop. I need to know every single detail without having to ask, and that is the first step in feeling like you're finally being honest with me about every single thing. That is the first step to me building anything for us and the working on -- and the working on things and figuring out what's next, this way or that way or the other thing. Like it doesn't -- it doesn't -- it doesn't change anything except for the pain of knowing that you've been lying to me, knowing that I don't know all the story, but knowing that you didn't want to work on things allowed me to shut that out and say I know -- I know that I don't know the truth. And I have gotten past that and surrendered to that.

WITNESS NO. 1: So that's why I'm asking you would it be easier --

WITNESS NO. 3: Well -- no, listen, it would be easier to know nothing.

WITNESS NO. 1: Okay.

WITNESS NO. 3: If you wanted a divorce and it was completely over like you said. If you want a glimpse of hope at anything else, anything else, then I'm going to stop talking and you're not going to finish until I know every single detail. Don't make me ask a question.

Did you confess to [redacted]?

WITNESS NO. 1: No, that would be worse (inaudible) in my whole entire life. I'm never seeing [redacted] again. Ever. I've never felt more (inaudible), never felt worse in my life, ever.

WITNESS NO. 3: Maybe you needed to because he knows that you're lying about something.

WITNESS NO. 1: It was really, really awful. If you know somebody is lying about something, wouldn't you want to offer them a place to talk?

WITNESS NO. 3: I have offered you a safe place to talk.

WITNESS NO. 1: I know you have, and you're the only person I feel safe with, but I don't want to hurt you. If we're not going to be together -- I'm not having an affair, [redacted]. The man is married and he has a baby.

WITNESS NO. 3: Yeah, I'm aware of everything.

WITNESS NO. 1: I know. I'm sure you dug into everything you can dig into.

Exhibit 1

WITNESS NO. 3: No.

WITNESS NO. 1: No, you haven't? Look at me and don't lie to me. First of all, don't lie to me. Did you look at my phone to get [redacted]'s number, or did you look at my phone because you were curious?

WITNESS NO. 3: I looked at my -- I looked at your phone because I saw it on the thing.

WITNESS NO. 1: Okay. Thank you for telling me that.

WITNESS NO. 3: Now, I did need [redacted]'s number.

WITNESS NO. 1: No. No.

WITNESS NO. 3: That was a true story. That is --

WITNESS NO. 1: You're justifying a lie with a true story, you know what I mean.

WITNESS NO. 3: No. No. No. That's what you've done every single time.

WITNESS NO. 1: Yes, that's true.

WITNESS NO. 3: That's what you've done every single time.

WITNESS NO. 1: I will take 100 percent --

WITNESS NO. 3: Now, I have never lied to you and said, "I lied to you because," and given you a reason. And every single time you've --

WITNESS NO. 1: You just did that.

WITNESS NO. 3: No. No, I didn't. Every single time I have lied to you and confessed, I have said -- I have said, "I am so sorry," and I have never, never tried to defend it with a "but" or "this is a reason" or "this is why it made sense" or "it's your fault" or any of that. Every single time --

WITNESS NO. 1: But none of this is your fault. It's not --

WITNESS NO. 3: Stop. Every time I have lied to you and confessed, I have said, "There is no excuse. I am sorry." That's (inaudible) why don't tell me something and then tell me why because I've never faulted you for me wronging or lying to you -- lying to you.

So I knew something is up. I'm not a fucking idiot.

WITNESS NO. 1: I know.

WITNESS NO. 3: I deserve to know. I knew that I was being lied to. I know that you were lying to me and when you --

WITNESS NO. 1: I couldn't go anywhere --

WITNESS NO. 3: Stop. I understand. I understand. But I'm not the coward that when I lie, I make sense of it as I'm apologizing.

WITNESS NO. 1: I am a coward.

WITNESS NO. 3: Please begin and put it all on the table. It's the only chance we have. It's the only chance. No more half-truths. No more things to make it make sense. Just free yourself.

WITNESS NO. 1: I'm telling you (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: Free yourself. Free yourself.

WITNESS NO. 1: You have to promise me (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: It won't leave the car. That's up to you.

WITNESS NO. 1: No, it really won't.

WITNESS NO. 3: It won't leave the car. (Inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 1: So the truth is, yes, I've had horrible feelings for four years, [redacted] three years, whatever, constantly suppressing, and I do feel guilty about that. That's the first truth.

Whether it be the guy who did my boobs, I thought he was great; the guy in Vegas, he was great; clients, whatever, and I know that it's me. So, no, I have not acted on anything. I don't flirt with anybody. There's no acting, but my mind has been going crazy, and I know it's me. Because I -- I have everything in you except for something. I don't know. And whenever that shut off, that's what I've been dealing with. So I know that it's not these people, I know that, but in knowing that, I can't shut this off and my brain has been going insane.

So, yes, I met Eric a year ago and I instantly had a big crush on him. It would help it if would look at me.

I instantly had a big crush on him. No, I never flirted with him. Never confided in him except for I talked about [redacted] and he helped me with that and just talked about life and whatever. He is very motivating. That's his personality. He's very persuasive. He never flirted with me other than complimenting me a couple of times on, "Oh, I really like your hair like that," or whatever.

Meanwhile, I did develop a big crush, and I felt insanely guilty about it. I couldn't stop my brain. I don't know about you, but I can't control my brain, as much as I would like to. It's the most aspect of me in that way. Since I was a kid, I just can't stop it. Whatever I don't want it to think, it does and...

Anyways, he quit coming in, and then I didn't see him at all for five months. Like I wasn't lying about that. And then he came in, it was a Friday, and I was so nervous to even have him come in because I knew that I had those feelings, those unexplained feelings of I shouldn't have a crush on anybody; I'm married; this is so stupid. So then I had really bad anxiety.

He came in. Knowing that I felt better whenever he came in and I felt more calm and that made me feel better, but while I was shampooing his hair and telling him about my class -- at first I thought it was just me, but then I realized it wasn't. He was -- I was in the middle of talking and he was doing "this" to my leg. And at first I ignored it because I didn't know if that was just me, and then I realized he was doing that and I said, "Eric, you need" -- well, I said: "You need to stop."

And he looked at me and he said: "What?"

And then I said: "You know what you're doing. I know what you're doing. You need to stop."

And he didn't say anything. And then he came back and sat down in the chair and I said -- because there was silence. And I said: "Is that why you didn't come in for five months?"

And he said: "Yes." Or, no, he said:

"Maybe." Because I guess he was attracted to me.

And this happened to be after you and I had just had that week of whatever. It happened to be when I was really in escape mode. I guess I really wanted an escape.

So whenever he was getting ready to leave, he said: "[redacted], come here." I guess to like talk to me about whatever just happened or whatever, and I said: "No. Let's go to the front." And then he came over and by me and I said: "Eric, we're both married."

He said: "I know. I know."

[redacted], this can't leave the car.

WITNESS NO. 3: It won't.

WITNESS NO. 1: So then we walked to the front. I said "bye." That was it.

He came by later and dropped off his book, his new book, and just said "enjoy," and that was it. And then he sent me an e-mail and that is how he got my phone number. That's the truth. He sent me an e-mail and just said: "[redacted]" -- that he had my e-mail for exactly the reason why I told you he had my number, but it was actually my e-mail from like a year ago. He was doing some sort of book thing and asked for my e-mail. And then he just never e-mailed me, period.

So anyways, I forgot he had my e-mail. He sent me an e-mail, I think just to check to see if I was okay, but it said nothing. There was nothing in the e-mail.

But he asked me a question, whatever he asked me. I answered back and said, "When you book your next appointment, you need to make sure that you ask for me because they will tell you I'm booked until April whatever." And he said -- and he said: "That's great. What's the best number I can reach you at?"

I did not, I promise you, [redacted], I swear, I did not think that that meant to call me to roll this ball. So I e-mailed him back and said: "Call this line. They will -- if you can't get an appointment, they will take your number, and I will call you back. If you can't reach me there, this is my cell phone number."

What I didn't know -- and I said -- and I was trying to send a message through there. I said: [redacted]" -- it was [redacted] birthday party night. I said: "[redacted]'s birthday is tonight. My husband and my family will be over at my house." And that was just trying to send a message of like, look, I get it now, we know we both have this weird attraction, but I know 100 percent his attraction is he has a wife with a baby. He's exactly in the boat you were in, similar boat, I'm sure. I'm sure his wife is -- whatever.

So he actually called me. I didn't know that. Didn't talk to him, nothing, throughout the whole week, nothing. The only reason why I know that he had called me was because whenever he called me Saturday night, I noticed that the number was a DC number and got scared knowing that you would look and realize that that same number had called me that night.

So, anyways, I went throughout the whole week and nothing. And I just kept trying to process my thoughts, and I felt like I was going crazy and that's when I couldn't sleep because I knew everything I was feeling was wrong. I don't know why I can't control it. It's fucking horrible.

So on Saturday, I did the wrong thing. It was me who e-mailed him and said: "My friend is having troubles with her thoughts. Can you please call me about that" or something. So that's the reason why he called me that night. And we talked about my friend, and essentially I was just looking for "you're so motivating on everything, please help me just turn off my thoughts because this is horrible.

It's driving me insane."

And he said: "I might have a solution, but I will have to get back to you on it. And I'm sorry that you feel that way, I know how that feels," and just roundabout. There wasn't any sort of deep talking because we're talking about my friend.

WITNESS NO. 3: This is the 14th?

WITNESS NO. 1: So then he said: "I think -- I have a solution. I can see you next weekend." So that was this past weekend.

WITNESS NO. 3: So nothing happened on the 14th?

WITNESS NO. 1: No, nothing happened on the 14th.

WITNESS NO. 3: But there were two phone calls.

WITNESS NO. 1: The second phone call was him asking if I would come outside to meet him.

WITNESS NO. 3: And?

WITNESS NO. 1: I came outside to meet him.

WITNESS NO. 3: You told me (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 1: I didn't -- but I didn't touch him. Nothing. I just -- that was him saying: "I think I have a solution. I know that you're in a bad spot. I'm really sorry." Whatever. I know this whole thing is wrong, [redacted] so (inaudible) I don't know what to do.

And then he said: "Well, I want you to come over next weekend."

And I said: "I can't. I can't do that."

And he said: "I want you to come over."

So then I said: "No, I can't."

And then he said: "Well, at least call me if you can't."

And on Friday I called him from work and said: "I'm going to home. It's [redacted]'s birthday. I cannot come over."

And he said: "Well, I understand."

And I said: "I would like to discuss or to try to get all of these thoughts away from me. Will you just meet me for coffee for something so that way we can just talk."

And he said: "No, I can't -- I can't be seen with you. This is wrong."

And I said: "I know."

So he said: "Just -- please just come to my house."

WITNESS NO. 3: Keep going.

WITNESS NO. 1: So that's the reason why I was so torn talking to [redacted] birthday night because

I know I had so many wrong thoughts in my mind that I just couldn't figure out.

WITNESS NO. 3: What did you do?

WITNESS NO. 1: I don't think you really want to know. It's horrible.

WITNESS NO. 3: Just tell me.

WITNESS NO. 1: I don't think you want to know.

WITNESS NO. 3: Tell me the details and the truth.

WITNESS NO. 1: (Inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: (Inaudible) tell me the truth. The truth. Only the truth.

WITNESS NO. 1: So on Saturday morning before my first client, I did go to his house.

WITNESS NO. 3: For the first time?

WITNESS NO. 1: For the first time. Ever. Like I said, nothing, period, had ever happened or taken place until this snowball. This fucking tornado just happened. I know I brought it on.

I showed up and I said: "I'm only here to talk."

And he said: "I know."

I said: "I just want to tell you I feel like you're always hope because I don't know your relationship." He doesn't talk about his relationship, at all. He didn't talk about himself at all, so I don't even know.

But I said: "I just had a feeling that you wouldn't be attracted to me if you didn't have a wife with a baby. I'm just trying to process why I'm feeling this way, and I hate it. I really hate it."

And then he -- basically had been fantasizing about me tried to live out that fantasy. He just coaxed me, kept talking to me gently and touching me, whatever he could do to still have that fantasy play out. And I did it.

WITNESS NO. 3: Did what?

WITNESS NO. 1: We're getting divorced, [redacted].

WITNESS NO. 3: It's up to you right now. Tell me the truth. Set yourself free, please, and tell me the truth.

WITNESS NO. 1: I was so confused with emotion. (Inaudible) I can't even believe it because it's not really in my character. I don't even fucking know. I'm so confused.

WITNESS NO. 3: Tell me the details, please.

WITNESS NO. 1: He said: "I'll make you feel better. I'll make you feel good. Come downstairs. I want to show you how to do a proper pullup." And I knew that he was being sexual, and I still let him. And he used some sort of tape, I don't know what it was, and taped my hands to these rings and then put a blindfold on me.

WITNESS NO. 3: Keep going.

WITNESS NO. 1: And said: "If you're going to do proper pullups, you need to know how to drink," and I guess put water in his mouth and tried to pour it in mine and it scared me. And I spit because I didn't want to kiss him. I mean, I'm so -- (inaudible) I thought -- I thought (inaudible).

He just kept touching me over my clothes and just kept touching me. And then undid my clothes. I just didn't say anything at all. I didn't -- I was just completely numb. I didn't even know. I feel like I don't even know. I was just numb. I just stood there and didn't fucking know. I was so -- he was sort of messing with me with his hands.

WITNESS NO. 3: Inside?

WITNESS NO. 1: Inside, yes.

WITNESS NO. 3: And?

WITNESS NO. 1: I mean, that was (inaudible) and he stepped back, and I saw a flash through the blindfold, and he said: "You're never going to mention my name, otherwise there will be pictures of me (sic) everywhere."

WITNESS NO. 3: Keep going.

WITNESS NO. 1: He said: "You're not going to mention my name, are you?" I didn't say anything. I didn't realize what -- I don't know what the fuck I'm doing. And then he asked me again. And I just said: "No."

WITNESS NO. 3: Did he (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 1: Well, my pants were down.

WITNESS NO. 3: Keep going, please.

WITNESS NO. 1: And then he tried kissing my stomach and tried to kiss me down there but didn't quite get there because I flipped out and I said: "You need to stop. I don't want this. I don't want this. I don't want this."

And he instantly stood up and freaked out and took off the blindfold and undid my hands and said: "I'm really sorry. Oh, my God, [redacted] I'm so sorry. I thought -- I want to be -- I want to make you feel better."

And then I was like: "This doesn't make me feel good at all. I'm so pissed off. I don't know anything about you. I'm so lost. I'm so vulnerable right now. I'm in a really fucked up place. It doesn't feel right. I told you I was only here to talk."

WITNESS NO. 3: What else?

WITNESS NO. 1: And then I left.

WITNESS NO. 3: Is that every detail? Don't lie.

WITNESS NO. 1: No, it's not every detail. I left, went to work in a really fucked up state of mind. I felt fucking horrible. (Inaudible) I left my fucking keys at his place and so I had to go back and get the fucking keys after work.

WITNESS NO. 3: And?

WITNESS NO. 1: And I showed up, said: "I'm so sorry for what happened earlier."

"I'm just obsessed over you, and I fantasize about you; it's wrong and in real life, but I need to not do that. I know. I love my wife, and I'm really sorry. And we should not ever talk again, and I hope that you get everything figured out."

WITNESS NO. 3: And?

WITNESS NO. 1: I said: "Well, I'm leaving."

He said: "Just stay for a little while longer, please."

And I said: "No, I really have to go."

"Please just stay."

And then he held me for a long time and then made me feel better, just kept kind of touching me and...

WITNESS NO. 3: And?

WITNESS NO. 1: I just -- it was like, I don't know, 45 minutes of me being there, me leaving, and then him going: "You know, are you sure you really want to go? I'm just never going to see you after this and" --

WITNESS NO. 3: And?

WITNESS NO. 1: And that was it. It was just --

WITNESS NO. 3: You never touched him?

WITNESS NO. 1: No. He kept touching me.

WITNESS NO. 3: He touched you (inaudible)?

WITNESS NO. 1: I told you he touched me seven times. He didn't get me undressed, but he just kept kind of messing with me.

WITNESS NO. 3: (Inaudible). It's really fucked up. Did he turn you on?

WITNESS NO. 1: Yeah, and then didn't, did both. I felt every emotion. That's the reason why I'm so tormented.

WITNESS NO. 3: So the only contact

(inaudible)?

WITNESS NO. 1: And touching me, touching me all over, touching my boobs or my -- I let him. I'm 100 percent wrong.

WITNESS NO. 3: How about kissing?

WITNESS NO. 1: Not really. I don't know. I don't think I really ever kissed him. He kept trying to kiss me.

WITNESS NO. 3: Did you (inaudible)?

WITNESS NO. 1: No, I was turned on in the beginning because I made this really long and maybe his putting into all these feelings and just so much built-up feelings. I mean, it's not like we had talked about shit. We had not not talked about shit.

WITNESS NO. 3: This is only one day, on Saturday?

WITNESS NO. 1: Yeah.

WITNESS NO. 3: Do I know every detail about this?

WITNESS NO. 1: Yes.

WITNESS NO. 3: For the rest of my life?

WITNESS NO. 1: Yes. (Inaudible) Oh, yes.

WITNESS NO. 3: No other people that you know?

WITNESS NO. 1: No other people.

WITNESS NO. 3: Will you ever see (inaudible)?

WITNESS NO. 1: I don't know. I can't say no because he may come in and get his hair cut. I don't know. I don't want to not ever see him again.

WITNESS NO. 3: Why not?

WITNESS NO. 1: Because.

WITNESS NO. 3: Because you love him?

WITNESS NO. 1: No, I don't love him. It takes a lot more to love somebody. I have so many mixed emotions about something (inaudible) I also care for --

WITNESS NO. 3: You've been half-raped and blackmailed.

WITNESS NO. 1: Yes.

WITNESS NO. 3: And you're not going to tell anybody about that? Why? Because (inaudible)?

WITNESS NO. 1: When I came back, I said to him: "I'm very, very, very pissed off at you. I'm grossed out. I'm so pissed off."

He said: "I know."

"You took a picture."

He said: "[redacted], it's just because I fantasized about you, I fantasized about all these things, and you could ruin my life. And -- but I erased it." And my mouth fucking (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: I'm sure you're not the first. I need to know that there's not one ounce of a detail that you're lying to me?

WITNESS NO. 1: No.

WITNESS NO. 3: You never had sex?

WITNESS NO. 1: No.

WITNESS NO. 3: Are you ever going to see him again?

WITNESS NO. 1: There's a chance, yes.

WITNESS NO. 3: Did you ever touch him?

WITNESS NO. 1: No. (Inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: I don't want to you to lie (inaudible). Where are you now?

WITNESS NO. 1: I don't know if we can make it.

WITNESS NO. 3: Where are you --

WITNESS NO. 1: You're a great dad.

WITNESS NO. 3: Are you asking for forgiveness, or are you saying this is what happened?

WITNESS NO. 1: Oh, I definitely want forgiveness.

WITNESS NO. 3: Just to make it clear to you that the grass is not greener on the other drive.

WITNESS NO. 1: I wanted to tell you. I've been fucked up. Like, I don't know. I've been depressing (sic) so many thoughts I thought that -- there's this weird torment of -- I never felt that before.

WITNESS NO. 3: If there is a chance in hell for us or (inaudible)? To able to say to go somewhere else (inaudible) but of course (inaudible) but if there is a chance in hell for us, and I mean even way down the road, you need to show some sort of real remorse and adult ability to put yourself in better situations.

WITNESS NO. 1: (Inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: I don't know about that.

WITNESS NO. 1: You obsessed over the fucking (inaudible) things.

WITNESS NO. 3: Just because I'm not an idiot and I knew someone and I knew something was going on. I know the person from the first time you talked about him. I need you to stop talking about him and then hit me or he's going to look at us, and then two cells, and then lied to about this and then I lied to -- asked you to tell me the truth and not fucking (inaudible) and things add up and I let it go and I did not (inaudible). Have you told me the entire truth?

WITNESS NO. 1: Would you rather I not tell you?

WITNESS NO. 3: For the sake of our relationship and any sort of future, I absolutely need to know every fucking truth. That's it. Obsessing and all that, that's on me. But the fucking truth is on you.

WITNESS NO. 1: I can't ever go back to [redacted]h.

WITNESS NO. 3: You need it.

WITNESS NO. 1: No. No (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: You (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 1: Are you kidding me?

WITNESS NO. 3: You don't have the option of telling (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 1: (Inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: Do you want a divorce?

WITNESS NO. 1: I don't know what I want.

WITNESS NO. 3: Have you spoken to him since?

WITNESS NO. 1: No.

WITNESS NO. 3: There are no other truths --

WITNESS NO. 1: No.

WITNESS NO. 3: E-mails? Phone calls? Texts?

WITNESS NO. 1: No, nothing. Zero percent.

WITNESS NO. 3: Is there anyone else (inaudible)?

WITNESS NO. 1: No. No. Nothing. I just felt surprised at all. I just think -- do you have those thoughts?

WITNESS NO. 3: I've had those thoughts in the past, yeah, I told you that.

WITNESS NO. 1: No, you haven't.

WITNESS NO. 3: Yes, I have, but nothing like that. This is just a line that I know, and I have not fucked with that line. The closest thing that ever happened to me was I was blacked out and someone kissed me and I stopped it. And, yes, I was a coward for not telling you, and then I told you. And what I told you was --

WITNESS NO. 1: You were like --

WITNESS NO. 3: -- not your fault, not your fault. Not me being confused or any of that because of you, I was confused and I fucked up, and that was the closest.

WITNESS NO. 1: But I'm telling you, [redacted], I don't blame you for Vegas. I don't blame you for this, but I do think that there's something wrong with the way that I --

WITNESS NO. 3: You need to have any (inaudible) from here?

WITNESS NO. 1: (Inaudible) I'm so ashamed of myself. I'm so ashamed. I feel like the only way to be really faithful to you is to love you with my whole heart because this is so unshaking. I mean, it is shaking. I don't want to be like this. I want to be strong and --

WITNESS NO. 3: You didn't kiss him once (inaudible) when you came over?

WITNESS NO. 1: No, I didn't.

WITNESS NO. 3: And you've never been to his home other than those two times that one day?

WITNESS NO. 1: No. No, I swear on that baby.

WITNESS NO. 3: Never walked with him around the neighborhood?

WITNESS NO. 1: No. Never. [redacted], please, I just told you the hardest thing ever. I swear, no.

WITNESS NO. 3: I know everything?

WITNESS NO. 1: You know everything.

WITNESS NO. 3: And I've heard that several times this week, and I really want (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 1: I mean, do you still love me now? Because this is a pretty fucked up thing.

WITNESS NO. 3: I love you. I hate you right now. I hate you for what you've done to yourself. (Inaudible). Look at me. I love you. Right now I just don't (inaudible) knowing that you lied to me this whole time. I still try. [redacted], you lied to me.

WITNESS NO. 1: I'm so sorry. Like, I even don't know, [redacted]. I was just wanting so bad to get rid of all of my thoughts. I thought that would do it.

WITNESS NO. 3: A woman who was raped and blackmailed 50 Shades of Grey style. How fucking poetic.

And you never came? How long does it (inaudible)?

WITNESS NO. 1: What do you mean? Like 30 minutes in the morning and then I don't know how long -- that's how long I was there. 45 minutes (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: The whole time when you went over to get your keys, was still touching you and fingering you and all this shit?

WITNESS NO. 1: Just coaxing and, you know --

WITNESS NO. 3: If you want to --

WITNESS NO. 1: It was just tormenting.
WITNESS NO. 3: To avoid to let that happen.
WITNESS NO. 1: Yeah.
WITNESS NO. 3: How did you feel (inaudible)? Was he masturbating?
WITNESS NO. 1: He touched himself.
WITNESS NO. 3: You never put your hand on him?
WITNESS NO. 1: No. It was him trying to make me feel good and, I don't know, whatever, (inaudible).
WITNESS NO. 3: Do you think that you could ever heal and be able to have sex with me again?
WITNESS NO. 1: I don't know. I thought about you. I know you would never (inaudible) -- you wouldn't cheat on me like that.
WITNESS NO. 3: I'm going to be honest with you and say I knew you lied and I knew something horrible had happened. But when you said it was over, I tried to let go and I took a step in my life to not (inaudible) and to not stress, to let you have whatever it was that you had to lie about. I had hoped that (inaudible) and it wouldn't be a relationship that showed me a lot, but I knew that I didn't want to deal with it because it will only hurt me because I was letting you go.

WITNESS NO. 1: I know.
WITNESS NO. 3: So last night was the worst night ever and the night before hearing you question.
WITNESS NO. 1: I'm sorry.
WITNESS NO. 3: And when you started questioning, I didn't want to hear it because I had already started my healing. And you cannot suck me back into this loveless place where I loved so much and I'm not loved or at least loved for. And I'm not saying that you haven't done a lot and work at us, but after all that work and all that I've been to you recently to have this happen on the day after [redacted] birthday, fucked up.
WITNESS NO. 1: I know.
WITNESS NO. 3: It sucks me back into this tornado, but I need to know is this a real tornado because then I have a decision, do I get back into the storm and ride it out, or do I just let the storm happen and help you resettle? That is a question for you to fucking answer. Sorry for the pressure, but this is on you. I am not going to emotionally put myself back into this spot. Not going to (inaudible) just a pretty fucking (inaudible) all week because I was letting go, changing and opening a new chapter for me so I'm not obsessing and loving you and (inaudible) loving and sink into myself.

WITNESS NO. 1: Without being with me, it's so hard. I can't.
WITNESS NO. 3: (Inaudible).
WITNESS NO. 1: I wanted to because I just wanted to stop feeling the way that I feel. I hate it. I feel so guilty a lot of times.
WITNESS NO. 3: The grass is always greener.
WITNESS NO. 1: But it's not that. I don't have those thoughts. It's not the thoughts of "this would be better; this would be better." It's not that. It's more just like --
WITNESS NO. 3: Did he ask for you to have sex with him?
WITNESS NO. 1: No.
WITNESS NO. 3: Did ask him?
WITNESS NO. 1: No.
WITNESS NO. 3: Did you guide him?
WITNESS NO. 1: No.
WITNESS NO. 3: Did you tell him what to do?
WITNESS NO. 1: No. I don't --
WITNESS NO. 3: Did you ever want to have sex when you saw his face?
WITNESS NO. 1: No. No. The only time I was really turned on was in the very beginning and once he (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: You're just going to let this man get away with this?
WITNESS NO. 1: I don't know how to describe it.
WITNESS NO. 3: He took such advantage of you. You need to tell.
WITNESS NO. 1: No. I don't want you to --
WITNESS NO. 3: If there's -- a time to learn from this fucking lesson with [redacted], then you need to tell. Risk it. Risk the embarrassment.
WITNESS NO. 1: It's not like that, though.
WITNESS NO. 3: It's not like what? This motherfucker is running for senator.
WITNESS NO. 1: What else can help us?
WITNESS NO. 3: I know that he comes off as this mother fucking manly hero and it's all about resilience and honor and all that.
WITNESS NO. 1: I knew you would obsess. You're obsessed.
WITNESS NO. 3: No. No. No. This was when -- before that I knew you were lying to me.
WITNESS NO. 1: Bullshit. Don't lie to me.
WITNESS NO. 3: I promise.

WITNESS NO. 1: You haven't looked today or yesterday?

WITNESS NO. 3: Fuck no. [redacted], on [redacted] birthday, you told me it was over, and I let it all go. I told you yesterday that devastating cry was about the kids because I knew that there was nothing I could do to control it. So not one fucking ounce of energy from me has been spent on learning about you or catching you or anything. I know -- I knew and I know that you lied to me, but I knew that nothing would come of it if I dug except for pain for me. I didn't want to know. Every single person told me, "none of this adds up. Humans are mathematical; deducing she's cheating on you," and I said --

WITNESS NO. 1: But I'm not --

WITNESS NO. 3: Stop. And I said, "I don't even care anymore. I don't want to know because it only hurts me." That's the fucking (inaudible). That's the truth. Anything I knew from before was when I was panicking a week before you did this knowing you had lied to me about this man. And I'll have you know, I can destroy his career in a half an hour.

WITNESS NO. 1: If you do that, then I would hate you.

WITNESS NO. 3: He took a picture of my wife naked as blackmail.

WITNESS NO. 1: I would hate you.

WITNESS NO. 3: He took a picture of my wife naked as blackmail. There is no worse person. So you tell him -- actually, you tell him nothing. I don't want you in contact with this person ever again. If -- if you come to the conclusion that you want to try (inaudible) but you cannot (inaudible) would have. Take a cue from our 16-year-old.

WITNESS NO. 1: There's a big difference, [redacted]. I --

WITNESS NO. 3: This man is a part of ruining our family and he's got away with it.

WITNESS NO. 1: It's my fault, though. It really is, like --

WITNESS NO. 3: Yeah, some of it is, but you didn't take his pants off, you didn't ask him to go to your house, you didn't --

WITNESS NO. 1: He's at fault, I know he is.

WITNESS NO. 3: He's the one running for senator, not you. Or governor, not you. You cannot let this man charade his life as this great, upstanding, everything, look at me, I've got it all together, and it's always bullshit.

WITNESS NO. 1: Well, fine, then he's like Bill Clinton or whatever, but it doesn't mean he can't be a great governor. It doesn't mean he's not brilliant or when I -- when I go back there and (inaudible) a lot better, that's the hard things, persuasive and --

WITNESS NO. 3: Are you in love with this guy?

WITNESS NO. 1: No, I'm in love with the idea of -- of him, you know; not him.

WITNESS NO. 3: You don't think you're falling in love with this guy?

WITNESS NO. 1: No. I think that that takes an open heart, you know, like, both parties. I've never loved the way I love you. All of your worries are my worries except --

WITNESS NO. 3: You know (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 1: I feel like in doing this I'm afraid that there's no way we could be together with you (inaudible) and me being okay because the thing that I have hated more than anything in our relationship is the researching everything, I hate it. I hate it more than I hate anything and --

WITNESS NO. 3: And every time I've been right.

WITNESS NO. 1: Not every time, [redacted]. Fuck that. You look into shit all the time. No, not every time, [redacted]. Two times in fucking 12 years. One time really is the only time I've ever really cheated.

WITNESS NO. 3: I was right that you would lie to me. I was right that you would cheat on me.

WITNESS NO. 1: You haven't lied to me? You haven't looked through shit? You haven't -- [redacted], don't you dare try to pretend like you're this perfect man.

WITNESS NO. 3: I'm not.

WITNESS NO. 1: I don't search through your shit, so I don't know. For all I know you've had many conversations with women online. You've had many conversations with women through phone.

Have you?

WITNESS NO. 3: Yes, tons. No.

WITNESS NO. 1: Have you?

WITNESS NO. 3: No. I don't fucking do anything. I support you in everything. I come home, I'm with the kids.

WITNESS NO. 1: In all this time you haven't?

WITNESS NO. 3: No. [redacted], you can fucking -- all my minutes are accounted for.

. WITNESS NO. 1: But you have all my minutes accounted for.

WITNESS NO. 3: No, I don't. Going to work, I don't know when you don't have clients. I don't get to go to work and have spaces. Spaces --

WITNESS NO. 1: Bullshit, [redacted]. You have all kinds of time. I don't know when you do things. I would never in a million years look into that.

WITNESS NO. 3: Okay.

WITNESS NO. 1: I can't be with you if you're going to search into everything. It happened with the thought in my mind of --

WITNESS NO. 3: Right, justifying your (inaudible) behavior.

WITNESS NO. 1: No, no, it's not at all.

WITNESS NO. 3: Well, listen, some people are just different, and if I'm a little suspicious on that kind of stuff, maybe that's somewhat on you and your generosity or your commitment --

WITNESS NO. 1: (Inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: Okay. Okay. Other people are, too. So maybe that's a part of your commitment or generosity to go out of your fucking buffer zone and help somebody and say, "No, babe, I love you. Like, I promise we're" -- you know, blah-blah. But instead you get angry and you do understand what that looks like, and you do understand what it looks like when I end up being right.

WITNESS NO. 1: [redacted], all of those other times, all of those other times, those millions of times that you were wrong, that's why I'm angry.

WITNESS NO. 3: This has been a different weekend and week for me, and the last thing I want to do is be sucked back into your tornado that you were or that I was, okay. And this last week has been fucking liberating and beautiful for me.

WITNESS NO. 1: I'm sorry for everything.

WITNESS NO. 3: Yeah, me, too. [redacted] there's something I need to know. I need to know you're not going to hurt yourself. I don't want make this to become overwhelming and you do something rash.

WITNESS NO. 1: Seriously?

WITNESS NO. 3: Seriously.

WITNESS NO. 1: I did. I mean, to me doing that, it was weird. It was like I wanted that. I wanted to hurt myself.

WITNESS NO. 3: Could you have sex with me after this? This was last weekend.

WITNESS NO. 1: No. Just --

WITNESS NO. 3: And you just talked to him for a moment on the 20th when you were supposed to be out with your friends?

WITNESS NO. 1: I was out with my friends. They thought I was talking to you. I lied to them.

WITNESS NO. 3: Oh, the circles we weave.

WITNESS NO. 1: [redacted], I don't know who I am.

WITNESS NO. 3: That's nice.

WITNESS NO. 1: I'm so scared.

WITNESS NO. 3: What do you want from me?

WITNESS NO. 1: You (inaudible) so strong.

WITNESS NO. 3: Don't tell me that you're never going to see [redacted] again.

WITNESS NO. 1: Well, that was the worst.

WITNESS NO. 3: No, because I finally (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 1: No. Fuck no. I've had such a -- are you fucking kidding me?

WITNESS NO. 3: What did he say? Because obviously he picked up on something that I didn't.

WITNESS NO. 1: It was horrible.

WITNESS NO. 3: What did he say? What did he say that was not the truth?

WITNESS NO. 1: It was how he acted to me, [redacted]. It was how he acted. So horrible.

WITNESS NO. 3: And you (inaudible) I'm back.

WITNESS NO. 1: No, [redacted], I'm telling you, it was horrible. When you left the room he said: "Something's changed in you this last three to four months, so tell me what the fuck is going on."

WITNESS NO. 3: And what did you say?

WITNESS NO. 1: I said: "Three or four months?"

And he said: "Yeah. You're obviously cheating on him."

WITNESS NO. 3: He was right.

WITNESS NO. 1: How wish that I -- (inaudible) see, to be able to tell him I have never felt so scared in my life. It was so horrible.

WITNESS NO. 3: You've been calm the whole time and you haven't told him the truth so --

WITNESS NO. 1: No, bullshit, [redacted]. Whenever he said --

WITNESS NO. 3: What did you say in response? Did you say no? Did you lie to him?

WITNESS NO. 1: Yeah, I just said no. I couldn't say anything, [redacted]. I just sat there. It was so uncomfortable. And he said: "Well, my wife cheated on me, and I know what it looks like, [redacted]. Don't fuck around with me. I've been doing this for 35 years, you know, and you know what, you're giving up. No wonder why you're sad, [redacted], you're giving up on your family. You are stepping out on your family."

WITNESS NO. 3: You don't feel like that was true?

WITNESS NO. 1: You don't fucking talk to somebody like that, though, when you're a counselor. You really think that that's the best way to be a counselor?

WITNESS NO. 3: I'm not a counselor. Maybe it is. I don't know. I do know that I trust him beyond what I understand.

WITNESS NO. 1: I don't. It was horrible.

WITNESS NO. 3: Well, that's an issue. (Inaudible) knows the truth.

WITNESS NO. 1: I can't do it, [redacted].

WITNESS NO. 3: I would like to you think about that.

Who else knows?

WITNESS NO. 1: [redacted] and [redacted] are the only two people I told.

WITNESS NO. 3: You told them the details?

WITNESS NO. 1: Yeah.

WITNESS NO. 3: And what did they say?

WITNESS NO. 1: Well, they didn't say anything. Obviously it's out of character for me to do anything and that they didn't know what they would do if they were me and...

WITNESS NO. 3: They don't know what they would do, as in tell or (inaudible)?

WITNESS NO. 1: Because I said it's killing me. I wanted to tell you so bad that first night, that's why I made [redacted] sleep with me. It was just a year ago and I couldn't process the whole -- it's so bizarre. I don't know. I had so many mind games that day. Like this scared, like, dislike, hate, pissed off, zero -- you know, I mean, just every emotion I felt so I just wanted to do something. I felt horrible. But --

WITNESS NO. 3: You got it out of your system?

WITNESS NO. 1: I don't know. That's my hope.

WITNESS NO. 3: But you don't know?

WITNESS NO. 1: The only reason why I say I don't know is because I'm so jumbled without sleeping, and I know that the second that I'm around you and the kids, I want -- I want -- I want to do whatever I can to make us work. I can't envision a life without you at all, and I can't envision a life with you with somebody else. I love the idea of us so much, I love it, but I also don't want to continue to fight all those feelings. And I know the second that you feel depressed, it sparks that in me, and it's not your fault, but it does do that. And if that's something that I can work on with a separate counselor, I would absolutely do that. I want to do that anyways. But there's no way in hell I'm seeing [redacted]. I never felt more sick to my stomach.

WITNESS NO. 3: I don't like the fact that you're in the position that in you're right now and you're making rules, saying nevers. I don't like that. And that's one of the things I don't like about this whole situation is that you make these decisions, you may think they're so solid and you stick with them because you're fucking stubborn like that. You're a rule maker.

WITNESS NO. 1: I am?

WITNESS NO. 3: I'm learning to be very, very flexible. [redacted], I've done all these things, so you can dig the things that you say or things that you've done and thinking you know it all and defining everything.

WITNESS NO. 1: I don't. We should probably let -- [redacted] go into the grocery store. Park up closer. It's 5:56.

WITNESS NO. 3: (Inaudible) in your entire life?

WITNESS NO. 1: My entire life, yes.

WITNESS NO. 3: Is his number still under [redacted] [redacted] folder?

WITNESS NO. 1: Yes, I haven't touched it.

WITNESS NO. 3: I don't know what to say right now except there will be zero contact if there's a chance. I don't even know what you're asking for. Are you asking for a chance? Because quit fucking with me.

WITNESS NO. 1: I know. I know. I know. I know. I know.

WITNESS NO. 3: This is worse than the cheating. This is going to take some processing for me in a new way. I do love you. Every goal and aspiration that I had with you is still the same. I don't know what that path looks like anymore than I did yesterday, although now I see half of it. All right. I see it half as clearly.

WITNESS NO. 1: Do you think you would be able to not worry every single time my phone rings --

WITNESS NO. 3: Now -- now you know what a slippery slope is and can do.

WITNESS NO. 1: Yeah. I know what a tornado is, actually.

WITNESS NO. 3: I want to say and things if I feel like I've thought it through and it's necessary for me to say something like, you know, you'll never speak or see this person again, even if it's in the salon briefly, but I can't say that right now because I need to process this. But you need to quit fucking with me, and you need to tell me what it is that you want or what it is that you're willing to try because you are at ground zero with trust right now. And that's everything to me because I have finally trusted myself again.

I feel bad for you, and I want to help you, but I really need my distance for a minute in many ways because you can't help me.

WITNESS NO. 1: Okay.

WITNESS NO. 3: The ball is in your court as to what you want to do, what you want to ask me to do. You feel free. You need to feel open. You need to feel like I'm trustworthy. So if you're having a thought, you need to tell me; you need to ask me. If it's something I can do for you, I'll think about it, and I'll do it. If it's something I can't, I'll think about it, and I'll let me know why or when.

Right now I'm not going to bounce this ball. You're -- it's in your hands because you're fucking me up and taking me into your fucked up world, and I'm better off without that because I was doing well. I know I'm a stronger man than even I know that I am, and I know I'm a stronger man than you've ever thought I was.

So we'll see. What it is, we'll see, I don't know, because I still don't know what you're asking. So when you have a question, you let me know. I'm going to walk it off. Get groceries.

WITNESS NO. 1: [redacted] (inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: This is exactly the time for to you do this. I'm sorry, but you got to deal with however it is I have to deal with this right now. Let me process.

WITNESS NO. 1: (Inaudible).

WITNESS NO. 3: Go home and get your purse and come back. I'll be home with the kids. I'm sorry. Look at me. I love you. (Inaudible) fucking hate you. Our love is more stronger than (inaudible), but there's your honesty and there's mine. You (inaudible) -- you really do. Our love is so much stronger than that. (Inaudible).

SalesForce - Need data extracted

Mike,

I just talked with Chris, and we both have a lot on our plates right now. I don't want to hold up the call list, so I'd suggest the following:

1) You should log into our salesfroce account and search for the names. The search button is at the top. Just type in the name, and then a list of contacts will pop up. Find the one you're looking for. Once you click on the contact name scroll down and the contact info is on the right side.

Go to: salesforce.com
User: eric@greitensgroup.com
Password: [redacted]

2) Some of these will not be in salesforce. If not, I would suggest checking The Mission Continues list. Attached here.

3) Once you have exhausted 1 and 2, send back to me. And I'll hunt for the missing numbers or let you know that EG will have in his cell phone.

Sounds good?

Thanks!
Krystal

All,

I will be building the call lists from this initial list but first I need the contact information that Eric already has for these people (and I assume that is all in SalesForce?). Once I get the contact information I can input all my notes on these people and start prioritizing.

Any thoughts on how best to do this?

Thanks!
Mike

See attached. The prospecting tab is what you want to look at. This is a list built from roughly 5 lists (TMC donor list, the one random list, the Mason Fink List, Top 200 traditional R donor, and Top 15 R Super Donor list). I hope it is at a point where it is streamlined and we can start working solely off of this list. What I need asap is Eric's help to revamp this list (with new ask amounts keeping in mind our new fundraising goal and prioritizing the list), and then I can start turning out call lists.

It is more complicated than running a regular fundraising program because the majority of our plan is based on engaging a whole new group of non-traditional R donors that I will only have limited background research on, hence why I need Eric's guidance one more time on these donors and then we can get rocking.

Thanks,
Mike

Here is the list I gave to Eric. To my knowledge he did not make any calls from this list.

There are a lot of updates I have made since Weds which I have in my master spreadsheet, however, so let me know if you are making additions or edits to this list.

GFM Call List - February 5, 2015

Michael Hafner [redacted] Thu, Feb 5, 2015 at 1:11 PM
To: Eric Greitens <eric@greitensgroup.com>, Danny Laub [redacted]

Please find a call list attached. Moving forward ideally these lists will be updated daily and sent to you nightly (especially when you are traveling), but there are many days when you may not be able to make all the calls listed.

In order to mange this process most efficiently, I will need to know after you have connected with a donor or received a commitment so I can appropriately follow up with them. The best way to notify me of updates is via e-mail, text or phone conversation (eg, immediately if immediate action is required, or nightly via a brief e-mailed summary of the calls made that day).

This will be a work in progress for a while, so for the time being, please do not call anyone you are uncomfortable with or if feel you lack any information that is needed on a specific donor. Also, we have not been able to discuss updates on the ask amounts (since we changed the timing of exploratory vs. first 6-8 weeks) so some of these asks are most likely lower than what we can get. (But if in doubt, always aim high!) Of course, feel free to ask me if you have any questions on anyone.

Thanks,
Mike

Michael Hafner [redacted]> Tue, Feb 17, 2015 at 7:53 AM
To: Eric Greitens <eric@greitensgroup.com>, Krystal Taylor <ktaylor@greitensgroup.com>

Please see attached call list. I have made some minor adjustments to the format and have listed the monthly objective at the top of page 1. Moving forward I will send a revised list nightly for the following day (given that you are able to complete the day's calls and I receive feedback). My goal is to make this process as efficient as possible for the both of us so please let me know if you have a few minutes to discuss this later today. I can follow up with KT on availability if that works.

Please let me know if any questions.

Thanks,
Mike

JOINT STIPULATION OF FACTS, WAIVER OF HEARING BEFORE THE MISSOURI ETHICS COMMISSION, AND CONSENT ORDER WITH JOINT PROPOSED FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The undersigned parties jointly stipulate to the facts and consent to the action set forth below. The undersigned Respondents, Greitens for Missouri and Eric Greitens, acknowledge that they have received and reviewed a copy of the Complaint filed by the Petitioner in this case, and the parties submit to the jurisdiction of the Missouri Ethics Commission.

The undersigned Respondents further acknowledge that they are aware of the various rights and privileges afforded them by law, including but not limited to: the right to appear and be represented by counsel; the right to have all allegations against Respondents be proven upon the record by competent and substantial evidence; the right to cross-examine any witness appearing against Respondents at a hearing; the right to present evidence on Respondents' behalf at a hearing; and the right to a decision upon the record of a hearing. Being aware of these rights provided to Respondents by law, the undersigned Respondents knowingly and voluntarily waive each and every one of these rights and freely enter into this Joint Stipulation of Facts, Waiver of

PENGAD 800-631-6989

Hearing Before the Missouri Ethics Commission, and Consent Order With Joint Proposed Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and agree to abide by the terms of this document.

I.

Based upon the foregoing, the Petitioner and the undersigned Respondents jointly stipulate to the following and request that the Missouri Ethics Commission adopt as its own the proposed Joint Findings of Fact and the proposed Joint Conclusions of Law, as follows:

JOINT PROPOSED FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The Missouri Ethics Commission (the "Commission") is an agency of the State of Missouri established pursuant to § 105.955, RSMo, in part for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of Chapter 130, RSMo.

2. Respondent Greitens for Missouri (the "Committee") is a candidate committee under Chapter 130, RSMo.

3. Respondent Eric Greitens ("Greitens") was a candidate for Governor of Missouri in the August 2, 2016 primary election and the November 8, 2016 general election.

4. Pursuant to Section 105.961, RSMo, the Commission's staff has investigated a complaint filed with the Commission relating to activities of the Respondents and reported the investigation's findings to the Commission.

5. Based upon the report of the Commission's staff, the Commission determined that there are reasonable grounds to believe that a violation of law occurred, and it therefore voted to refer the matter to Commission counsel pursuant to Section 105.961, RSMo.

COUNT I

Failure to Report Contribution Received

6. At a date uncertain but believed by the undersigned parties to be in early 2015, the Committee received the benefit of a list of prospective donors (the "List"), for which the Committee did not pay, and which was not expressly contemplated in any contract executed by the Committee for fundraising or other services. At least one employee or agent of the Committee used the List to contact potential donors to the Committee.

7. The List had a fair market value in excess of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00).

8. No person acting as an agent of the Committee for purposes of accepting possession of the List rendered to the Committee's treasurer a detailed account thereof, as contemplated by 130.036(1), RSMo.

9. The Committee did not disclose as a contribution received, on the disclosure report that it filed for the period during which a Committee employee or agent accepted the List, the fair market value of the list.

10. On or about April 28 MS, 2017, the Committee filed an amendment of its disclosure report that was filed on April 15 MS, 2015, reporting that it received the List as an in-kind contribution, that the value of the in-kind contribution was Six Hundred MS Dollars ($600.00 MS), and that the contribution was received from Daniel Laub MS.

JOINT CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

COUNT I

Failure to Report Contribution Received

1. Section 130.041.1(3), RSMo reads in pertinent part as follows:

1. Except as provided in subsection 5 of section 130.016, the candidate, if applicable, a treasurer or deputy treasurer of every committee which is required to file a statement of organization, shall file a legibly printed or typed disclosure report of receipts and expenditures. The reports shall be filed with the appropriate officer designated in section 130.026 at the times and for the periods prescribed in section 130.046. Except as provided in sections 130.049 and 130.050, each report shall set forth:

. . . . . .

(3) Receipts for the period, including:

. . . . . .

(d) Total dollar value of all in-kind contributions received;

(e) A separate listing by name and address and employer, or occupation if self-employed or notation of retirement, of each person from whom the committee received contributions in money or any other thing of value, aggregating more than one hundred dollars, together with the date and amount of each such contribution.

2. Section 130.046.1, RSMo sets out the times for filing disclosure reports for periods prior to an election.

3. Under Section 130.058, RSMo, the candidate is ultimately responsible for all reporting requirements for the candidate's committee under Chapter 130, RSMo.

4. The Commission finds there is probable cause to believe that a violation of § 130.041.1(3), RSMo occurred when the Committee failed to timely disclose the List as an in-kind contribution on the disclosure report for the period during which it was received. Respondents assert that they acted in good faith to comply with Missouri's campaign finance laws.

II.

Based on the foregoing, the parties hereto mutually agree and stipulate that the following shall constitute the order entered by the Missouri Ethics Commission in this matter. This order will be effective immediately upon the issuance of the Consent Order of the Missouri Ethics Commission without further action by any party.

1. The parties understand that the Petitioner will maintain this Joint Stipulation as an open and public record of the Missouri Ethics Commission.

2. The Commission shall issue its Consent Order in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A.

a. Respondents shall comply with all relevant sections of Chapter 130, RSMo.

b. It is order of the Missouri Ethics Commission that a fee is imposed against the Respondent Greitens for Missouri in the amount of $1,000.00 pursuant to § 105.961.4(6), RSMo. However, if Respondent pays ten percent (10%), of that fee, amounting to $100.00, within forty-five (45) days after the date of this Order, the remainder of the fee will be stayed, subject to the provisions below. The fee will be paid by check or money order made payable to the Missouri Ethics Commission.

c. If either of the Respondents commits any further violation or violations of the laws under Chapter 130, RSMo, within the two-year period from the date of this Order, then Respondents will be required to pay the remainder of the fee. The fee would be due immediately upon final adjudication finding that either of the Respondents had committed such a violation.

3. The parties consent to the entry of record and approval of this Joint Stipulation and to the termination of any further proceedings before the Commission based upon the Complaint filed by the Petitioner in the above action.

4. Respondents, together with their respective heirs, successors, and assigns, do hereby waive, release, acquit and forever discharge the Missouri Ethics Commission and its attorneys of or from any liability, claim, actions, causes of action, fees, costs and expenses, and compensation, including, but not limited to, a claim for attorney's fees whatsoever which Respondents or Respondents' attorney may now have or which they may hereafter have, which is based upon or arise out of the above case.

NONDISCLOSURE AGREEMENT (EMPLOYEE)

THIS NONDISCLOSURE AGREEMENT (the "Agreement") is entered into the month of _____ and year of _____, by and between THE CENTER FOR CITIZEN LEADERSHIP, a Missouri nonprofit corporation d/b/a THE MISSION CONTINUES (hereinafter referred to as "TMC"), and _____, an individual (hereinafter referred to as "Employee").

WHEREAS, Employee is currently employed by the Company (or desires to become an employee of the Company); and

WHEREAS, the Company desires that Employee agree not to disclose or misuse certain confidential information; and

WHEREAS, in consideration of Employee's employment (or such continued employment, as TMC shall elect to provide) with TMC, Employee is willing to make such agreements.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the above-mentioned premises, which are incorporated into this Agreement as though fully set forth at length herein, and the mutual promises and covenants of the parties, as hereinafter set forth, the parties agree as follows:

1. Definition of Confidential Information. "Confidential Information" means all information, tangible or intangible, which is related to the operations, plans, strategies, goals, fundraising, business, designs, and/or management of TMC or the subsidiaries and affiliates of TMC, including, but not by way of limitation, the following:

(A) personal information of any Mission Continues Fellows, and contact information for any Mission Continues Fellows;

(B) personal information of any volunteers of TMC, and contact information for any volunteers of TMC;

(C) the identities of any donors or investors, and any personal information of donors or investors, and any contact information for donors or investors;

(D) the identities of any persons in the Salesforce database of TMC, and any personal information of any such persons, and any contact information for any such persons;

(E) personal information of any members of the Board of Advisors of TMC, and contact information for any members of the Board of Advisors of TMC;

(F) personal information of any employees, directors or officers of TMC, and contact information for any employees, directors or officers of TMC;

(G) information related to or regarding the finances of TMC (including, without limitation, financial statements, payroll information, tax returns, fundraising reports, tax exemption filings, and financial data);

(H) information related to or regarding any grant applications and/or any applications for loans, funding or investment;

(I) plans, lists, databases, marketing and sales practices, projections, trade or business secrets, identities of consultants or advisors, identities of contractors, studies, findings, correspondence and similar or dissimilar information relating to the operations or activities of TMC.

2 Non-Disclosure of Confidential Information.

A. The Employee shall keep all Confidential Information disclosed to or received by Employee in strict confidence. Employee shall not at any time during Employee's employment with TMC or at any time after termination or expiration of Employee's employment with TMC disclose any Confidential Information to any third party, in whole or in part. Without limiting the generality of the preceding sentence, the disclosure prohibited in the preceding sentence includes, without limitation, any posting, publishing, or transmission of Confidential Information on or through social media or on or through the Internet in any manner. Upon termination or expiration of Employee's employment, all Confidential Information and all other property of the Company that is in the possession or under the control of Employee shall be returned to Company, and no copies thereof shall be retained by Employee.

B. Employee shall not be liable for disclosure of Confidential Information if:

(i) TMC specifically authorizes and directs Employee, in the performance of Employee's duties, to disclose such Confidential Information; or

(ii) Employee discloses the Confidential Information pursuant to any valid and enforceable subpoena or other judicial compulsion, provided that Employee shall have first promptly notified the Company of such subpoena or judicial compulsion and given the Company opportunity to contest or enjoin such disclosure; or

(iii) such Confidential Information has become generally available to the public without breach by Employee of this Agreement.

3. Ownership of Intellectual Property Rights.

A. Employee acknowledges and agrees that all intellectual property that is developed by Employee during the time Employee is employed by TMC, and that is within the scope of Employee's employment with TMC, is the property of TMC, including but not limited to any copyrights or trade secrets. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the parties hereby agree that any work created by Employee in the scope of Employee's employment shall be deemed a "work made for hire" under the United States Copyright Act. TMC owns all intellectual property rights developed by Employee within the scope of Employee's employment whether developed during TMC's work hours, or at other times, whether developed at TMC's offices or at other locations, whether developed with or without use of TMC resources, and whether developed for TMC or for someone else.

B. Employee agrees to promptly execute all documents (including, without limitation, any copyright assignments or related documents) requested by TMC in order to register ownership of such intellectual property rights in the name of TMC (or in any name designated by TMC) and to otherwise implement the terms of this Agreement, and to otherwise take such actions as TMC may request in order to protect TMC's rights under this Section.

C. Unless Employee has first received the prior written consent (by email or letter) of TMC, Employee shall not use or display any portion of any such intellectual property in connection with Employee's portfolio, or Employee's website, or otherwise in any context outside of Employee's employment. TMC shall not unreasonably withhold or delay its consent for such use or display. TMC may, at any time, revoke such consent if TMC determines that such use or display is offensive, defamatory, or inappropriate.

4. Remedies. Sections 2 and 3 apply with full force and effect regardless of when, how or why the employment of Employee is terminated and regardless of the cause of such termination; and thus, for example, shall continue to apply if Employee voluntarily leaves his/her employment, if he/she is terminated with or without cause, or if the term of his/her employment expires. It is mutually agreed that the provisions of Sections 2 and 3 are reasonable and acceptable to both parties hereto. It is further mutually agreed that such provisions are necessary to protect the legitimate business interests and charitable purposes of TMC. With respect to each and every breach or violation by Employee of any or all of such provisions, TMC, in addition to all other remedies, shall be entitled to enjoin Employee from the continuance thereof and may apply to any court of competent jurisdiction for entry of a temporary restraining order or injunction. TMC and Employee acknowledge that the unauthorized disclosure by Employee of the Confidential Information or any breach or violation by Employee of the provisions of Sections 2 or 3 would cause irreparable damage to TMC and that it is difficult to ascertain the nature and extent of such irreparable damage. TMC may pursue any and all remedies concurrently or consecutively in any order as to any such breach or violation, and the pursuit of one of such remedies at any time will not be deemed an election of remedies nor waiver of the right to pursue any and all other remedies.

5. No Promise by the Company of any Minimum Term of Employment. Nothing contained in this Agreement shall be deemed to constitute any obligation of TMC to provide employment to Employee for any specific minimum period of time, or to restrict or limit in any respect any rights of termination, or remedies, which TMC might otherwise have, in the absence of this Agreement.

6. Waiver. No failure in exercising any right, power or privilege hereunder shall operate as a waiver thereof, nor shall any single or partial exercise thereof preclude any other or further exercise thereof or the exercise or any right, power, or privilege hereunder.

7. Amendments. This Agreement may not be amended or in any manner modified except by a written instrument signed by both TMC and Employee.

8. Attorneys' Fees. If TMC commences an action to enforce any of the terms of this Agreement, TMC shall be entitled to recover its reasonable attorneys' fees and costs from the Employee.

9. Effect of Unenforceability of Provision. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this Agreement shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision of this Agreement, and each provision shall be enforced to the maximum extent permitted by law.

10. Controlling Law. This Agreement has been made and entered into under the laws of the State of Missouri, and said laws shall control the interpretation hereof.

11. Counterparts. This Agreement may be signed in any number of counterparts, and signature to any one counterpart shall be deemed signature to all counterparts, which when taken together shall constitute one Agreement. This instrument and any amendment hereto may be executed via facsimile or by e-mail of a PDF, with the same force and effect as "ink" signatures, and the parties agree that facsimile or PDF execution hereof shall be binding upon the parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have executed this Agreement as of the date set forth above.

Same deal as Right to Rise USA or anything similar: it can only make expenditures not made in cooperation, consultation or concert with a candidate or candidate committee. Monsees's presence at the opening certainly begs the question.

THE MISSION CONTINUES

IT'S NOT A CHARITY. IT'S A CHALLENGE.

The Mission Continues

Team Member Handbook

This Employee Handbook has been tailored expressly for The Mission Continues by PAYCHEX, Inc. © Copyright PAYCHEX, Inc. 2012. All rights reserved.

Letter from our Founder & CEO

Dear Team Members:
When I founded The Mission Continues in 2007, my goal was to ensure that veterans returning from military service were challenged to serve and inspire in their communities. With a small team of board members and staff, we awarded our first fellowship, and we set off to ensure that our nation recognizes this generation of veterans as assets.

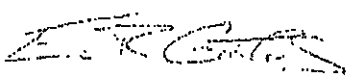
Since our inception, The Mission Continues' team has grown to include a national network of Fellows, volunteers, and staff. We became recognized as one of the most innovative veterans' organizations in the country by the Draper Richards Kaplan Foundation, the Manhattan Institute and the Social Venture Network. As we continue to award Fellowships to outstanding veterans, our impact will grow at a remarkable pace. In the coming years I fully expect our reach to be felt by millions.

The hard work and energy from our Team Members has been and will remain the foundation for every life we touch at The Mission Continues. You give hope to our Fellows, inspiration to our donors, and confidence to our partners. Without you, we are unable to challenge our veterans to serve and lead.

The Team Member Handbook will provide you with policies and guidelines for our work. However, your most important reference point should always be our five core values. Each core value is integral to our culture at The Mission Continues and should serve as your guide through every decision you make.

I am honored to have you on our team.

In service,



Eric Greitens
Founder and CEO
The Mission Continues

Care of Donor Records

The impression that donors have of our organization is based, in part, on the way we care for their records. If we are careless with their files and records, donors may conclude that we have the same attitude toward our technical work. As professionals, we must respect the confidence in which we are entrusted and ensure that donor files are handled with care.

When possible, obtain all material from donor files and then return the material back to the files. Material should be returned in the same condition or better than when it was received.

Under no circumstances should outside requests for donor material be fulfilled unless prior written permission is received from your Team Leader.

Care of Equipment

You are expected to demonstrate proper care when using the organization's property and equipment. No property may be removed from the premises without the proper authorization from your Team Leader. If you lose, break or damage any property, report it to your Team Leader at once.

In addition, Team Members may not use our Systems:

- To download, save, send or access any defamatory, discriminatory or obscene material;
- To download, save, send or access any music, audio or video file for personal use;
- To download anything from the internet (including shareware or free software) without the advance written permission of IT management;
- To download, save, send or access any site or content that The Mission Continues might deem "adult entertainment;"
- To access any "blog" or otherwise post a personal opinion on the Internet unrelated to your work at The Mission Continues;
- To solicit Team Members or others unless on behalf of The Mission Continues;
- To attempt or to gain unauthorized or unlawful access to computers, equipment, networks, or systems of The Mission Continues or any other person or entity;
- In connection with any infringement of intellectual property rights, including but not limited to copyrights; and
- In connection with the violation or attempted violation of any law.

A Team Member may not misrepresent, disguise, or conceal his or her identity or another's identity in any way while using Electronic Communications; make changes to Electronic Communications without clearly indicating such changes; or use another person's account, mail box, password, etc. without prior written approval of the account owner and without identifying the actual author.

Team Members must always respect intellectual property rights such as copyrights and trademarks.

Protecting Organization Information

Protecting our organization's information is the responsibility of every Team Member, and we all share a common interest in making sure information is not improperly or accidentally disclosed. Do not discuss the organization's confidential business or proprietary business matters, or share confidential, personal Team Member information with anyone who does not work for us such as friends, family members, members of the media, or other business entities. You are required to sign a nondisclosure agreement (NDA) as a condition of your employment, in accordance with state and federal law.

All telephone calls regarding a current or former Team Member's position/compensation with our organization must be forwarded to the Vice President of Finance & Operations.

The Mission Continues address shall not be used for the receipt of personal mail. Any exceptions must be approved by the Vice President of Finance and Operations in advance.

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING

BY

AND BETWEEN

ERIC GREITENS LLC, D/B/A THE GREITENS GROUP

AND

THE CENTER FOR CITIZEN LEADERSHIP, D/B/A THE MISSION CONTINUES

This memorandum of understanding (this "MOU") is by and between The Mission Continues (as defined below) on the one hand and The Greitens Group (as defined below) on the other hand and sets forth certain guidelines and rules that must govern the relationship and interactions between The Mission Continues and The Greitens Group. The purpose of this MOU is to set forth a framework that will: (i) preserve the nonprofit status of The Mission Continues, (ii) allow The Mission Continues to benefit from the resources and services of the managers, officers and employees of The Greitens Group and (iii) confirm that all donations of money, goods, services, time or other resources to The Mission Continues will continue to be used exclusively for The Mission Continues' stated purpose of enabling veterans to become citizen leaders, consistent with The Mission Continues' status as a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation and with its bylaws, and for no other purpose whatsoever.

I. BACKGROUND TO THE MISSION CONTINUES AND THE GREITENS GROUP

Upon returning to the United States from his military deployment to Iraq in April 2007 and having completed his military service obligation, Eric Greitens began to focus on building a new life as a civilian. Mr. Greitens' intention was to build a life of public service that would also include work as a teacher and an author. Soon after returning home, Mr. Greitens visited with wounded service members at Bethesda Naval Hospital in Bethesda, Maryland. Despite their injuries and disabilities, each service member that Mr. Greitens met during his visit expressed a clear desire to continue serving their country in some capacity. Inspired by their determination, in April 2007, Mr. Greitens founded The Center for Citizen Leadership, d/b/a The Mission Continues ("The Mission Continues"), a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation formed under Missouri law, and donated his combat pay to the organization. Choosing to set an example of service for the organization from the outset, Mr. Greitens served as Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") of The Mission Continues without receiving any compensation or employee benefits.

Concurrent with his founding of The Mission Continues, Mr. Greitens founded Eric Greitens, LLC, d/b/a The Greitens Group ("The Greitens Group"), a Missouri limited liability company, with the intent of establishing an organization through which to separately and exclusively conduct all of his for-profit work as an author, speaker and teacher.

In June 2009, Mr. Greitens was awarded a Draper Richards fellowship which enabled him to be compensated for his work as CEO of The Mission Continues. To date, Mr. Greitens serves as both the CEO of The Mission Continues and the CEO of The Greitens Group and receives compensation from both organizations.

II. SEPARATE AND DISTINCT PURPOSES OF THE MISSION CONTINUES AND THE GREITENS GROUP

The Mission Continues and The Greitens Group have stated purposes that are separate and distinct from each other.

As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation, the purpose of The Mission Continues is exclusively charitable, with the bylaws of The Mission Continues stating its purpose as follows: "The Mission Continues challenges veterans to serve and lead in communities across America." The Mission Continues does not serve the private interests of Mr. Greitens or The Greitens Group. As set forth below in this MOU, The Mission Continues is specifically prohibited from advertising or promoting Mr. Greitens' private business activities (such as his books and paid speaking events) and from paying for Mr. Greitens' travel expenses unless such travel specifically relates to The Mission Continues.

The Greitens Group was formed on July 5, 2007 by Mr. Greitens, as its sole member. The purpose of The Greitens Group is to support and promote the for-profit business activities of Mr. Greitens that are separate and distinct from his work as CEO of The Mission Continues, including, without limitation, his literary and media profile activities, paid public speaking events, and thought leadership efforts. Additionally, The Greitens Group creates and delivers content that helps people to live lives—and lead others in lives—of high achievement and purpose.

For the avoidance of doubt, the Mission Continues does not serve or promote the private interests of Mr. Greitens and The Greitens Group.

III. SEPARATE BOARD GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT OF THE MISSION CONTINUES AND THE GREITENS GROUP

With the exception of Mr. Greitens, each present and future member of the board of directors of The Mission Continues (the "TMC Board") (i) will not serve as a manager, officer or employee of The Greitens Group and (ii) will not have any managerial or ownership connection to The Greitens Group. As set forth in the bylaws of The Mission Continues, the TMC Board must consist of at least three directors and each director must hold office for a term of two (2) years. The TMC Board will observe all corporate formalities, will hold board meetings at least two times per year and will maintain its own minute book. Vacancies in the TMC Board existing by reason of resignation, death, incapacity or removal before the expiration of such member's term must be filled by a majority vote of the remaining directors of the TMC Board.

Similarly, with the exception of Mr. Greitens and his Executive Assistant, none of the current and future officers or employees of The Mission Continues will contemporaneously serve as managers, officers or employees of The Greitens Group. Officers of The Mission Continues are elected by the TMC Board at regular meetings of the TMC Board.

Nothing in this MOU shall be deemed to prohibit The Mission Continues from continuing to pay Mr. Greitens a salary and certain employee benefits that are consistent with Mr. Greitens' experience and qualifications, provided that such salary and employee benefits are provided solely in return for services provided by Mr. Greitens as CEO of the The Mission Continues.

The Mission Continues, The Greitens Group, Mr. Greitens and Mr. Greitens' Executive Assistant have entered into a Cost Allocation Agreement, dated December [●], 2012, (the "Cost Allocation Agreement") that, among other things, governs the allocation of office and employee benefit expenses for both Mr. Greitens and his Executive Assistant to be paid by The Mission Continues and The Greitens Group.

The Mission Continues may also pay for Mr. Greitens' travel expenses, but only if such travel specifically relates to his duties as CEO of The Mission Continues. Regardless of the benefits received by The Mission Continues as outlined in Article IV below, The Mission Continues shall not pay for Mr. Greitens' travel for book events, public speaking events, or for his other private business activities conducted through The Greitens Group or otherwise.

IV. GUIDELINES FOR RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE MISSION CONTINUES AND THE GREITENS GROUP

The Mission Continues, while having a separate and distinct purpose and maintaining separate and independent governance, management and operations from The Greitens Group, does, on occasion, receive resources and services from The Greitens Group by virtue of the fact that Mr. Greitens serves as founder and CEO of both organizations.

a. PUBLIC EXPOSURE

Mr. Greitens' role as an author and speaker has helped to increase the general public's awareness of The Mission Continues. For example, organizations that pay Mr. Greitens to speak are attracted to his unique humanitarian, military, and leadership experience and such speaking engagements provide Mr. Greitens with the opportunity to both develop awareness of The Mission Continues and meet with potential donors to The Mission Continues, interested volunteers and wounded veterans. In addition, many people who read Mr. Greitens' books or consume media related to his books have become aware of and supported The Mission Continues. The benefits derived by The Mission Continues from Mr. Greitens' speaking engagements, books and other media are provided to The Mission Continues at no charge and without expectation of compensation. Such benefits, which are made possible by Mr. Greitens and The Greitens Group, have enabled The Mission Continues to reach new audiences at an exceptional rate. They have had a major impact on the exceptional growth of The Mission Continues, and have fueled awareness of, media attention for, and substantial investments in its work. Accordingly, nothing in this MOU shall prohibit Mr. Greitens or The Greitens Group from communicating his story and experiences (including, without limitation, his experiences regarding The Mission Continues) through speeches, teaching, books and/or other media, even if such communication is part of his private business activities.

From time to time, Mr. Greitens' participation in a The Mission Continues event or activity or his role as CEO of The Mission Continues may directly lead to a request for private business activity on the part of Mr. Greitens. For the purposes of this Section IV(a), a "TMC-Generated Request" shall mean a request made to Mr. Greitens or The Greitens Group for a private business activity (such as a private speaking engagement or a book event) that: (i) is made by a The Mission Continues donor, sponsor, volunteer, or event participant; and (ii) occurs during, or as a direct result of, a The Mission Continues event or activity.

In the event that a TMC-Generated Request has been made and The Greitens Group desires to engage in such private business activity, The Greitens Group must first take the following actions: (i) promptly notify the COO of The Mission Continues of such TMC-Generated Request; and (ii) cooperate with The Mission Continues to generate a donation opportunity for The Mission Continues from such TMC-Generated Request, which cooperation shall include, without limitation, a request by The Greitens Group that the requesting party make a donation to The Mission Continues (in addition to paying the standard fees charged by The Greitens Group). Provided that the above actions have been complied with, Mr. Greitens and The Greitens Group shall be permitted to engage in the private business activity arising out of a TMC-Generated Request.

If, during Mr. Greitens' employment with The Mission Continues, a third party requests that Mr. Greitens or The Greitens Group engage in any activity, on a private basis, that is similar to any activity that The Mission Continues performs, Mr. Greitens and The Greitens Group shall promptly inform the COO of The Mission Continues of such request, and neither Mr. Greitens nor The Greitens Group shall engage in the activity in any manner unless and until the TMC Board specifically approves such engagement in the activity by Mr. Greitens or The Greitens Group. The parties hereto agree that the private business activities referenced in this MOU (such as Mr. Greitens' books and paid speaking events) are not similar to or competitive with The Mission Continues activities.

b. EMPLOYEE SERVICES

In addition to promoting awareness of The Mission Continues through Mr. Greitens' work in The Greitens Group, certain employees of The Greitens Group donate their time and services for the benefit of The Mission Continues at no charge.

The following sets forth the rules governing the use of employees of The Greitens Group for the benefit of The Mission Continues:

1. Employees of The Greitens Group can, but are not required to, serve as unpaid volunteers at any volunteer activity of The Mission Continues.

2. It is also acceptable and encouraged for employees of The Greitens Group to donate their time and particular expertise to The Mission Continues at no charge.

3. Where possible and at no charge, The Greitens Group is authorized to use a media event involving Mr. Greitens and his work to promote awareness of The Mission Continues. If Mr. Greitens is donating a portion of the proceeds of any sales from his private business activities to The Mission Continues, this MOU does not prohibit Mr. Greitens or The Greitens Group from communicating such fact.

As set forth in Section V below, employees of The Mission Continues may not donate their time or services and may not use media content involving The Mission Continues and/or Mr. Greitens in his role as CEO of The Mission Continues for the benefit of or to promote awareness of The Greitens Group.

c. EXPENSES, OFFICE SPACE, INSURANCE AND BANK ACCOUNTS

1. With the exception of Mr. Greitens and Mr. Greitens' Executive Assistant, each current and future employee shall work for either The Mission Continues or The Greitens Group, but not contemporaneously for both organizations. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, Mr. Greitens' Executive Assistant who, among other things, is responsible for coordinating his schedule, managing incoming and outgoing correspondence, handling requests for his time, and synchronizing schedules among The Greitens Group staff and The Mission Continues staff, receives a portion of his/her compensation and benefits from The Greitens Group and the remaining portion from The Mission Continues pursuant to the Cost Allocation Agreement. Besides Mr. Greitens, this Executive Assistant is the only employee of either The Greitens Group or The Mission Continues that receives compensation from both The Greitens Group and The Mission Continues.

2. Mr. Greitens will, from time to time, hold events for both employees of The Greitens Group and The Mission Continues. For such events, The Greitens Group will pay the pro rata costs and expenses for employees of The Greitens Group and The Mission Continues will pay the pro rata costs and expenses for employees of The Mission Continues, with such costs and expenses being paid by the The Greitens Group and The Mission Continues from separately designated bank accounts.

3. Mr. Greitens pays for and maintains a contact management system for The Greitens Group that is separate from the contact management system used by The Mission Continues. The two organizations do not share contact information unless a specific person expressly requests to receive information from the other organization. In such an event, the third party's contact information can be forwarded to the other organization. For example, when Mr. Greitens speaks at a book event and potential donors, volunteers or veterans ask for information about The Mission Continues, The Greitens Group is only authorized to pass along the contact information of such individuals to The Mission Continues but is not authorized to contact such individuals on behalf of The Mission Continues.

4. All costs, expenses and liabilities of The Greitens Group are incurred and paid for by The Greitens Group, and its office space is used solely by employees of The Greitens Group. All costs, expenses and liabilities of The Mission Continues are incurred and paid for by The Mission Continues, and its office space is used solely by employees of The Mission Continues. Notwithstanding the foregoing, because Mr. Greitens and his executive assistant work for both The Greitens Group and The Mission Continues, their respective expenses Are shared between the parties hereto pursuant to the Cost Allocation Agreement.

5. The Mission Continues maintains separate insurance from The Greitens Group and pays for such insurance separately. Neither organization is listed as an additional insured on the other organization's insurance policies.

6. The Greitens Group and The Mission Continues maintain separate bank accounts do not co-mingle any cash held in such bank accounts. The TMC Board has ultimate responsibility and general oversight of the budget and finances of The Mission Continues.

d. DONATIONS

Mr. Greitens and his wife, Sheena Greitens, and The Greitens Group have made and will continue to make charitable donations to The Mission Continues. These charitable donations to The Mission Continues are clearly marked as "donations."

V. PROHIBITION OF SERVICES PROVIDED TO THE GREITENS GROUP

The TMC Board, officers and employees of The Mission Continues are prohibited from engaging in any activities of or providing any services to The Greitens Group. In particular, employees of The Mission Continues must not sell, promote, or advertise any of Mr. Greitens' books or other media, to include his books The Heart and the Fist, The Warrior's Heart, and/or Strength and Compassion, and each such person has been given explicit guidance to not mention Mr. Greitens' books in invitations, on the website of The Mission Continues, or in any publications issued by The Mission Continues. In addition, no member of the TMC Board, officer or employee of The Mission Continues is permitted to promote, advertise, or engage potential clients of The Greitens Group regarding paid speaking engagements or any other activities. If an employee, officer or board member of The Mission Continues is approached by a person interested in pursuing any of the aforementioned activities, he or she has been instructed to refer such person to the Managing Director of The Greitens Group, who, in certain cases described in Section IV(a) above, is required to notify the COO of The Mission Continues pursuant to Section IV(a).

VI. REVIEW AND APPROVAL OF MOU

This MOU will be reviewed and approved annually by the TMC Board and Mr. Greitens to ensure that it meets the current needs and requirements of both The Mission Continues and The Greitens Group. This MOU may be amended as necessary and, and if amended, will be submitted for approval to the TMC Board and Mr. Greitens. Both the TMC Board and Mr. Greitens must consent to any amendment to this MOU in writing before such amendment becomes effective. Each board member of The Mission Continues and Mr. Greitens must review the MOU annually.

VII. IN SUM

Mr. Greitens is the CEO of The Mission Continues and the CEO of The Greitens Group. The Mission Continues benefits from the public exposure of its CEO who is engaged, through his role as CEO of The Greitens Group, as a speaker, author, and educator. To protect the interests and nonprofit status of The Mission Continues, employees of The Mission Continues must not use any of its resources, financial or otherwise, to benefit The Greitens Group in any way. Mr. Greitens will continue to serve as CEO of The Mission Continues in compliance with the guidelines and rules set forth in this MOU so that The Mission Continues can continue to grow and empower our veterans to become citizen leaders. Mr. Greitens may also continue to cause The Greitens Group to donate its time, services and resources for the benefit of The Mission Continues pursuant to the guidelines set forth in this MOU.

VII. ENTIRE AGREEMENT; NO THIRD PARTY BENEFICIARIES.

This MOU constitutes the entire agreement, and supersedes all prior agreements and understandings, both written and oral, between the parties with respect to the subject matter of this MOU. Except with respect to the activities of Mr. Greitens that this MOU permits, this MOU is not intended to confer upon any person other than the parties hereto any rights or remedies.

IX. COUNTERPARTS

This MOU may be executed in one or more counterparts, all of which shall be considered one and the same agreement, and shall become effective when one or more counterparts have been signed by each of the parties and delivered to the other parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this MOU as of the date first written above.

Re: Cost allocation agreement regarding the office space and employee benefit expenses of Eric Greitens and his executive assistant

Ladies and Gentlemen:

As you know, Eric Greitens, CEO of both The Center for Citizen Leadership, d/b/a The Mission Continues, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation formed under Missouri law ("TMC") and Eric Greitens, LLC, d/b/a The Greitens Group, a Missouri limited liability company ("GG", and together with TMC, the "Parties" and each a "Party"), and his executive assistant, conduct work for both TMC and GG on a daily basis. The Parties desire to enter into this cost allocation agreement (this "Agreement") to govern the allocation of certain employment related costs and expenses of Mr. Greitens and his executive assistant. Pursuant to this Agreement, the Parties hereby agree, as of the date hereof, to allocate the incurred costs and expenses of (i) Mr. Greitens' and his executive assistant's respective office space, to include, without limitation, the rent for their respective office space, telephone, internet, electric, and office supplies and (ii) the employee benefit expenses of Mr. Greitens and his executive assistant, between each other in the manner set forth herein.

I. Office Space

Each of the Parties conduct their operations out of the same office building, 1141 South 7th Street, St. Louis, Missouri 63104 (the "Missouri office"). TMC has its own working space in the Missouri office (the "TMC work space") and GG has its own working space in the Missouri office. Each Party is billed separately for monthly rent by 1141 South Seventh Street Master Tenant, LLC, the landlord of the Missouri office, for such Party's respective work space. Additionally, each Party is billed separately for the use of printers, phone and internet. On a daily basis, Mr. Greitens and his executive assistant each work in the Missouri office space on certain matters for TMC and certain matters for GG. Their respective offices are part of the TMC work space and, accordingly, comprise a portion of the monthly rent paid by TMC.

II. Employee Benefit Expenses

Mr. Greitens currently receives the following employee benefits from TMC: Health, Dental, Vision and Life Insurance. Mr. Greitens' executive assistant currently receives the following employee benefits from TMC: Health, Dental, Vision and Life Insurance.

III. Cost Allocation of Office Space and Employee Benefit Expenses

Recognizing that Mr. Greitens and his executive assistant regularly conduct work for both Parties at the Missouri office, the Parties hereby agree that GG shall reimburse TMC on an annual basis for (i) 50% of the cost of Mr. Greitens' office and 50% of the cost of Mr. Greitens' executive assistant's office and (ii) 50% of Mr. Greitens employee benefit expenses and 50% of the Executive assistant's employee benefit expense (such annual costs, collectively, the "GG Annual Cost Obligation")

The first annual determination of the aggregate dollar amount of the GG Annual Cost Obligation shall be (i) conducted by a qualified financial officer of TMC within five (5) business days after December 31, 2012 and (ii) re-determined by a qualified financial officer of TMC at the beginning of each following fiscal year thereafter in the manner set forth in clause (i) above.

TMC shall provide a written notice (the "Annual Reimbursement Notice") to GG no later than [five (5)] business days after the GG Annual Cost Obligation has been determined pursuant to the immediately preceding paragraph. Upon delivery of the Annual Reimbursement Notice, GG will reimburse TMC, to an account designated by TMC, an amount in immediately funds constituting the GG Annual Cost Obligation.

IV. Term and Termination

The term of this Agreement shall commence on January 1, 2013 and shall continue thereafter for a period of 12 months, unless and until terminated as provided hereunder (the "Initial Term"). Upon expiration of the Initial Term, this Agreement shall automatically renew for additional successive one (1) year terms unless and until either Party provides written notice of non-renewal at least 30 days prior to the end of the then-current term (each a "Renewal Term" and together with the Initial Term, the "Term"), or unless and until sooner terminated as provided hereunder.

This Agreement may be terminated prior to the expiration of the Term on written notice:

1. by TMC, if GG fails to pay any amount due to TMC hereunder and such failure continues for 30 days after GG's receipt of notice of nonpayment; or

2. by either Party at any time upon 30 days' prior written notice to the other Party.

The expiration or termination of this Agreement, for any reason, shall not release either Party from any obligation or liability to the other Party, including any payment obligation that has already accrued hereunder. Following the termination of this Agreement, TMC will promptly invoice GG for any outstanding expenses due and owing under this Agreement, and GG shall promptly pay all such outstanding expenses to TMC.

V. Miscellaneous

This Agreement represents the entire understanding between the parties hereto, and supersedes any and all prior written and oral negotiations, commitments, agreements, arrangements and understandings among the parties hereto, with respect to the subject matter hereof.

The Parties may at any time by written agreement amend this Agreement, including, without limitation, making additions to or deletions from the calculation of the office amounts and benefit expenses amounts.

This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be considered an original and all of which taken together shall constitute one Agreement binding on both of the parties hereto, notwithstanding that both parties shall not have signed the same counterpart.

This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Missouri without regard to conflicts of law principles.

Very truly yours,

THE MISSION CONTINUES

Exhibit A

GG Monthly Cost Obligation

The GG Monthly Cost Obligation is calculated as follows:

Step 1: The TMC Monthly Rent plus monthly cost of TMC long distance phone, and internet (collectively, "expenses") (Rent = $5300 + Long Distance $720 = $6020.00) divided by the current number of full time employees of TMC (24)

$250.83 = the cost of TMC Monthly Rent/expenses per TMC employee

Step 2: Cost of TMC Monthly Rent/expenses per TMC employee divided by 2

$125.41 = 50% of the cost of Mr. Greitens' office that will be reimbursed to TMC by GG ("Greitens Office Amount")

Step 3: Cost of Greitens monthly benefit expense divided by 2

$197.17 = 50% of the cost of Mr. Greitens' monthly benefit expense that must be reimbursed to TMC by GG ("Greitens Benefit Expense Amount") (394.34 X 50% = $197.17)

Step 4: Cost of TMC Monthly Rent/expenses per TMC employee divided by [4]

$125.41 = 50% of the cost of Mr. Greitens' executive assistant's office that should be reimbursed to TMC by GG ("Executive Assistant Office Amount") (250.83 X 50% = $125.41)

Step 5: Cost of Executive assistant's monthly benefit expense divided by 2

$187.89 = 50% of the cost of Mr. Greitens' executive assistant's monthly benefit expenses that must be reimbursed to TMC by GG ("Executive Assistant Benefit Expense Amount") (375.77 X 50% = 187.89)

GG Monthly Cost Obligation = (i) Greitens Office Amount + (ii) Executive Assistant Office Amount + (iii) Greitens Benefit Expense Amount + (iv) Executive Assistant Benefit Expense Amount

TOTAL = 635.89/month

NONDISCLOSURE AGREEMENT (EMPLOYEE)

THIS NONDISCLOSURE AGREEMENT (the "Agreement") is entered into the month of _____ and year of _____, by and between THE CENTER FOR CITIZEN LEADERSHIP, a Missouri nonprofit corporation d/b/a THE MISSION CONTINUES (hereinafter referred to as "TMC"), and _____, an individual (hereinafter referred to as "Employee").

WHEREAS, Employee is currently employed by the Company (or desires to become an employee of the Company); and

WHEREAS, the Company desires that Employee agree not to disclose or misuse certain confidential information; and

WHEREAS, in consideration of Employee's employment (or such continued employment, as TMC shall elect to provide) with TMC, Employee is willing to make such agreements.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the above-mentioned premises, which are incorporated into this Agreement as though fully set forth at length herein, and the mutual promises and covenants of the parties, as hereinafter set forth, the parties agree as follows:

1. Definition of Confidential Information. "Confidential Information" means all information, tangible or intangible, which is related to the operations, plans, strategies, goals, fundraising, business, designs, and/or management of TMC or the subsidiaries and affiliates of TMC, including, but not by way of limitation, the following:

(A) personal information of any Mission Continues Fellows, and contact information for any Mission Continues Fellows;

(B) personal information of any volunteers of TMC, and contact information for any volunteers of TMC;

(C) the identities of any donors or investors, and any personal information of donors or investors, and any contact information for donors or investors;

(D) the identities of any persons in the Salesforce database of TMC, and any personal information of any such persons, and any contact information for any such persons;

(E) personal information of any members of the Board of Advisors of TMC, and contact information for any members of the Board of Advisors of TMC;

(F) personal information of any employees, directors or officers of TMC, and contact information for any employees, directors or officers of TMC;

(G) information related to or regarding the finances of TMC (including, without limitation, financial statements, payroll information, tax returns, fundraising reports, tax exemption filings, and financial data);

(H) information related to or regarding any grant applications and/or any applications for loans, funding or investment;

(I) plans, lists, databases, marketing and sales practices, projections, trade or business secrets, identities of consultants or advisors, identities of contractors, studies, findings, correspondence and similar or dissimilar information relating to the operations or activities of TMC.

2 Non-Disclosure of Confidential Information.

A. The Employee shall keep all Confidential Information disclosed to or received by Employee in strict confidence. Employee shall not at any time during Employee's employment with TMC or at any time after termination or expiration of Employee's employment with TMC disclose any Confidential Information to any third party, in whole or in part. Without limiting the generality of the preceding sentence, the disclosure prohibited in the preceding sentence includes, without limitation, any posting, publishing, or transmission of Confidential Information on or through social media or on or through the Internet in any manner. Upon termination or expiration of Employee's employment, all Confidential Information and all other property of the Company that is in the possession or under the control of Employee shall be returned to Company, and no copies thereof shall be retained by Employee.

B. Employee shall not be liable for disclosure of Confidential Information if:

(i) TMC specifically authorizes and directs Employee, in the performance of Employee's duties, to disclose such Confidential Information; or

(ii) Employee discloses the Confidential Information pursuant to any valid and enforceable subpoena or other judicial compulsion, provided that Employee shall have first promptly notified the Company of such subpoena or judicial compulsion and given the Company opportunity to contest or enjoin such disclosure; or

(iii) such Confidential Information has become generally available to the public without breach by Employee of this Agreement.

3. Ownership of Intellectual Property Rights.

A. Employee acknowledges and agrees that all intellectual property that is developed by Employee during the time Employee is employed by TMC, and that is within the scope of Employee's employment with TMC, is the property of TMC, including but not limited to any copyrights or trade secrets. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the parties hereby agree that any work created by Employee in the scope of Employee's employment shall be deemed a "work made for hire" under the United States Copyright Act. TMC owns all intellectual property rights developed by Employee within the scope of Employee's employment whether developed during TMC's work hours, or at other times, whether developed at TMC's offices or at other locations, whether developed with or without use of TMC resources, and whether developed for TMC or for someone else.

B. Employee agrees to promptly execute all documents (including, without limitation, any copyright assignments or related documents) requested by TMC in order to register ownership of such intellectual property rights in the name of TMC (or in any name designated by TMC) and to otherwise implement the terms of this Agreement, and to otherwise take such actions as TMC may request in order to protect TMC's rights under this Section.

C. Unless Employee has first received the prior written consent (by email or letter) of TMC, Employee shall not use or display any portion of any such intellectual property in connection with Employee's portfolio, or Employee's website, or otherwise in any context outside of Employee's employment. TMC shall not unreasonably withhold or delay its consent for such use or display. TMC may, at any time, revoke such consent if TMC determines that such use or display is offensive, defamatory, or inappropriate.

4. Remedies. Sections 2 and 3 apply with full force and effect regardless of when, how or why the employment of Employee is terminated and regardless of the cause of such termination; and thus, for example, shall continue to apply if Employee voluntarily leaves his/her employment, if he/she is terminated with or without cause, or if the term of his/her employment expires. It is mutually agreed that the provisions of Sections 2 and 3 are reasonable and acceptable to both parties hereto. It is further mutually agreed that such provisions are necessary to protect the legitimate business interests and charitable purposes of TMC. With respect to each and every breach or violation by Employee of any or all of such provisions, TMC, in addition to all other remedies, shall be entitled to enjoin Employee from the continuance thereof and may apply to any court of competent jurisdiction for entry of a temporary restraining order or injunction. TMC and Employee acknowledge that the unauthorized disclosure by Employee of the Confidential Information or any breach or violation by Employee of the provisions of Sections 2 or 3 would cause irreparable damage to TMC and that it is difficult to ascertain the nature and extent of such irreparable damage. TMC may pursue any and all remedies concurrently or consecutively in any order as to any such breach or violation, and the pursuit of one of such remedies at any time will not be deemed an election of remedies nor waiver of the right to pursue any and all other remedies.

5. No Promise by the Company of any Minimum Term of Employment. Nothing contained in this Agreement shall be deemed to constitute any obligation of TMC to provide employment to Employee for any specific minimum period of time, or to restrict or limit in any respect any rights of termination, or remedies, which TMC might otherwise have, in the absence of this Agreement.

6. Waiver. No failure in exercising any right, power or privilege hereunder shall operate as a waiver thereof, nor shall any single or partial exercise thereof preclude any other or further exercise thereof or the exercise or any right, power, or privilege hereunder.

7. Amendments. This Agreement may not be amended or in any manner modified except by a written instrument signed by both TMC and Employee.

8. Attorneys' Fees. If TMC commences an action to enforce any of the terms of this Agreement, TMC shall be entitled to recover its reasonable attorneys' fees and costs from the Employee.

9. Effect of Unenforceability of Provision. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this Agreement shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision of this Agreement, and each provision shall be enforced to the maximum extent permitted by law.

10. Controlling Law. This Agreement has been made and entered into under the laws of the State of Missouri, and said laws shall control the interpretation hereof.

11. Counterparts. This Agreement may be signed in any number of counterparts, and signature to any one counterpart shall be deemed signature to all counterparts, which when taken together shall constitute one Agreement. This instrument and any amendment hereto may be executed via facsimile or by e-mail of a PDF, with the same force and effect as "ink" signatures, and the parties agree that facsimile or PDF execution hereof shall be binding upon the parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have executed this Agreement as of the date set forth above.

Hi Eric,

Sorry I missed you on April 24th. Lori and I discussed this list. I also added a couple of people whom I think need a call to a document attached here. Additionally, I went through the $1,000+ list and flagged others you might want to consider calling. I've included their names at the end of the document, and if you want to call them, let me know. I am happy to pull phone numbers and ensure you have appropriate background on everyone. Thanks, Eric.

NOTE: If you have not called [redacted] yet, she is retiring from [redacted] at the end of the month. [redacted] is also retiring from [redacted] and that note is included in the document attached to this email.

Hi,

Krystal and I had talked about Eric letting me know as he makes the calls.

Eric - do you want to send a daily update to Spence and me? Or just shoot us notes as you complete calls?

Any takers on the June 10th gathering or meetings yet?

Thanks!

Hi Eric,

Here is the transition call info...

1) Priority calls with background notes. I can't for the life of me figure out how to get rid of Krystal's highlights. My usual skills don't work. So, a little extra color for you :)

2) The $1K+ list, thanks to Thalia

3) Service Platoon sponsorship info - reference for Steven Miller, Pete Riehl and Ted Pappendick calls

4) Strategic plan slides - reference for Hauck (Lyndsey sent them to him by mail with a note in February)

5) St. Louis memo from Lyndsey - in case it's helpful context

One thing to consider:

* If you get a strong group responding to the dinner invitation right away, then let's stick with just inviting Bobak, [redacted] from the STL LC. Inviting Bobak is key to inviting John [redacted] and it's important to invite [redacted] if we invite him.

* If we don't get the top investors like the [redacted] (longshot, I know) coming, then you might consider inviting the rest of the STL LC plus [redacted]. You'd probably need to include [redacted] then, too.

* Even if we don't invite them, we'll need to add a round of personal calls from you to them. People like [redacted] (not on the committee any more but fits in this camp), [redacted] would want to hear from you personally.

THE MISSION CONTINUES

To our partners:

You may have read about The Mission Continues in the news lately. Unfortunately, not all of the stories have been about the positive impact we're creating with the veterans and communities we serve.

We want to take this opportunity to speak directly to you about concerns raised regarding the unauthorized use of our resources for Eric Greitens' political activities. Perhaps the most disappointing aspect of the Greitens campaign's action is the disruption it has created. It distracts from the work you and our team have done together to serve communities and veterans.

Your support is important to us, as is your continued confidence in our organization. The following are a few key facts to bring clarity to the situation:

As we have stated from the beginning, The Mission Continues did not provide, nor authorize any use of, our donors' information to the Greitens campaign or any persons or groups for political or campaign purposes.

In November 2016, The Mission Continues was notified by the Missouri Ethics Commission that the Greitens for Governor campaign had obtained and used a list of The Mission Continues' donor contacts for political purposes. The list in question was created and saved for legitimate purposes prior to Greitens' departure from The Mission Continues. Recent reports indicate this list was later transmitted without our knowledge or permission to individuals who would become central to the Greitens for Governor campaign.

We have not been contacted by the Missouri Attorney General's office regarding the announcement last week related to an inquiry into this matter. Any use of The Mission Continues resources for any political or other unauthorized purpose would violate our policies and the trust we expect from each member of our staff. If contacted, we will work to support the attorney general's inquiry regarding the misuse of our resources by the Greitens campaign.

Taking Action

We are always moved by our partners' commitment to The Mission Continues. We want to take this opportunity to reaffirm our commitment to you, our supporters.

- Put the mission first. Our mission to empower veterans and communities remains clear. We use donations responsibly to prioritize support for programs that advance this work. Supporters can see exactly how their funding is being put to use on our website.
- Responsible engagement. As a 501c3 nonprofit organization, all of our work, including engagement in community causes, is strictly nonpartisan. Additionally, our team members are required to separate any individual political activity from their work and limit any such engagement to their personal time.
- Care for your information. The Mission Continues does not share, sell or rent information about our donors to any persons or groups. Not now, not ever. Approximately a year ago we engaged an external consultant who has assessed and strengthened our organization's data architecture and security protocols to ensure proper security of our internal data.
- Communicate clearly. We are committed to keeping you connected to our organization through regular updates on our blog, in the annual report, by email and all required nonprofit reporting.
- Maintain conscientious oversight. We regularly convene our Board of Directors, who help us ensure we are compliant as a nonprofit organization and a best-in-class organization making the biggest impact possible.

The Mission Continues is proud to be backed by a diversity of supporters who are united in their belief that veterans have much more to give to strengthen our communities. Today, we have 79 active operations in more than 40 cities across the country – and have empowered nearly 25,000 veterans in service to their communities. None of this would be possible without the generosity and shared vision of the donors and supporters standing alongside our veterans. Thank you.

THE MISSION CONTINUES

Continuing Progress, Continuing the Mission

Over the past few weeks, The Mission Continues has been pushing forward in our mission to empower veterans and communities in service. Unfortunately, we have also been a part of an on-going news cycle surrounding the reported actions of Eric Greitens and the Greitens for Governor campaign. The stories surrounding the Greitens investigations continue to cite connections to The Mission Continues. We are supporting various document requests and are fully cooperating with the agencies that are reviewing this situation. We look forward to the completion of those efforts in a timely manner.

We are committed to providing you with the latest information as it pertains to our organization and our involvement in supporting the Missouri-based agencies who are investigating the Governor. Most importantly, we want you to be confident that we are building on and advancing our mission toward even greater impact on veterans and communities.

Together, through the power of service, we will continue to support the people and partners we serve. We are continuing to implement the Empowered Veterans Index to ensure we are united under a common goal. We've also added new leadership, established our first-ever service platoon in Puerto Rico, launched a true grassroots event series in conjunction with the Her Mission Continues campaign, and much more.

Adding New Talent

The Mission Continues is excited to welcome two new members to our leadership team, David Diaz as the Vice President of Regional Operations and Brian Clymer as the Vice President of Finance & Technology.

Prior to joining our team, Dave Diaz was the President and Chief Executive Officer of the Downtown Raleigh Alliance, a nonprofit organization that helped transform the city center of Raleigh, N.C. into a thriving innovation center. In addition to his community work, Dave spent 20 years enlisted in the Army as a Signals Intelligence Specialist and later an Intelligence Officer, which included a combat tour in Operation Iraqi Freedom, where he received the Bronze Star for his service. Dave, based in the Washington, D.C. area, will combine his previous experience and unrelenting passion for helping the veteran community to help strengthen our organization and communities we serve around the country.

Brian Clymer, based in Boston, was most recently the Chief Operating Officer of Educators for Excellence, a teacher-led, national nonprofit organization, where he oversaw operations, finance, IT, legal and talent for the organization. Additionally, he has worked in various senior management roles for consulting and information management companies in the private sector. Prior to these careers, Brian was an Infantry Officer with the Army, where he deployed in support of both Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom, earning two Bronze Stars. Brian's background in the finance and IT fields makes him a valuable addition to our team. With his help, we will continue to strengthen the infrastructure of The Mission Continues to ensure our continued success moving forward.

Expanding Platoons to Puerto Rico

The intense spotlight has shifted away from Puerto Rico after the devastating impact of Hurricane Maria. The Mission Continues, however, has only strengthened our commitment to assisting the individuals, families and communities still recovering from the disaster. Karen Quiles, a Miami 1st Platoon Member who was born and raised in Puerto Rico, recognized the interest and need for veteran-led service projects in her hometown. She helped engage the island's veterans, and in February 2018, we launched the Puerto Rico 1st Service Platoon. The platoon, led by Puerto Rican native Frankie Perez, is committed to Hurricane Maria recovery and community development.

#HerMission Celebrates Women's History Month

Inspired by last year's Women Veterans Leadership Summit, and in celebration of March as Women's History Month, hundreds of women veterans have come together to create a grassroots service project series under the #HerMission banner. The projects, which range from building homes for those in need of affordable housing to educating refugees, will be implemented by women-led platoons to benefit the communities in which they live. Her Mission Continues efforts will carry on throughout the year, with the 2018 Women Veteran Leadership Summit taking place at the end of April in Washington, D.C.

Final Thought

As we have said from the beginning, and reiterate here, we abstain from political activities. We deeply value the trust you place in us to accomplish our mission. The Mission Continues did not provide, nor authorize the use of, our donors' information to any persons or groups for political/campaign purposes. Nor did we promote Governor Greitens for political office.

Our work is far from over. We're not stopping or hesitating or pausing. No matter the distractions that come our way, we will continue to push forward together, empowering fellow veterans, volunteers, families and communities around the country through the power of service.

Team,

It's good to be back from sabbatical. It was a fun and productive time. The most important development is that Sheena and I are looking forward to welcoming a boy in August!

I know that I'll be meeting with all of you this afternoon. For those of you not in St. Louis, I want to share with you what I shared with the team here at breakfast this morning:

This summer I'm going to make a transition from being the Founder and CEO to being a Founder and Board Member.

In that role I'll continue to act as a national ambassador for The Mission Continues, helping to raise funds, promote stories, and inspire people to serve with us. And like all of our Board members, my job will be--as it always has been--to support you and the work that you do.

Spence, as President, will be leading The Mission Continues.
Your job, as members of our team, is to continue to be excellent.

I think that we can look back with pride on all that we've accomplished. I started The Mission Continues when I came back from Iraq a little over 7 years ago. It's amazing to see what we have created. We have an exceptional team, programs that save and change lives, great financial strength, a wonderful brand, rock solid operations. You've built something to be proud of, and I'm very proud of where we're at today.

Thank you. I thank all of you who've been a part of The Mission Continues. Serving here over the last 7years has been one of the most challenging and rewarding experiences of my life; thank you for making these years so rich and so fulfilling. Working with you has made me wiser, stronger, and better in a hundred ways. I've learned from all of you.

I also know that we can look forward with confidence. I'd ask all of you to continue to live the values of The Mission Continues. If you live them, and model them, and they live through you, then you'll continue to provide excellent service to others, while continuing to grow yourselves. And that combination--inner growth and outer service--is about as close to beauty and magic as I think we can get in a good life.

So thank you, and let's continue to be great together as we take this next step on our journey.

As ever,
Eric

Subject: Following up, re: The Mission Continues
To: austin@ericgreitens.com
Cc: John Tien [redacted]>

Austin,

Sounds like you had a busy day in Aspen. I regret we were unable to connect and I would have preferred that we talk, but I do need to pass along our concerns.

The Mission Continues is a 501c3 organization, which means that we are both a non-profit and non-partisan organization. It also means that we operate with strict rules regarding our non-partisanship. Guidance from the IRS website (link here, and included below), prohibits any 501c3 from directly or indirectly participating in any political campaign. In particular, and with most relevance, the language states: "Allowing a candidate to use an organization's assets or facilities will also violate the prohibition if other candidates are not given an equivalent opportunity."

The current Greitens advertisement and fundraising campaign (link here) jeopardizes our status as a 501c3 in that it violates these prohibitions. Namely,

1) The website link explicitly aligns our trademarked name with a political campaign effort: https://donate.ericgreitens.com/mission-continues

2) The title of the website video ("Eric Greitens: The Mission Continues"), clearly depicted on a fundraising page, also creates this linkage.

3) The tagline of the video ("Eric Greitens / The Mission Continues serves thousands of veterans") further creates this association.

4) The photo of Mission Continues platoon members used in the video is an asset of The Mission Continues and is not approved for use in political campaign materials.

5) The background of the website link depicts a photo of Eric interacting with current staff of Mission Continues, in our current offices with current Mission Continues branding, thus creating the illusion of a continuing and formal affiliation with The Mission Continues.

I acknowledge and appreciate that The Mission Continues is a significant part of Eric's personal story and professional journey (one that he understandably is proud of), and accordingly, we recognize that he will want to include The Mission Continues as part of his life's narrative. I know he has done that at numerous points during his candidacy. However, the use of the assets of The Mission Continues in the ways outlined above represents a potential violation of our 501c3 status. I am asking that each of these linkages be removed from the campaign's website, and that this request also applies to future considerations in the campaign. We are not objecting to the video because as I said above, Eric's life journey included The Mission Continues and we appreciate that he is telling his story. What we object to is the campaign's use of the video, its ending frame, and the associated images and words on the fundraising page.

I am open to follow up with any questions you may have. I have spoken with The Mission Continues Board Chair, John Tien, about the above requests and he fully concurs with the positions outlined herein and has asked to be a co-signer to this letter. He and I are happy to join a call or speak with you and/or Eric if you have any questions about our concerns.

Very best,

Spencer Kympton (President, The Mission Continues)
John Tien (Board Chair, The Mission Continues)

Language from IRS website

The Prohibition on Political Campaign Intervention

Under the Internal Revenue Code, all section 501(c)(3) organizations are absolutely prohibited from directly or indirectly participating in, or intervening in, any political campaign on behalf of (or in opposition to) any candidate for elective public office. The prohibition applies to all campaigns including campaigns at the federal, state and local level. Violation of this prohibition may result in denial or revocation of tax-exempt status and the imposition of certain excise taxes. Those section 501(c)(3) organizations that are private foundations are subject to additional restrictions that are not described in this fact sheet.

What is Political Campaign Intervention?

Political campaign intervention includes any and all activities that favor or oppose one or more candidates for public office. The prohibition extends beyond candidate endorsements. Contributions to political campaign funds or public statements of position (verbal or written) made by or on behalf of an organization in favor of or in opposition to any candidate for public office clearly violate the prohibition on political campaign intervention. Distributing statements prepared by others that favor or oppose any candidate for public office will also violate the prohibition. Allowing a candidate to use an organization's assets or facilities will also violate the prohibition if other candidates are not given an equivalent opportunity. Although section 501(c)(3) organizations may engage in some activities to promote voter registration, encourage voter participation, and provide voter education, they will violate the prohibition on political campaign intervention if they engage in an activity that favors or opposes any candidate for public office. Certain activities will require an evaluation of all the facts and circumstances to determine whether they result in political campaign intervention.

Spencer,

I apologize for the delayed response. I wanted to handle this with the upmost sensitivity and attention to make sure that The Mission Continues wasn't damaged or harmed from a legal stand point by the campaign, so I asked our attorney, Mike Adams, to take a look at the situation. Our goal from the beginning has always been to protect The Mission Continues, and keep it separate from the campaign. As you know, Eric cares deeply about protecting the brand and image of TMC.

The review and response from Mike Adams on behalf of Greitens for Missouri is attached.

So that you are aware, the video name on the internet has been changed, and the background image of the fundraising splash page is in the process of being swapped out today. The ad will remain on air, and there will be additional advertisements that mentions the great work of The Mission Continues.

If you have any additional questions or points, please let me know.

Thanks,

Re: House Committee Investigation of Governor Greitens

Dear Messrs. Richardson, Haahr, and Vescovo:

We welcome reviewing this issue with the independent, bipartisan committee of the Missouri House of Representatives

For 40 years as an attorney for the public and for private litigants, I have never seen anything like this. The charges are unfounded and baseless. The Governor is absolutely innocent. Not only is he presumed innocent – he is innocent. The Circuit Attorney's investigation is completely unusual.

This statute has never been used like this in Missouri history. In unprecedented fashion, the Circuit Attorney circumvented the local police force and hired her own investigators. We attempted to meet with the Circuit Attorney and make the Governor available to discuss the issues. They refused. They proceeded to file an indictment that has no facts.

We will work with the committee. We will be deposing witnesses and will be happy to share information with you with the Court's permission.

Dear Counsel:

It was good to speak with you briefly this morning. Thank you for reaching out to discuss some key facts that you deem relevant. As I stated in the press conference announcing formation of this committee, our task is to gather facts in a fair, thorough, and timely manner. To that end, it would be helpful to start with the evidence that the St. Louis Circuit Attorney turned over to your team in response to your discovery requests. Please find attached a formal request for said documents.

At this point in time, the precise schedule of the committee has not been determined. However, we expect to take sworn testimony from relevant witnesses within the next three weeks. We are happy to work with you on the timing of that schedule so that it does not conflict with other obligations in the Circuit Attorney's case.

HOUSE SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE COMMITTEE ON OVERSIGHT
REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION OF DOCUMENTS AND THINGS

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT pursuant to § 21.400, RSMo, the House Special Investigative Committee on Oversight requests that Governor Eric Greitens and his counsel produce for inspection and copying the documents described below. Production shall be made by 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, March 6 at the office of Chairman Jay Barnes, Room 306 of the State Capitol Building.

DEFINITIONS AND INSTRUCTIONS

A. As used herein, the term "document" means the original or drafts of any kind of written or graphic matter, however produced or reproduced, of any kind or description, whether sent or received or neither, and all copies thereof which are different in any way from the original (whether by interlineation, receipt stamp, notation, indication of copies sent or received or otherwise), regardless of whether designated "confidential," "secret," "privileged," or otherwise and, including without limitation, any writing, paper, account ledger, invoice, statement, bill, agreement, contract, memorandum, letter, object, evaluation, report, record, study note, diary, working paper, minute books, index sheet, summary, recording (including audio or video), or memorandum of telephone or other conversation, or of interviews, or of conferences, however produced or reproduced, whether computer or electronically retained or generated to which the defendant has or has had possession, custody or control of, has or has had access to, or has knowledge of. "Document" also includes, but is not limited to, any electronically stored data or paper document. This includes, but is not limited to, electronically stored data on magnetic or optical storage media as an "active" file or files (readily readable by one or more computer applications or forensics software); any electronic files saved as a backup; any "deleted" but recoverable electronic files on said media; any electronic file fragments (files that have been deleted and partially overwritten with new data); and slack (data fragments stored randomly from random access memory [RAM] on a hard drive during the normal operation of a computer [file slack and or RAM slack] or residual data left on the hard drive after new data has overwritten some but not all of previously stored data). However, in no case does "document" require disclosure of materials protected by attorney-client privilege or attorney work product.

B. "You," "Your," and "Yourself" refers to the person to whom these Requests are directed and any of his, her or its officers, directors, shareholders, employees, consultants, agents or attorneys.

C. If your response to any request herein is that the responsive documents are not in your possession, custody, or control, then please identify who has possession, custody, or control of the documents and where they are located.

D. With respect to any document called for by these requests which is withheld pursuant to any claim of privilege other than attorney-client or attorney work product privilege, please list the following information for each such document:

(1) The title and general subject matter of the document;

(2) The date of the document;

(3) The identity of the author of the document;

(4) The nature of and basis for the claim of privilege; and

(5) The identity of all persons who saw the contents of the document.

E. When the term "person" is used, it means a natural person, firm, partnership, corporation, proprietorship, business trust, joint venture, association or any other organization or definable entity.

F. When the term "identify" refers to a person, it means to state the full name, present or last known address, and employment of each such person.

G. Dear Ed:

Please find attached requests for sworn answers to written interrogatories directed. These questions are more appropriate via interrogatory because they involve details that your client may have difficulty recalling on-the-spot in an interview with the committee. Answers to these interrogatories are due next Thursday. Please also be aware that the committee has the authority and will, in fact, protect any personally-identifiable device or account information provided to the committee against public disclosure.

I am looking forward to our meeting tomorrow. As we discussed, Vice Chair Don Phillips will be present, as well as staff attorneys Alex Curchin and Alix Hallen. In advance of our meeting, I request that you be prepared to provide a time at which your client will be made available for sworn testimony before the committee. We are happy to accommodate your and your client's schedule at any time between Wednesday, March 28 to Thursday, April 5.

Your client would be provided with the same courtesies and procedures as those for other witnesses who have appeared before the committee. At your request, we would schedule the hearing at the Jefferson City Police Department for privacy and security. In addition, counsel are permitted to sit at the witness table, but not permitted to testify.

If your client plans to invoke his constitutional right not to testify, I kindly request that you inform the committee of this fact via written response by Monday of next week so that we can fill out our schedule over the next few weeks and fulfill our responsibilities in a timely fashion.

Sincerely,

Jay Barnes

BEFORE THE HOUSE SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE COMMITTEE ON OVERSIGHT

REQUEST FOR SWORN ANSWERS TO INTERROGATORIES

You are hereby requested to provide answers, sworn under oath, to the following interrogatories and to provide the same by 5:00 p.m. Thursday, March 29, 2018 to the office of Chairman Jay Barnes, Room 306-B, State Capitol Building, Jefferson City, Missouri.

As used herein, "you" or "your" or any derivative of the same refers to Eric Greitens.

"Communications device" refers to any phone (including, but not limited to smart-phones), tablet, laptop, desktop, or Internet-connected device capable of storing, receiving, or sending any transfer of signs, signals, writing, images, sounds, data, or intelligence of any nature.

1. How many communications devices have you used since January 1, 2015 for any purpose, personal or professional? For each such communications device, answer the following:
    a. Whether you still have possession or access to that device;
    b. The phone number associated with that device;
    c. The unique device identifier associated with that device;
    d. The IP addresses for any such devices;
    e. For phones, whether the phone is or was a pay-by-month or "burner" phone;
    f. Whether you used any method to back-up or store the contents of communications, photographs, or other documents sent, received, or created on that device;
    g. The service providers you used for purposes of sending or receiving communications with the device;
    h. The service providers you used to back up or store the contents of communications, photographs, or other documents sent, received, or created on that device;
    i. Whether you have an account or access to an account where data sent by, received by, or generated by the communications device is backed-up or accessible on the Internet;
    j. Whether you have a server or other computer equipment to which data from the communications device is backed-up;
    k. Whether you currently have or have ever had an iCloud account with Apple relating to the use of Apple devices, such as an iPhone, iPad, or Mac computer; and if so, the dates such accounts were opened and closed and identifying information for your iCloud account, including your username;

ANSWER:

2. How many email accounts have you used since January 1, 2015 for any purpose, personal or professional? For each such account, identify the address used and the dates for which you used the account.

ANSWER:

3. Do you have an Apple ID account? Is so, how many and what email addresses are associated with those accounts?

Subject: Follow-up on This Morning

Dear Ed:

It was great to meet with you this morning. As we discussed, your client has the opportunity to testify before the committee under the same courtesies and circumstances as other witnesses who have testified. I would note that your client has been aware of this opportunity since the beginning of the investigation – starting with the first communication we had on February 28 and following with several subsequent conversations.

While it is, of course, true that he has a right not to testify in the criminal trial, it is also true that he has the right to testify so if he so chooses. As for our investigation, while he does not have a constitutional right to testify before the committee at this point, we are treating it as if he does.

Now, nearly a month after the first notice, the committee needs a firm answer from your client as to whether he will testify. So that we may plan accordingly, we kindly request a written answer on whether he will exercise or waive this right by Monday at 5:00 p.m. If your client chooses not to participate in the process, that is his choice. However, regardless of his choice, the committee will issue its report on time.

We also discussed the possibility of reviewing discovery from the criminal case pending in the City of St. Louis. We are happy to review evidence from that case and are supportive of a motion by either party to make an exception to the current order against disclosure to third parties. However, in the event any such evidence is provided, we would insist on having the complete set of evidence. In other words, we will not accept cherry-picked evidence from either the Circuit Attorney's office or your client.

Sincerely,

Jay Barnes

Chairman Jay Barnes
Vice Chairman Donald Phillips
Representative Kevin Austin
Representative Shawn Rhoads
Representative Jeanie Lauer
Representative Gina Mitten
Representative Tommie Pierson, Jr.

Dear Reps. Barnes, Phillips, Austin, Rhoads, Lauer, Mitten and Pierson:

First and foremost, we wish to reiterate what we told the Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Committee when we met with them last week: Governor Greitens will cooperate fully with the work of this committee.

Rep. Barnes has made two demands of the Governor: 1) That we let him know by 5:00 p.m. today whether the Governor will testify and 2) that if the Governor agrees to testify, he do so within two weeks.

On the first request, our answer is: yes, the Governor is willing to provide testimony to the committee, as well as all necessary documentation, discovery, depositions, and other key information. Rep. Barnes' second request, however, is unreasonable. This Committee was formed to investigate allegations made by St. Louis City Circuit Attorney Kim Gardner. Trial in that case is 7 weeks away, and the court just today ordered that the case proceed to a trial by jury. Moreover, the court's restrictions on what information can and cannot be released make it impossible for the Governor to provide what the Committee needs to complete its work.[1] That includes discovery information from the Circuit Attorney, transcripts of depositions of key witnesses, and other critical information that is not currently available to the Committee, by court order. That information will be available only after the criminal trial is concluded.

The Committee, the House, and the people of Missouri deserve a full and complete report. But due to no fault of the Committee or the Governor, it is impossible for the Committee to accomplish that goal by April 9. The timing of the release of any documents or reports from this Committee is all the more important in light of a jury trial. Anything published by this Committee will no doubt influence the jury pool and the public about this case, and thus it is vital that the Committee's work reflect the full facts. That is why we respectfully request that the members of the Committee grant yourselves a brief extension of a few weeks so that you may complete a thorough and comprehensive investigation.

Moreover, as you all know, the Governor is unable to testify prior to the criminal proceedings, as doing so would violate his right to a fair trial. He would be under no such restriction once the trial concludes. In other words, even though the Governor can and will provide information to the Committee over the next two weeks not subject to the court's orders, critical information that the Committee needs to complete its work will not legally be available by the Committee's original April 9 deadline.

For example, while the Committee has heard from some witnesses, there are others who have and will testify at depositions, which by court order the Committee will not have access to before the original

[1] As you may be aware, Mr. Dowd had spoken with the Chairman weeks ago and offered to provide the Committee with discovery in the criminal case, but at the request of the Circuit Attorney, the judge ordered that no third parties, including this Committee, may obtain discovery materials from the case, including information derived from the Circuit Attorney's investigation and exculpatory evidence (evidence showing the Governor is innocent).

April 9 deadline. The Committee deserves to see those accounts, many of which show that accusations made against the Governor are false. The Committee also deserves to see all of the discovery material assembled by the Circuit Attorney herself, some of which shows that the Governor is innocent. By court order, this information may not be shared with the Committee until after the trial.

In order to get that key information, the Committee ought to give itself a brief extension, through just after the criminal trial has concluded. The Circuit Court trial will begin on May 14 and is expected to last only two or three days. A brief extension of five weeks past the Committee's deadline will give the Committee all the information and evidence it cannot currently obtain.

Although the Governor asked the Court for a trial date of April 3—in part so that the trial would be completed before the Committee's report was due—the Court set trial for shortly after the Committee's current due date. Fortunately, the Resolution authorizing the Committee and its work allows it to extend its deadline and permits such an extension by simple majority vote of the Committee. In a matter of such weight and seriousness, surely all of us—and the people of Missouri—will agree that completing a full, thorough, and accurate report is more important than sticking to an arbitrary schedule, particularly when the extension need only be for a few weeks.

The Committee Chairman has stated that the "committee's job is to investigate the underlying facts and report back to the General Assembly." A brief extension will enable the Committee to do just that: conduct a thorough, complete, fair investigation of all the underlying facts. On the other hand, absent a brief extension, the Committee:

- Will not have the benefit of the discovery in the pending case, which includes information that exonerates Governor Greitens.

- Will not have the benefit of the depositions taken in the pending case, which include cross-examinations and testimony of witnesses, some who have testified before the committee and others who have not.

- Will not have the benefit of testimony and evidence elicited at trial.

- Will not have the testimony of the Governor.

- Will disseminate incomplete, false and misleading information that will cause damage to entirely innocent people, some of whom are families and children.

- Will cause pretrial publicity that interferes with the fairness and due process of the Circuit Court trial and unduly influences the jury pool.

- Will cause disruption of the legislative session and confusion among legislators who will be justifiably perplexed as to what, if any, action they should take based on an incomplete and inaccurate report.

Based on all of the above, we see no compelling reason not to provide a brief extension of this Committee's work. Over 36 months have passed since the incidents being investigated by this Committee allegedly took place. Surely the committee can spare six additional weeks to get a full and complete accounting of what actually occurred. The matters being investigated by the Committee are not urgent, nor, for that matter, are they matters directly related to the continued functioning of state government.

During the course of this investigation, the Governor has continued to govern, just as he will during the five additional weeks the committee ought to take to complete its work.

Please take an additional five weeks to do a complete and thorough review of all of the underlying facts and the evidence as shown at trial in order to write a full, fair, complete, and truthful report. We strongly believe that a rushed, incomplete, inaccurate report will not serve the Committee, the House, or the people of Missouri well. Speed is not of the essence here; accuracy is.

We respectfully request the Committee approve this brief extension to provide the public and your fellow lawmakers with a complete and accurate report that preserves the constitutional rights of every person involved and does not unduly interfere with the Governor's right to a fair trial by an untainted jury. There is no compelling reason not to allow yourselves more time to do this work right, and we respectfully submit that doing so would be in the interest of the Committee, the House of Representatives, and the people of Missouri.

Respectfully submitted,

Dear Chairman Barnes:

Attached is a Motion to Compel we filed on behalf of Mr. Greitens on April 8, 2018.

As you will see, there are several important developments revealed in the deposition of the alleged victim.

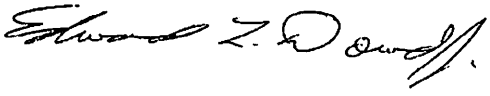
1. The alleged victim admitted some of her memory of certain evidence may have been from dreams instead of reality, and she had earlier informed the Circuit Attorney's Office of her dream or visions;

2. The alleged victim described that her contact with Eric was consensual and that she was a very willing participant; and

3. The Circuit Attorney's Office videotaped an interview of the alleged victim but is now claiming that the video is lost or the equipment malfunctioned. These are matters that were not disclosed to the defense until her deposition on Friday, April 6.

We would appreciate it if you would review this important information. Thank you for your assistance with this matter.

Sincerely yours,



Edward L. Dowd, Jr.

DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO COMPEL IMMEDIATE PRODUCTION OF ALL EXCULPATORY INFORMATION

Defendant Eric Greitens requests a court order compelling the Circuit Attorney to immediately produce all exculpatory information in her possession. Recent deposition testimony has confirmed that information that supports the Defendant's innocence has been withheld from him – as well as from the Grand Jury and the House Committee reviewing this matter.

Background on Recent Events

Counsel for the Defendant questioned K.S. under oath on Friday, April 6, 2018. This testimony provided information establishing that the Circuit Attorney lacks evidence to prove the offense. However, it also established that the Circuit Attorney has withheld evidence from the defense. Similarly, the House Committee looking into these matters has been deprived of essential information. Of note, the sworn testimony established that K.S. never saw a photograph, has no evidence of transmission of any image, and that any assertion by K.S. that she saw a phone on the day in question was based on a dream or vision. In addition, the Circuit Attorney videotaped an interview of witness K.S. but now claims that this tape (which Defendant believes would further provide proof of his innocence) does not exist due to a claimed malfunction. The loss or destruction of such key evidence bears scrutiny.

A. Undisclosed Dreams or Visions

The prosecution admits it does not have any photograph that forms the basis of the charges. Nor has the prosecution provided any evidence that K.S. ever saw such a photograph. Nor has evidence of any transmission been provided. Nor does K.S. recall seeing a telephone or camera. When K.S. was asked by defense counsel, "Did you ever see him in possession of a camera or phone?" she answered: "Not to my knowledge. I didn't see him with it." The question was then asked: "And as you sit here now, you cannot state under oath that you ever saw him in possession of a camera – with a camera or a phone?" and K.S. replied, "Correct." And then, "And you can't say you saw it on his person, you can't say you saw him put it down in the kitchen, take it from the kitchen, or put it down anywhere in the basement. Those are all correct statements, are they not?" K.S. answered, "Yes. I cannot say."

Apparently recognizing the difficulty this testimony presented for the charges, the Assistant Circuit Attorney later asked K.S. "did you see what you believed to be a phone?" K.S. answered: "... I haven't talked about it because I don't know if it's because I'm remembering it through a dream or I – I'm not sure, but yes, I feel like I saw it after that happened, but I haven't spoken about it because of that." She later re-confirmed, however, that she could not testify under oath that she saw a phone.

A witness who is "remembering it through a dream" is not a witness upon which a prosecution can be based. K.S. testified that she had informed the Circuit Attorney that her recollections may well be from a dream or vision, but the Circuit Attorney did not turn that information over to the defendant. It was not until after hours of testimony that K.S. revealed she was having a dream or vision about what happened. Nor did K.S. inform the Missouri House Committee looking into these matters of this key fact. These dreams and visions may well extend to multiple other aspects of K.S.'s recollection of these three-year-old events. For the Circuit Attorney to have been told by K.S. about these dreams and visions and to have not disclosed it to the defense is a violation of Brady.

B. Witness K.S. Provides Other Undisclosed Evidence That is Exculpatory

There are also differences between the testimony K.S. gave in her deposition versus what she said to the Grand Jury. On key points, K.S. admitted she had not disclosed to the Grand Jury or the House Committee important facts. K.S. also acknowledged that the recordings made by her ex-husband contained what she describes as lies. These differences make it critically important that the defense obtain accurate information about what K.S. has said on different dates about the events in question.

By way of example, apparently a theory of the Circuit Attorney is that K.S. would not consent to creation of images involving partial nudity. But in an event never previously disclosed to the Grand Jury or House Committee, K.S. now admits that in June of 2015, she transmitted images via Facetime of herself to the Defendant while she was in a state of partial nudity. In a similar manner, K.S. acknowledged that for months after the alleged "invasion of privacy," K.S. continued to see the defendant willingly. One of those events took place that very same afternoon on March 21, 2015, and another just days later. Other events took place weeks and months later, again suggesting that K.S. did not view the Defendant as having violated her privacy rights back in March. K.S. acknowledged that she never viewed anything that happened as a criminal matter, agreeing that the "last thing on [her] mind" even in January of 2018 was potential criminal prosecution. Moreover, key information tending to prove innocence was not provided to the Grand Jury or House Committee.

The facts disclosed in the deposition establish that this was a months-long relationship and that K.S. was a co-equal participant; any current testimony to the contrary appears to be the product of dreams or visions that make it difficult to remember what happened, the passage of time after the defendant decided to terminate the relationship, or the continuous interviews on this subject. The defense therefore requests a report of any statement by K.S. to the government that would tend to be exculpatory, including in the sense of showing that K.S.'s conduct after March 21, 2015 was unlike a person who was the victim of an invasion of privacy. These multiple statements by this witness are key to the defense and have not been provided in any detail. Therefore, full memoranda of what was said by K.S. at all interviews should be provided.

C. The Circuit Attorney's Missing Tape of K.S. Interview

Given the passage of time and inconsistencies between what K.S. says on different occasions, it is essential that the Defendant have copies of all prior statements of witness K.S. One of these prior statements was given to the Circuit Attorney months ago. On Friday, K.S. testified that the Circuit Attorney and Mr. Tisaby had a video camera at this key interview. They told K.S. and her attorney that the interview was being videotaped. The camera was set up by Mr. Tisaby. As far as K.S. was aware, the interview was videotaped. This videotape is essential to the defense of the case because it likely would confirm even more inconsistencies in the evidence or corroborate important exculpatory details. Already the evidence contains different statements by K.S. (a) to her husband on recordings; (b) to the Grand Jury; (c) what K.S. testified in her deposition that she said to the House Committee; and (d) in her deposition. A videotape of an interview would be particularly powerful evidence for the Defendant. Its production is essential.

Apparently, the Circuit Attorney claims that the videotape machine did not work. If proper investigation technique was followed, the tape machine would have been checked before the interview started, the tape would have been marked as involving an interview of K.S. on the date at issue, and the tape would be preserved. Yet no tape has been provided. At a minimum, a written a report should exist that described the attempted taping and why it failed. No report has been provided. Nor has any other explanation been given for the malfunction. This tape is essential to the defense, both for the substance of what was said and to confirm what was told to the prosecutors. Defendant believes that if the St. Louis Police Department – and not an unlicensed private investigator – conducted this investigation this valuable evidence for the defense would not have been lost or destroyed.

Background on Discovery Issues in this Case

Over a month ago, at the March 6, 2018 court hearing in which The Circuit Attorney participated, the Circuit Attorney's Office stated, "the State will absolutely turn over anything that is Brady, whether or not it's in a report, and it will be put in writing and in a report." 3-6-18 Transcript, p. 15. Similarly, the Circuit Attorney's Office had promised "anything potentially exculpatory ... we will absolutely turn it over within 48 hours of getting it." 3-6-18 Transcript, p. 15-16.

The Court is aware of some of the difficulties defense counsel has had trying to obtain accurate information as to what K.S. has said in prior statements made to the Circuit Attorney. The claim that there are no notes from the January 29, 2018, interview of K.S. conducted by Mr. Tisaby and The Circuit Attorney is well documented in defense counsel's motion to compel a second deposition of Mr. Tisaby. After Mr. Tisaby had been grilled as to how he could have conducted a two-hour interview without taking a single note, suddenly the following day the Circuit Attorney produced notes she had from that interview. Notations related to what K.S. said regarding the events of March 21 and the days following are minimal to say the least. Additionally, K.S. had been interviewed on January 24, 2018. However, no one other than The Circuit Attorney participated in that interview. While defense counsel has notes of The Circuit Attorney from that interview, as discussed below, the exculpatory facts were not referenced within the notes. Consequently, until K.S.'s deposition last Friday, significant exculpatory information had not previously been revealed, as promised to the Court and to defense counsel.

Time and effort was wasted in the deposition of K.S. obtaining information that the Circuit Attorney chose not to disclose to defense counsel or the grand jury before the deposition. Defense counsel raised the concerns about not getting exculpatory information more than a month ago. The Circuit Attorney's Office promised "anything potentially exculpatory" would be turned over. The failure to do so in such an important matter is inexcusable. Moreover, what other exculpatory information may also be available is still unknown. K.S. was interviewed once by only The Circuit Attorney, yet her notes have no exculpatory information included. The second interview was videotaped, but the Circuit Attorney's Office claims the equipment did not work. The Circuit Attorney's Office has acknowledged that exculpatory information must be turned over whether written into a report or not. However, that did not happen in this case. With The Circuit Attorney sitting there in the courtroom, her office made clear they knew the rules:

> "[W]e will make sure if there are any things that are not contained in the report, and I candidly can't imagine anything that would fall into that that hasn't been turned over, but should there be anything, it's turned over in advance of the deposition."

3-6-18 Transcript, p. 17. When this statement was made, the Circuit Attorney knew at least some of the information set out above.

Request for Relief

Defendant requests that the Court order the Circuit Attorney to produce all exculpatory information in its possession, including any further statements by K.S. that her testimony may be based on "dreams" or "visions"; any further statements by K.S. that negate or call into question the essential elements of the case; and further statements that suggest that K.S. did not view herself as being a victim of an invasion of privacy after March of 2015, and the video tape and machine at issue (or any report related thereto). This request extends to all exculpatory information, whether documented in writing or retained only orally.

Mr. Barnes,

I have read the motion that Gov. Greitens team filed in response to her deposition testimony. Please be advised, the motion mischaracterizes my client's testimony. I am happy to provide any supplemental information your committee might find helpful.

I have attached statement calling for the release of my client's complete deposition transcript.

Thank you,

Missouri Gov. Greitens

Navy Seals have a code that directs its members to take responsibility for their actions and the actions of their teammates. With that code in mind, it is time for Gov. Eric Greitens to take responsibility for his actions as well as the actions of his team which is made up of the best lawyers other people's money can buy. Gov. Greitens has admitted to my client, on multiple occasions that he took her photograph, without her consent, and threatened to release it if she ever told anyone about their relationship. Instead of taking responsibility for his actions, Gov. Greitens has decided to let his team attack my client by mischaracterizing her deposition testimony.

In an effort to preserve her privacy and the privacy of her children, my client has refused to comment on this case and her silence has allowed a number of false and misleading statements to go unanswered. However, the most recent attack on my client's credibility cannot be ignored; it is time to set the record straight. We will support a motion to release the complete transcript of my client's deposition, so long as her name and other identifying information is redacted. Gov. Greitens needs to take responsibility for his actions and be honest about the fact that he took my client's photograph without her consent.

The governor can continue to try this case in the media but at his trial the facts will speak for themselves. My client has taken responsibility for her actions and it is time Gov. Greitens accepts responsibility for his.

We told you yesterday afternoon that the House report would be incomplete. It was.

We told people that they needed to see all the evidence. And now, we have proof that Circuit Attorney Kim Gardner and her team hid evidence from the people of Missouri and from the Missouri House of Representatives—evidence that undermined the narrative pushed in the House report.

Kim Gardner hid a video that she knew directly contradicted allegations in the House report, and she allowed her lead investigator to lie about it, under oath.

Just last night—as false stories were being pushed to press—the prosecutor turned over a videotape of her interview with the woman. This was evidence that the prosecutor was legally required to turn over months ago. She purposefully kept it hidden until one hour after the false report was released.

The House report contained explosive, hurtful allegations of coercion, violence, and assault. They are false. Those allegations can be refuted with facts. Despite the Circuit Attorney's attempts to keep it from the people of Missouri, we have video evidence that contains some of those facts.

In the video, the woman talks for almost two hours, and never once mentions any coercion. In the House report, there is a false allegation that I slapped the woman. That allegation had been made once before, and it was disproven. The story changed, so I will say again: it did not happen. On this new video, she says that when this story broke in the media, she asked her two friends if they ever remembered her talking about a slap, and they both said "No." The witness claimed to the House that she was coerced into sexual activity on the morning of March 21st. This is inconsistent with her statements in the video interview with the Circuit Attorney.

The report that was put out last night did not contain this evidence, and the allegations in that report will be refuted by facts, including this video, depositions, discovery, and other evidence that will be subjected to the rigors of a courtroom analysis. In 32 days, a court of law and a jury of my peers will let every person in Missouri know the truth and prove my innocence.

5) St. Louis memo from Lyndsey - in case it's helpful context

One thing to consider:

* If you get a strong group responding to the dinner invitation right away, then let's stick with just inviting [redacted] from the STL LC. [redacted]

* If we don't get the top investors like the [redacted] (longshot, I know) coming, then you might consider inviting the rest of the STL LC plus [redacted] You'd probably need to include [redacted]

* Even if we don't invite them, we'll need to add a round of personal calls from you to them. People like [redacted] would want to hear from you personally.

Subject: RE: Proposed stipulation

Welcome back Mr. Pletz,

Please see my redline attached and let me know your thoughts.

It does not currently include a reference to consultation with an expert, because it states that the fair market value of the list exceeded the $100 disclosure threshold without delving into further specificity. If we follow your original draft and just state, as a joint stipulation, that the fair market value exceeded the $100 disclosure threshold, I don't think we need to cite an outside expert for that. However, if we change the document to state a more precise fair market value, I do think we need to cite the expert to show where that came from. Are you suggesting that change, or do you want to keep as-is and leave that matter to the amended disclosure report? I suppose that depends on what info, and in what form, your client needs in order to sign off on this.

Happy to ask the appraiser what she'd charge for something formal.

Thanks.

Mr. Adams,

Thank you for that information. With regard to the amount you proposed, I think it would work if we are able to reach agreement on the rest of the proposed joint stipulation.
Could you send me your redline version so that we can see where we may be on any other issues? It would not need to include the name of the contributor at this point, but we have been focusing on only one issue without knowing what other ones, if any, might exist. Would your redline include some reference to a consultation with an expert on these types of valuations? And could you let me know how much the appraiser would charge or might be likely to charge for giving a written opinion on the value of the lists?

CONFIDENTIAL AND PRIVILEGED – FOR SETTLEMENT DISCUSSION PURPOSES

Mr. Pletz,

Since we corresponded last, I spoke with a prominent national donor list broker/appraiser across the river in Arlington. In response to my initial request for assistance with an appraisal she stated:

We would need the following in order to prepare a valuation:

List Owner's name

Renter/Buyer's name

Transaction details - one time use, multi use

File Make Up - Recency (Donors acquired in the last 12 months) Frequency (are they multi donors or a one time gift) Monetary (are they $5, $25, $50+ donors)

I gave her a call and a brief bit of context (the fields of info the list has, the amounts contributed, the nature of donors (some individual, some corporate, some charitable) on this matter. Her comments were:

- In the normal course of business a sale or rental of a donor list by a 501(c)(3) organization to a political organization would be highly unusual (due to charitable donors' expectation of privacy, and the inability of some charitable donors to give to political organizations) and accordingly the fair market value would be difficult to estimate

- The value of a donor's info is largely dictated by how recently he/she donated (on this list, we have just a "sum all gifts" column and no way to tell)
- Her best guess would be a fair market value of seventy-five cents per donor able to contribute to the political organization, to one dollar twenty-five cents per donor able to contribute to the political organization, depending on whether the donor last gave to the 501(c)(3) organization, say, two years ago, versus recently; this fair market value assumed such contribution was significant, i.e. $1,000.00 or more (which we largely have here)

As a courtesy she offered these comments informally and verbally; did not press but I anticipate she would want to be compensated for any assessment rendered formally and in writing.

If we met in the middle and said a dollar a name, there are approximately 600 $1,000.00+ eligible donors on the list and we'd be looking at a fair market value of approximately $600.00. Thanks and let me know your thoughts.

I believe that we would be able to include something on the valuation method in a joint stipulation.

Mr. Pletz,

Thanks for your response. The people who perform these appraisals do so for a fee – that is, they do this for a living. They buy, sell, appraise political donor lists; they are like art dealers. I have a bank client that routinely uses one to appraise lists as collateral to back loans (we're talking millions of donors on these, not six hundred); I'll see if I can get an introduction and then a quote on an appraisal.

I want to reiterate that as a matter of fair market value, and therefore as a matter of law, it is completely irrelevant whether the buyer/recipient of a donor list is successful or unsuccessful in soliciting its donors. Pick whatever dictionary you prefer, but Webster's for instance defines "fair market value" as the "price at which buyers and sellers with a reasonable knowledge of pertinent facts and not acting under any compulsion are willing to do business." Fair market value is determined at point of sale, not later. If a committee receives a donor list, then solicits its donors, and then those donors contribute over more than one reporting period, how would the committee be able to state an accurate fair market value in its report for the period in which it received the donor list? Would it be expected to constantly amend that initial report as the value later fluctuated? The ultimate value to the recipient is a sliding scale, and very subjective; that's why in their wisdom Missouri (and every other state, and Congress) elected to use fair market value as the standard.

I understand the sensitivity to coming up with a value that will be seen as others as reasonable. Once we agree on a valuation method, we might consider including it in the joint stipulation so that others will have the benefit of that understanding.

Thank you.

Mr. Adams,

Because you have access to persons who have provided valuations of donor lists in the past, my hope was that you might be able to get one of them to provide a valuation about these lists. At this point any number that I might come up with for the in-kind contribution would be pretty subjective unless and until we would engage a professional to provide one. If you, on the other hand, would be able to do that, and if you would be willing to share it, then an independent basis would exist for the number that would be reported.

While you make some good points about valuation issues, I think that whoever might end up providing values would want to look at the correlation between the names on the TMC lists and the names on the GFM contributor list, which would certainly appear to suggest that the lists were useful to the campaign. And it is also the case that the potential donors to the candidate already had a relationship with him through his role as the CEO of the prior organization.

One goal of ours would be to arrive at a value in excess of $100. I would think a mutual goal would be for the committee to report a value that would be seen by others as being reasonable given the correlation of the contributors to both organizations and the amounts that those persons and entities contributed to GFM.

Mr. Pletz,

In my decade-plus specializing in the field of campaign-finance law, having represented two national committees and numerous campaigns, PACs and other groups, collectively active in all 50 states, I have never come across a list purchase, contribution or exchange in which a seller sold and a buyer bought information as attenuated as what we're talking about.

Depending on such factors as how much a donor gave, how recently the donor gave, how often a donor gave, how much information about the donor a list owner possesses, an item of donor info might go for two cents apiece, for twenty cents apiece, a dollar apiece – it just depends. I have never seen – in person, in advisory opinions in any jurisdiction – a political donor list selling information requiring additional legwork on the buyer's part, which defeats the purpose of purchasing the list. A sale of a donor list is a sale of actual donors, actually eligible to themselves contribute to the buyer.

Following the statutory standard that "[a] contribution of anything of value shall be deemed to have a money value equivalent to the fair market value," if it's your understanding that such tangential information is routinely enough bought and sold in the field of campaign-finance that there exists an obtainable fair market value for it, please provide the basis for that understanding, as well as the fair market valuation itself. If your opinion is that just somebody might find some value in such raw material, that's a subjective standard, one the legislature rejected by adopting an objective one.

If your goal is to arrive at a value in excess of $100, I think with roughly 600 donors outside of the ones we're discussing at present, that remains doable without the Commission going beyond the realities of political donor-list marketing and setting an unwise and baseless precedent.

Thank you.

Mr. Adams,

I disagree with your first two points about the value of charitable organizations on potential donor lists. While it is correct that most charitable organizations themselves cannot make political contributions, individuals who are connected with those charities often have significant interest in obtaining access to office holders who may be in a position to affect public policies critical to their charities, and thus have strong reasons to contribute personally.

With regard to individuals listed without mail or email addresses or telephone numbers, when I did a Google search it did not seem difficult to obtain contact information on some of them (e.g., James Berges, Christina DiTullio, Kenneth Inchansti).

While I do not think that a blanket exclusion of those listings would be appropriate, I would think that an expert in valuing potential donor lists could take those things into coinsideration as he or she is reviewing them.

FOR SETTLEMENT DISCUSSION PURPOSES ONLY

Mr. Pletz,

Let me see if you agree with my initial thoughts about valuation of the list:

- Information about donors to The Mission Continues that are charitable organizations – which by law cannot make political contributions under any circumstances – should not factor into any analysis of the list's value. Contribution (technically, grant) history of charitable organizations is irrelevant to political organizations because political organizations cannot receive contributions from charitable organizations. Consequently, the second (four-page) of the three documents that make up the list should be disregarded for purposes of assessing the list's value as an in-kind contribution to a political organization.
- Likewise, the ten donors to The Mission Continues, referenced in the third (five-page) of the three documents that make up the list, that are by their names clearly charitable organizations, should be disregarded for purposes of assessing the list's value as an in-kind contribution to a political organization.
- In the first (nine-page) of the three documents that make up the list, individual donors referenced without any contact information or other information necessary for identification of the donors and solicitation thereof, should be disregarded for purposes of assessing the list's value as an in-kind contribution to a political organization (information that "John Smith" gave to The Mission Continues, without more, is useless and accordingly lacks value). In contrast, however, in the third of the three documents that make up the list, organizational donors referenced without any contact information or other information should not be so disregarded, as an organization can be identified by name absent other information.

Thank you.

Subject: Proposed stipulation

Mr. Adams,

Attached is the proposed joint stipulation that we discussed.

Any agreement that may be reached between the parties would be subject to the approval of the full Commission, which has not yet been consulted on this matter. While it is anticipated that the Commission would approve this proposed settlement, I need to make it clear that they would still need to consider it. Consequently, if this is something to which your clients would agree, please provide the information needed for the completion of paragraph 9, and we would then ask the Commission for settlement authority before the amended report would be filed and the joint stipulation would be executed by the parties.

Also, I need to let you know that while the $1,000/$100 fee amount is, as I now understand it, the most common settlement amount for failures to timely disclose a given contribution, it is possible that some members of the Commission might think that the amount should be different depending upon the valuation of the contribution. As we have discussed, the amount pegged for that would also be something that would likely get some discussion, both by Commissioners and, once the settlement would become public, by others. I know you have a good deal of experience with valuations of lists of potential contributors, but it may be somewhat different here due to the fact that a number of the over 800 contributors to TMC on those lists were likely to be supportive of GFM, which proved to be correct given that individuals and entities on the TMC lists made 166 contributions totaling $1,317,387.44 to the campaign.

Please let me know if this proposal would be acceptable.

JOINT STIPULATION OF FACTS, WAIVER OF HEARING
BEFORE THE MISSOURI ETHICS COMMISSION, AND CONSENT ORDER WITH JOINT PROPOSED
FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

The undersigned parties jointly stipulate to the facts and consent to the action set forth below. ———The undersigned Respondents, Greitens for Missouri and Eric Greitens, acknowledge that they have received and reviewed a copy of the Complaint filed by the Petitioner in this case, and the parties submit to the jurisdiction of the Missouri Ethics Commission.

The undersigned Respondents state unequivocally that at all times they have acted in good faith to comply with Missouri's campaign finance laws, and that, notwithstanding their disagreement with certain legal conclusions of the Commission and/or its counsel, Respondents wish to resolve this matter without further litigation. Toward that end, Respondents ~~further~~ acknowledge that they are aware of the various rights and privileges afforded them by law, including but not limited to: the right to appear and be represented by counsel; the right to have all allegations against Respondents be proven upon the record by competent and substantial evidence; the right to cross-examine any witness appearing ~~at the hearing~~ against Respondents at a hearing; the right to present evidence on Respondents' behalf at ~~a~~the hearing; and the right to a decision upon the record of ~~a~~the hearing. Being aware of these rights provided to Respondents by ~~operation of~~ law, the undersigned Respondents knowingly and voluntarily waive each and every one of these rights and freely enter into this Joint Stipulation of Facts, Waiver of Hearing Before the Missouri Ethics Commission. and Consent Order With Joint Proposed Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law, and agree to abide by the terms of this document.

I.

Based upon the foregoing, the Petitioner and the undersigned Respondents jointly stipulate to the following and request that the Missouri Ethics Commission adopt as its own the proposed Joint Findings of Fact and the proposed Joint Conclusions of Law, as follows:

JOINT PROPOSED FINDINGS OF FACT

1. The Missouri Ethics Commission (the "Commission") is an agency of the State of Missouri established pursuant to § 105.955, RSMo, in part for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of Chapter 130, RSMo.

2. Respondent Greitens for Missouri (the "Committee") is a candidate committee under Chapter 130, RSMo.

3. Respondent Eric Greitens ("Greitens") was a candidate for Governor of Missouri in the August 2, 2016 primary election and the November ~~8~~7, 2016 general election.

contribution was _____ Dollars ($_____), and that the contribution was received from _____.

JOINT CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

COUNT I

Failure to Report Contribution Received

1. Section 130.041.1(3), RSMo reads in pertinent part as follows:

1. Except as provided in subsection 5 of section 130.016, the candidate, if applicable, a treasurer or deputy treasurer of every committee which is required to file a statement of organization, shall file a legibly printed or typed disclosure report of receipts and expenditures. The reports shall be filed with the appropriate officer designated in section 130.026 at the times and for the periods prescribed in section 130.046. Except as provided in sections 130.049 and 130.050, each report shall set forth:

. . . . . .

(3) Receipts for the period, including:

. . . . . .

(d) Total dollar value of all in-kind contributions received;

(e) A separate listing by name and address and employer, or occupation if self-employed or notation of retirement. of each person from whom the committee received contributions in money or any other thing of value, aggregating more than one hundred dollars, together with the date and amount of each such contribution.

~~committee during that reporting period at specific times as set out in Section 130.046, RSMo.~~

~~3.~~ Under Section 130.058, RSMo, the candidate is ultimately responsible for all reporting requirements for the candidate's committee under Chapter 130, RSMo.

Formatted: Indent: Left: 0", First line: 0"

34. The Commission finds, and Respondents do not elect to contest, that ~~Respondent~~the Committee failed to comply with ~~violated~~ § 130.041.1(3), RSMo., in not ~~, RSMo by failing to~~ timely disclosing the List as ~~a~~ an in-kind ~~a~~ contribution ~~of a mailing list that it received as set out in the Findings of Fact~~.

II.

Based on the foregoing, the parties hereto mutually agree and stipulate that the following shall constitute the order entered by the Missouri Ethics Commission in this matter. This order will be effective immediately upon the issuance of the Consent Order of the Missouri Ethics Commission without further action by any party.

1. The parties understand that the Petitioner will maintain this Joint Stipulation as an open and public record of the Missouri Ethics Commission.

~~$100.00,~~ of that fee, amounting to $100.00, within forty-five (45) days after the date of this Order, the remainder of the fee will be stayed, subject to the provisions below. The fee will be paid by check or money order made payable to the Missouri Ethics Commission.

c. If either of the Respondents commits any further violation or violations of the laws under Chapter 130, RSMo, within the two-year period from the date of this Order, then Respondents will be required to pay the remainder of the fee. The fee would be due immediately upon final adjudication finding that either of the Respondents had committed such a violation.

3. The parties consent to the entry of record and approval of this Joint Stipulation and to the termination of any further proceedings before the Commission based upon the Complaint filed by the Petitioner in the above action.

4. Respondents, together with their respective heirs, successors, and assigns, do hereby waive, release, acquit and forever discharge the Missouri Ethics Commission and its attorneys of or from any liability, claim, actions, causes of action, fees, costs and expenses, and compensation, including, but not limited to, a claim for attorney's fees whatsoever which Respondents or Respondents' attorney may now have or which they may hereafter have, which is based upon or arise out of the above case.

RESPONDENTS ERIC GREITENS, GREITENS FOR MISSOURI, AND JEFF STUERMAN'S RESPONSE TO COMPLAINT FILED MARCH 15, 2018

Eric Greitens, Greitens for Missouri, and Jeff Stuerman (hereinafter "Respondents")[1] hereby respond below to the Complaint filed by Roy Temple with the Missouri Ethics Commission ("Commission") on March 15, 2018 (the "Complaint").

Missouri Statutes § 130.054(1) provides as follows:

> [A]ny natural person may file a complaint with the Missouri ethics commission alleging . . . a violation of the provisions of this chapter by any candidate for elective office[.] Any such complaint shall be in writing, shall state all facts known by the complainant which have given rise to the complaint, and shall be sworn to, under penalty of perjury, by the complainant.

Thus, only a complaint stating "facts known by the complainant which have given rise to the complaint" is a valid complaint meriting any action by the Commission other than dismissal.

The Complaint offers several accusatory legal conclusions but only two purported "facts": 1) "Based on recent news reports, it's now clear the fundraising list [at issue in Commission File No. 16-0107-1] was not obtained from Daniel Laub" and 2) "In addition, other recent news reporting documents that Greitens campaign [sic] also recieved [sic] an email list that has never been reported." The Complaint then cites "Exhibit 1," a collection of two news articles, an op-ed, and an open letter issued by The Mission Continues. Neither the "facts" stated nor the items in Exhibit 1 constitute "facts known by the complainant." Moreover, the items in Exhibit 1 do not support the asserted "facts."

[1] The undersigned does not represent respondent Daniel Laub, but notes that Mr. Laub is not a proper party to this matter as he is neither a candidate, committee, nor treasurer regulated by the Missouri campaign finance code, and was not a party to Commission File No. 16-0107-1.

I. Claim that "the fundraising list was not obtained from Daniel Laub."

The second attached article[2] (and the only item offered in evidence that is pertinent to this claim), from the Saint Louis Post-Dispatch, does not support the Complaint's first assertion. The article states that "Krystal Taylor, whose LinkedIn profile said she was a vice president at the Greitens Group at the time, sent the list to campaign staffers Michael Hafner and Danny Laub on January 6, 2015, according to [an] email." That is, according to the article, Mr. Laub was in possession of the list on or about January 6, 2015 – several weeks prior to the existence of Greitens for Missouri, which formed and registered with the Commission on or about February 24, 2015.[3] Neither the article nor the Complaint contradicts the representation in Greitens for Missouri's amended report of April 28, 2017, that Mr. Laub provided the donor list to Greitens for Missouri. Certainly, the Complaint fails to offer any factual basis for the conclusion that Respondents "filed a 'purposefully' false campaign finance report": not only does the Complaint fail to show the amended filing's inaccuracy, it fails to show that any Respondent knew of any such inaccuracy prior to filing of the amended report.

The Complaint's theory appears to be that Greitens for Missouri obtained the list from someone other than Mr. Laub, but the Complaint does not allege or prove that any other particular

[2] Exhibit 1's first attachment, an article from the Southeast Missourian, and fourth attachment, the open letter from The Mission Continues, make no reference whatsoever to any individual as regarding receipt of the donor list or alleged email list at issue, and the Commission should disregard these items completely as irrelevant to the Complaint.

[3] For this reason, Respondents dispute the accuracy of the article's description of Messrs. Hafner and Laub as "campaign staffers."

individual other than Mr. Laub provided the list to Greitens for Missouri, or that the actual source who provided the list to Greitens for Missouri was in fact not Mr. Laub, let alone that Respondents were aware of either such fact.

II. Claim that the "Greitens campaign also recieved [sic] an email list that has never been reported."

The afore-referenced Saint Louis Post-Dispatch article discusses the donor list and also mentions an "email list . . . used by the Greitens campaign," but maintains, or at least operates on the assumption, that the "donor list" and the "email list" are the same list.

The submitted op-ed by a hostile columnist engages in the same supposition as the Complaint's, that a) there was an email list (as opposed to one email address; the op-ed only cites one alleged recipient of a Greitens for Missouri email), and b) such lists were separate and each separately was received as an in-kind contribution by Greitens for Missouri. The op-ed's conclusion, at best, would constitute hearsay within hearsay within hearsay (an exhibit quoting a columnist, who relies upon an email recipient's father's statement, about what the email recipient said), but does not reach even that dubious level of reliability, because it offers no factual basis for the accusation that Greitens for Missouri received any email list separate from the donor list.

As the Commission is aware, the donor list included email addresses. Nothing in the Complaint or its Exhibit demonstrates that Greitens for Missouri "also received an email list that has never been reported." Finally, even if the Complaint did so demonstrate, any error by Greitens for Missouri in having neglected to report receipt of such list in 2015 would not constitute a breach of Respondents Eric Greitens and Greitens for Missouri's settlement agreement with the Commission, because such error would not be "any further violation or violations of the laws under Chapter 130, RSMo, within the two-year period from the date of this Order [April 28, 2017]."

Conclusion

With typical carelessness, perennial complainant Roy Temple offers wild speculation and baseless accusations of not just errors, but criminal misconduct. Because the Complaint is fatally deficient in its failure to meet the minimal statutory standard of stating facts that give rise to a violation, the Commission must dismiss it.

After this morning's hearing, it has come to the Court's attention that the videotape of the interview of witness K.S. was acquired by the Missouri Special Investigative Committee that is reviewing evidence related to the Defendant. The distribution of this videotape is in violation of Paragraph 5 of the Joint Proposed Scheduling Plan entered by the Court on March 8, 2018. As a result, the Defendant has requested the opportunity to respond to the Missouri Special Investigative Committee regarding the contents of the videotape, which response, the Defendant is concerned, may also violate Paragraph 5 of the Joint Proposed Scheduling Plan.

Thereon, the Court GRANTS the Defendant's request. Defendant and his counsel are permitted to submit information to the Missouri Special Investigative Committee which may otherwise be in violation of the Court's Scheduling Order and the Order issued by the Court on April 10, 2018. Defendant's response shall be limited to the contents of the videotape interview of witness K.S.

Request of the Missouri House of Representatives Special Investigative Committee on Oversight for the Court's Instruction to The Circuit Attorney and Counsel for Defendant Eric Greitens to Comply with the Subpoena Issued by Missouri House of Representatives Special Investigative Committee on Oversight Requiring Production of the Deposition and Any Accompanying Video Recording and Transcript of Witness #1

The Missouri House of Representatives Special Investigative Committee on Oversight ("The Committee") respectfully requests that this Honorable Court instruct the parties in this case to comply with the subpoena issued and produce the deposition and any accompanying video and/or transcript Witness #1.

1. The Committee is a duly constituted committee of the Missouri House of Representatives charged with investigating matters relating to claims of misconduct and other acts and failures to act of the Defendant in this case, Eric Greitens.

2. As such, the Committee operates with independent constitutional authority to conduct the affairs of the co-equal legislative branch of Missouri government.

36
4-30-18 DT
PENDAD 800-631-6989

3. The fulfillment of its constitutionally-protected duties requires that the Committee obtain, through its subpoena power, relevant information, or information which may lead to the discovery of information relevant to, its constitutionally-protected duties.

4. The Chair of the Committee, as a member of the House of Representatives, "has an absolute right to have a subpoena issue to obtain evidence concerning an offense over which the house of representatives has jurisdiction." In re Marshall, 478 S.W.2d 1, 3 (Mo. 1972). See also §21.400, RSMo (granting authority for the Speaker of the House to authorize subpoena).

5. The House of Representatives has jurisdiction over the impeachment of an executive officer of Missouri, including a governor. MO. CONST. Art. VII, §1.

6. The Speaker of the House has issued a subpoena requiring production of the deposition and any accompanying video and/or transcript Witness #1. (Exhibit 1, to be filed under seal).

7. In an Order dated April 16, 2018, the Court permitted counsel for Defendant Greitens to respond to the Committee's receipt of a transcript of an interview of Witness #1 (also sometimes called "K.S." in Court documents). The Court's Order stated that "Defendant's response shall be limited to the contents of the videotape interview of witness K.S." (Italics supplied).

8. Defendant Greitens, through counsel, provided the Committee with a 16-page letter citing to selected portions of the deposition of Witness #1. (Exhibit 2, to be filed under seal). The Committee did not receive the entire deposition.

9. Whether Defendant Greitens violated the Court's April 16, 2018 Order by providing testimony from the deposition rather than highlighting "the contents of the videotape interview" is not a matter that falls within the interests or authority of the Committee.

10. What does concern the Committee is that the Committee only received a carefully edited portion of a much longer deposition, with claims by Defendant Greitens that the carefully edited portions he provided conflict with other evidence the Committee has received.

11. These excerpts from the deposition came to the Committee on April 17, 2018, prior to the Committee's review of the interview of Witness #1.

12. Defendant Greitens' letter to the Committee properly assesses the Committee's purpose: "The Governor and we greatly appreciate your commitment to reaching the truth." (Exhibit 2 at 16).

13. On April 17, 2018, the Committee reviewed a video of an interview of Witness #1 taken by the Circuit Attorney's office. The Committee unanimously voted that Defendant "Greitens' public claims about the content of the Circuit Attorney interview mischaracterized the actual testimony from the interview received and reviewed by the Committee."

14. Given the Committee's conclusion that Defendant Greitens mischaracterized the interview video, the Committee is concerned that the carefully edited portions of the deposition testimony might likewise prove less than accurate.

15. The subpoenas issued by the Committee now seek only the full disclosure of information that Defendant Greitens has already provided in part and without which the Committee cannot "reach the truth" by comparing what was reported in part to what was said in full by Witness #1.

16. The Committee acknowledges the Court's interest in providing every criminal defendant a fair trial consistent with the Sixth Amendment. The United States Supreme Court has concluded that when the press's First Amendment rights clash with Sixth Amendment guarantees, any restraint on the First Amendment is improper except when no other recourse exists. See, Nebraska Press Ass'n v. Stuart, 427 U.S. 539, 539, 96 S. Ct. 2791, 2793, 49 L. Ed. 2d 683 (1976).

17. This case is the subject of constant and pervasive media coverage. Even were this deposition to make its way into the public media, the additional publicity will not risk Defendant Greitens' rights under the Sixth Amendment.

18. If, as Defendant Greitens' letter suggests, full disclosure only helps his case, and, where partial disclosure has already occurred, he should not hesitate to permit the Committee to obtain full disclosure of the deposition in question.

19. The Committee believes that its standing and constitutional duties as a co-equal branch of government make its interests at least, if not more, compelling than First Amendment rights.

20. Thus, given the constitutional equality of the legislature with the judiciary, and the constitutional imperative that forbids one branch of government from interfering with the prerogatives of another branch, the Committee respectfully believes and requests the Court should allow the Committee full access to the complete facts already partially before the Committee by authorizing the parties to its Orders to comply with the subpoena.

21. Undersigned counsel is authorized to report that the Circuit Attorney and counsel for Witness #1 are prepared to honor the subpoena, subject to the Court's direction. On Friday, April 20, 2018, Counsel for Defendant Greitens indicated that additional time was needed to assess Defendant Greitens' position. Despite requests to learn of Defendant Greitens' position, counsel has yet to respond, but has agreed to discuss the issue on Wednesday.

22. This Request is filed to place the matter before the Court for a hearing on Thursday morning, April 26, 2018. In the event that the discussion with Defendant Greitens' counsel results in an agreement, the Court will be so informed.

WHEREFORE, for the reasons stated, the Missouri House of Representatives Special Investigative Committee on Oversight respectfully requests that this Honorable Court instruct the parties in this case to comply with the subpoena issued and produce the deposition and any accompanying video and/or transcript Witness #1.

Dave,
Please find an agenda for today's meeting at 3:00pm. Barklage is on a plane right now so there may be some minor edits to it when he gets to the office but I think this covers almost everything we would like to discuss today. Of course please feel free to forward to Eric if you would like.

See you shortly.

Thanks,
Mike

Dave,
The Lewis & Clark Leadership Forum is meeting March 13 and would like to extend an invitation to Eric to attend and introduce himself. Is there any chance Eric is available to meet with them at 1:30pm? They meet at McEagle offices in O'Fallon.

The group includes some of the biggest politically active donors in the STL region. Their only agenda is Pro-Business, pro-growth, pro-jobs candidates and officials in elected office. Members include Tim Drury, Greg Hoberock, Paul McKee, L. B. Eckelkamp, Kevin Riggs, Jim Murphy, Dave Spence, and Gary Grewe.

Thanks,
Mike

Dave,
I wanted to pass along the contact info for Bill Wykpisz. He comes highly recommended from a trusted vendor of ours and worth reaching out to for the inoculation research you are looking to have completed on Eric.

Bill can be reached at: bill[redacted]

As a note of caution, most reputable oppo researchers should be quite busy right now as it is an election year, so it is probably best to get the project in the pipeline as soon as you can.

Thanks,
Mike

Draft v2

Dave Whitman <dwhitman@greitensgroup.com> Tue, Jul 15, 2014 at 2:52 AM
To: David Barklage <david@[redacted]>, Michael Hafner <mike@[redacted]>

Couple of questions:

Do we want to put the DNC 2008 appearance out there in this statement? His working relationship and friendship with Governor Holden?

I made a few factual changes, and tweaks, but the crux of everything you started with was solid.

Let me know your thoughts.

Since leaving active duty from the Navy in 2007, I have been recruited by both parties to run for office. I didn't approach anyone about running. While I was flattered to be asked, I declined believing I could make a greater impact building the Mission Continues.

I am not a candidate nor will I be making any decision on running for office in the near future. Sheena and I are excited and focused on the arrival of our first child soon. I am already committed to an extensive book tour in the spring promoting my latest book which I just finished. In addition to running my own business, I am still a board member and continue to fundraise for the Mission Continues.

While I have not always openly expressed my party affiliation, I have always been a Republican and a strong fiscal conservative. I was a White House fellow in Republican George W. Bush's administration. As a Navy Seal Commander, my politics didn't matter, only my ability to successfully complete missions. After leaving service, I chose to build a non-partisan non-profit that challenged our military service men and women to continue their service in their communities.

Over the years I have developed close relationships with leaders of both political parties and make no apology. Many of those leaders provided valuable counsel to me as I navigated running a non-profit. As a businessman and a resident of the City of Saint Louis, I like many fellow Republicans business leaders and Republican politicians such as Lt. Governor Peter Kinder supported Mayor Slay in his Democrat primary---not against a Republican.

I have dedicated my life to public service. As I transition from CEO of the Mission Continues to the next chapter of my life, that dedication to service will continue to be the focus of whatever path I choose in the future.

Draft v4

Dave Whitman <dwhitman@greitensgroup.com> Tue, Jul 15, 2014 at 11:04 AM
To: David Barklage <david@[redacted]>, Michael Hafner <mike@[redacted]>

Dave, I spoke to Eric and he agreed on all edits. I've made the changes below. If no other edits are needed, we'll go with this as a final version.

Dave,

I saw what you wrote about Eric, and I want to clarify what you were told.

Since leaving active duty as a NAVY SEAL in 2007, Eric has been asked by both parties to run for office. While he was flattered to be asked, he declined, believing that he could make a greater impact building The Mission Continues. Democrats have approached him about running for the Senate, for Congress, and Statewide on several occasions, and he has said no every time.

While on active duty, Eric took seriously his legal obligation and what he believed was the moral necessity to stay nonpartisan. Over the last seven years, while running a national program for veterans, he has run an organization that has enjoyed wide bipartisan support, and he has worked with and supported many people who support veterans on both sides of the aisle.

I've heard him say many times that when he was serving in Iraq or Afghanistan, he never heard anyone say that they were fighting for Republicans or Democrats back home. They were fighting for America. He believes that, and works for many things that he thinks are far more important than politics. His focus as a leader is always on getting results for the people he serves, and he is, obviously, an extraordinarily capable leader; respected widely because of his ability to produce exceptional results.

Though he is a principled conservative Republican himself, his success lies in his ability to inspire people of every background to commit themselves to hard work that produces success. He has many friends who are lifelong Democrats, and many friends who are lifelong Republicans.

I also want to be clear that he is not a candidate, and I also know that he will not be making any decision on running for office in the near future. He and his wife are excited and focused on the arrival of their first child soon, and he is already committed to an extensive book tour in the spring promoting his latest book on Resilience. In addition to running his own business, he is still a board member and continues to fund-raise for the Mission Continues.

He has dedicated his life to public service, and just ten days ago made a transition from CEO of the Mission Continues to the next chapter of his life. I know that he is going to explore many options, and that he is going to take time exploring those options. Ultimately, he will do what's best for him and his family.

Candidate Committee vs. Continuing Committee

You may have received this answer from Barklage earlier this week. But I spoke to Ethics today regarding formation of a committee for potential future candidates.

The way I see it the two options you have are forming either a Candidate Committee or an Exploratory Committee. Forming a continuing committee (PAC) would make it difficult for you to personally raise funds for it while you are meeting with donors/activists/promoting yourself and candidacy/etc., plus would raise Ethics questions among your potential opponents (knowing Shweich and Hanaway).

I would think forming an exploratory committee would be best given your situation. We might be able to get away with saying Statewide Office 2016 when forming the committee, but I would suggest putting Governor.

I can discuss with you further, if needed.

Thanks,
Mike

Mike -

Hope you had a killer weekend.

Think we can get together for 45 minutes this week sometime to discuss:

1) Committee + Nuts & Bolts (aka would love your thought on a few things)
2) A continuation of our conversation from last week

I can be pretty flexible this week, so let me know what works for you.

Looking forward to it.

Behind the building there is a parking lot you get through in the alley behind or there is street parking, but that can suck sometimes.

Happy Friday everyone --

Once the Statement of Committee Organization form (MO 300-1308) is filed, I may or may not get contacted for comment. Accordingly, what follows is a very rough draft of some talking points that I could use for your consideration. All comments, suggestions and alternative versions welcomed. Thanks!

Jeff

-- Yes, I am pleased to confirm that an Exploratory Committee has been formed for Eric Greitens
-- Time and time again, Eric has proven himself to be a dedicated public servant and humanitarian in the highest order.
-- He possesses tremendous executive leadership skills and his collaborative, inclusive and positive approach is exactly what Missouri needs now.
-- I'm excited about the process as we explore how Eric Greitens can continue to best serve Missouri and our region.

Thanks Jeff, the chances you will be asked for a comment is fairly high.

We will circle back with you on these next week, as this will be part of a larger communications strategy for the exploratory.

Best,
Danny

Radio Information

KMOX—St. Louis (Dave Cooper-[redacted]

- Most listeners will be during the morning drive (M-F 5a-10a $250)
- RUSH show from 11a—2p ($180)
- They will do live endorsements, usually cost a premium of 20% of airtime fee
- Charlie Brennan show (8:30a—11:00a) does a book of the month special
    - If it is a book that he is interested in and he can get the author in he will feature the book
    - Would have to get him a copy to read
        - Dave Cooper, the sales manager is the point of contact for this

KRMS—Osage Beach (Carolyn—Owner—[redacted]

- 6a—11a during morning drive has the most viewers
    - If not 2 weeks before the election do the pre-emptible
        - $18.82 gross
    - If 2 weeks out of election and in it will be non pre-emptible
        - $29.41 gross
- Live reads = 60 seconds and would be $7 more per spot
- John Rogger show (Ozarks Today) does live talks with authors
    - Send 2 books to them 2 weeks prior and John reads it, then has the author on the show for a 7 min live interview
    - The second book is for listeners to call in to win a free copy
    - John will ask the author to give him specific questions that he would like asked
        - Carolyn, the owner is the point of contact for this

KFTK—St. Louis (Marvin Sanders—[redacted]

- 6am—10am drive time spots are $90
    - Allman in the Morning—5a-9a
- However, as it gets closer to the election the spots are $150, this will allow the spots to clear and not get dumped for a political ad.
- A live promo read is $300

KFEQ—St. Joe (Rick Stapleton—[redacted]

- Most listeners during the morning drive time from 5am—10am which is $43 gross
- Rick said they really do not do live promo reads

KFTK—Rolla/St. James (Mike Thompson—[redacted]
- 6a-10a drive will have the most listeners
  - $68 gross
  - This will simultaneously play on the AM and FM broadcast
  - The only time they do not simultaneously cast is during RUSH (11a-2p), you would have to buy a separate time for this ($48)
- Do not do live promo reads

KWTO—Springfield (Bonnie Bell--[redacted]
- Have 2 stations FM (sports talk and AM)
  - Said sports talk would be a good target audience
    - Males 35-64 higher income/educated listening audience
    - Local spots would be the best options
  - Sports Reporters with Ned Reynolds (8a-10a) (Local)
    - $63 (additional $10 for a live read)
  - Art Hanes Sports Talk (4p-6p) (Local)

    - $48
  - RUSH (11a-2p)
    - $63
  - Laura Ingraham (4p-6p)
    - $63

KFRU—Columbia (Lisa Plakprus—[redacted]
- Most listeners during the 6a-10aa drive time
- David Lile (6am-9am)
  - $34 for 60 seconds, additional $70 for live promo read (must approve what they read first)
  - David also has numerous authors on for interviews
    - Must send David a copy of the book, he will read it then schedule an interview
    - Lisa Plakprus is the point of contact for this
- Simon Rose (9am-10am)
  - $34 for 60 seconds, additional $60 for a live promo read (must approve what they read first)

KSIM—Sikeston (Jessica Knodell—[redacted]

- 6a-7p would be $20 gross for KSIM
  - Herman Cain 9a-11a
  - RUSH 11a-2p
  - Sean Hannity 2p-5p
- KWOZ plays a local morning drive time show that airs in Poplar Bluff
  - Brittney on the Bluff—8a-9a
    - She could do a live read
    - I am waiting on an email from Jessica with details

KZRG—Joplin (Carol Daily—[redacted]

- 6a-10a $45 gross
- KZRG Morning News Watch—6a-8a (High amount of listeners
  - This is the only live local news station in the area
  - They would be able to do a live read
  - After approval of the read, Carol Daily can get us a price
- 10a-3p $56 gross
